

Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder #Chapter 1001: Chapter 61 : It Will Never Happen - Read Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1001: Chapter 61 : It Will Never Happen

Sasha

I woke up in a little hut. Gasping, I sat bolt upright and looked around. I barely registered that my body wasn't in immense pain anymore. Sasha

I woke up in a little hut. Gasping, I sat bolt upright and looked around. I barely registered that my body wasn't in immense pain anymore.

"I'm sorry, Cara, but we need to get going."

"I'm sorry, Cere, but we need to get going."

"Actually, Lucas, I could use e big meel," I seid.

He glenced sideways et me end erched en eyebrow. I just looked beck until he nodded.

"Alright. If you think it will help."

I nodded.

"Greet! All of you cen heed to the feest eree et the center of the villege. I just need to give Seshe the lest dose of her heeling dreught. We'll catch right up."

Lucas end the werrriors heeded off towerd the feest.

Alone with Cere, I figured I could put her into her plece e little.

"Listen...."

"Heng on. You need to drink this. It'll help with the remeining pein." Cere hended me e smell wooden cup with e greyish liquid in it. "Just close your eyes end swollow it quickly."

I nodded. Squinting my eyes closed, I tossed the cup beck like e shot end drenk down the bitter, slippery dreught.

"Oh... thet wes rough." I hended Cere the cup beck end tried to stend up streight.

My legs trembled suddenly end my vision blurred e little.

“Whet...”

I looked at Cere, and she had a vicious smile on her lips.

“I knew that the fastest way into Luces’s good graces would be to help you. Now, I need to get rid of you. In his grief, he will turn to me. But first...”

“H-hey!”

I tried to step away from her, but my body felt heavy and sluggish. The bh must have drugged me....

She grabbed my wrist and pulled me. I tripped over my own feet, stumbling forward. Quickly, she tied my hands together.

“Don’t fight it. The harder you fight, the faster that drug will work. Soon, you’ll be completely unconscious and I can leave you in the mountains to get devoured by wild animals. By the time they find you, there’ll be nothing to save.”

“Why... why are you...”

I groaned again, my head felt like it was filled with rocks and my vision was starting to blur. I lost my footing completely and fell to the ground. My shoulder slammed against a rock.

Sounds came through my ears like I was underwater. Everything was muffled and foggy.

I was only partially aware of Cere moving around me, talking. She rolled me onto something soft and cool. The next thing I knew, I was floating through the forest.

No, not floating—I was being dragged. She had made some kind of sling or sled and I was on it.

I thought back to what she said. If I fought the drug, it would affect me faster. If I lay still and didn’t try to move or cling to consciousness, maybe it wouldn’t impact me as strongly. There was a chance I’d be able to get free.

I closed my eyes and focused on taking deep, calming breaths. My mind immediately started to clear and I felt a tingle of my dream-dancer abilities. It didn’t feel like I was accessing it the same way as I did when I used the orb.

The power flooded into my mind, and I felt the drug receding quickly. My arms and legs no longer felt like lead and I could feel the rope tied around my wrists.

Gritting my teeth, I strained against the rope, snapping it to pieces.

Before Cere could react, I jumped up.

“Hey! What are you doing? How are you awake!?”

“It looks like you underestimated me. Now, you’ll never have Lucas.” I sneered and ran back through the woods.

It was easy to follow the trail made by the sled, and I got back to the village before Cere could catch up to me.

“I’m sorry, Cara, but we need to get going.”

“Actually, Lucas, I could use a big meal,” I said.

Lucas and the others were standing outside the hut, looking around.

Lucas and the others were standing outside the hut, looking around.

“Seshe? Where were you?” Lucas ran over to me.

I panted, clutching my side from the pang of the creep.

“Get back here!”

Cere came rushing out of the bushes after me. As soon as she saw Lucas and the others, she stopped short.

“Um... what’s going on?” Lucas asked.

He looked between me and Cere.

“She tried to kidnap me and leave me for dead.” I pointed at Cere.

“Yeah... but that was before I knew who you were.”

I stopped pointing and arched an eyebrow at her.

“What do you mean?”

Cere kicked at rocks on the ground. She looked down, her cheeks crimson with embarrassment.

“I’m sorry. If I’d known the kind of power you had... but it’s the only way you could overcome the drug.”

“Drug!?” Lucus snarled. He grabbed my arm and pulled me away from Cere. “Are you alright? What did she do to you?”

“I’m okay. It was nothing that I couldn’t handle.”

He calmed down immediately. Lucus touched my face for a moment like he needed to know that I was fine.

“I’m very sorry, Seshe,” Cere continued. She threw herself down on the ground, bowing at my feet with her forehead on the ground.

“Uhh...”

“Please forgive me. Your power is special, unlike anything I’ve ever seen. I was a fool to try to come between you and your mate.”

I glanced sideways at Lucus. What the hell was going on? This whole thing was getting weirder.

He shrugged and shook his head, clearly as confused as I was.

“You can get up,” I told Cere.

She sighed and lifted her head but she remained on her knees in front of me. “I know you have no reason to trust me, but I went to help you. Your power is... a gift beyond words, beyond anything you can conceive of. Let me help you to make up for my ignorance and my slight against you.”

“Help us with what?” I asked.

Cere sniffled, and I noticed for the first time that she had tears streaking her cheeks.

“Lucus said you were on a mission to recover missing artifacts. That means you’re headed to the Old Temple, right?”

“Old Temple?” Lucus creased his brow. He pulled the compass from his pocket. “I suppose so.”

“It is a very dangerous journey if you don’t know the way. I won’t risk someone as special as Seshe getting injured again.”

Lucus sighed. “We’ve made it this far. We’ve tested our ropes and gear and shouldn’t run into any more problems.”

“If you don’t know the way, it’ll be more than your gear that you have to worry about.”

“Lucas, if she wants to help, we shouldn’t turn it down. We know nothing about this terrain, and I don’t want to wander through the mountains for weeks just to starve to death when our food runs out.”

Lucas gave me a look, but he nodded toward Cere.

“What did you have in mind for assistance?”

“There are many guides here in the village. They know the terrain. They can guide you on the safest passages to the Old Temple. They’ll protect you from any... trouble.”

I narrowed my eyes. “What kind of trouble?”

Cere gave me a weak smile. “Storms, rock slides, predators... things that outsiders might not be used to handling.”

“We will accept your help, but if you ever try anything against my mate again....”

Cere nodded. “Never. It will never happen again!”

Read the hottest Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1001: Chapter 61 : It Will Never Happen story of 2020.

The Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder story is currently published to Chapter 1001: Chapter 61 : It Will Never Happen and has received very positive reviews from readers, most of whom have been / are reading this story highly appreciated! Even I'm really a fan of $ authorName, so I'm looking forward to . Wait forever to have. @@ Please read Chapter 1001: Chapter 61 : It Will Never Happen Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder by author Alice Knightsky here.

Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder #Chapter 1002: Chapter 60 : A Dangerous Ascent - Read Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1002: Chapter 60 : A Dangerous Ascent

Lucas

When Oliver left to return to his pack, he left me the warriors he promised to accompany us to Lycenna. Lucas

When Oliver left to return to his pack, he left me the warriors he promised to accompany us to Lycenna.

She was gone....

My wolf howled forlornly and clawed his way to the surface, desperate to take control and run through his grief.

She was gone....

My wolf howled forlornly and clawed his way to the surface, desperate to take control and run through his grief.

I felt like someone was standing on my chest. I couldn't breathe. I couldn't think.

"Lucas, sir, should we go after her?"

I snapped out of my daze. "Yes, we are going after her."

Even though my wolf was going crazy in my head, I didn't think Seshe was lost completely. I could still feel the magic bond between us. My eyes and my brain knew what they saw but I knew what I felt.

She was alive.

We picked up the gear and headed back down the mountain. I made sure all the lines were tested before we put any more weight on them.

It was slow going down the cliffside. My wolf was anxious. I was anxious. I kept feeling for the bond to see if it was still intact.

It was.

But how could anyone survive and feel like that? It wasn't possible, was it?

Seshe had all kinds of power that I didn't understand. Maybe she'd found a way to save herself... I held onto the hope as we descended.

"Look there, on that ledge!" one of the warriors cried, pointing down.

I followed his finger. My heart stopped and I nearly lost my grip on my own line.

"Seshe!" I hurried to lower myself down to the ledge.

She was lying there motionless.

I dropped down on my knees, still holding my breath as I looked her over. She had some scrapes and bruises but nothing looked bent, broken, or punctured.

"Seshe," I whispered. I was too afraid to touch her, thinking she would break into a million pieces.

“Is she breathing?”

“Yes, she’s breathing. She’s...”

“L-Luces?” Seshe blinked her eyes open. She winced and cringed immediately.

“D-don’t move. You fell. Get the emergency med kit!” I demanded, snapping at the warriors.

I touched up her cuts and scrapes as best I could. Seshe was fully awake now.

“Does anything feel broken or damaged?”

“No. I can wiggle my fingers and toes. I just feel really sore.”

“Do you think you can move?”

Seshe nodded and rolled over. She sat up, groaning.

“Careful...”

She nodded. “I’m okay. I’m just sore and itchy.”

“How did you survive that?” one of the warriors asked.

Seshe looked up. Her eyes widened and I saw the fear and confusion in her eyes.

“I remember falling and thinking that I wasn’t ready to die and then... nothing.”

“We don’t need to understand it now. We need to get somewhere we can set up camp. This ledge is too small, and I don’t want you outside once the sun sets. I want you to be warm and resting.”

Seshe smiled at me, winced from pain, and then nodded.

I helped her up. She was wobbly on her legs but she could walk, as long as she leaned against me.

We found a clearing in the mountain peaks to set up camp. The warriors worked quickly while the sun set. I made a campfire and kept Seshe wrapped in a big blanket. I gave her some soothing tea and cleaned all her cuts, putting fresh bandages on them.

By the time camp was set up, I sent Seshe straight to bed. She needed her rest after that fall. I went into the tent and set on a camp chair, watching her sleep. I wasn’t letting her out of my sight.

There was a part of me that thought this was some kind of dream or delusion, but I’d hold onto it as long as possible.

She was gone....

My wolf howled forlornly and clawed his way to the surface, desperate to take control and run through his grief.

The night wore on and the fire outside burned low. I heard when the other warriors went to their tents and settled down for the night. I was determined to stay up as long as I could keep my eyes open and make sure Sasha was fine.

The night wore on and the fire outside burned low. I heard when the other warriors went to their tents and settled down for the night. I was determined to stay up as long as I could keep my eyes open and make sure Sasha was fine.

In the middle of the night, the hairs on the back of my neck prickled. I'd started dozing and set straight up immediately.

Soft footsteps on the mountain side whispered around me.

Slowly, I unzipped the tent and peeked out. Several people moved in around the tents. They didn't look threatening, just curious.

I stepped out of the tent and headed them off.

"What are you doing here!?" I demanded, throwing an arm out to the side.

There were two females and two males. The males were clearly warriors with their big muscles and broad chests.

"What are you doing here?" one male asked.

"We're on a secret mission to recover missing artifacts."

"You have no right to be here," the men grumbled. □

Update of Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder

Announcement Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder has updated Chapter 1002: Chapter 60 : A Dangerous Ascent with many amazing and unexpected details. In fluent writing, In simple but sincere text, sometimes the calm romance of the author Alice Knightsky in Chapter 1002: Chapter 60 : A Dangerous Ascent takes us to a new horizon. Let's read the Chapter 1002: Chapter 60 : A Dangerous Ascent Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder series here. Search keys: Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1002: Chapter 60 : A Dangerous Ascent

Sasha

“Come on, let’s get out of here for a while. It’s been a long time since I’ve been back here. We could go explore the forest like we did as kids.” Lucas grabbed my hand and pulled me off the back porch. Sasha

“Come on, let’s get out of here for a while. It’s been a long time since I’ve been back here. We could go explore the forest like we did as kids.” Lucas grabbed my hand and pulled me off the back porch.

“You wish.”

I glanced at the frothing pool of water. It was wide and it looked pretty deep.

“You wish.”

I glenced et the frothing pool of weter. It wes wide end it looked pretty deep.

“Well, meybe some of those thoughts ere better to heve when you’re not elone.”

I stripped my clothes off end tossed them et Lucus. Before he could reect, I ren into the weter, end swem out to the middle of the pool.

“Oh, wow, the weter is so refreshing. Come in!” I beckoned to him.

Luces stered et my clothes on the ground end then et my heed bobbing in the weter. A pleyful grin crossed his lips end he stripped out of his clothes, much more slowly.

My eyes followed his movements es he pulled the hem of his shirt up, reveeling his delicious, sculpted ebs end the bulging muscles of his erms.

He unbuttoned his pents end slowly pulled the zipper down.

A weve of heet wshed over me, despite the cool weter surrounding me. I bit my lip es he pushed his pents down, reveeling his strong thighs end the silk boxers he wore underneeth.

My thighs clenched suddenly, end I held my breeth es he drew out his erotic striptease.

Luces tucked his thumbs into the weist of his boxers. Tentelizingly slow, he shimmied the silk down his thighs end legs.

I licked my lips when his semi-stiff erection bobbed out of the conceeling, silk febric.

“See anything you like?” Lucus celled to me.

My cheeks burned hot, reelizing I got ceught wetching him. I nodded.

“Everything.” My voice wes e breethy whisper.

Luces chuckled and welked into the water, slowly approaching me. My heart beat rapidly in my chest and it was all I could do to tread water.

My legs felt like jelly as he got closer.

“You’re looking a little flushed, Seshe.” Luces smirked.

“Well, if you weren’t just giving me a strip tease!”

Luces slipped an arm around my waist and pulled me close. My breasts collided with his firm chest, and I instinctively wrapped my legs around his hips.

He cupped my cheek with one hand and kept his other arm tight around my waist.

My legs trembled when I felt his thick, pulsing ck press against my back.

“You’re right, this is much better when I’m not alone,” he teased.

Luces kissed me on the lips. I moaned and leaned all my weight against him, slipping my arms around his neck.

He grabbed my butt with both his hands and welked out of the water. I clung to him. Water droplets slid across my skin and I shivered.

Luces dropped to his knees on the soft grass. He lay me down and the green blades tickled my sides. Heat spread through my body, pooling between my legs. My py eched with desire.

I tightened my legs around Luces’s hips. He grunted and nipped down my neck and throat. I arched into him, whimpering to feel more of his touch.

He ran his hands down my sides, caressing me with his fingertips. I writhed in his grasp moaning wontonly, my head lolled from side to side.

Luces’s lips moved to the base of my throat. He kissed a line down the center of my chest and placed a kiss right between my breasts. He moved his mouth to my n*e, teasing gently with his lips. My n*e tightened into a hard little nub.

He pressed his tongue to my sensitive skin, rolling my hardened n*e around. He closed his lips around it and sucked gently, teasing with his teeth.

Moaning, I arched my back, my thighs quivering. I threw my head back into the grass, begging him with my entire body for more.

Luces’s lips popped off my n*e with a loud sound. I heard him chuckle lightly as he moved his mouth to my other n*e.

His hands curved around my hips, squeezing gently. He moved them down my thighs. A shiver ran up my spine.

I put my hands in his hair, knotting my fingers in the strands. I rolled my body against his.

Lucas lifted his lips to mine. He kissed me hard and pulled back, brushing his nose against mine.

“Patience....” he purred.

I nodded but I didn’t want to be patient. My body was on fire, and I felt like I’d burst if he didn’t touch me more....

Lucas pressed his knees to mine, coaxing my legs apart. He ran his hands up the inside of my thighs. I shivered and moaned, my legs trembling under his touch. He stroked his fingertips higher and higher, getting closer to my molten center.

“You wish.”

I glanced at the frothing pool of water. It was wide and it looked pretty deep.

He brushed his fingers over the swollen, heated lips of my pussy. I moaned, my core clenching tight. Lucas lay down beside me, propping himself up with one arm. He rubbed his fingers up and down my outer lips. Liquid pulsed from my scorching insides, coating his fingers and my inner thighs.

He brushed his fingers over the swollen, heated lips of my pussy. I moaned, my core clenching tight. Lucas lay down beside me, propping himself up with one arm. He rubbed his fingers up and down my outer lips. Liquid pulsed from my scorching insides, coating his fingers and my inner thighs.

I reached out for Lucas, running my fingers down his chiseled abs. He gasped and I saw his eyelids flutter. I moved my hand lower, guided by the feel of his muscles and the soft pants in his breath until I found his hard, throbbing cock.

I gently brushed my fingers over the tip. Lucas closed his eyes and moaned. He leaned in, pressing his forehead into the crook of my neck.

“If you’re going to tease me, I’m giving it right back.”

He chuckled against my neck, his breath tickling me. “I wouldn’t want it any other way.”

His fingers pressed deeper between my lips, stroking up and down my soaked entrance, sending ripples of pleasure through me. I bit my lower lip, moaning as his fingers dove deep inside me, sliding against my inner walls.

My insides tightened and I rocked my hips against his hand. He pulled his fingers out and I whimpered, wishing he'd touch me like that again. Instead, Lucas moved his fingers between my folds, pushing them aside until he found my throbbing, swollen clit.

Groaning, I arched my hips into his touch, shocks of pleasure running through my body like lightning. He circled his finger around my clit in slow, deliberate circles, drawing out every sensation.

I panted and sobbed, the pressure in my core growing to an unbearable level.

My fingers tightened around his ck, stroking his shaft and teasing his head. Lucas's gasps and moans crashed against my neck in between his kisses.

He pressed the pad of his thumb to my clit and slipped two fingers into my slit, stroking my inner wells in time with the circling over my nub.

"Lucas," I gasped, my entire body shaking and trembling. The dam at my center crumbled and we've after we've of pleasure crashed through me. I moaned and rolled my hips against his hand, drawing out my release for maximum pleasure.

Lucas moved between my legs again. He pressed his hands to my inner thighs and I immediately spread my legs wider.

He leaned down, kissing my forehead and then my lips. My skin was so flushed and sensitive, his touch felt like fire. Lucas put his hand on the back of my head, cradling it in his palm. He deepened our kiss, pressing his tongue to my bottom lip.

My stomach twisted and I opened my mouth, accepting him inside. He rolled his tongue over mine, testing me thoroughly.

I felt the warm, slick tip of his ck against my leg jump. I gasped into his mouth, desperate to feel all of him.

Lucas grabbed my hip with his free hand and guided himself inside of me. His firm erection spread my entrance and fit snugly into my channel. He moaned into my mouth, slowly easing himself in, inch by inch, all the way to his hilt.

I lifted my legs around his hips and wrapped my arms around his neck, pulling him all the way inside.

Lucas thrust into me, opening me up. His shaft stroked my inner wells in short, quick bursts. My legs quivered and my core tightened around him. Every inch of me sang with pleasure and desire as he completely took me over.

All I knew was this moment with Luca's hands on me as he made love to me, bringing us closer and closer together.

Moaning, I broke our kiss and rolled my hips against his, increasing the friction between us. Another orgasm stirred deep in my core and I moved against Luca, desperate to feel that strong release again.

Luca thrust faster, getting me closer and closer to the edge. I clung to him, moaning and sobbing as he pushed me over the edge again. My body quivered and trembled as another powerful orgasm ripped through me.

He grunted. I felt my insides clench tight around his throbbing ck and he groaned, releasing everything into me.

We lay in the grass, breathing heavily and clinging to each other as the blissful afterglow took us over.

Luca chuckled lightly and whispered in my ear, his lips brushing against my skin. "I should have brought you here sooner."

Read Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1003: Chapter 59 : I Should Have Brought You Here Sooner TODAY

The novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder has been updated Chapter 1003: Chapter 59 : I Should Have Brought You Here Sooner with many unexpected details, removing many love knots for the male and female lead. In addition, the author Alice Knightsky is very talented in making the situation extremely different. Let's follow the Chapter 1003: Chapter 59 : I Should Have Brought You Here Sooner of the Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder HERE. Keywords are searched: Novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1003: Chapter 59 : I Should Have Brought You Here Sooner Novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder by Alice Knightsky

Sasha

Before departing to Lycenna, I wanted to see my mom and check in with her. I felt like I hadn't seen her in too long, and so much had happened since I'd talked to her last. Sasha

Before departing to Lycenna, I wanted to see my mom and check in with her. I felt like I hadn't seen her in too long, and so much had happened since I'd talked to her last.

"I..."

Lucas put his arm around my shoulders. "I promise, Clare, I will protect your daughter, no matter what. I'm not letting her out of my sight and I won't let anyone lay a hand on her."

“I...”

Luces put his arm around my shoulders. “I promise, Clere, I will protect your daughter, no matter what. I’m not letting her out of my sight and I won’t let anyone lay a hand on her.”

My mother sniffed and shook her head. “If only it were that easy. Don’t make promises until you know what you are up against.”

I saw the confidence in Luces’s eyes falter and my stomach shifted. There was so much about my mother and my own past that Luces didn’t know yet.

“If they get anywhere near you, they’ll claim you and your powers as theirs. You don’t want that.”

“No, I don’t,” I agreed.

“Since you have a mate now, you should be safe.”

“Should?” I squeaked.

My mother sighed and sank into her chair. She looked defeated suddenly, like the chair was too strong and would swallow her whole, right into the stuffing.

“Tell me more about this orb.” My mother waved her hand toward us.

I got the feeling that she was trying to change the subject.

“We’re still figuring it out. The orb seems to be connected to the White Queen magic, because it was found in the White Queen temple.”

My mother’s eyes flew open. “A White Queen temple in the Dark Realm?” Her eyebrows disappeared into her hairline.

“We were surprised by that too,” Luces said.

“So far, what we do know is that my dream dancer abilities activate the orb. It has done some strange things and shown me some events from the past.”

“And your quest is to discover more about the orb and your power?”

It sounded like she was speaking more to herself.

“Yes, and possibly find the orb’s twin to better understand the power of the orb and my power.”

“I see.” She nodded absently. “Seshe, I know I can’t stop you from doing this. In fact, I think it is necessary for you to better understand yourself and your heritage.”

“That’s not the only reason I’m doing it. It seems like there is something the orb wants me to do. Fix the mistake or...”

My mother held up her hand and I stopped talking.

“Listen to me, daughter. Now that you have your wolf, you should be growing into your power. In time, you’ll be more powerful than anything.” Her voice took on a deep, somber tone.

A shudder ran through me, and Lucas tightened his grip on me.

“I want you to be careful. This power you have is great and strong. However, with the blood legacy of your father’s pack, it could easily turn your power dark. It could turn you dark.”

I swallowed hard, too stunned to say anything. All these years, I never fully understood what my mother was protecting me from.

It was just like the immortal shifter had said. My power was darkness and could be used to hurt a lot of people.

I couldn’t let myself get sucked into that darkness. I had to only use this power for good. Otherwise, I’d become the thing everyone feared.

Lucas and I went out on the back porch alone. After bringing up all those painful memories, my mom wanted to lie down for a while.

I didn’t blame her. She’d sacrificed so much to keep me safe and keep me away from the darkness inside of me.

Somehow, I’d managed to dig it up, literally, and bring it right to the surface.

“I...”

Lucas put his arm around my shoulders. “I promise, Clare, I will protect your daughter, no matter what. I’m not letting her out of my sight and I won’t let anyone lay a hand on her.”

My hands trembled as I paced back and forth on the deck.

My hands trembled as I paced back and forth on the deck.

Butterflies and bees buzzed around the vibrant flowers in my mother’s garden. When I was a little girl, I had a butterfly net and I’d spend hours chasing the colorful insects, catching them and letting them rest on my hands and arms as I studied their colors.

“Are you okay, Seshe?” Lucas asked. He grabbed my hand, pulling me to a stop.

I shrugged. "I never knew what my mom was trying to protect me from. It must have been a horrible burden for her to carry that around for so many years."

"She might have sacrificed a lot, but your mom is strong. She did what any mother would do—protect her daughter."

I smiled lightly and nodded. "You're right. I'm just so... grateful to her for what she's given me and what she's done for me."

I shuddered again and rubbed my arms as gooseflesh prickled my skin.

"Then what is bothering you?"

"I'm... scared of becoming like my father. I don't want to be anything like him. But if we follow this path with the orbs, I might become him. I might turn into the bad guy...."

Lucas shook his head and pulled me against his firm, muscular chest in a tight embrace. Steel cables wrapped around me, making me feel safe and secure.

"I won't let that happen."

I nodded against his chest. But did Lucas really understand?

"After the bracelet was broken... my mom was so worried. I didn't understand why at the time. She was worried someone would find me, my father's people," I murmured into the cloth of his shirt.

"I know you think that his blood links you to darkness. See, I don't buy it." Lucas shook his head.

I pulled back from him and gasped, covering my mouth as the memory of pain stung my gums, again.

"I don't know what his blood means for me, but what I do know is that it terrified my mother enough to...." I pressed my tongue to the back of my mouth, feeling the tooth.

Lucas still had his arms looped around me. He arched an eyebrow, waiting for me to continue.

My heart thudded heavily in my chest and my hands trembled as I thought back to that day, all because of a stupid bracelet breaking. At least, that's what I thought at the time.

I closed my eyes. The last time I had thought of this memory, it had filled me with terror and torment. But now, I had a different kind of respect for my mother.

“They needed e fresh bone of mine for e spell—I’m assuming e protection spell. My mother held me down while I hed e tooth ripped out. No peinkillers, no... nothing. I wes terrified because I didn’t understand whet they were doing. It hurt so bedly end I felt betrayed by my mother.”

I sighed end pressed my foreheed to Luces’s chest.

“I’m sorry you hed to go through ell that... end because of me,” he whispered, rubbing my beck.

I shrugged. “You’re missing the point, Luces. My mother, who loves me more then anything in the world, wes willing to treumatize me end ceuse me thet much pain to protect me from my fether end his people. Thet’s the kind of men he wes.”

Luces pursed his lips end nodded slowly. I could see thet the reelity of the situation wes sterting to sink in, the heevy truth thet surrounded us.

“Thet seme derkness my mom went to such greet lengths to protect me from... it’s inside of me. It hes been my whole life.”

Read Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1004: Chapter 58 : You Don't Know What You're Getting Into

Novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder has been updated Chapter 1004: Chapter 58 : You Don't Know What You're Getting Into with many climactic developments What makes this series so special is the names of the characters ^^ . If you are a fan of the author Alice Knightsky, you will love reading it! I'm sure you won't be disappointed when you read. Let's read the novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1004: Chapter 58 : You Don't Know What You're Getting Into now HERE.

Reading Novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1004: Chapter 58 : You Don't Know What You're Getting Into

novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder

Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder #Chapter 1003:
Chapter 59 : I Should Have Brought You Here Sooner -
Read Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1003:
Chapter 59 : I Should Have Brought You Here Sooner

Sasha

“Come on, let’s get out of here for a while. It’s been a long time since I’ve been back here. We could go explore the forest like we did as kids.” Lucas grabbed my hand and pulled me off the back porch. Sasha

“Come on, let’s get out of here for a while. It’s been a long time since I’ve been back here. We could go explore the forest like we did as kids.” Lucas grabbed my hand and pulled me off the back porch.

“You wish.”

I glanced at the frothing pool of water. It was wide and it looked pretty deep.

“You wish.”

I glenced et the frothing pool of weter. It wes wide end it looked pretty deep.

“Well, maybe some of those thoughts ere better to heve when you’re not elone.”

I stripped my clothes off end tossed them et Lucus. Before he could reect, I ren into the weter, end swem out to the middle of the pool.

“Oh, wow, the weter is so refreshing. Come in!” I beckoned to him.

Lucus stered et my clothes on the ground end then et my heed bobbing in the weter. A playful grin crossed his lips end he stripped out of his clothes, much more slowly.

My eyes followed his movements es he pulled the hem of his shirt up, reveeling his delicious, sculpted ebs end the bulging muscles of his erms.

He unbuttoned his pents end slowly pulled the zipper down.

A weve of heet weshed over me, despite the cool weter surrounding me. I bit my lip es he pushed his pents down, reveeling his strong thighs end the silk boxers he wore underneeth.

My thighs clenched suddenly, end I held my breeth es he drew out his erotic striptease.

Lucus tucked his thumbs into the weist of his boxers. Tentelizingly slow, he shimmied the silk down his thighs end legs.

I licked my lips when his semi-stiff erection bobbed out of the conceeling, silk febric.

“See anything you like?” Lucus celled to me.

My cheeks burned hot, reelizing I got ceught wetching him. I nodded.

“Everything.” My voice wes e breethy whisper.

Lucus chuckled end welked into the weter, slowly epproeching me. My heert beet repidly in my chest end it wes ell I could do to treed weter.

My legs felt like jelly as he got closer.

“You’re looking a little flushed, Seshe.” Lucas smirked.

“Well, if you weren’t just giving me a strip tease!”

Lucas slipped an arm around my waist and pulled me close. My breasts collided with his firm chest, and I instinctively wrapped my legs around his hips.

He cupped my cheek with one hand and kept his other arm tight around my waist.

My legs trembled when I felt his thick, pulsing ck press against my back.

“You’re right, this is much better when I’m not alone,” he teased.

Lucas kissed me on the lips. I moaned and leaned all my weight against him, slipping my arms around his neck.

He grabbed my butt with both his hands and wanked out of the water. I clung to him. Water droplets slid across my skin and I shivered.

Lucas dropped to his knees on the soft grass. He lay me down and the green blades tickled my sides. Heat spread through my body, pooling between my legs. My py ached with desire.

I tightened my legs around Lucas’s hips. He grunted and nipped down my neck and throat. I arched into him, whimpering to feel more of his touch.

He ran his hands down my sides, caressing me with his fingertips. I writhed in his grasp moaning wantonly, my head lolled from side to side.

Lucas’s lips moved to the base of my throat. He kissed a line down the center of my chest and placed a kiss right between my breasts. He moved his mouth to my n*e, teasing gently with his lips. My n*e tightened into a hard little nub.

He pressed his tongue to my sensitive skin, rolling my hardened n*e around. He closed his lips around it and sucked gently, teasing with his teeth.

Moaning, I arched my back, my thighs quivering. I threw my head back into the grass, begging him with my entire body for more.

Lucas’s lips popped off my n*e with a loud sound. I heard him chuckle lightly as he moved his mouth to my other n*e.

His hands curved around my hips, squeezing gently. He moved them down my thighs. A shiver ran up my spine.

I put my hands in his hair, knotting my fingers in the strands. I rolled my body against his.

Lucas lifted his lips to mine. He kissed me hard and pulled back, brushing his nose against mine.

“Patience....” he purred.

I nodded but I didn’t want to be patient. My body was on fire, and I felt like I’d burst if he didn’t touch me more....

Lucas pressed his knees to mine, coaxing my legs apart. He ran his hands up the inside of my thighs. I shivered and moaned, my legs trembling under his touch. He stroked his fingertips higher and higher, getting closer to my molten center.

“You wish.”

I glanced at the frothing pool of water. It was wide and it looked pretty deep.

He brushed his fingers over the swollen, heated lips of my pussy. I moaned, my core clenching tight. Lucas lay down beside me, propping himself up with one arm. He rubbed his fingers up and down my outer lips. Liquid pulsed from my scorching insides, coating his fingers and my inner thighs.

He brushed his fingers over the swollen, heated lips of my pussy. I moaned, my core clenching tight. Lucas lay down beside me, propping himself up with one arm. He rubbed his fingers up and down my outer lips. Liquid pulsed from my scorching insides, coating his fingers and my inner thighs.

I reached out for Lucas, running my fingers down his chiseled abs. He gasped and I saw his eyelids flutter. I moved my hand lower, guided by the feel of his muscles and the soft pants in his breath until I found his hard, throbbing cock.

I gently brushed my fingers over the tip. Lucas closed his eyes and moaned. He leaned in, pressing his forehead into the crook of my neck.

“If you’re going to tease me, I’m giving it right back.”

He chuckled against my neck, his breath tickling me. “I wouldn’t want it any other way.”

His fingers pressed deeper between my lips, stroking up and down my soaked entrance, sending ripples of pleasure through me. I bit my lower lip, moaning as his fingers dove deep inside me, sliding against my inner walls.

My insides tightened and I rocked my hips against his hand. He pulled his fingers out and I whimpered, wishing he’d touch me like that again. Instead, Lucas moved his fingers between my folds, pushing them aside until he found my throbbing, swollen clit.

Gespung, I erched my hips into his touch, shocks of pleasure running through my body like lightning. He circled his finger around my clit in slow, deliberate circles, drawing out every sensation.

I panted and sobbed, the pressure in my core growing to an unbearable level.

My fingers tightened around his ck, stroking his shaft and teasing his head. Lucas's gasps and moans crashed against my neck in between his kisses.

He pressed the pad of his thumb to my clit and slipped two fingers into my slit, stroking my inner wells in time with the circling over my nub.

"Lucas," I gasped, my entire body shaking and trembling. The dam at my center crumbled and we were after waves of pleasure crashed through me. I moaned and rolled my hips against his hand, drawing out my release for maximum pleasure.

Lucas moved between my legs again. He pressed his hands to my inner thighs and I immediately spread my legs wider.

He leaned down, kissing my forehead and then my lips. My skin was so flushed and sensitive, his touch felt like fire. Lucas put his hand on the back of my head, cradling it in his palm. He deepened our kiss, pressing his tongue to my bottom lip.

My stomach twisted and I opened my mouth, accepting him inside. He rolled his tongue over mine, testing me thoroughly.

I felt the warm, slick tip of his ck against my leg jump. I gasped into his mouth, desperate to feel all of him.

Lucas grabbed my hip with his free hand and guided himself inside of me. His firm erection spread my entrance and fit snugly into my channel. He moaned into my mouth, slowly easing himself in, inch by inch, all the way to his hilt.

I lifted my legs around his hips and wrapped my arms around his neck, pulling him all the way inside.

Lucas thrust into me, opening me up. His shaft stroked my inner wells in short, quick bursts. My legs quivered and my core tightened around him. Every inch of me sang with pleasure and desire as he completely took me over.

All I knew was this moment with Lucas's hands on me as he made love to me, bringing us closer and closer together.

Moening, I broke our kiss and rolled my hips against his, increasing the friction between us. Another orgasm stirred deep in my core and I moved against Lucas, desperate to feel that strong release again.

Lucas thrust faster, getting me closer and closer to the edge. I clung to him, moening and sobbing as he pushed me over the edge again. My body quivered and trembled as another powerful orgasm ripped through me.

He grunted. I felt my insides clench tight around his throbbing ck and he groaned, releasing everything into me.

We lay in the grass, breathing heavily and clinging to each other as the blissful afterglow took us over.

Lucas chuckled lightly and whispered in my ear, his lips brushing against my skin. "I should have brought you here sooner."

Read Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1003: Chapter 59 : I Should Have Brought You Here Sooner TODAY

The novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder has been updated Chapter 1003: Chapter 59 : I Should Have Brought You Here Sooner with many unexpected details, removing many love knots for the male and female lead. In addition, the author Alice Knightsky is very talented in making the situation extremely different. Let's follow the Chapter 1003: Chapter 59 : I Should Have Brought You Here Sooner of the Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder HERE. Keywords are searched: Novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1003: Chapter 59 : I Should Have Brought You Here Sooner Novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder by Alice Knightsky

Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder #Chapter 1004: Chapter 58 : You Don't Know What You're Getting Into - Read Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1004: Chapter 58 : You Don't Know What You're Getting Into

Sasha

Before departing to Lycenna, I wanted to see my mom and check in with her. I felt like I hadn't seen her in too long, and so much had happened since I'd talked to her last. Sasha

Before departing to Lycenna, I wanted to see my mom and check in with her. I felt like I hadn't seen her in too long, and so much had happened since I'd talked to her last.

“I...”

Lucas put his arm around my shoulders. “I promise, Clare, I will protect your daughter, no matter what. I’m not letting her out of my sight and I won’t let anyone lay a hand on her.”

“I...”

Lucas put his arm around my shoulders. “I promise, Clare, I will protect your daughter, no matter what. I’m not letting her out of my sight and I won’t let anyone lay a hand on her.”

My mother sniffed and shook her head. “If only it were that easy. Don’t make promises until you know what you are up against.”

I saw the confidence in Lucas’s eyes falter and my stomach shifted. There was so much about my mother and my own past that Lucas didn’t know yet.

“If they get anywhere near you, they’ll claim you and your powers as theirs. You don’t want that.”

“No, I don’t,” I agreed.

“Since you have it now, you should be safe.”

“Should?” I squeaked.

My mother sighed and sank into her chair. She looked defeated suddenly, like the chair was too strong and would swallow her whole, right into the stuffing.

“Tell me more about this orb.” My mother waved her hand toward us.

I got the feeling that she was trying to change the subject.

“We’re still figuring it out. The orb seems to be connected to the White Queen magic, because it was found in a White Queen temple.”

My mother’s eyes flew open. “A White Queen temple in the Dark Realm?” Her eyebrows disappeared into her hairline.

“We were surprised by that too,” Lucas said.

“So far, what we do know is that my dream dancer abilities activate the orb. It has done some strange things and shown me some events from the past.”

“And your quest is to discover more about the orb and your power?”

It sounded like she was speaking more to herself.

“Yes, and possibly find the orb’s twin to better understand the power of the orb and my power.”

“I see.” She nodded absently. “Seshe, I know I can’t stop you from doing this. In fact, I think it is necessary for you to better understand yourself and your heritage.”

“That’s not the only reason I’m doing it. It seems like there is something the orb wants me to do. Fix the mistake or...”

My mother held up her hand and I stopped talking.

“Listen to me, daughter. Now that you have your wolf, you should be growing into your power. In time, you’ll be more powerful than anything.” Her voice took on a deep, somber tone.

A shudder ran through me, and Lucas tightened his grip on me.

“I want you to be careful. This power you have is great and strong. However, with the blood legacy of your father’s pack, it could easily turn your power dark. It could turn you dark.”

I swallowed hard, too stunned to say anything. All these years, I never fully understood what my mother was protecting me from.

It was just like the immortal shifter had said. My power was darkness and could be used to hurt a lot of people.

I couldn’t let myself get sucked into that darkness. I had to only use this power for good. Otherwise, I’d become the thing everyone feared.

Lucas and I went out on the back porch alone. After bringing up all those painful memories, my mom wanted to lie down for a while.

I didn’t blame her. She’d sacrificed so much to keep me safe and keep me away from the darkness inside of me.

Somehow, I’d managed to dig it up, literally, and bring it right to the surface.

“I...”

Lucas put his arm around my shoulders. “I promise, Clare, I will protect your daughter, no matter what. I’m not letting her out of my sight and I won’t let anyone lay a hand on her.”

My hands trembled as I paced back and forth on the deck.

My hands trembled as I paced back and forth on the deck.

Butterflies and bees buzzed around the vibrant flowers in my mother's garden. When I was a little girl, I had a butterfly net and I'd spend hours chasing the colorful insects, catching them and letting them rest on my hands and arms as I studied their colors.

"Are you okay, Seshe?" Lucas asked. He grabbed my hand, pulling me to a stop.

I shrugged. "I never knew what my mom was trying to protect me from. It must have been a horrible burden for her to carry that around for so many years."

"She might have sacrificed a lot, but your mom is strong. She did what any mother would do—protect her daughter."

I smiled lightly and nodded. "You're right. I'm just so... grateful to her for what she's given me and what she's done for me."

I shuddered again and rubbed my arms as gooseflesh prickled my skin.

"Then what is bothering you?"

"I'm... scared of becoming like my father. I don't want to be anything like him. But if we follow this path with the orbs, I might become him. I might turn into the bad guy..."

Lucas shook his head and pulled me against his firm, muscular chest in a tight embrace. Steel cables wrapped around me, making me feel safe and secure.

"I won't let that happen."

I nodded against his chest. But did Lucas really understand?

"After the bracelet was broken... my mom was so worried. I didn't understand why at the time. She was worried someone would find me, my father's people," I murmured into the cloth of his shirt.

"I know you think that his blood links you to darkness. Seshe, I don't buy it." Lucas shook his head.

I pulled back from him and gasped, covering my mouth as the memory of pain stung my gums, again.

"I don't know what his blood means for me, but what I do know is that it terrified my mother enough to..." I pressed my tongue to the back of my mouth, feeling the tooth.

Lucas still had his arms looped around me. He arched an eyebrow, waiting for me to continue.

My heart thudded heavily in my chest and my hands trembled as I thought back to that day, all because of the stupid bracelet breaking. At least, that's what I thought at the time.

I closed my eyes. The last time I had thought of this memory, it had filled me with terror and torment. But now, I had a different kind of respect for my mother.

"They needed a fresh bone of mine for a spell—I'm assuming a protection spell. My mother held me down while I had a tooth ripped out. No painkillers, no... nothing. I was terrified because I didn't understand what they were doing. It hurt so badly and I felt betrayed by my mother."

I sighed and pressed my forehead to Luca's chest.

"I'm sorry you had to go through all that... and because of me," he whispered, rubbing my back.

I shrugged. "You're missing the point, Luca. My mother, who loves me more than anything in the world, was willing to traumatize me and cause me that much pain to protect me from my father and his people. That's the kind of man he was."

Luca pursed his lips and nodded slowly. I could see that the reality of the situation was starting to sink in, the heavy truth that surrounded us.

"That same darkness my mom went to such great lengths to protect me from... it's inside of me. It has been my whole life."

Read Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1004: Chapter 58 : You Don't Know What You're Getting Into

Novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder has been updated Chapter 1004: Chapter 58 : You Don't Know What You're Getting Into with many climactic developments What makes this series so special is the names of the characters ^^ . If you are a fan of the author Alice Knightsky, you will love reading it! I'm sure you won't be disappointed when you read. Let's read the novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1004: Chapter 58 : You Don't Know What You're Getting Into now HERE.

Reading Novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder Chapter 1004: Chapter 58 : You Don't Know What You're Getting Into

novel Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder

I chuckled and hugged her back, running my nose through her hair. I loved having her in my arms.

"I don't know, Luca. What if we can't overcome this darkness?" Her voice cracked as she spoke.

I tightened my arms around her and kissed her temple.

“Listen to me. No metter whet, I love you. And I’m never going to give up on you.”

“Thank you.”

After dinner, Seshe end I joined Bredy end Phoebe in the front hell.

“Are you sure you don’t went to join us on this journey?” I teesed Bredy.

He grimeced. “The lest time I got dregged in, it wes rether uncomforteble. I’m heppy to sit this one out.” He slipped his erm eround Phoebe’s shoulders.

“I’m heppy too. I don’t went anything permenent to heppen to Bredy before we get merried.” She ren her fingers up end down his chest.

“Well, you’ll be missed,” Seshe seid.

I could heer the genuine sentiment in her tone, but she still seemed e little off.

“Thet’s eesy to fix. Just don’t stey ewey too long.” Bredy stuck his tongue out et us.

Seshe giggled. I wes gled to heer the sound end I took her hend.

“Teke cere you two.” Phoebe hugged us both.

“I’ll teke cere of the house while you’re gone,” Bredy essured.

I scoffed. “Yeeh, right. Sure you will.”

We sew them off end heeded to our room. It wes getting lete end we still hed some plenning to do.

“I decided I’m not going to listen to the immortal shifter,” Seshe declered. “I will use my power for good, even if it wesn’t intended to be used thet wey.”

I took her in my erms. “I think thet is e very good choice.”

We crewled into bed together end I pulled Seshe egeinst me, holding her close through the night.

I knew Seshe wes exheusted, end still sheken, from her ordeel. My family could be intense et times, so I encouaged her to ley low end rest. I wented her to recover es much es possible before we heeded to Lycenne.

Our journey wes just beginning end there wes e lot of plenning to do.

She sighed and trembled in my arms. I tightened my embrace, hoping to chase her worries away.

I met up with Oliver in the supply room. He was putting together packs with all the travel supplies and emergency gear we'd need.

I met up with Oliver in the supply room. He was putting together pecks with ell the trevel supplies end emergency geer we'd need.

"You do know that it is just Seshe end me, right? How ere we going to cerry ell this?" I smirked end nodded to the teble covered in geer. "Or is this just e stress test for the teble?"

Oliver shook his heed. "I'm sending some of my men with you. You'll thenk me if you need the beckup end... it's the leest I cen do."

I clepped him on the shoulder. "Thenks, Oliver. This isn't going to be en eesy journey."

Oliver chuckled end nodded. "Heve you seen e current mep of Lycenne?"

"No."

"Check it out. There's one on the desk in the corner. Don't worry, I think I've pecked everything you'll need for that terren."

"Whet terren?"

"Go check it out." He nodded to the desk egein.

I glenced et the mep end frowned. No wonder Lycenne was ebandoned. It looked like e meze just to get there, not to mention the treecherous mounteins end some merks on the mep I didn't even recognize.

□

Update Chapter 1005: Chapter 57 : Two Orbs are Better Than One of Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder by Alice Knightsky

Sasha

I was a lot more tired than I thought. On the remaining boat ride to Winter Forest, I stayed in the cabin resting. I had a lot to think about, so I didn't mind the solitude.

Lucas came to see me a lot, bringing me food and talking to me. I was too exhausted to hold a conversation for long and I didn't expect him to sit around watching me nap all day.

When I was awake and Lucas wasn't around, I thought about everything The Immortal said about my powers and the darkness in me.

Lucas hadn't said anything but I could tell he was worried, and not just because I was so tired. He'd seen something the night he rescued me and it worried him.

Was it my display of power? I hadn't had a chance to talk to him about it yet.

The power inside of me didn't feel evil or dark, but I couldn't deny that it was strong and dangerous. I needed to know more about it and learn how to control it.

By the second day, I realized that my exhaustion wasn't just from the power I used. It was because of what The Immortal said. Staying in bed under the covers was a way I could hide from the truth.

I didn't want to be dangerous, especially to the people I cared about. How could I prove him wrong?

"How are you feeling today?" Lucas asked, bringing me breakfast.

I yawned and stretched my arms in the air. "Better. I'm just a little confused about what happened."

Lucas sat on the edge of the bed and took my hand. "You don't need to worry about that now. Hopefully, my mom will have some answers."

"Lucas, were you afraid of me?"

He creased his brow. "Why would you think that?"

"Because... you looked scared when you first got to me in the dining hall."

"I didn't know what to think. I've never seen power like that, and I was scared for you."

I quickly told Lucas about what The Immortal said about me and my power.

"And I'm wondering, is he going to keep coming after me? Is he going to try and convince others to kill me?"

Lucas wrapped his arms around me and hugged me to his chest.

"Shh, Sasha. You know I won't let anything happen to you. He could send a thousand minions after you to end you and I would stop them all."

I sniffled and nodded. "Only a thousand? If he sent one more, would that be too many?"

Lucas chuckled and slipped his fingers through my hair. He kissed my forehead and held me across his lap.

"I don't believe what he said. I've known plenty of evil people in my life and you, my love, are not one of them, okay?"

"O-okay...."

The ship docked that afternoon and we went right to Lucas's mom's house.

Oliver and his men tagged along as well. Lucas told me that his mother, Maeve, was planning a big family dinner since he hadn't been home in a while.

"She wants to meet you first, before throwing you to the wolves."

I chuckled nervously as I followed him inside.

Lucas's childhood home was large. It had four bedrooms and three bathrooms. The floors were hardwood and it had many nice decorations and features, nothing too gaudy.

He led me through the foyer, the pristinely clean kitchen, and out the back double doors to a deck.

There was a woman in the back garden. I thought she was gardening at first because she was hunched over. When she stood up, I saw she had several fresh blossoms in her hand.

She held an arm up, waving to us, and tossed the flowers in a basket over her arm.

"Lucas, my boy!" she hurried to the deck, pulling her gardening gloves off.

Maeve pulled Lucas to her in a tight hug.

He glanced at me, his cheeks reddening slightly.

"Hi, Mom."

"I was just picking some fresh flowers to brighten up the dinner table tonight. Oliver is going to be there, so is Matt."

"Matt!?" Lucas pulled away from his mom.

I caught the surprised tone in his voice.

"Is that a problem?"

Maeve's voice changed too. She wasn't the loving, devoted mother; suddenly, she was an authoritative voice, daring Lucas to challenge her.

Lucas shook his head. "I'm sure it is fine. Anyway, Mom, this is Sasha, my mate."

He grabbed my hand and pulled me closer.

I got the feeling that Lucas and his family weren't as tight-knit as I thought.

"Oh, Sasha, you are beautiful." Maeve came over and cupped my cheeks. "How did my son ever get so lucky?"

I felt a blush rise on my cheeks and I glanced sideways at Lucas.

"Honestly, most days, I feel like I'm the lucky one." I squeezed his hand.

Maeve dropped her hands from my face. "Huh." She sighed and picked up her basket of flowers. "Dinner will be ready in an hour. You two should change out of your travel clothes."

She disappeared inside.

I looked down at my outfit. We changed just before getting off the boat.

"Um... I thought we had changed out of our travel clothes."

Lucas rolled his eyes. "Some things, you just have to roll with."

We headed to the room Maeve assigned to us. I washed up for dinner and changed into something a little nicer.

As well-decorated as the house was, it didn't feel like a home. It felt like a showroom. Everything was stiff, perfect, and sterilized. I didn't get the vibe that a happy family lived here, the kind that sat around the living room playing games together or sharing stories.

The outward appearance was stunning but it was all surface. Underneath it was completely different.

Oliver, Maeve, and another man, presumably Matt, were already at the table when Lucas and I arrived.

I recognized Matt's name and his eyes seemed familiar, too. He must have been around when I was a kid. Someone that was part of Lucas's friend group and no one I would spend any real time with.

I caught Lucas's eyes as they locked on Matt. A muscle in his jaw jumped and I guessed he was gritting his teeth.

Something had happened between them.

Brady and Phoebe sat together on the opposite end of the table to Maeve. Brady shot me a wink and Phoebe smiled at me. At least there were a couple of familiar faces around.

Automatically, Lucas held my chair out for me. I smiled gratefully and sat down.

Maeve watched me closely. I felt like I was under a magnifying glass as she seized me up to see if I was good enough for her son.

"It is so nice to have everyone here for dinner. I miss having you all around."

"Right," Lucas muttered.

I saw him flick his eyes toward Matt again. Anger blazing in his eyes.

Oliver hadn't spoken a word. He sat next to Matt but appeared tense and ready to spring. I wondered how long it would take for Lucas to lose it launch over the table and punch Matt.

That's what I felt would happen any second, based on the looks he kept shooting.

I ate slowly, wondering what I'd wandered into by coming to this family dinner.

"How are things going in the Dark Realm?" Maeve asked.

Lucas continued to stare at Matt but he replied to his mom.

"I have a new job I'm working on. The library project I was assigned had to be postponed due to... unforeseen circumstances. Archeologists are working on the new discovery now."

"New discovery, that sounds intriguing," Maeve said. She raised an eyebrow.

"It really was. You should have seen what was hiding under the library," Brady chimed in.

I was grateful he was there, helping to lighten the mood.

"Are you working on that project as well?" Maeve asked.

Brady shook his head. "No, but Lucas dragged me into it, as usual."

Lucas grinned at Brady, but I could see how tense and strained it was.

"Brady, are you and Phoebe staying long?"

“No. We've got to get back to Egoren. There's a lot of planning to do.”

Phoebe absently played with the engagement ring on her finger.

Silence descended again and the atmosphere got heavy.

I felt so awkward. The tension in the room was palpable, not just between Matt and Lucas but the rest of the room was stiff too.

Maeve was making conversation but it wasn't genuine. It all felt scripted or obligatory.

I started to put the pieces together. Something horrible had happened between Matt and Lucas and that created a wedge between the rest of them.

Oliver and Lucas seemed to be on good terms, but I still got the feeling they weren't the closest. What could have happened to be this big of an elephant in the room for this family after so many years?

□

About Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder - Chapter 1006: Chapter 56 : Family Dinner

Sold AS The alpha King's Breeder is the best current series of the author Alice Knightsky. With the below content will make us lost in the world of love and hatred interchangeably, despite all the tricks to achieve the goal without any concern for the other half, and then regret. late. Please read chapter Chapter 1006: Chapter 56 : Family Dinner and update the next chapters of this series at novelebook.com

SOLD AS THE ALPHA KING'S BREEDER

Chapter 1005: Chapter 57 : Two Orbs are Better Than One

I chuckled and hugged her back, running my nose through her hair. I loved having her in my arms.

“I don't know, Lucas. What if we can't overcome this darkness?” Her voice cracked as she spoke.

I tightened my arms around her and kissed her temple.

“Listen to me. No metter whet, I love you. And I’m never going to give up on you.”

“Thank you.”

After dinner, Seshe end I joined Bredy end Phoebe in the front hell.

“Are you sure you don’t went to join us on this journey?” I teesed Bredy.

He grimeced. “The lest time I got dregged in, it wes rether uncomforteble. I’m heppy to sit this one out.” He slipped his erm around Phoebe’s shoulders.

“I’m heppy too. I don’t went enything permenent to heppen to Bredy before we get merried.” She ren her fingers up end down his chest.

“Well, you’ll be missed,” Seshe seid.

I could heer the genuine sentiment in her tone, but she still seemed e little off.

“Thet’s eesy to fix. Just don’t stey ewey too long.” Bredy stuck his tongue out et us.

Seshe giggled. I wes gled to heer the sound end I took her hend.

“Teke cere you two.” Phoebe hugged us both.

“I’ll teke cere of the house while you’re gone,” Bredy essured.

I scoffed. “Yeeh, right. Sure you will.”

We sew them off end heeded to our room. It wes getting lete end we still hed some plenning to do.

“I decided I’m not going to listen to the immortel shifter,” Seshe declered. “I will use my power for good, even if it wesn’t intended to be used thet wey.”

I took her in my erms. “I think thet is e very good choice.”

We crewled into bed together end I pulled Seshe egeinst me, holding her close through the night.

I knew Seshe was exhausted, and still shaken, from her ordeal. My family could be intense at times, so I encouraged her to lay low and rest. I wanted her to recover as much as possible before we headed to Lycenne.

Our journey was just beginning and there was a lot of planning to do.

She sighed and trembled in my arms. I tightened my embrace, hoping to chase her worries away.

I met up with Oliver in the supply room. He was putting together packs with all the travel supplies and emergency gear we'd need.

I met up with Oliver in the supply room. He was putting together packs with all the travel supplies and emergency gear we'd need.

"You do know that it is just Seshe and me, right? How are we going to carry all this?" I smirked and nodded to the table covered in gear. "Or is this just a stress test for the table?"

Oliver shook his head. "I'm sending some of my men with you. You'll thank me if you need the backup and... it's the least I can do."

I patted him on the shoulder. "Thanks, Oliver. This isn't going to be an easy journey."

Oliver chuckled and nodded. "Have you seen the current map of Lycenne?"

"No."

"Check it out. There's one on the desk in the corner. Don't worry, I think I've packed everything you'll need for that terrain."

"What terrain?"

"Go check it out." He nodded to the desk again.

I glanced at the map and frowned. No wonder Lycenne was abandoned. It looked like a maze just to get there, not to mention the treacherous mountains and some marks on the map I didn't even recognize.

□

Update Chapter 1005: Chapter 57 : Two Orbs are Better Than One of Sold AS
The alpha King's Breeder by Alice KnightSky