Kissed AOM 1671

Chapter 1671

Corinne shook her head. "I don't know you, so how can I hate you? Mister Maxwell, I don't have any memory of you at all, so no, I don't hate you. But I don't like you, and I don't want to have anything to do with you."

Maxwell looked at Corinne with pain in his eyes. However, he also felt that that moment was the happiest he had been in the past 20 years.

After a moment of silence, he smiled and said, "Corinne, you and your mother are so alike. She also talks to me like that."

Corinne frowned and rolled her eyes in disgust. "Don't bring up my mother! You're not worthy to talk about her!"

Maxwell was not surprised by her reaction; Lucas also said the same thing to him before. He sighed and apologized, "I'm sorry. I..."

Corinne did not have the patience to listen to his useless explanations anymore.

"I don't want to hear any of your explanations! I only came because Sunny got down on his knees to beg me, so you should keep living for that kid's sake. Don't do anything stupid again! Think about your parents! Seriously, one would think you'd be more mature at your age."

Maxwell looked at Corinne. She was less than one yard away from him, but he did not dare to reach out and touch her.

"I'm sorry... I don't know what else I can say but that. I know I have no right to ask for your forgiveness."

Corinne smiled sarcastically. "You're right. You have no right to ask for my forgiveness, nor do you need to. Mister Maxwell, take your medicine and carry on."

Not wanting to stay any longer, Corinne turned and walked out.

"Luna, wait!" called Maxwell.

Corinne stopped and said, "Mister Maxwell, I think you're mistaken. I'm Corinne, not Luna."

Helpless, Maxwell relented and said, "Corinne, can you please stay for a while more?"

Corinne did not want to but decided to stay regardless, seeing as she was already there with him. After all, she did promise Sunny she would help him. Thus, she turned and said, "If I stay with you for a while longer, do you promise to eat well, take your medicine, and not take your life again?"

Maxwell nodded.

Only then did Corinne walk over and stand beside his hospital bed.

"Okay, I'll stay here with you for a while. Why don't you have some porridge while I'm here?"

Touched by her concern, Maxwell smiled happily at her. He picked up the bowl of chicken soup on the bedside and started drinking it.

Corinne simply watched him drink the soup silently.

At that moment, Sunny's sheepish voice came from outside the ward.

"Lucas! Why... Why are you here? Didn't you say you're going back home to make sure Grandpa and Grandma are alright?"

Lucas detected the guilt and panic in Sunny's voice, causing him to frown.

"Grandpa and Grandma are alright. Why are you standing at the door? How's he doing?"

Sunny stood in front of the door to stop Lucas from going in.

"Uh... Dad's condition is much more stable, and he's resting inside now. I think it's best if you don't go in and disturb him. Come back later. In fact, why don't you go to work? I'll stay and take care of him, so don't worry."

Lucas was sure Sunny was hiding something. He narrowed his eyes and said, "Move aside. I'm going in."

There was no way Sunny was going to let him in. "Lucas, Dad is sleeping! You're only going to wake him up if you go in now."

Lucas scoffed. "He slept the whole night, so why would he still be sleeping now? Just what are you trying to hide?! Get out of my way right now, or you're going to get it!"

Left without a choice, Sunny finally said, "Okay, okay, I'll get out of your way, but you have to promise me you won't hit me after seeing whatever is inside. Okay?"

Chapter 1672

Lucas' gaze hardened. "Stop talking nonsense, and move out of the way right now!"

Sunny was scared to death, but he did not move. Needless to say, he was scared stiff.

Lucas was at the end of his patience. He pushed Sunny to the floor and opened the door to see Corinne sitting on the edge of the hospital bed, feeding Maxwell some soup. The scene was so idyllic that Lucas thought he was imagining things, and the anger on his face gradually faded.

Sunny, too, was shocked when he saw the scene after getting up from the floor.

Corinne did not want to visit Maxwell, yet she was actually feeding him soup at that moment.

Corinne did not do it because she had forgiven Maxwell, but because she could not bear to see how pitiful he looked when he tried to feed himself with trembling hands. There was even blood seeping out from the bandage on his wrists.

After snapping out of his shock, Lucas turned and glared at Sunny. "I told you to not call her, didn't I?"

Sunny laughed awkwardly while rubbing the back of his head. "Well, I didn't call her... But I did go pick her up at her place."

Lucas scoffed. "You think you're so smart, huh?"

Sunny did not dare to say anything after that.

Lucas strode to the bed, took the half-eaten bowl of soup from Corinne's hand, and placed it on the bedside table. "You don't have to feed him. He can starve if that's what he wants."

After glancing at him, she stood up slowly and said, "Perfect timing, Mister Lucas. I was just about to leave. Do take good care of your father."

Corinne started walking out of the ward, but Lucas rested his hand gently on her head and said, "Wait outside for me. I'll give you a ride home."

She got here with Sunny's car, so she did need to get a ride from someone if she wanted to go home. As to whether that someone was Lucas or Sunny, it did not really matter to her. She nodded and went out silently.

After Corinne went out, Lucas looked down at Maxwell condescendingly. "So, do you still want to die now?" he spoke with a hint of sarcasm.

Maxwell looked at him quietly with a self-deprecating smile. "I... I still want to see your mother."

Lucas found him so preposterous that he actually burst out laughing. After all, Emily would not even see her own son, so why would she want to see her ex-husband?

"In your dreams! But I warn you, you better not cause trouble for the family or make Grandma and Grandpa worry about you again!"

Maxwell nodded wanly. "Okay, you have my word I won't do anything stupid again. You should send Corinne home now. Don't keep her waiting. Come back again tomorrow."

Lucas scoffed. "Are you telling me or her to come back again tomorrow?"

Maxwell smiled wryly. "Both of you. Happy?"

Lucas smirked. "You want her to come back again tomorrow? Do you know how long it took me to make her warm up to me? She still refuses to acknowledge me as her brother! And this is all your fault!" Maxwell looked down in shame. "I know this is all my fault..."

"Then stop causing us trouble and take care of yourself!" said Lucas coldly.

After that, he strode out of the ward.

Maxwell looked at his retreating figure, slowly closed his eyes, and sighed deeply.

Chapter 1673

Sunny was talking to Corinne outside the door when he saw Lucas coming out, causing him to hide behind Corinne.

Lucas simply glared at Sunny, not wanting to give him any attention. Instead, he walked over and said to Corinne warmly, "Let's get you home."

Corinne nodded and followed him to his car.

Before leaving, Lucas turned and ordered Sunny, "Stay here and keep an eye on him. Make sure he doesn't do anything stupid again!"

Sunny nodded vigorously. "You got it, Lucas. I won't leave his bedside for even a second!"

Lucas turned and walked to the elevator with Corinne.

After making sure they had gone into the elevator, Sunny sighed in relief.

'Thank goodness Lucas is gone. For a moment there, I thought I was going to get beat up again,' thought Sunny happily as he entered the ward.

"Dad, now that you've seen Luna, you have to make sure to eat well and take your medicine."

Maxwell forced a smile and said, "Thanks, Sunny. I know your brother can get to you, so I appreciate you doing this for me."

Sunny sighed. "You're right, I am scared of him. But by now, you should know that despite his aloofness, he cares about us a lot."

"I know," said Maxwell with a smile.

Sunny sat on the edge of the bed and asked curiously, "What did you and Corinne talk about? It seemed like you guys were getting along. I mean, she was even willing to help you with the soup."

Maxwell tried to recall the feeling he had with Corinne just now. "She was willing to feed me not because I'm her father, but because she was kind and pitied me."

Sunny frowned. "Dad, can I ask what happened back then? How did she end up changing her name and living away from the family? And why does Lucas hate you so much?"

Maxwell's expression darkened when he recalled the past.

Seeing that his father was silent and his face had become gloomy, Sunny gave up asking.

"It's okay, Dad. You don't have to tell me if you don't want to. It's time to take your medicine anyway."

Maxwell nodded and obediently took the medicine this time.

Corinne and Lucas were silent throughout the elevator ride. Corinne had nothing to say, and Lucas was too ashamed to say anything.

Lucas felt like he had not done enough to protect Corinne. After all, she and their mother were kicked out by the Riveras back then, yet Sunny had the gall to ask Corinne to visit their father. Corinne did not really think too much. Instead, she just followed him out of the elevator silently, wanting to get home as soon as possible so she could see the kids.

Suddenly, she stopped and grabbed Lucas' arm, dragging him to hide in an inconspicuous corner.

Lucas snapped out of his thoughts and asked her in confusion, "Corinne, what's wrong?" Corinne frowned and kept her eyes fixed in a particular direction. "Look over there, Mister Lucas." Lucas' eyes immediately darkened when he turned to look at where she was looking.

It was Sophia and Jeremy!

Sophia was wheeling Jeremy to turn a corner in the hospital corridor.

Once they were out of sight, Corinne immediately ran out of her hiding place to tail after them.

Lucas knew he would not be able to stop Corinne from doing something risky since she seemed to lose all of her reason when it came to Jeremy, so he followed after her.

The two of them saw Sophia wheeling Jeremy into a consultation room without any signage outside.

Chapter 1674

Not many people were in that part of the hospital, and it did not look like any normal procedures would be done in such a corner.

Corinne thought Sophia was up to something terrible again, so she leaned against the consultation room door to listen to what was happening inside. Fortunately, the door did not boast good soundproofing, so she could hear the conversation clearly.

Inside the consultation room.

Sophia said politely, "Doctor Kingsley, it was me who made an appointment with you yesterday for my husband. We'd like for you to examine if he'll regain full use of his legs."

Doctor Kingsley nodded. "You must be Miss Sophia! Everything is ready on our side. The nurse will wheel your husband in for his examination shortly."

"Oh, thank you so much, Doctor Kingsley!" said Sophia gratefully. She then said to Jeremy gently, "Don't worry, Zachary. Doctor Kingsley is the most famous orthopedic surgeon in his field, so I'm sure he can heal your legs!"

"Okay," said Jeremy impassively. It was not like he had a choice at that moment. He did not believe Sophia was sincere in her actions. After all, she would not have waited until then to get him the best doctor if she genuinely wished for his legs to get better.

Outside the door, Corinne and Lucas exchanged glances. They both heard the conversation inside and they felt the same way as Jeremy-that Sophia must have had an ulterior motive for bringing him there. Sophia was only able to keep Jeremy by her side because he could not escape with his bad legs. Thus, she would never want his legs to be healed.

Immediately afterward, Corinne and Lucas heard the sound of a wheelchair approaching the door. They quickly hid somewhere.

The door opened a second later, and a nurse wheeled Jeremy out and into a special examination room diagonally opposite.

Sophia did not follow them out, which alarmed Corinne.

Corinne came out of her hiding place and deliberated whether she should follow Jeremy to the special examination room or stay to listen to Sophia and the doctor's conversation.

However, before she could make up her mind, Lucas dragged her back to the consultation room door. Then...

"Doctor Kingsley, I trust that you've arranged everything to go as I've instructed?" asked Sophia.

"Don't worry, Miss Sophia. I've arranged everything according to your wishes."

"Good! Though, with so many people in the hospital, will there be any interruptions during the procedure?"

"You don't need to worry about that either. All the examination rooms here have been abandoned, and no one really comes here. I give you my word that I'll get your husband's sperm. We'll arrange for another time for you to go through the artificial insemination surgery."

"Thank you for everything, Doctor Kingsley."

'So that's her true goal!' thought Corinne. 'She didn't bring Jeremy for a check-up but to get his sperm! She must be doing this so she'll get pregnant with his kid. And she's doing this without Jeremy's knowledge or consent! Oh my god, she's even more shameless than I thought!'

She clenched her fists tightly at the thought of Jeremy being subjected to the ridiculous procedure in the examination room without his knowing.

Chapter 1675

Corinne swiftly turned and rushed into the special examination room to find Jeremy. However, Lucas grabbed and dragged her into an empty utility room.

It was a good thing he did because Sophia came out of the consultation room that very second.

"Miss Sophia, the procedure will take forty minutes, so you may walk around the hospital until then," said the doctor at the door.

Sophia silently glanced at the special examination room as her emotions grew tumultuous. After a while, she said, "Please be gentle with him."

Doctor Kingsley smiled and nodded. "Don't worry. We'd advocate for him to act independently and only intervene if there was no response from him." "Alright, then. I'll leave it to you," said Sophia worriedly before turning and leaving.

Doctor Kingsley suddenly smiled sinisterly the moment Sophia's back was turned, and he walked into the special examination room.

All of this was seen by Corinne and Lucas through the crack of the door.

Corinne could not hold back anymore. "Mister Lucas, why did you drag me away? Didn't you hear what the doctor is going to do to Jeremy? I must save him!"

Lucas pressed down on her shoulders forcefully. "I agree, but we shouldn't barge in without a plan. We still don't know what the situation inside is. What if there's danger inside? Not only would you fail to save him, but you might just get hurt."

Corinne, however, could not keep calm. "I don't have the time to care about all that! Sophia might have asked the doctor to do other crazy stuff to Jeremy for all we know!"

"Calm down, Corinne. Sophia loves him, and that's why she so desperately wants to give him a kid. She'd never let him come to harm. Plus, you have me. I'll help you save him, so he's going to be fine." "But..."

Lucas pointed to the window in the utility room. "Look, the balcony outside is connected to the other rooms. We can sneak out from there and observe the situation before doing anything else." Corinne looked to where Lucas was pointing, and there was indeed a balcony outside. However, it was covered in dust, which was a good thing since that meant no one ever went there. Corinne nodded. "Then what are we waiting for? Let's go!"

She could not wait anymore. She strode quickly to the balcony with Lucas behind her.

Meanwhile, in the special examination room.

Jeremy's gaze narrowed in alarm after being wheeled into the room by the nurse. The room was devoid of any check-up machines or instruments.

"Excuse me, but may I know what kind of tests are you going to do on me?" he asked.

The nurse wheeled him to the cabinet before handing him a glass of water with a smile. "Have a drink, Mister Finnix. Doctor Kingsley will be with you shortly, and he'll explain to you about the tests he'll run on you."

Jeremy accepted the glass of water and scrutinized it. It did not smell or look weird. Frankly, it looked like ordinary water. Even so, he still did not drink it. It was better to be safe than sorry.

The nurse kept staring at him, and when he did not drink the water, she smiled again and said, "Mister Finnix, you need to drink more water. There'll be a urine test later, so it'll be easier for you to pee later if you drink more water now."

Jeremy glanced at the nurse and noticed something was off about her.

"Thank you, but I've already drunk quite a lot of water before I came. I'm good."

Chapter 1676

The nurse looked visibly guilty and antsy, but she simply smiled and said, "I see. Alright, then."

Jeremy put the glass of water aside. He was sure the water was spiked with something, so he would never drink it.

At that moment, the door of the examination room was pushed open, and in walked Doctor Kingsley.

The nurse quickly stepped forward and said, "Doctor Kingsley, Mister Finnix said he already drank a lot of water before he came here, so he didn't drink the water I gave him."

Doctor Kingsley glanced at Jeremy, then at the paper cup on the cabinet with a frown. After that, he smiled and said, "It doesn't matter! He doesn't need to drink it if he doesn't want to. Go and get the drug ready; we'll start the test after that."

Knowing what Doctor Kingsley meant, the nurse nodded and walked to the drug cabinet to take out a few vials of liquid. She then filled the syringe, put it on the surgical tray, and brought it to him.

Jeremy glanced at the vials of liquid and asked, "Excuse me, but you still haven't told me what tests I'll be doing. And what are you going to inject me with?"

Doctor Kingsley and the nurse closed in on him, smiling sinisterly.

"Mister Finnix, you don't need to ask so many questions. Leave it to the professionals. All you have to do is sit back and relax."

Jeremy immediately knew he was in trouble. He backed his wheelchair away from them. "Where's Sophia? I have the right to refuse the test if I'm not comfortable with it. Don't come near me, or I'm going to make the hospital pay!"

Doctor Kingsley picked up the syringe. "Your wife has already signed the consent form, allowing us to perform all the tests as per her instructions. I suggest you cooperate with us, or else..." Jeremy frowned. He was in deep trouble, but he could not possibly escape.

In the past, Sophia often took him to the hospital for check-ups, which was nothing more than doing some routine basic examinations. She even bribed the doctors to lie to him and asked them to give him some medicine to make it seem more believable.

He had always known Sophia did not really want his legs to get better, but he did not expect that she would subject him to a different examination than before.

'What is Sophia up to? What did she tell these people to do to me?' he wondered.

Seeing Jeremy was very resistant to cooperate, Doctor Kingsley ordered the nurse, "Go behind him, and take control of his wheelchair!"

"Yes, Doctor Kingsley!"

The nurse immediately walked behind Jeremy and stopped his wheelchair from moving, and Doctor Kingsley took that opportunity to plunge the syringe deep into Jeremy's arm.

Jeremy quickly pushed Doctor Kingsley away and threw the syringe away, but it was too late. The drugs had already entered his bloodstream.

"What did you inject me with?!" growled Jeremy.

Doctor Kingsley was caught off-guard by Jeremy's strength. He climbed up from the ground and suddenly smiled.

"There's nothing to worry about, Mister Finnix. I didn't inject you with anything dangerous. No, no. On the contrary, you're going to feel really, really good in just a bit." His smile became even more perverted as he said that.

Chapter 1677

The nurse, on the other hand, blushed shyly.

Doctor Kingsley said nothing else and instead turned to the nurse. "I'll leave you to him. Bring me the goods after you've collected them." The nurse nodded. "Yes, Doctor Kingsley. I'll complete the mission."

Doctor Kingsley glanced at her before leaving the room with the perverted smile still on his face.

"No need to panic, Mister Finnix. You'll feel the drug's effect very soon," said the nurse when she saw Jeremy's impassive demeanor.

She walked over to the door and locked it from the inside before turning to smile coyly at Jeremy.

"Mister Finnix, I'm going to play a video for you to set the mood. Call me when you're ready, and I'll help you with the rest."

Jeremy frowned. He had not even figured out what the nurse meant when he suddenly felt his body growing hot while a weird sensation grabbed hold of his lower body.

The nurse aimed a remote control at the ceiling, and a projector screen dropped down slowly. The curtains automatically closed, plunging the room into darkness. It was not until the video started playing on the projector screen did the room brighten slightly.

Jeremy's eyes widened in shock when he saw what was being played. Generally, he would not be aroused by that type of video because he did not like watching it. However, at that moment, the weird sensation in the lower half of his body became even more intense due to the drug's effect.

'Why, that despicable b*stard! So this is what Sophia has in mind all along! Has she lost her d*mn mind?! Just what the hell is she trying to do? Isn't it enough that she has crippled me and brainwashed me into forgetting the love of my life? And now she's doing this to humiliate me?!' thought Jeremy.

Jeremy had to use all of his willpower to force himself to look away from the video being played so he would not be tempted. Unfortunately, the nurse was having none of that. She forcefully turned his head around so he had no choice but to watch. He did not even have the strength to resist due to the unknown substance coursing through his body.

"Why? Why did Sophia put you up to this? She knows perfectly well that part of my body doesn't work anymore!" said Jeremy between gritted teeth.

"Mister Finnix, don't sell yourself short. I know you can still do it! The drug Doctor Kingsley gave you is one of the most powerful s*x drugs in the world. Anyone will be aroused after taking it. Plus, I'll be here to help you! Be a good boy, and just do as I say."

Jeremy could not comprehend what Sophia was trying to get out of this. "But why is she doing this? What exactly does she want? Tell me, so that I can die in peace!"

"Mister Finnix, Sophia is doing this for your own good..."

Chapter 1678

Jeremy felt his strength leaving him at that moment. He looked at the nurse contemptuously and growled, "For my own good? No one in their right mind would think doing this is for another person's own good!" The nurse's heart beat even quicker as she gazed into Jeremy's handsome face. She envied Sophia for having such a handsome husband, though it was a pity his legs and his...family jewels. She took it upon herself to help Jeremy get back his dignity as a man.

"Mister Finnix, Miss Sophia really loves you. She's only doing this because she wants to give you a child. And we're professionals, so you just need to relax. Very soon, I'll be able to finish..."

Jeremy's pupils shrank. He finally understood what they were going to do to him! Sophia had been saying she wanted another kid, and he had been avoiding giving her a definite answer. Thus, she took things into her own hands.

"No! You shouldn't believe what she said. We already have a kid! No. Don't. No!" Jeremy tried very hard to resist, but he could not control his body at all.

The nurse ignored his protest. Smiling coyly, she reached out to touch his family jewels.

All of a sudden, the nurse screamed and fell to the floor.

Jeremy, with his forehead slick with sweat, was startled by the shift of events. He looked up, and his eyes widened in surprise when he saw Corinne standing there with a stick in her hand. It was obvious she was the one who knocked out the nurse. Jeremy's eyes widened in surprise when he saw her.

Corinne glared at the nurse. "Serves you right for touching my man!" She then threw away the stick and turned to ask Jeremy, "Are you okay?"

She had just crossed over to the balcony when she saw the nurse was about to s*xually assault Jeremy. She quickly picked up a broken table leg and jumped in to knock the nurse unconscious. The nurse would have touched Jeremy if Corinne came a second late.

Jeremy shook his head in shock and answered hoarsely, "I... I'm okay. But what are you doing here?"

"It's a long story. I was..."

It was then Corinne heard a peculiar sound. More specifically, it was the sound of a woman moaning and groaning. She looked up to where the sound was coming from, and only then did she notice the dirty video being played.

She did not even have the time to blush before her vision went black. Someone had covered her eyes.

Corinne was not alarmed by this as she could tell it was Lucas who covered her eyes. After all, she could tell through the scent of his perfume.

Lucas could not bear to have his sweet sister corrupted by the dirty video.

Corinne frowned and pulled away Lucas' hands. "Mister Lucas, what are you doing?" she demanded.

Lucas frowned. "Close your eyes! Those things are not meant for a girl like you to see!"

He was about to cover her eyes again when she deftly ducked away.

"Mister Lucas, I'm already a mother of four kids. Do you really think I haven't done it before? I think you're even more innocent than me. Even Sunny probably has more experience than you in that department. So you close your eyes if you don't want to see it!"

Lucas' expression darkened. He did not bother to explain himself. Instead, he just turned to look for the remote control to turn off the projector.

Corinne did not find that kind of video embarrassing. All she cared about at that moment was Jeremy, who looked downright unwell.

She walked over to him and gently shook him. "Hey! Are you okay? Why are you sweating so much?"

Chapter 1679

Jeremy shoved Corinne away as if he was struck by lightning.

"Don't... Don't touch me!"

He used up what little strength he had to say that, and he was wheezing as if his oxygen was running out.

Corinne moved closer to him again. "What's the matter? I just saved you, yet you act like I disgust you? Don't you think that's very ungrateful of you?"

Jeremy said nothing. He simply lowered his head as if he was holding back something.

Corinne was confused and was about to reach out to raise his face when Lucas stopped her.

"Mister Lucas, don't stop me! Something's wrong with Jeremy, and I have to know what it is!"

Lucas looked down at her. "You're a mother of four children, yet you can't tell what's wrong with him?"

Corinne frowned with confusion. "You can tell?"

Lucas glanced at Jeremy coldly. "He must've been drugged, causing him to have a strong physical reaction. He's trying very hard not to lose his composure right now."

Corinne suddenly broke away and leaned against Jeremy, who was reacting abnormally. She thought of all the things she saw in this special examination room again...and she pieced everything together.

"Ahem!"

While she did not blush when she saw the video, her cheeks certainly reddened at this moment.

As the elder brother, Lucas could only pull her up at that time.

"Okay, let's head out and give him some privacy. This nurse won't be able to move for the time being, and I don't think the doctor will come back so soon. Let's just give Jeremy some time for the drug to wear off."

Corinne was dumbfounded. After being dragged away by Lucas for a few steps, she stopped and shook off Lucas' hand. "Mister Lucas, you go out. I'll stay here with him."

"Corinne, he doesn't even remember who you are!"

Corinne was calm and clear about what she was going to do. "I know. So what? It's enough for me to remember him."

Lucas frowned and wanted to persuade her, but he knew he would not be able to succeed in doing that. Thus, he simply turned and stepped out of the balcony to give the couple some space. After Lucas left, Corinne walked up to Jeremy, who had his head lowered, and said, "Look at me."

Jeremy kept his head lowered and clenched his fists tightly.

Corinne lifted his chin and saw how tortured he looked. His eyes and cheeks were red, his skin warm to the touch. He was gritting his teeth and unwilling to look her in the eyes.

Corinne wanted to make fun of him, but her heart broke when she saw how pitiful he looked.

"Is it that unbearable?" she asked him softly.

Although Jeremy was facing her, his eyes were looking elsewhere. He could not control his body's reaction.

He was able to keep his wits about him when with a woman he did not like. With Corinne, however....

He did not want to make a fool out of himself in front of her.

With his legs disabled, he was no longer the man he was. Thus, he was sure her image of him would be destroyed if he made a fool out of himself.

Chapter 1680

Corinne frowned when Jeremy refused to look at her. She held his face firmly with both hands, bent down, and rested her forehead against his. He had no choice but to look at her. "Look at me!"

His forehead was burning hot, and his whole body trembled the moment their eyes met. Corinne was simply too close for comfort.

Just when he was about to push her further away, Corinne said, "Don't move! You're already like this, and you still don't know how to behave?"

His eyes became even more bloodshot with embarrassment. "L... Leave me alone!"

Corinne smirked. "Are you shy? What are you going to do after I go out?"

He gritted his teeth, hating that he did not have any strength. Otherwise, he would have spanked her.

Corinne stroked his cheek lightly. "You silly man. You don't have to be shy with me. After all, you've done much dirtier things to me before."

Jeremy was speechless. 'Doesn't she know she's playing with fire now?'

Corinne narrowed her eyes when she saw Jeremy sweating profusely out of discomfort.

"Mister, I know you don't remember anything from the past, but something similar has happened before. You were tricked into eating something you shouldn't have, and the only way to neutralize the effect was to have s*x. I was the one who helped you that time, so you owe me twice if we count this time as well. How do you plan to repay me?"

Corinne then bit his lip lightly.

Jeremy's eyes widened, and he only lasted for more than 10 seconds before he entirely succumbed to his body's desire.

'Her lips are so sweet...' he thought.

What was eroding him was not only the unknown drugs in his body but also the fragmented memories of him and her together that kept flashing through his mind. 'Urgh! My heart hurts...'

Meanwhile, Lucas returned to the utility room and lit a cigarette to kill time. Logically speaking, he should go further away, but he was worried he would not make it in time to the special examination room if something were to happen to Corinne.

'She must really love Jeremy to still want to help him in that situation,' thought Lucas.

He suddenly received a call from Edmund when he was half-done with his cigarette.

"Mister Lucas, I've arranged for someone to keep an eye on Sophia as per your instructions. She's currently having a facial at a beauty salon near the hospital."

"Okay. Continue to keep an eye on her. Call me again as soon as she comes back."

"Understood, Mister Lucas!"

Meanwhile, back in Maxwell's ward.

Maxwell piled one question after another on Sunny after he had taken his medicine. All of his questions were about what Corinne was like, how Sunny and Lucas found Corinne, how Corinne and Jeremy met, and how Corinne and Jeremy ended up together... No details were too small for him as he wanted to know everything about her.

Sunny was a little overwhelmed, but he answered all of Maxwell's questions in the hopes this would make his father feel better.

Maxwell frowned at Sunny's recounting of all the things Corinne had gone through. To him, she suffered a lot of the things she should not have.

This especially went when Lucas did not know who she was, and he did a lot of things to bully her. Sunny, too, was against Corinne at first.

'The family and I owe her so much........ I must make it up to her after I get out of the hospital,' he thought.

At that moment, Sunny's phone beeped twice.