

Chapter 61 Murders and Disappearances

At the end of the training day , due to the spirit that Eduarda and Erick's fight spread around the training center , there seemed to be no more separation between races, it was possible to see vampires and wolves resting together as they talked, Lycans helping other wolves to guard the materials, the feeling of unity took over the place, and this did not escape unnoticed to Hercules who tried to pretend that he had also entered in the wave of peace and love of the others.

Jessica was annoying him, he had already regretted leaving Lycan alive, she had a scared face and from time to time she would throw him suspicious and terrified looks, soon someone would ask Lycan what her problem was .

Hercules sees Eduarda walk away totally naked next to Erick and this causes him to have a painful erection and he says :

"Damn she had to be mine"

Hercules hadn't realized that Draco one of the former teachers had approached and he heard Hercules grumble.

"Who had to be yours ?", Doing his best to control himself and not let anything show on his face Hercules replies:

"Jessica sir"

"Funny, I was under the impression that you were looking at Luna Suprema.

At this point Jessica throws another one of her glances at Hercules who theatrically sighs and says:

"You see, sir, she's into it, but the fact that I'm not a Lycan has weighed against me"

Still suspicious Draco smiles and says:

"Don't give up", and leaves thinking about how he always found this particular student interesting.

Erick is anxious to enter the royal house once and for all, seeing Eduarda naked in front of everyone was stirring two sides of him, one was jealousy, he felt like tearing out the eyes of all those who looked for more than a second at his companion, and the other was the strong desire she aroused in him.

As if she could read his mind Eduarda says:

"Better get used to it stallion, or do you think I'll be able to carry a change of clothes into battle?", Erick knew she was right, every time she turned into a she-wolf, her clothes would fatally break, and during battle it would be impossible to replace them.

As Erick absorbed Eduarda's words, he felt a mixture of pride and possessiveness. He knew that the exposure of his companion aroused stares and desires, but at the same time he felt honored to have her by his side. He was determined to protect her from any threat and ensure that she felt safe and loved.

As they approached the royal house, the other supernatural beings respectfully stood back, acknowledging the authority and power of the royal couple. It was a mixture of admiration and awe, a clear demonstration that Eduarda and Erick were formidable leaders.

As soon as they enter the house Erick takes her in his arms, drawing giggles from Eduarda.

He opens the bedroom door with his feet and says:

"Alright Supreme Luna, I will have to endure this, as long as they know they can only look because you belong to me".

Eduarda with her eyes already filled with desire, answers teasingly:

"I belong is it? Show me how I belong to you?"

Accepting the challenge willingly Erick, throws her on the bed, and without giving her time to recover, throws himself on top of her, sucking, licking and nibbling the mark on her neck.

Eduarda throws her head back, giving her companion better access, while her hands reach for Erick's already hard member, making him let out a guttural growl, she strokes him from head to base.

Erick abandons her neck and takes one of her nipples, which are hard and sensitive to the touch, making her moan shamelessly.

Eduarda is seized by a mad urgency and, spreading her legs, begins to guide Erick's large, thick member toward her thirsty entrance. Erick is not shy and penetrates her with a single thrust, Eduarda arches her body and lets out a howl that makes everything around her vibrate. Erick thrusts into her at a furious speed, making her shudder as she arches her back against him, allowing him to go deeper.

Erick pulls out of her and stands up, earning a whimper of protest from Eduarda, which doesn't last a full second as he pulls her onto all fours on the bed and then penetrates her again.

Eduarda looks forward and sees the image of the two reflected in the mirror, which only increases her lust even more, and she throws herself against his thrusts. Erick uses one hand to slap her on the buttocks while the other hand pulls her hair lightly.

Eduarda reaches a violent orgasm, feeling her partner's semen gushing out of her as he lets out a long, deep moan. Eduarda shudders as she feels him leave her, but it was only to turn her position again, now he puts her sitting on top of him and stimulates her by sucking his mark again, while she does the same with him, he guides himself inside her and wrapping his hands around her waist he guides her in a frenetic rhythm, stimulating her to ride him faster and faster and deeper until they both howl in an unbelievable pleasure.

And so another night goes by when the royal couple don't even bother to have dinner, and the house is taken over by moans, groans and cries of pleasure.

The next morning Joshua is not in the least bit miffed because he and Lila have gladly competed with the noises made by Erick and Concerned Joshua approaches the ring and says to his sister:

"You still want to have a companion after this fight right?"

This makes Eduarda look around again and see the destruction that her fight with Erick had caused, taking advantage of the distraction of the Companion and thankful that Joshua intervened before he ended up scorched, Erick hugs her from behind and kisses her mark making the tension leave his body immediately.

And everyone in the training center erupts in howls, whistles, claps and shouts, as the strength of their king and their Luna has infected them to push themselves even harder and again howls can be heard from miles away in a new war cry.

The energy and enthusiasm in the training center was palpable as everyone witnessed the intense battle between Eduarda and Erick. The howls and cheers echoed throughout the place, fueling the determination of every individual present. It was an atmosphere of excitement and overcoming, driven by the power demonstrated by the royal couple.

As Eduarda and Erick embraced, feeling the tension leave their bodies, the crowd around them celebrated. It was a symbolic victory, a demonstration of the strength and unbreakable spirit of those who were committed to their training.

Looking around and seeing the destruction caused by the fight, Eduarda feels a mixture of emotions. She remembers Joshua's words about having a companion after this fight and realizes that despite all the violence, it was a testament to her deep connection with Erick.

As everyone celebrated around them, Eduarda and Erick exchanged glances full of understanding. They knew that this battle was not only about mastering their powers and abilities, but also about finding strength in each other and trusting in their union.

With the crowd inspired by their fight, Eduarda and Erick knew they had an important role to play as leaders. They understood that their union transcended the differences between wolves, Eduarda.

But as nothing wanted is good lasts forever someone rushes in and says:

"Draco is missing and Jessica has been found dead"

"Damn it, we have to find the people Hercules has infiltrated into our midst it's about time this war finally starts" says Erick exasperated

"We'll be in trouble if Draco is with Hercules," says Lila

"It doesn't matter - we'll be prepared.
