When all are at dining area Manik cleared his throat "Badima I want to make some rules can I?"

As she is the In charge of the mahal I mean ladies section

"it's your right on your family so I am glad finally you want it" she smiled

"well then, from now on no one will fight with Nandini who ever try to insult her will be punished to death, from now on so you all will respect as you do to me, she will cook and serve me all time she stays in my room I never want any gossips or talks on it. Dasis which are working for me will be with her too from now on." He finished while looking all his wives

Hema fistted her hand "hukum!!! Shama!!!! Cooking for you is all our duty and serving to you can't take that right from us"

Manik smirked "ya I saw how you all cook for me and how tasty you all cook so stay away from my food she cooks best and I love her cooking, about serving Hema you say what I eat first?"

"Sweats"

"Nandini you say"

"hukum!!!! You.... Prefer lassi first sip before eating anything" her voice is smooth and so

"Hema you and me were brought up at a time in this mahal you are here since my childhood still you don't even know what I eat or drink so what makes you right to serve for me? So it's clear she will serve me"

"I am royal by birth not any Dasi to know your tastes" Hema smirked

"silence!" Manik raised his voice "I just now said to speak in respect I think you people are taking things lightly as I never interfered in between you people but from now on I will till next moon day you will not wear chappels and eat only one time that you yourself cooked"

Manik said in firm voice Hema winced in pain

"should I need to invite to serve me food?" Manik said looking at Nandini

Nandini slowly came walking to him with full gunghat and started serving him

All the elders watching this smiled "did you see Manik really likes this girl she might be that beautiful and attractive I am happy for him"

Badima said in low voice to all three sitting besides her they nodded in agree

Nandini when looked at food she felt sad they are not at all according to Manik's taste she looked at other dishes then called Dasi asked her to bring some parathas she served them he stopped her showing hand she stopped

"hukum didn't explain?"

"He said Badima will teach me"

"Nandini as you know all rules which ladies generally have at home as royal family we need to display little more never give leniency to Dasis or workers never neglect Manik that's all"

"I will keep in mind always"
