

Life Makeover: Minted Edition Novel

Chapter 54

Chapter 54

Naomi was quick-witted. As soon as she heard what Robert said, she understood what it meant and nodded. "No problem. You may directly come to our company tomorrow and report to the HR department."

Robert hummed in agreement and hung up the phone.

The next morning, Robert went to The Treasure Trove, a company owned by the Labelle family. Under Naomi's instruction, Robert was assigned to the post of deputy manager of the sales department that would directly deal with Everlasting Trade.

Robert found it odd that there was no one in the office when he went to his workstation.

"What's wrong, Robert? Are you surprised?" A kittenish voice sounded behind Robert.

It was Naomi. She was dressed in a white shirt with a figure-hugging skirt, black pantyhose, and a pair of high heels, looking extremely attractive. Even though Robert had seen such a Naomi once before, the sight would still amaze him.

Robert nodded. "Are they out so early to meet customers?"

"You got it a bit right, but it's not about business or customers. They're all gone." Naomi smiled. "Only two people are left in this department now. I'm the manager, while you are the deputy manager. Since Everlasting Trade had fewer businesses with us, the employees in this department couldn't hit the sales and either asked for a job transfer or resignation. Those working in the sales department don't wish for a basic salary but more, after all. Thus, everyone in this department left."

"What..." Robert took a deep breath and asked, "Who was the person you guys liaise with?"

"Mr. York from Everlasting Trade. He's the current person in charge of Everlasting Trade. I have an appointment with him. Maybe you should come with me. You haven't been to the largest trading company of yours, have you, Mr. Zabinski?"

Robert smiled embarrassedly. Except for Grand Triumphant Hotel, he had never been to any other companies under Zabinski Group and barely stepped into Fairsaint Restaurant that Naomi took him to the day before.

Located in the center of the central business district of Yrinas, Everlasting Trade had a three-story office building and was an absolutely huge company.

Robert and Naomi went to the reception counter.

Naomi glanced at the vixen-looking lady at the counter and displayed the demeanor of an elite career woman as she spoke. "Hello, I'm Naomi from The Treasure Trove. I have an appointment with Mr. York today."

The receptionist then led Naomi and Robert to the general manager's office. After asking the duo to wait, she knocked on the door and entered the office to report their arrival.

Robert looked at the general manager's office before him and frowned. He mused, "As far as I know, Everlasting Trade has not promoted anyone to the general manager, and this Mr. York, named Gabriel York, is only a deputy general manager here. I wonder how he can sit inside this office."

While Robert was thinking about that question, the secretary came out and motioned for Naomi to enter the office.

Naomi smiled in response before pushing the door open and walking in.

Gabriel was nearly 50 years old and had a slightly fat figure. He was sitting at the desk. When he saw Naomi coming in through the door, his eyes glittered. It was not the first time he had seen Naomi, but he would feel the urge to do something rash whenever he met her. "What a gorgeous lady!" he exclaimed inwardly.

"Ms. Labelle, come and have a seat!" Gabriel got up and received Naomi warmly.

"Hello, Mr. York. This is the deputy manager of our company's sales department. Just call him Robert," Naomi turned around and introduced Robert.

Gabriel was a little unhappy when he saw a man coming with Naomi. In fact, he had agreed to meet Naomi because he wanted to look for a chance to do something when there were only two of them in the room. The moment he saw Robert, he immediately thought that it was unnecessary to continue the meeting anymore.

Gabriel sat back in the chair indifferently and picked up the cup. "Ms. Labelle, please have a seat first."

As he spoke, Gabriel did not spare another glance at Robert again but fixated his gaze on Naomi's long legs.

After thanking Gabriel, Naomi took Robert and sat on the guest's couch.

Chapter 54

"You seem not very busy today, Ms. Labelle," Gabriel said.

"The most important thing for The Treasure Trove is to cooperate with Everlasting Trade." Naomi chuckled.

"Ms. Labelle, if you really want to discuss collaboration, you should show your sincerity." Gabriel's eyes remained on Naomi's long legs as he spoke.

Send Gift

Comment