Chapter 158— A Surprise Visit

FREYA

Seduction crossed my mind as I was thinking of ways to make it up to Jet but I disregarded it after admitting to myself that if the roles was reversed, I wouldn't mind in the moment but would be pissed if he tries to use sex to try and make me forgive him. We will definitely enjoy the moment and then I will go back to being extra furious at him.

I made the decision to try and smooth things over with him one last time before taking drastic measures. He wasn't in his study, so I decided to check outside. I don't know how but something familiar or should I say someone catch my attention. One of the messengers was leading Lady Caroline towards the main entrance, where I'm currently walking out of.

"Luna, how wonderful! You are just the person I was seeking" She bowed a little. "The entire pack has been well informed about what happened to you. However, when it was first declared, I had my doubt as I could not imagined why Lady Morgana would want to cause you harm" She paused. "May her soul rot in hell, how are you feeling Luna?" The way she causally wished Morgana should rot in hell, had me holding back the bubble of laughter swelling up inside me.

"I'm feeling very good. It's nice of you to drop by, thank you very much" I stepped aside for her to come in.

"Anything for our Luna" She smiled at me. I paused briefly, opening the door by my right and leading her into one of the several private living room in the castle. I think it called the salon or whatever. I rung the bell hanging by the door and it only took a few seconds for a maid to come rushing in.

"Bring Lady Caroline some refreshments please" I turned to Caro after the maid left. "I'm glad you came today, I was on the verge of writing you a letter about the ball I will be hosting as the Luna" Her eyes lit up with interest at my words, she probably thought I wanted to cancel it.

"The women have started talking, I tried to assure them that you needed time to adjust to how things are done here but they accused you of not caring about how we do things, they also pointed out that Alpha made a big mistake, mating with a human" She responded.

"They preferred Morgana then?" I scoffed.

"Good lord no!" She quickly debunked it. "They may not know you well enough but they know Alpha. They love and trust him, Morgana threat to your life is also a threat to Alpha's life as well. People are furious, if she was not dead yet, I'm certain they would make sure of that. Besides, I'm here to offer my assistance, I have hosted every gala, ball, festival and every other event ever hosted in the park. So you can trust me to do a good job" She concluded.

We were interrupted by the maid bringing in the snacks I requested for earlier. She placed the tray of hot tea and warm biscuits on the table, I thanked her before dismissing her.

"Phew! This is actually a relief" In the next few hours, Caroline and I discuss and made plans for the event. We finally concluded and finished around late in the afternoon, she said her goodbyes and left, promising to return a day later so we can begin carrying it out.

Making my way back to the bedroom, I read through the notes I jotted down to make sure I'm not missing anything. I stopped in front of Jet's office and then knocked on the door, without waiting for his response, I went in anyway.

He looked up from the screen immediately I stepped inside, a frown on his handsome facial features. "You should be in bed... resting" He pointed out.

"Thanks to your blood, I feel well enough to move around and plan my first Luna ball. I'm so looking forward to it thanks to Caroline, she's a great deal of help" I paused, realizing he was staring at me. "Is there something on my face?" I moved closer to him.

He shook his head. "You look different and yet I cannot point out what looks different about you. Are you certain you are well enough to be planning this? Lady Caroline has hosted several events for the pack, she will be more than happy to take charge of this one as well"

"Not a chance, I'm doing this myself" I disagreed. "These are the lists of things I will be needing and that is where you come in, you are paying" I placed the paper on the desk and then slide it towards him.

He took and scan it for few seconds. "You don't need my approval to cash out money Freya, take it to my accountant. He will give you any sum of money you may need"

I turned to leave but stopped at the last minute. "How about a lovely picnic date in the garden? We can enjoy the waterfall view and watch the sunset together" I suggested, hoping some alone time would melt his anger but if I didn't know him better, I would have thought he was no longer mad about what I did.

That's also one of the things I love most about him, It doesn't matter how much I upset him. He would never give me the silent treatment or ignore me. His anger doesn't last too so I'm hoping this one too wouldn't last.

I, on the other hand is a different story but I promise to change one day. For now, I'll continue being stubborn because I love the extra attention he gives me when I'm upset or annoyed with him. I think he likes it too, he uses it as an excuse to take a break from his Alpha duties for a while.

"I will think about it" The corner of his mouth lifted when I frowned at him, displeased with his reply.

"C'm on Jet, I'm sure you don't want to play hard to get"

He rubs his jaw, pretending to be thinking about it. "I'm not certain I understand what you are talking about. If you don't mind, I would like to continue on my work and once I have decided, I will let you know" He dismissed.

I opened my mouth to say something but decided against it, pushing might just make him say no right away. So I left to continue my daily activities but that came to a halt when a nervous and scared Hazel burst into the room unannounced, that was enough to tell me it's something important.

With teary eyes, she told me. "I have been so worried about you that I forgot about my first shifting. I will be turning eighteen soon and I'm scared Luna. I'm also scared to trigger the curse but if I don't, I will never be able to shift" Although, I didn't fully understand everything she said but I was happy she trusted me enough to tell me.

I made her sit down and poured her a glass of water. "What curse are you talking about? You know I'm not very familiar with werewolf terms but I promise to learn one day"

She set down the glass after taking a drink. "I cannot transform into my wolf form if I didn't kill someone. I must kill a person for the curse to get triggered and only then will I be able to shift at all like the others. This is another reason Alpha passed a law that only allowed us to trigger the curse at eighteen because by then, we are emotionally capable with both the killing part and the pain of first transformation. I'm scared, I'm not certain I have the heart to kill someone" She explained and I stare at her for few seconds having no idea what to say.

Why didn't anyone tell me about the curse? I held her hand and gave it a squeeze. "Don't worry too much, I promise to help you through this okay?" Her face lit up at my words.

"Thank you so much Luna. It feels really good to have someone help me through this as I do not have my family by my side" She replied. At the mentioned of her family, I realized she never really mentioned them and I never asked.

"What about your family?" I asked her.

She hesitated but answered anyway. "My mother passed away due to childbirth complications after having me. My father blamed me for it but tried his best regardless of how he felt about me killing his soul-mate" She paused, taking a deep breath. "He got over her death ten years later and got a second chance at mate. She was horrible" She sort of blurted it out and as if catching herself, she blushed.

"It's okay Hazel. Be open about her and together we can hate her" I assured her.

"She treats me horribly and I never understood why she hated me. I have two step brothers and one step sisters. They were nice to me until they grew older and their mother got to them. When I turned fifteen she convince my father to allow me to work at the palace. I never return home since then" She concluded.

My chest tightened not believing what she had gone through at her young age and looking at her, one would never guess it. I reached out to give her a hug when I heard the door of Jet's study slammed shut.

His study was several doors away from our bedroom but yet I heard it, I excused myself and hurried out to find out what was going on.

"What's wrong" I asked Hunter because Jet had disappeared out of sight.

"Sophie is spotted out in the border trying to force her way into the pack" He informed me and my eyes went wide with shock.

We haven't heard from anyone in the councils for a while now, the last time we heard from that bitch was when they tried getting into my head to control me! What the hell is she doing here?
