

SPOILED BY THE CEO: WHY THE WIFE IS KINDA SWEET?

Chapter 15 Setting Up Her Own Business

"Miss Dawson!"

"Natalia, you... don't be impulsive!"

"Miss Dawson, Mr. Miller doesn't mean that!"

As soon as Natalia finished her words, all of Century Entertainment's senior executives changed their faces, and started to persuade her.

After all, they were only jealous and discontent when she became the PR manager at such a young age and achieved everything by her own efforts.

Nobody expected that she really intended to leave. After all, she got a great talent.

In the past two years, it was because of Natalia that the PR department was able to get better and better.

The stronger the PR department was, the less work the artist department and brokerage department would do.

Especially for the brokerage department, what they feared most was something went wrong with the artists they took charge of.

And once something really happened, they could always turn to Natalia for help, because she could handle it perfectly, and sometimes, even a bad start could even bring a good consequence to the artists.

But now, she was going to resign!

Not to mention what the above-mentioned two departments would turn to for help once she left. Julia, although she was famous, they never cooperated with her, and they didn't know much about her.

What if she was not as good as Natalia?

Everyone panicked at once, and Shawn's face darkened.

"Natalia, stop joking! This is not something to make joke of!"

Natalia sneered, "Am I joking? It was Mr. Miller who wants to force me resign so as to prove that you are not that ruthless. I've been so cooperative. What else do you want?"

Shawn's face was as black as the bottom of a pot.

"Let me tell you. I'm not trying to force you to resign! Julia is more qualified than you, and the position of PR manager should be hers."

Natalia shrugged indifferently.

"It can be anyone! Actually, I'll quit even if you don't bring her in today! Mr. Miller, I wish Century Entertainment will become better and better, and make further progress in the industry!"

After saying that, Natalia sneered, dashingy closed the notebook in her hand, and walked out without looking back.

CLANG!

The door of the conference room was shut.

It seemed the office still held the residue of the woman's legacy, cold and overwhelming.

Shawn clenched his teeth and hands. He had expected what might happen before he brought Jessica and Julia in today.

However, he just didn't expect she left so decisively.

Looking at the resignation letter in front of him, Shawn's eyes were cold.

After a moment, a sense of pleasure vaguely rose from the bottom of his heart.

In the past two years, although Natalia worked really hard for the company, her words were more powerful than his.

She was the manager of the PR department; however, she always discussed with him in private the current situation and her vision of the company.

Sometimes, he got really annoyed. The kind of annoyance was not because she was wrong, but because she was right about everything!

He didn't want to feel that he was actually inferior to a woman when it came to run a company.

Yeah, it would be better if she left.

At least he wouldn't feel that Century Entertainment was successful and famous just because he was relying on a woman.

After a long time, Shawn's face eased gradually.

The assistant beside asked him in a low voice. "Mr. Miller, what should we do now?"

He took a deep breath and turned to face the executives.

"Since Miss Dawson insists on leaving, none of us can change her mind. From now on, the PR department will be managed by Julia, and she will also be Jessica's agent. Lisa, take Julia to go through the onboard procedures."

The senior members looked at each other with surprise and no one dared to say anything anymore.

Natalia left the conference room and went straight to her office.

At this time, Century Entertainment's executives were still in the conference room, so there were only ordinary employees in the office.

When Elsa saw her walking out with a cold face, she felt there was something wrong and followed her hurriedly.

"Miss Dawson, did Mr. Miller really announce that he's going to let Julia manage our PR department?

Are you leaving?"

Natalia stepped into the office and let her close the door before nodding.

"Well, you guys have to let her take charge from now on. I don't know what her character is, but her ability is great. Maybe a decade ago it would probably take you a large sum of money to be her assistant. Seize this chance and do a good job!"

Elsa sniffed, almost crying out upon hearing this.

"Then what about you?"

"Me?" Natalia raised her eyes and smiled, "Of course I can work somewhere else. Century Entertainment is not the only entertainment company in the world."

"Miss Dawson, are you going to work for another company?"

Natalia narrowed her eyes and smiled.

"Well... I'm not going to be the employee of any company. Instead of being an employee, I'll start my own business. What do you think?"

Elsa was shocked.

Natalia patted her shoulders and smiled, "Just work hard, and we can hang out together when we're available."

Natalia had already gathered her belongings. She took her coat off the rack and put it on her arm to leave.

Suddenly, Elsa ran over to stop her.

"Miss Dawson, are you going to start your own business?"

Natalia held out a finger, and made a "Quiet" posture.

"Don't tell anyone. If we hush up before doing anything, it is hard for it to be successful. You'd better stop getting me into troubles."

She looked at her and nodded heavily.

"I know, Miss Dawson. When you open your company, you'll definitely hire someone, right? Then I will come over and work for you!"

Natalia was stunned and surprised.

Honestly, because of her cold character, Natalia didn't have any henchman in the company.

Elsa was loyal to her, but it was only because she was a rookie, who had just graduated from university.

So she didn't anticipate that she would make such a request.

She looked into her sincere eyes and smiled.

"Running a new company will be tough, a hundred times tougher than working in Century Entertainment. Aren't you afraid?"

Elsa shook his head firmly. "I'm not."

After a pause, she whispered. "Miss Dawson, although you aren't getting close to everyone, I can tell you are a good person. You always help others when they are in difficulty. I think I can learn something from you even if there will be hardships."

"But that Julia is different. I heard this morning that she is selfish and mean, and likes to bully her staff.

The credit is all hers, but the hard work is for others. I am not willing to work with such a boss."

Natalia looked at her face and smiled.

"That's fine, but it takes time to start a new company. I'll call you if you're willing to do the job later."

Elsa immediately broke into a smile.

"It is a deal."

"Well, deal."
