Chapter 65 The Legendary Super Doomsday Kryptonian

Karl, the god of death, was very sure that even if Luther had the support of the entire Kryptonian civilization, it would be a miracle to develop a super-god civilization in the edge space. If materials were collected, it would be impossible to calculate the edge space. Easy to collect materials.

It is estimated that collecting materials can only rely on people to find them, and the efficiency is too slow. The marginal space is said to be space, but in fact it can also be called the "unknown universe". Like the "known universe", it is both huge and boundless.

"You want to trade with him? I'm going to fuck your uncle Karl. I absolutely don't agree!"

After Morgana heard about the plan of Carl, the God of Death, she immediately went crazy.

My mother was destroyed once by Luther, and the mighty Demon Queen was robbed. This kind of thing was bad enough, but Karl, the God of Death, actually said that he wanted to cooperate with Luther!

"Calm down, Queen Morgana, this is the best way. He has no reason to fight with us, and he may not know Kesha's Silver Wing Domain."

Cal, the god of death, comforts Morgana.

"You mean to trick the grandson into dying in front of Kesha?"

Morgana reacted when she was told this, which was profound.

Yes, why didn't she expect that Luther knew that the reputation of the angel civilization was very good, and that it was already the information that a celestial-level supercomputer could calculate and collect.

No one in the known universe would tell anyone about the invincible silver-wing domain of Holy Kesha. It is even more impossible to collect dark plane information in this regard. Angel's dark plane information erasure technology is not bad either.

"It should be called attracting Kesha's attention."

Cal the Reaper corrected.

"Damn, just block the knife. Why are you so grand? But how are you going to fool that guy?"

Morgana despised the words of Death God Karl, and then asked quickly.

Cooperating with Luther, if she could trick this guy to death, it would be extremely exciting for Morgana.

Moreover, if they bring in a king-level player, the success rate of their plan will be much more likely.

"Didn't he just get the fourth-generation divine body technology from you? Even if he can understand and master it, he definitely doesn't have the materials for the fourth-generation divine body."

Death Carl said.

After all, the fourth-generation divine body involves the transformation of atoms. You can imagine how sophisticated and precious this material is.

Only the Angel Civilization and the Death Song Academy in the known universe are so rich and powerful that they can afford several copies.

"Do you still have the materials for the fourth-generation divine body???"

Morgana was immediately concerned.

"It's gone. I can still make up a portion of the rest. After all, I only used two portions just for you."

Death God Karl said calmly that he had no plans to give Morgana another fourth generation god. It was not that he disliked Morgana. If Morgana was willing to turn into a phantom body, Death God Karl would sell everything to get the materials.

"Really?"

Morgana didn't believe it.

"Of course it's true."

Carl, the God of Death, repeated expressionlessly.

"...Hmph, you'd better not lie to me. However, if that guy completes the upgrade after getting the materials, wouldn't there be more variables? What if he turns his back on me and refuses to recognize me?"

Morgana asked.

"Don't worry, I will arrange all these."

Death Carl said.

Meanwhile, on Earth.

Luther looked at the tube of liquid in front of him.

"Super gene...completed."

Luther was extremely excited. This time, the Doomsday Cells were enhanced Doomsday Cells, and the biomass computer created perfectly accommodated Broly's genes.

The reason why the two genes could not be fused before was that Doomsday could continue to adapt and Broly could continue to evolve. In the end, Doomsday adapted to Broly's genes and obliterated Broly's genes.

In other words, the Doomsday gene turned into the immune system in the end, treating the Broly gene as a virus and killing it.

Now, super genetic technology has solved Luther's problem.

Moreover, the performance of the Doomsday biomass computer far exceeds that of the dark matter computer, giving Luther the ability to observe the dark plane and dark energy drive!

Dark energy driving technology and abilities are not available to all super genes. Neither the original super genes nor ordinary super genes have them.

Among other things, dark energy drives the transformation of biological energy, allowing a living body to punch with an impact force of 1,000 tons, jump more than ten meters high, and run at a speed of 100 meters per second.

This is the most basic way to drive and use dark energy.

The original super gene is usually converted into light energy. Just like the Taotie civilization, a dignified aerospace-level civilization still uses light energy barrier technology. Only Angel's battleships have dark energy barrier technology or even more advanced space-time barrier technology.

More common than dark energy drive technology is stellar energy drive technology, followed by nuclear fusion, light energy, etc.

However, the power quality of dark energy is definitely not as good as "qi", but for Luther, there is an additional channel for dark energy to convert nuclear energy and light energy. If the algorithm for converting dark energy into fusion effect can be obtained from Di Leina, it will be better. Can produce fusion energy.

Of course, what's more important is stellar energy drive technology!

Luther injected the super gene into his body, and then he began to suffer unbearably.

Renewal at the cell level is very painful and intense, especially for such intense super genes as Doomsday and Broly.

Luther simply made his pain nerves temporarily ineffective, but he could see that his body began to break in large areas, old flesh and blood fell to the ground, and new flesh and blood grew out at a speed visible to the naked eye.

Luther felt a force surging out of his body!

"What a powerful feeling."

It was so strong that just moving his hands and feet could cause a sonic boom. That was because his nerve reflex speed was too fast now. The nerve reflex speed included the speed of limb movement and brain reaction speed. If this speed was improved, it would be like the world slowing down in front of your eyes.

Luther unfolded his biological force field, which instantly covered the entire Celestial Empire.

"It's a little worse than Superman's biological force field that can drag the earth..."

Before, Luther's biological force field could only work within one meter of its own range.

A biological force field that can subvert physical laws and effects and can be called a reality distortion is of course the larger the range, the better.

Superman can do a series of incredible operations, such as dragging the earth because his biological force field covers the earth. Otherwise, even if he has such strength, he can't drag the earth, but will only pull the earth to pieces.

Now he is the legendary Super Doomsday Kryptonian!

"The legendary Super Doomsday Kryptonian should be comparable to Super Kryptonian Hale, no, he should be stronger than him, except that he does not have as many super powers as him!"
