Chapter 3

"Dad, how could I possibly know that? It's my first time at Grand Triumphant Hotel today." Robert smiled embarrassedly. "Although I'm studying finance in university, I only know some world-class companies and cases."

"Ha-ha! That's true!" Zachary laughed and pressed a button on the desk. "Carlos, come in for a moment."

A few minutes later, an older man who looked to be in his 60s entered the office and looked at the father-son duo.

"Mr. Zachary Zabinski, Mr. Robert Zabinski."

"Carlos, I'll leave this brat to you from now on. Haven't there been a lot of auctions and banquets recently? Take him to participate in some of them so that he can understand the status of the Zabinski family in Yrinas," Zachary instructed.

Carlos Camidge lowered his head in acknowledgment. "Understood."

Zachary glanced at Robert and said, "Kid, it's hard to explain our family's business in just a few words. You might as well follow Carlos and learn as you play. Here's a card for you to use."

Zachary randomly took out a bank card and gave it to Robert.

Robert took a gander at it and subconsciously asked, "How much money is in it?"

"Why are you asking? With your current ability, you will definitely not be able to spend it all. Just use it as you wish."

"Not be able to spend it all..." wondered Robert.

"I've also learned about that girl from the Quesnell family. They have a small company in Yrinas that's not worth mentioning, but her family is influential in Acocester. I don't think you're capable enough to mess with the Quesnells right now. It'll require me to do it personally." Zachary looked at Robert while chuckling. "How about this? Why don't I buy out the Quesnells' properties in Acocester and let that Marilyn be your secretary? Then, you can pick on her however you want."

"Huh!" Robert was astounded again.

Robert knew little about Marilyn's family. When they were dating, she never once brought that up.

However, Robert was not stupid and could tell that Marilyn's family was indeed genuinely wealthy and influential based on her daily life.

they thought.

"Yo, isn't this Samuel? Even poor people like you are trying to party in nightclubs? Why do you only have a few bottles of beer? Can't bear to drink them?" A mocking voice sounded.

That person added, "The little pauper Robert is here too? Did you come here to drown your sorrows after being dumped by Marilyn? I bet she'll die laughing if she sees these 12 bottles of beer in front of you. It's no wonder she'd dump you!"
