

Chapter 60 Fight Between Equals

Jessica feels her body relax , but becomes fully alert soon after when he materializes in front of her.

Hercules stares at the Lycan , now her hatred has been replaced by interest, for running away from him like that was a great achievement, she would be useful if she wanted to join the cause.

He slowly approaches her, his face now without the traces of hate and evil becomes beautiful again, almost angelic.

Jessica takes a few steps back until her back hits a tree, and although she is frightened now, he is not as scary as before, she thinks about whether she should turn or not, when he wraps his hands around her waist, and when Jessica looks at him to ask what he wanted this time, he takes her mouth in a cruel, brutal, demanding kiss. At first Jessica wants to resist, but then the lustful desire spreads through her body, and instead of pushing him away she returns the kiss.

Smiling inside Hercules moves his hands up her body, grabbing one of her breasts tightly, while the other grabs her sex, thinking to himself that since he didn't have Eduarda , he could have fun with this Lycan, Jessica's claws stimulated by desire come out and she scratches him which only increases his urgency and brutality, ripping off her clothes he possesses her standing there leaning against a tree.

When he is done he steps back and says:

"You are mine now come whenever I call or suffer the consequences"

Again frightened by all that has happened Jessica still trembling asks:

Jessica feels her body relax , but becomes fully alert soon after when he materializes in front of her.

Hercules stares at the Lycan , now her hatred has been replaced by interest, for running away from him like that was a great achievement, she would be useful if she wanted to join the cause.

He slowly approaches her, his face now without the traces of hate and evil becomes beautiful again, almost angelic.

Jessica takes a few steps back until her back hits a tree, and although she is frightened now, he is not as scary as before, she thinks about whether she should turn or not, when he wraps his hands around her waist, and when Jessica looks at him to ask what he wanted this time, he takes her mouth in a cruel, brutal, demanding kiss. At first Jessica wants to resist, but then the lustful desire spreads through her body, and instead of pushing him away she returns the kiss.

Smiling inside Hercules moves his hands up her body, grabbing one of her breasts tightly, while the other grabs her sex, thinking to himself that since he didn't have Eduarda , he could have fun with this Lycan, Jessica's claws stimulated by desire come out and she scratches him which only increases his urgency and brutality, ripping off her clothes he possesses her standing there leaning against a tree.

When he is done he steps back and says:

"You are mine now come whenever I call or suffer the consequences"

Again frightened by all that has happened Jessica still trembling asks:

"More who are you really?"

"Me? I am Hercules dear , welcome to the side of evil", and just as he appeared he is gone in the blink of an eye.

Meanwhile the training with wolves, Vampires and Lycans begins, and everyone is amazed by a fight between Morfeo the Vampire

"More who are you really?"

"Me? I am Hercules dear , welcome to the side of evil", and just as he appeared he is gone in the blink of an eye.

Meanwhile the training with wolves, Vampires and Lycans begins, and everyone is amazed by a fight between Morfeo the Vampire king and Erick the supreme alpha . Now it's clear to everyone that Erick really is the most powerful being there is, for although the fight was brutal, the wolf's superiority was clear from the start.

Next Eduarda went into the ring with a Lycan but her fear of hurting the Lycan causes her to lose. Seeing the disappointment in everyone's eyes, Erick climbs into the ring signaling the Lycan to come out and with a confident smile says to Eduarda :

"Fight me weakling, after all you don't need to be afraid of hurting me"

Eduarda can't believe he called her a wimp , a red glow starts to radiate throughout her body, and she says:

"You called me what honey"

Seeing that he had her where he wanted her, Erick now just hopes that his companion doesn't set him on fire:

" I think I said weakling sweetheart"

"They never taught you that playing with fire is dangerous"
Eduarda says advancing to the attack.

If the fight between the wolf king and the vampire king was brutal, this one was deadly.

The couple of companions transformed in mid-air and attacked each other, in another moment they were already in their human form, and not caring about their nakedness Eduarda launched balls of a red glow in the direction of Erick, who always dodged her by a tris, one of the balls hit a statue behind Erick and was immediately consumed by fire, drawing gasps of fear and admiration from everyone.

Concerned Joshua approaches the ring and says to his sister:

"You still want to have a companion after this fight right?"

This makes Eduarda look around again and see the destruction that her fight with Erick had caused, taking advantage of the distraction of the Companion and thankful that Joshua intervened before he ended up scorched, Erick hugs her from behind and kisses her mark making the tension leave his body immediately.

And everyone in the training center erupts in howls, whistles, claps and shouts, as the strength of their king and their Luna has infected them to push themselves even harder and again howls can be heard from miles away in a new war cry.

The energy and enthusiasm in the training center was palpable as everyone witnessed the intense battle between Eduarda and Erick. The howls and cheers echoed throughout the place, fueling the determination of every individual present. It was an atmosphere of excitement and overcoming, driven by the power demonstrated by the royal couple.

As Eduarda and Erick embraced, feeling the tension leave their bodies, the crowd around them celebrated. It was a symbolic victory, a demonstration of the strength and unbreakable spirit of those who were committed to their training.

Looking around and seeing the destruction caused by the fight, Eduarda feels a mixture of emotions. She remembers Joshua's words about having a companion after this fight and realizes that despite all the violence, it was a testament to her deep connection with Erick.

As everyone celebrated around them, Eduarda and Erick exchanged glances full of understanding. They knew that this battle was not only about mastering their powers and abilities, but also about finding strength in each other and trusting in their union.

With the crowd inspired by their fight, Eduarda and Erick knew they had an important role to play as leaders. They understood that their union transcended the differences between wolves, vampires, and lycans, showing that true strength came from acceptance and support of each other.

From that moment on, the training center became a place of renewal and growth for everyone. The wolves, vampires and lycans, motivated by the passion and example of their royal couple, dedicated themselves even more to their training, overcoming their limits and discovering new levels of power.

And so, as the training continued, the community strengthened its bonds, forming a brotherhood united by diversity and mutual respect. Individual skills were honed, but the sense of unity became the true power behind every achievement.

As the training center echoed with howls, whistles, and war cries, the message of hope and overcoming spread beyond its borders. Eduarda and Erick's example inspired other supernatural beings to come together in search of a world where difference did not mean separation, but rather a strength to be celebrated.

And so the royal couple's journey continued, leading their people toward a future where unity and harmony would prevail over differences, and true power would be found in compassion and mutual respect.

✓ You have unlocked exclusive limited-time benefits>>

GO NOW