

Chapter 02— The journey To The Unknown

Kidnapped By The Alpha

ADVERTISEMENT

ADVERTISEMENT

Emma

Despite my cries, pleas, and everything, I was thrown into a waiting car which drove off as soon as I was thrown in, I banged on the window cursing for the guy who had thrown me over his shoulder to get me out of the car, somebody gets the police! But when it seems like that wasn't going to happen plus I was getting tired of banging on the door, I was hungry. I didn't eat breakfast cause I was too excited to chew down anything.

I blinked back the tears in my eyes, then glance beside me and let out a startled scream when I saw Jet sitting beside me, I was so distracted in my misery that I didn't notice I wasn't in the car alone, and I can't believe he just calmly sat down there and watch me yell and scream.

"You are enjoying this right?" I asked glaring at him as I shifted to the end of the car when the car door is open, I'd slipped out without any push, my wedding dress might get cut in the door though.

"Hi mate" He grinned showing a set of white teeth, and why was he grinning like I said something funny? This time I took my time I look at him shyly, I wasn't used to seeing a guy as hot as him, he looked like he just stepped out the front page of a magazine, his hair was black, like his hair, it was so neat not even a thread of hair was out of place, for someone so dark or should I say black, his eyes were blue with a hint of silver reflecting in them. How is that possible? His eyelashes were surprisingly too long for a guy, I was jealous, my eyelashes couldn't ever be that long no matter how many products I tried using on them.

My eyes dropped on the sexy fullness of his lips when I look up at him again, he was regarding me too, the shape of his face seems to be shaped by a masterpiece, just staring at him made me breathless, I frowned then quickly look away from him.

"Had your full?" He required with a smile tug at the corner of his mouth, I hate the fact that he was smiling, I hate the fact that he was so good-looking. For goodness sake! You are kidnapped I snapped at myself.

My inner goddess stuck out her tongue at me. By a hot guy you mean She grinned at me, wanting to jump on Jet's bone.

I ignored his questions knowing what he meant, he was referring to my staring at him. "Where are you taking me?" I asked instead.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Home" He answered.

Can he utter or make full sentences? It was getting annoying. "Home? Are you kidding me? You kidnapped me on my wedding day, forced me into a car just to take me home?" I was confused.

"Home. With me" He replied like he was talking to a child.

"No!" I screamed. "You are taking me away from my home! I'll never forgive you! The police will find you! You will rot in jail. And...Jake will find out!" I spat out angrily.

His blue eyes kind of change into full sliver now, scaring the shit out of me. "Don't. Ever. Mention. Him.Again." He grits out between his teeth, I look down at his hands, they clutched like he wanted to punch something, I hope it was not me.

"Who are you?" I swallowed nervously.

"Did I fucking make myself clear!" He growled, and I let out a scream as tears ran down my face, at the sight of my tears, his eyes softened then he looked away from me, inhaling and exhaling, I watched in amazement, how could someone be so beautiful? I could tear my eyes away from his adam apple as the bub up and down. Now I'm just being weird

"I told you. I'm Alpha Jet"

ADVERTISEMENT

The car suddenly jerks to a stop and I could hear the sound of a helicopter buzzing above the car before I could ask him anything, the car opened and I almost rolled about, and the guy earlier proceededroceededch me and throw me over his shoulder just like the first time.

"Handle her with care Kale" Jet ordered walking towards the Jet like he fucking owns the place, I have a feeling he does.

"Yes Alpha" Kale replied.

"Put me down you fucker!" I screamed hitting him on his back as he walked up into the helicopter, Jet chuckled when he heard what I said, I'm glad he find this something to laugh about, I hope he laughs too when I chop off his balls and have it for dinner.

The Kale guy dropped me gently beside Her before walking away, they were only a few people on the plane.

"Stay still. We are taking off" He warned sternly.

"I hate you" I spat at him.

"I'm sure you do" He doesn't even seem affected by my words. "Hopefully one day, you won't" He added.

ADVERTISEMENT

"I always will!" I snapped at him. "What do you want with me?" I asked as tears gathered in my eyes.

"You are mine"

"I'm not yours! Stop saying that! I belong to—" I cut myself off before I said Jake's name remembering his earlier words and reactions earlier when I did.

"Wise choice," He remarked feeling rather pleased with himself.

"It's going to be a long journey. You should sleep" He told me rather gently but there was no way I was having it, but suddenly I was tired, my head started dropping, I fought to keep myself awake but soon I drift off, wishing everything would be just a nightmare by the time I wake up, and it would be something I tell Katie and we will both laugh about it. Hopefully that was the last thing on my mind.

ADVERTISEMENT

TBC.