

Chapter 10 Let the games begin

After dinner, permission was given for the students to do as they pleased, as it would be their last night off as classes started the next morning.

A huge bonfire was made, and everyone was around talking.

Until Jessica claps her hands, Erick rolls his eyes and Joshua says quietly:

"There she goes, Jessica and her little games"

"We are going to divide into two groups, the boys and the girls, the girls go hide, and the boy who finds her can ask a girl, he can ask her for a kiss or simply send her back to the bonfire"

Most are encouraged by the joke, Eduarda however does not want to participate, she does not want to run the risk of being publicly humiliated, but Jessica says:

"All beginners are obliged to participate, this is good for learning to hide their smell"

Seeing herself with no choice, Eduarda prepares to hide, thinking that if Gaby was lucky, she would find her, or she would hide well enough not to be found by anyone.

The boys are sent into the cafeteria again, and the girls all run off in different directions, Erick hardly participates in Jessica's childish games, but imagining Gaby kissing Eduarda is enough motivation for him to decide to participate this time.

Joshua looks intrigued at his friend and decides that he will also participate, just so he can prevent both Gaby and Erick from getting close to his little sister.

And cursing Jessica and her pranks he heads for the cafeteria.

The start is given,

and the boys all go in different directions, including Joshua, Gaby and Erick.

Erick, is looking for Eduarda, but he has no idea how to find her after all, she has no scent, he decides to follow his instincts and Tron begins to guide his steps into a small part of the forest, as if something was attracting him like a magnet.

Erick finds himself standing in a clearing where he has a small waterfall, that was Erick's favorite place, when he wanted to think or be alone.

But no sign of Eduarda there, maybe Tron didn't want to find her after all.

Until he hears a stick breaking.

His keen senses know very well where the noise is coming from, it's from a cave behind the waterfall, he's been there once or twice, it fits a maximum of two people tight.

He slowly makes his way there, taking care to hide his scent, not wanting Joshua or Gaby to find him there.

Upon arriving at the entrance, he forced his body inside, and went against the thin and delicate body that he knew to be Eduarda's.

Eduarda can't believe her bad luck, when a strong and warm body crashes against hers.

She couldn't see anything, because unlike the others she didn't have wolf vision, it was with a lot of effort that she got here.

But nothing helped because she was found, and for some reason in the depths of her soul she knew that the body against hers was Erick's.

"I know you're going to send me back to the bonfire, if you'll excuse me I'll come back now", she says softly

"Do you know?", asks Erick in a hoarse voice with his mouth close to your ear

"Hum well, I think so", says Eduarda and is startled by the equally hoarse tone of her voice

"As far as I know I have the right to a kiss" says Erick placing one of his hands on Eduarda's fragile waist, "tell me something Eduarda"

Eduarda trembles when she hears him say her name for the first time.

"Yes", he replies

"Have you ever kissed
someone"

"And why would I

answer your question," she says, feigning a courage she is far from feeling.

"Just answer my question Eduarda" says Erick impatiently

"No," she replies at once.

Erick, without understanding why, almost explodes with pleasure when he learns that she has never kissed anyone, so leaning towards her he says:

"I won't let you down then", and kisses her.

At first Eduarda

keeps her mouth closed, and feels Erick run his tongue across her lips, he insists a little more and Eduarda does not resist, giving way to his tongue that explores her mouth in a slow and provocative way, which makes Eduarda want to get closer to him, which she does almost without even realizing it.

Erick's intention was to give her a quick kiss, but when he felt her taste and her body pressed against his, he completely lost track of where he was and that she was his Beta's sister.

He deepens the kiss

further, and his free hand, walks along her back which bothers him by his visible ribs.

She lets out a low

moan into his mouth and that is their undoing.

He put his hands on her hips lifting her off the ground, as if he knew exactly what to do.
Eduarda
wraps his legs around her waist.

Separating their mouths Erick starts kissing her neck, where she arrives at the point where her partner would mark her, to Erick's surprise she growls with pleasure, and he intensifies the kisses and licks in that place, she quickly finds the same spot
on Erick's neck that he lets out a hoarse and deep growl, the two are now surrendered to instincts, he feels her move her pelvis against his erection,
and follows her movements, he feels fangs lightly scrape the place that his companion would mark him and that makes his fangs come out and...

"Eduarda, are you
there", is Joshua's worried voice.

The two stand still inside the cave.

And then the penny

drops, Erick realizes that he almost tagged his Beta's sister, who would be furiously with him if he knew what happened there, and she wasn't even his partner, "but what is happening to me?"

, he wonders.

While Eduarda is silently freaking out, "what do I have in my head, he's the monster Prince, the same one who destroyed a girl who tried to mark him without being his mate, and she was about to bite him, and where did they come from? Those fangs", are the thoughts that are at a thousand per hour in Eduarda's head.

