

A Mate for the Latecomer By Veronica Vito

Chapter 3 Impossible

After an embarrassing entry, I kept on grinning from ear to ear. Aberdeen nudge me on the shoulder asking

“Are you okay”

I answer “of course,” trying to clear away the embarrassment.

I take a look again at the packhouse, which is a two-story.

“Not all pack members live here”

I heard the beta says probably to Leto and Aberdeen since I haven't talked to him.

“Apologies this is Elle our top warrior, Elle meets Lucian Kavril, Daluna's beta” Leto introduced us I look aside and saw his hand extended which I shook in return.

He eyes me up and down ‘something you like beta’ Eliz raises her eyebrow in a flirty way. Seriously this wolf will be the death of me someday.

“I must say the design is extraordinary” my eyes were on the packhouse again.

“Yeah our Alpha design it by himself”

I smile “it's beautiful” Aberdeen pinched me on the shoulder but I couldn't bother because this house makes me want to own it someday.

I know most people want to live in it but I want to own it, there is a difference between living and owning it.

“The alpha is here”

Lucian announced then we heard footsteps coming from inside. I began to get nervous all of a sudden, I keep fiddling my hands.

Aberdeen slaps me on the back

“what” I whisper yell at her.

“Stop doing that, he’s not that bad” she scolded me.

“Besides he is hot except he’s you know” she wiggles her eyebrow

“gay” I retort by finishing her sentence

“no, but you’ll see” she winks at me making Leto growl “oh honey shush you’re my number one.” Leto relaxes back a little as he stood.

The footsteps draw nearer that’s when I smell a divining scent. Eliz howl in joy as I stood there in confusion.

The door opens he came in to view as the scent became stronger, one word in my head ‘damn’ while Eliz screams in excitement mate, mate.

Another word pop up in my head

‘IMPOSSIBLE’

I keep on mumbling to myself my thoughts were all over the place now. It cannot be, I know for a fact we can never have another mate once your true one is gone.

‘Unless,’ I found him staring at me with shock then I abruptly turn my gaze down, head bows down a little while my eyes going from side to side and thoughts everywhere.

Aberdeen shook my shoulder again “Elle” but I was too lost in my thoughts to notice everyone staring at me.

This can’t be right, I wanted to scream then a feeling of happiness overwhelmed me. I mean he’s alive I turn up again and at that moment I want to run to him and bury my head in his chest while he hugs me.

I started to tear up Leto’s hand resting on my shoulder making me jump a little.

“Hey, you’re okay?” I nodded to him yes. Then my eyes went back to my mate. His beta stood beside him “everyone please meet our Alpha Eric Gibson” Leto shook his hand then he turns to introduce me and Aberdeen.

I smile at him genuinely thanking the moon goddess for sending him back. She has given me another chance in living life. He gazes at me with coldness evident in his eyes, “sorry for keeping you here standing,” he faces Leto

“ouch” I wince in my head to Eliz.

Yet I kept on a smiley face for him and everyone else. He talks to Leto my eyes never leaving his. I look behind him my eyes settle on his neck and the smile instantly fell from my face.

“Impossible” I whisper in disbelief of what I’m seeing. A woman came from inside and stood beside him with her hands going around his waist smiling at us.

Now I see what went wrong those years ago.
