

Chapter 9 Put her in our dorm now

Gaby walks away from Eduarda mumbling something she doesn't understand.

Everyone turns towards the door, and almost everyone takes a step back when they see Erick's hateful face and his bloodshot eyes.

For a while everyone is silent just looking at Erick and Joshua.

Joshua doesn't look too happy either and it's clear that he and Erick are chatting over the link.

"Put her in our dorm now," Erick orders Joshua in a tone that brooks no question.

As explained by Draco earlier, only the royals had private bedrooms, Erick however as the future Alpha king, had a pavilion just for him, which in addition to the things he had in the common bedrooms also had an office, and a dining room and only three cubicles, his and the others that belonged to your Beta Joshua, and the one that would belong to your Gamma, but your Gamma had already finished the academy so the cubicle was empty.

"And why would I do that," says Joshua looking angrily at Gaby

Erick couldn't explain why the fact that Gaby Goldilocks was about to kiss Joshua's wimpy sister bothers him so much, he just knows he's feeling an irresistible urge to rip his head off, so he thinks of a convincing excuse for Joshua :

"I don't know, he was just trying to help, the guy looked like he was going to his sister's dinner," he says, noticing by Joshua's expression that he's got it.

Joshua clears his throat and says:

"Hey you Eduarda, you are going to move to the royal dormitory, we need someone to keep things organized and I chose you", he said like this because it would not be convenient for people to find out that Eduarda was his sister, the others who came from same pack, have already been ordered by Erick's alpha tone to keep secret.

Erick is pleased, even more so when he sees Gaby's disappointed face and says:

"Before you offer to go with Goldilocks, that's na order for the wimp only, you stay here", and turning to Eduarda says, "don't worry wimp, someone will take your stuff to the new dorm"

"Now follow me all of you," says Joshua.

Eduarda doesn't quite know how to feel about the dorm change, on the one hand she's happy to be closer to her brother, after all they've been apart for a year, but on the other hand she's reluctant to leave Gaby behind now that things were getting better. Unfolding between them.

Eduarda has never been kissed in her life but she believes it would be good if Gaby was the one to give her the first kiss.

"Hey weakling, stop dreaming and hurry up", says Erick irritated Eduarda blushes violently, wondering if somehow he was able to know what she was thinking.

They entered a large hall, with a table on a kind of stage, and four other tables at the bottom, each table at the bottom easily holding a hundred people.

"Each senior group with its secondary group has a table, ours is the first one, and so on according to the dorms", explains Joshua, "seats at the front of the table are for the leaders of the group and the strongest or special of somehow, the places can change if a person becomes weaker or stronger in the course of the year, the last places are for you newbies who still haven't done anything to prove their worth, at the front table sits the instructors and trainers, now take your seats."

Erick gets irritated again when he sees Gaby sit next to Eduarda.

Joshua follows Erick's gaze and is also worried, because if Gaby was not his sister's partner, that meant that at some point he would find his partner and his sister would suffer a lot, or worse, Eduarda's partner could reject her if knowing that she had slept with another guy, Joshua found it archaic but that was very common among wolves.

But one thing was also puzzling Joshua, Erick's interest in his sister, and a frightening idea was forming in his mind, what if Erick was his sister's mate, and for the same reason that her wolf won't awaken they wouldn't get along. Recognized, after all, a year ago his sister began to be mistreated, and a year ago Erick had been feeling the pain of his partner, and Erick's reaction when his sister took his hand in the forest, Joshua was prepared to throw himself at Erick to try I stopped him from killing Eduarda, but instead Erick simply walked away.

But Joshua hoped that was just a fanciful idea in his mind, after all Erick hated his partner, and would hate him even more if he knew it was his sister.

At that moment, Jessica enters the room with her group, number three, where Betany and Trevan are.

At that moment Joshua feels a shiver go up his spine and thinks:

"By the goddess of the moon, Eduarda cannot be Erick's mate or Jessica will hound her to death", and he looks again at his sister who is deep in conversation with Gaby and the other newcomers.

Jessica watches Erick's table and is pleased to see that the weakling seems interested in the handsome guy next to her.

As long as she doesn't show interest in Erick or he in her, Jessica couldn't care less about a plain girl and as far as she knew no wolf.

The academy director begins a welcome speech for the newcomers, and wishes luck on each one's journey, remembering that fights and fights are only allowed in the training ring, and that the next morning each newcomer would go through the screening to find out which subjects in addition to the physical and mental training that was mandatory for everyone, they would do it.

At that moment, Eduarda's eyes met Erick's, and it was as if something in her eyes was calling her, challenging her to go along with him.

Gaby noticing the exchange of looks, lightly touches Eduarda's hand to get her attention.

Erick, who was lost in Eduarda's green eyes, as if everything in him wanted to go through the forest that was her eyes, almost loses control when he sees Gaby hold her hand.

"What the hell is happening to me?", Erick asks himself and only gets silence in response.
