

Last System 501

Chapter 501 Pro-Creation (Part 3)(R18)

When I called for Levi, I expected him to put up a guard or two, maybe patrol the city's streets on his own.

But what I failed to predict, was his reaction to my words... A reaction that indicated there was a deeper meaning behind what I said that I myself was not aware of!

"Just give me a minute, I will be right back!" Levi shouted before rushing deeper into the building, leaving behind nothing but the rubble that used to be the door to our room.

"Damn, that's kinda annoying," I muttered, pressing my lips together as I looked at the gaping hole where the doors used to be, making it pretty damn easy for anyone randomly passing through the corridor to peek into our room.

At the bottom of my heart, I knew that such a thing wouldn't happen. No one was dumb enough to parade around the deserted part of the building when they knew that's where I made my love nest, especially dead in the middle of the night!

Still, knowing that people might be looking gave birth to a spark of possessiveness that set my soul ablaze.

"It's okay," Mia whispered, using the connection between our cultivation to pass on what she meant rather than hoping for her feeble voice to reach my ears from underneath the sheets.

And Mia's intent and the reasoning behind her attempt all transmitted directly to my brain along with the message she wanted to convey.

Mia climbed up a little, pushing her back against the sheets I was covering her with so that her head would poke out right above my chest.

And seeing her gentle, caring, and soothing smile...

My brain went haywire yet again, making my insides melt in the ocean of affection I felt toward the delicate girl wrapped in my arms.

"I... I understand, but I do not agree," I replied to the deep message that Mia transmitted solely through our link.

Right now, she craved me so damn much that she couldn't care less about whether or not someone else saw her. Yet, she remained hidden under the sheets out of sheer consideration for how having others see her would make me feel...

Which she could tell without even probing all that deep into my soul!

I understood Mia's desire to just leave everything to Levi and keep on going. Feeling her warmth pressed tightly against my body, feeling her warm breath tickle the skin of my chest... It would suffice to say I was more than ready to pick up the pace.

But Levi's face was somehow stuck in my mind, the sense of absolute astonishment and shock... A face that I've never seen the man make before. And when it came to the strongest person that I knew about, this wasn't all that small of a deal!

And while Mia was willing to tolerate the idea of someone's eyes falling on us while we were busying ourselves with each other, I simply couldn't agree with it.

No.

Mia's beauty was all mine and only mine to adore!

"Hehe..." Sensing the burst of my devotion, Mia giggled a little only to relax her limbs and make her upper body fall down on me as she rubbed her face into my chest.

"I'm coming!"

Right as the cuteness of my woman was about to make me give up on restraint, ignore my own doubts, and pick up the pace, Levi's voice came like a bucket of cold, sobering water.

Thump.

After crashing into the side of the corridor, Levi ran up roughly halfway up to the ruined doors before stopping and turning his back towards our room.

"I've set the guards all over the place. No one will disturb you, no one will be able to attack you. Now, take as long as you need and just focus on each other," Levi ordered in the very same tone he used all the way back when he was but a pathfinder who decided to lend his help and tutorship to a young cultivator lost in worldly schemes.

"Levi, what the heck is going on?" I couldn't hold my curiosity back any longer.

Not when my former master was making a face like this.

"I'm aware just how curious you have to be, be the less you know about what's going on the better!" Levi cut my request short before starting to walk down the corridor. "I've set up a barrier all around your room that will block any and all from seeing, hearing, or perceiving anything that happens within. So, take your time and just enjoy yourself to the fullest!"

"Wait!" I called out... Only for Levi's actions to speak for themselves, when I sensed my voice strike some sort of blockade before turning into a uniform noise that near instantly faded away.

"I guess he can't hear me..." I then muttered, heaving a deep sigh once I confirmed the position and validity of the barrier.

And then, with my mind already inching towards the detective mode necessary to solve this mystery, I felt a sudden bout of emotion from Mia before her fists struck lightly against my chest.

"No more thinking," she spoke, climbing a bit up my lap before raising her upper body and allowing the sheets to fall down her shoulders, exposing the beauty of her nakedness in its full glory.

The instant Mia revealed herself, my lust for her flesh exploded, only to resonate with Mia's own desire for me. Struck in the loop of feeling each other's lust and having it reinforce our own neediness, we both swayed.

My head fell down, its back pressing deeply into the pillows. Mia's body slumped down, forcing her to shoot her hands forth and rest them on my shoulders.

Looking up, I was struck with yet another form of Mia's beauty.

Mounted on the bed and pinned down to it by her weight, I now stared right into Mia's deep eyes while her long hair fell down and seemingly cut away the rest of the world.

For a mere moment, the world ceased to be, replaced just by Mia's huge eyes, her tiny, slightly perky nose, her adorable, full lips, the chin that begged to be grabbed to pull her into a kiss...

I didn't even raise my hand.

Just my desire to connect our lips acted like a hammer to Mia's back, pressing her down as she wrapped her hands around my head and pulled my face up.

'Haaa...'

At this point, it wasn't anything new.

A simple fact of having Mia press her soft, supple lips against mine, the sensation of our movements synchronizing and turning into a passionate dance, the taste of our saliva mixing together...

I've experienced all of this, many times over.

But that didn't make it any less special.

With my brain filled with nothing but my adorable girl seeking more and more intense cuddles and affection, I gave up on all the rationale, diving head-first into the bottomless pit of my desire for her.

·cθm My hands moved up, grabbing at the girl's waist.

"Haaa..." Mia released a long, moist breath, covering my face with the warmth of her insides the very second our lips parted.

I could feel Mia's muscles shifting under the touch of my hands as she alternated between tensing up as if there was no tomorrow only to then relax as if the tomorrow didn't matter anymore.

And in this moment of pure desire, all the thoughts about the strange cultivation link that connected us vanished from my head, replaced with Mia, Mia, and a little bit more of Mia.

Which, by no means, meant this link ceased to be.