

Chapter 58 Run Joshua, run

Joshua chokes on his own saliva, how come his brainless companion, who liked to show tongue and middle finger to those who affronted her was the daughter of the Vampire King, not that he doubted his companion's ability, he knew she was a force to be reckoned with, But looking at the Vampire she embraces and calls father, Erick, realizing that his friend was about to suffocate with his own saliva, slaps him on the back, although he himself was very overcome with the news.

Joshua, still surprised by the revelation that Lila, his companion, is the daughter of the Vampire King, is stunned for a moment. He alternately looks at Lila and Morfeo, trying to process this unexpected information. Erick, realizing his friend's surprise, supports him by patting him on the back to help him regain his composure.

Meanwhile, the other warriors present in the training center are also perplexed by the revelation. Curious and incredulous looks are exchanged among them, trying to assimilate the connection between Lila and Morfeo, such a powerful and imposing being.

Morfeo, with a puzzled expression, watches the reaction of everyone around him. He is particularly interested in Erick, the Supreme Alpha King of the wolves, and how someone so young can be considered the most powerful being in the world, according to the prophecy.

After a moment of tense silence, Morfeo addresses Erick with a mixture of curiosity and respect.

"Erick, Supreme Alpha King of the wolves, your position and power are astonishing for someone so young," Morfeo says, his voice laden with admiration and fascination. "The prophecy speaks of a supreme being, and you seem to personify that. How did you acquire such strength and leadership at such a young age?"

Erick, aware of the importance and mystery surrounding the prophecy, answers calmly and confidently.

"King Morfeo, my journey has been marked by challenges and overcomings. I believe my power and leadership come from the unity and trust among the warriors who accompany me, as well as my bond with the wolves," Erick explains. "I am constantly learning and improving myself, in pursuit of protecting those I love and upholding justice."

Morfeo nods, impressed by Erick's response. He perceives the wisdom and determination of the young leader, recognizing in him exceptional potential.

"You are truly remarkable, Erick," Morfeo says, with a tone of admiration in his voice. "I hope that the prophecy will be fulfilled, and that you will be able to face the challenges that lie ahead. Perhaps our alliance is the key to victory."

As the impact of the revelation slowly dissipates, the warriors begin to understand the importance of the connections that bind them together. The supernatural forces are now aligned, and the impending battle requires the unity of all races.

Erick and Eduarda exchange a look of complicity, knowing that their destinies are intertwined in a unique way. Both have an important role to play in the coming war, and together, they form a powerful alliance.

Suddenly however, Morfeo stands still, his eyes fixed on his daughter's neck, and at that moment Lila begins to make disguised hand gestures telling him to flee.

Joshua looks puzzled at his companion, and then turns to Erick.

"I wonder what's gotten into her," but Erick, holding back his laughter, says

"I think she's trying to tell you to run."

As Morfeo fixes his gaze on Lila's neck and notices the bond mark between her and Joshua, an angry expression takes over his face. His red vampire eyes shine brightly, revealing his anger.

Before Joshua can understand what is happening, Lila continues to make discreet gestures with her hands, indicating to him to run away. Realizing the urgency in her actions, Joshua looks confusedly at his companion and then at Erick, in search of explanation.

Erick holds back a laugh, understanding the situation. He replies to Joshua in a serious tone, while trying to keep a low profile:

"It seems that you and Lila have marked each other, Joshua. And, from what I can see, it has angered Morfeo. I think you'd better run."

Wasting no time, Joshua realizes the impending danger and turns to run. But before he can even take the first step, Morfeo bursts in with supernatural speed, launching himself in pursuit.

As Joshua desperately runs, his mind is filled with questions. How can Morfeo be so furious about the brand of connection between him and Lila? What dark secrets lie behind this violent reaction?

The sounds of fast, ferocious footsteps resound in his ears, fueling his fear and survival instincts. Joshua tries to use his wolf skills to gain the upper hand, running in zigzags and diving into the shadows whenever possible.

However, Morfeo proves to be a ruthless opponent. He is determined to catch up to Joshua and will spare no effort to do so. With his supernatural speed and vampiric power, the Vampire King is getting closer and closer.

As the chase unfolds, Joshua notices the presence of other warriors around him. They band together to help, trying to distract Morfeo and give Joshua a chance to escape.

The fire of struggle and survival ignites within Joshua. He channels his determination and courage, using all his instincts and skills to escape the clutches of the Vampire King.

The shadows envelop him, providing him with a brief camouflage, and Joshua takes the opportunity to throw Morfeo off guard. He sneaks silently through the trees, disappearing into the forest while his pursuers are confused.

Breathing heavily, Joshua hides behind a tree, catching his breath. He knows that the escape is temporary, and that Morfeo will not rest until he finds him.

As the smoke from the fight clears, Joshua decides to face the situation head on. He must discover the reason for Morfeo's anger and uncover the secrets surrounding his connection to Lila. Armed with courage and determination, Joshua prepares to confront the Vampire King and discover the truth behind this reaction.

