

My views

You people ask for sequels and epilogues but did you guys give any feed back or any comments waiting for your comments and finding single word comments are so boring Yaar, always I find amazing awe that's it

If you guys really liked this story try give me your views, what you felt reading it, how is story what are the points you liked most which episode was boring where I dragged the story, did I over shadowed Nandini or made her much bolder????

a⁴

Like such things if you mention I feel like you really liked my story and you are interested in my stories I too feel like reading you comments and write much more interesting stories

I loved this story as you people I even planned to write a sequel for it but not now a er I complete Manan one mistake which I need to end it up soon. Then I will concentrate on Manik Malhotra it's my love story and sequel of this story.

It's not that I am demanding comments it's my curiosity to know your views I hope you guys understand my feelings. I am loosing interest in writing.

Sorry if I hurt you guys thank you

a³

Continue reading next part