

Chapter 48 Change

At that moment a strong red glow enveloped Eduarda blinding everyone in the place. A strong heat wave can be felt, followed by an explosion of heat so strong that the followers of Hercules begin to flee, frightened by the size of Eduarda's power.

Admitting defeat the evil shadow lets go of Erick and takes off into the darkness.

When the red glow finally fades, Eduarda is no longer there, but in her place a beautiful white she-wolf howling at the moon.

Erick is ecstatic at the beauty of his companion, Joshua's eyes fill with tears of emotion at finally seeing his sister's wolf form.

Draco is the first to speak:

"Hell I thought I was going to die," Eduarda barks at him who smiles

Erick in his one form approaches Eduarda and she rubs herself against him, making him smile .

"I hate to be the one to spoil the mood, but we just faced followers of Hercules, this place is not safe," Draco says looking around, "go back to the academy"

Erick turns into Tron his wolf, and pushes Eduarda encouraging her to run, as he himself shoots through the forest closely followed by Joshua .

Draco watches the three wolves go, and once again wonders if he chose the right side. But of one thing Draco was sure Eduarda was very powerful.

Far away Hercules has a fit of rage when he discovers that his plan has failed, and mercilessly punishes the servants who have returned from the failed mission.

As the three wolves run through the dense forest, the full moon shines brightly above them, illuminating their path. Eduarda, now in the form of a beautiful white she-wolf, runs beside Erick with a wild elegance, her fur glistening in the night light.

As Erick runs

alongside her as Tron and Joshua follow them closely, they feel the pulsing energy of Eduarda's recent transformation. Her power is palpable, emanating na aura of determination and courage that inspires and infects them.

Draco, lost in his thoughts, slowly walks back to the Royal Academy. Doubt still haunts him, but he is increasingly convinced that Eduarda is a force to be reckoned with.

Meanwhile, in a distant and dark place, Hercules is enraged by the news that Eduarda has escaped again. His meticulously devised plan has been ruined by the inexplicable strength she has demonstrated. He knew that the young werewolf was a key piece in his plans, and his inability to control her infuriated him even more.

Determined to regain his power, Hercules summons his evil forces and devises a new plan to hunt

Eduarda down. He knows that the final battle is approaching, and he will spare no effort to get Eduarda and defeat those who dare challenge his rule.

Back at the Academy of royal the wolves finally arrive at their safe haven. They are greeted by Lila, who is amazed at the majesty of the white she-wolf. The energy of the transformation still pulses around Eduarda as she moves gracefully among her companions.

Draco approaches, looking at Eduarda with renewed respect. He places his hand on the she-wolf's white fur and feels the power flowing through her. In that moment, his doubts are dispelled somewhat, and he realizes that no matter what side he is on, to fight alongside Eduarda is to be on the side of courage and power.

In a moment of solemn silence, Draco breaks the silence:

"We need to prepare ourselves, gather our strength, and hone our skills. The final battle approaches, and we must not falter. Together, we are stronger and able to face any challenge.”

Determination shines in everyone’s eyes as they agree with Draco’s statement. They know that the road ahead will be difficult and dangerous, but they are willing to fight with all their might to protect the world from Hercules’ tyranny.

After a while Lila

says what Erick was thinking:

“Now you don’t need to stay away from each other anymore, after today’s attack Hercules already knows about your connection”

Another moment of silence comes over the group and is broken by Draco:

“Good see you

tomorrow , get ready to leave the royal academy, we don’t have any more time to waste with Portuguese and math classes”, saying this he walks away.

Joshua tells Erick

through the link that he is going to sleep in town with Lila, at Peter’s house, recognizing that Erick and Eduarda need some time together.

Eduarda and Erick

sit next to each other in their wolf forms, watching the moon, while they think about the Battle to come, for if only the followers of Hercules were capable of so much damage, imagine Hercules himself.

After a while Erick gets up and waits for Eduarda to do the same and together they head towards the royal pavilion that tonight would be theirs alone, he feels the excitement running through his body as he imagines himself alone with Eduarda.

Eduarda walks determinedly beside Erick, focused on breaking down all his barriers and becoming his forever.

Hercules knows that he has lost the battle, but he is still determined to win the war, even if it means destroying Eduarda, and he is willing to do anything.

Meanwhile, Eduarda and Erick arrive at the royal pavilion.

Erick shamelessly transforms himself into his human form, and Eduarda observes every bit of that magnificent body, grateful that wolves didn't blush at the sight of Erick's huge member that was beginning to stand erect before her close observation .

"Change shape" he says in a husky voice.

Only then does Eduarda realize that she doesn't know how to do this .

She snorts and exasperated to Erick who realizing what is happening can not help it and falls into laughter, Eduarda barks in protest which only makes him laugh more.

Taking a breath he says between laughs:

"Imagine standing as a human, and the rest Celeste does," he says still laughing hard.

Eduarda tries and silence takes over the room, when Erick's laughter dies down as he comes across Eduarda completely naked.
