

Chapter 44 Delivering the Dots

Chaos reigns again

both in the academy and in the city. For once again the mark of Hercules can be seen in the sky, mothers rush to check their children's bed and sigh with relief to see them sleeping peacefully.

All the guards are sent to the place near the mark, including the two who were guarding the dungeons.

Hercules finds his way clear to his goal. Entering that dark and depressing place he slowly walks towards the cell where Camilla is kept.

Seeing him approach

Camila's eyes bulge and glaze over in fear as she backs away leaning against the wall as if to merge into the place.

"I have served you faithfully for most of my life, I have never betrayed or disappointed you," she says in full panic

Smiling Hercules

says:

"You are right, you have always been loyal and useful to me", as he sees Camila relax a little he says "and so I will make it quick and painless", and in the blink of an eye Camila falls dead to the ground.

Meanwhile Erick is fully awake when a guard comes to warn about the mark in the sky .

But his instincts say there's no point in Hercules drawing attention to himself at that point in the game , and that's when he realizes Camila!

Accompanied by Joshua and some guards he runs through the corridors of the royal academy, when he reaches the dungeon the doors are open and no one is watching.

"Camila?" calls Erick but with no answer he approaches the cell where he sees Camila lying with her head severed.

"Search the whole academy he must have left some clue," shouts Erick feeling frustrated

Joshua approaches the body examining it for clues but finds nothing.

Using his mental link with Erick to make sure they are not being overheard he says:

"In my opinion we have forced him to accelerate his plans "

"What do you mean?"
asks Erick

"You found out about Camila, then everyone at the gym must have started to smell Eduarda, if his goal is to get to Eduarda before you mark her , then he was forced to accelerate his plan", understanding what Joshua meant Erick feels a chill run down his spine .

"It means that Eduarda and I need to keep up appearances when we're outside the royal pavilion, until we're ready, that way we avoid him freaking out and doing something crazy to get to Eduarda," says Erick

They both walk back to the pavilion, and Joshua goes to meet his companion in the room.

Erick decides to go for a drink of water and holds his breath at what he sees.

Eduarda didn't exactly know if this was right, but she was willing to try, Lila had given her some of those pajamas that make husbands and boyfriends tear their hair out.

But her plan failed because Erick and Joshua went out to check the damn mark Hercules put on the sky. Now she is sitting at the kitchen table alone eating ice cream straight from the pot.

Erick enters that small space taken by the scent of his companion, Eduarda is so focused she doesn't notice Erick's approach.

"That looks good"

Erick says, feeling torn between desire and irritation at not being able to stay away from her even after everything he's been through.

Eduarda is startled and misses her mouth causing Ice Cream to run down her chin, neck and lap.

"I'm sorry, I didn't even ask if I could eat this, it's just that I was anxious and I was looking for something to entertain me, do you want to," says Eduarda with a choked voice because when she sees him looking so cold she feels like crying.

Erick follows the path of the ice cream on her body with his gaze and deciding to send everything to space because he wanted that girl with every bit of his being, takes a step towards her, his body now almost touching hers and answers with a voice hoarse

with desire:

"May I?"

Eduarda caught in his gaze and not knowing exactly what he is asking they nod frantically, making the ice cream drip more towards her breasts, cursing softly Erick eliminates the short space between the two, and positions himself between her legs, leaning over he begins to follow the trail left by the ice cream with his tongue, ecstatic Eduarda throws her head back while one of her hands holds tightly the edge of the table the other as if it had a life of its own gets tangled in Erick's hair.

"Hum ice cream and you're a delight," says Erick pulling away the straps of the little piece of cloth Eduarda dared to call pajamas and being completely blown away by the image of those firm, hard breasts with their pink nipples, which are totally engorged begging for his attention. Stepping away long enough to grab some more ice cream that he lets spill over Eduarda's breasts, he again makes his way around the ice cream with his tongue, until finally he latches onto one of her nipples and begins to suck on it.

Eduarda now moans

softly, worried not to attract the attention of Joshua and Lila in the other room.

Erick now abandons

one breast and starts to pay attention to the other, with a painful erection between his legs. Smelling Eduarda's arousal he growls and says with his mouth still glued to her breasts:

"You are mine , let another man touch you again and I won't answer for myself"

Taken by a boldness that Eduarda did not know she had, she says

"I am yours since I was born, and you better keep in mind that you are also mine and I will not share with anyone" she finishes the sentence wrapping her legs around Erick who moans without any shame.

Pulling him by the hair Eduarda brings him up to attack that spot on his neck where she knows it will be her mark. And taking courage with one hand holding Erick's huge erection under his jeans, Erick groans and pulls her closer. Placing his hands on her ass, he lifts her up and walks with her toward her bedroom.

At that very moment
Joshua opens his bedroom door to go to the kitchen and shouts:

"For the love of the Moon Goddess what the hell Erick" ⓘ

Rate the book using the stars!