

King of kings

2482

"What, you don't have a dream?"

"That's not true, it's just that the dream that was once there has come true and a new one hasn't been thought of yet."

Acchan smiled, "Then think of a new dream, if you don't have a dream, you'll be tired of living, or I'll help you think of a dream."

"Fine, tell me."

Achan said, "Then let's hope that in the future, you'll be able to marry a local girl in the main world, and from there, you'll be able to take root here."

"Khan, that's a dream."

"Of course, it's not an easy dream to achieve."

"Why?"

"Needless to say, those who are able to live in the main world are all strong God Emperor level Ho family members. If you can marry a native girl, that means, you become a member of the God Emperor family."

"I see, hehe, so a level like God King is nothing in the main world ah."

"There are also divisions of size for Godkings, one realm Godkings, two realms Godkings, three realms Godkings, all the way up to twelve realms Godkings. If it's a God King of the tenth realm or more, it's not that bad. If it was one, two, or three realms of this kind of God King, in the main world, it really wasn't good. Of course, most of the God Kings at this level are in control of a small cosmic world by themselves, living the life of an earth emperor." One Second Remember to Read the Book

Omi asked, "Can, have you heard of God King Huo Lun?"

"Never heard of it, is it strong?"

"The Six Realms God King."

"Er, why are you suddenly saying this person, could it be, he's your father."

Omi said speechlessly, "You're the one who's his son."

"Haha, it would be nice if I was the son of a Sixth Realm God King." Acchan laughed, and acted as if he had picked up a bargain. But thinking about it, a son of a Sixth Realm God King would indeed be fine.

Omi said, "My hometown, which was colonized, the one who colonized my hometown, is this Huo Lun God King."

Can's eyes were suddenly tearful, "Being able to be colonized is a blessing to me."

"What do you mean?"

"Light Cloud, my hometown is the world of Kal, my hometown, although it is a small world of twenty-eight levels, but, it used to live happily too, we had a total of twenty gods, and we all worked together to protect our hometown. However, suddenly one day, a group of celestial teams came, and they burned and looted in my hometown, killing all of our gods, except me, and moreover, countless immortals were tragically exterminated."

"Ah, so tragic." Omi couldn't help but think of the world of the heavens that had once been even worse, seemingly crumbling right down to the ground.

"So, it's a blessing to be able to be colonized. It would be miserable if we ran into the Celestial Team."

"Well, it seems that my hometown is considered lucky," Omi said.

"It can't be considered lucky, after all, being colonized is another way of scavenging, but it's just a little gentler and more sustainable compared to direct looting by the Celestial Team, not scavenging all at once, but continuously."

"En."

Achan said, "Wind lightly, one day, I believe that we will be standing in the upper reaches of this universe, and we will achieve our dreams."

"Oh, of course." Omi smiled slightly, Omi felt that this Achan should not have experienced much, he might have been a second generation of gods since he was a child, so some of his ideas were more naive, such as this kind of 'I believe it will be so and so' self-congratulation, was after all childish ideas.

Omi however, felt that this universe was cruel, and in order to gain, one must give.

Even if it was to become the Celestial God Team, if it was necessary, you had to go. Omi was running to the Celestial God Team before, but he just didn't expect that the route would be changed by that lady.

"By the way, Achan, who is that lady?"

"I don't know, I heard she's a native of the main world, and since she's a native, there's no doubt that someone from a certain God Emperor family."

"Also."

"No one even knows what that young lady's name is, we all call her Eldest Miss, this Eldest Miss doesn't have a high shelf and is beautiful, but unfortunately, someone of this level isn't something we little ant folk can look up to."

Omi smiled, "Can, I've thought of a dream for my future."

"Er, what?"

"Haha, I want to marry big."

"You're crazy, if you're heard, you'll be fired, it's rare that Miss Big is nice, exempt from the qualification to let you join the industry, if you didn't meet Miss Big, in exchange for other families, we're this kind of uninitiated, no title hunter, no one will accept it at all." Ah Can panicked.

Omi knew that Achan's for his own good, he was a very simple person.

"Haha, A Can, just keep this dream of mine in your heart, don't say anything to the public."

"Speechless, forget it, who wouldn't have a dream, dreams are inherently unattainable, my dream of being an eight star hunter, isn't just as unattainable, who am I to talk about your dream." Acchan suddenly figured it out.

Omi was speechless, but didn't bother to say anything else.

Soon, to the Hunter's Union, it was a very sacred and solemn place.

"What for?"

"Hi, my friend wants to register as a hunter."

"Do you have any references? If not, please arrange for an assessment, not everyone is suitable to be a hunter, don't get to the point where the hunter doesn't become a hunter, but is instead hunted away from the Godhead."

"Yes there is." Can immediately took out a recommendation letter, which was given by Missy, and the recommendation letter didn't have a name on it, so it was written as a certain Per Beast Meat Shop.

"Okay, let's go in."

Omi and Acchan walked into the union.

Achan said, "These people, very snobbish, if you don't have a recommendation letter, it's hard to register as a hunter without some backdoor, race gift."

"Khan, is it so dark, doesn't anyone care?"

"What's the big deal, they'll say that for our safety, not everyone is going to be a hunter when it's time to be a hunter, so they'll arrange a lot of tests to get you automatically willing to give gifts."

"Speechless."

"Let's go, let's go in and fill out the form."

Very quickly, Omi filled out the form, and because he had a recommendation letter, he didn't make things difficult and easily registered as a hunter.

Only, Omi was just an uninitiated hunter.

After finishing, Omi followed Acchan back to the shop.

"This is where we hunters live, only, it's only ten rooms, each room is already occupied by other hunters, from now on, you'll live with me." Achan said.

"Yeah, it doesn't matter."

Just then, a man walked in at the door, a Fifty Horses Lower God.

When that Fifty Horses Lower God saw Omi, he said with a frown on his brow, "A Can, what the hell, you're bringing all the kittens and puppies here, do you think this is your home now? You're settled in the main world and can take all your rubbish relatives to live here, right?"