

Chapter 63 Freedom

"By the Goddess Pedro!" says Draco startled by the pitiful situation of one of the strongest guards.

Pedro slowly opens his eyes and as he comes across someone familiar, he struggles to sit up, and says:

"Eduarda and Joshua , are they okay?"

"Yes ,yes," Draco says looking around more carefully now, "Eduarda has developed her powers and has already become Luna supreme, but don't worry about them, I'll find a way to get us out of here "

And for the first time in weeks Peter feels hope, for Draco is like the master of escape.

Meanwhile, at the training center in a reserved room, Erick, Joshua, Eduarda and Lila meet with the other leaders: to figure out strategies on how to proceed there .

Eduarda standing looking at Window says:

"The blood moon is approaching, surely Hercules will want to take advantage of the increased power of his allies"

"Yes, but the blood moon increases our power too," says Morfeo the Vampire King.

"Unlike us, we don't make sacrifices of children and innocents to increase our powers" Celeste says through Eduarda and continues "I can feel the evil crowding in, soon they won't be able to hide anymore, we have to be prepared, because just like I know this, Hercules must know it too, his goal must still be to get to me, and this will be our chance to finish him off once and for all"

Erick lets out a growl so powerful that even the walls vibrate and says:

"Damn, the fuck we're going to use you as bait for this lunatic to show up"

"We have no choice Erick," says Eduarda resignedly

"I don't care I'm not going to put your life at risk," he retorts categorically and Joshua and Lila nod in agreement with Erick

"Don't even try this martyr thing, you won't leave our side," Joshua reiterates

"Eduarda, you are powerful, but alone you will end up dead or worse, I told you once before that you have two possible fates, so don't do anything stupid that will end up giving victory to the darkness," says Lila.

And her words from one day in the cafeteria, come to Eduarda's mind:

"Hour with one in full happiness, or the other in pain and destruction."

"They are right, Erick is the strongest of beings , but do you think he will be able to act rationally if you are in danger at the hands of , Hercules," Morfeo finishes

" Right, right, it was just an idea," says Eduarda still staring at the horizon, and wondering if she can continue to put up with Hercules causing so much pain and suffering by trying to get hold of her.

Meanwhile Hercules, the ruthless tyrant, had sinister plans for the cave where Peter and Draco were trapped. He intended to perform an evil ritual invocation of power, using the dark energy of the place to strengthen his dominions. However, one of Hercules' servants noticed that Peter was extremely weakened and warned his master about the danger of taking him to the cave during the ritual.

Aware that Peter might not survive such an experiment, Hercules decided to alter his plans. Instead, he ordered Draco and Pedro to be taken to a different location, but with intense surveillance to ensure that they would not escape.

On the way to the new place of confinement, Draco had a chance encounter with an herb known to regenerate the strength of wolves. Recognizing the importance of this discovery, Draco discreetly picked up some of the herb, planning to use it to help Peter regain his strength.

When they arrived at the new location, Draco waited for the right moment and secretly handed the herb to Peter. With renewed hope and a restored source of energy, Pedro consumed the herb and felt the vitality flow through his veins. His body began to pulsate with renewed strength.

With his strength restored, Peter concentrated and invoked the transformation into his wolf form. He felt his muscles expand and sharp claws sprout from his hands. Now, as a powerful wolf, Peter knew he had a chance to face the threats that lay ahead.

Draco also transforms, and together they plan the attack that will bring them freedom.

Upon hearing the pops and noises of the transformation one of the guards approaches and sees none of the prisoners in place, panicking he opens the cell to check.

It turns out that both Draco and Peter in their wolf forms have hair as black as the night, and both have shrunk into the darkest part of the cell, becoming almost invisible to human eyes.

With their wolf forms black as night, Peter and Draco remained camouflaged in the shadows of the cell while the guard panicked when he couldn't find any of the prisoners. Seizing the moment, the wolves leaped silently and nimbly over the unsuspecting guards.

The battle was intense and furious. Peter and Draco, using their lupine skills and renewed strength, launched themselves against the guards, with sharp claws and fangs. The enemies had no chance before the fury of the wolves. One by one, the guards were defeated and overpowered by the prisoners in their new form.

With the way clear, Peter and Draco ran towards the exit of the cave. Adrenaline coursed through their veins as they moved with speed and dexterity, jumping over obstacles and avoiding traps. The sounds of their paws echoed through the dark corridors, announcing their determination to reach freedom.

Finally, they emerged from the cave into the outside world, where the moonlight illuminated their path. The ancient royal academy stood in the distance, a symbol of hope and resistance. Peter and Draco kept running, their paws pounding the ground with relentless determination.

However, freedom was not yet guaranteed. Guards loyal to Hercules were positioned nearby, ready to stop them. Peter and Draco knew that they had to face this last battle to reach their goal.

With sharp combat skills and impeccable teamwork, the wolves faced the guards with courage and fearlessness. They jumped, dodged, and counterattacked with lethal precision. Every move was calculated, every strike was full of determination.

The battle roared around them, but Peter and Draco were undeterred. They fought with an inner strength, fueled by the will to free themselves and reach the safety of the ancient royal academy.

Finally, the guards were defeated, and Peter and Draco emerged victorious. Gasping and covered in blood, they looked at each other with a mixture of exhaustion and triumph. Freedom was within their grasp.

Without wasting any time, they ran toward the ancient royal academy. With each step, they felt hope grow in their hearts. They knew that there they would find support and allies willing to fight Hercules and his darkness.
