

A Mate for the Latecomer By Veronica Vito Chapter 41

We have been running in the woods, Eliz felt it refreshing since we haven't been shifted when we were in the human realm.

We cross our border and made it to another territory probably Eric's. Then we continue to walk before we reach his. Aaron wants us to talk at where we first met.

The first question I ask him as we walk was "How's everyone doing" and he told me that they were all okay. Conrad has found his mate and Jay has moved with his mate since she's a Beta's daughter of another pack. So Zeus's pack is now combined with his and he's the Alpha.

We talk about other random stuff about how my life in the human realm was and how he had to cope with everything until we reach that spot again.

I pick up from our conversation that he never mentioned anything about Claire so I decided to ask him. I was thinking maybe he didn't want to since it could make things awkward.

"How's everything with Claire?"

Aaron stops this time he turns to me, his hand scratches his hair.

"I don't know, we haven't been on good terms since the day of the funeral," biting my lip, I look him in the eyes.

"Does" Aaron caught me off guard when he closed the distance between us, his hand caressing my cheek I took a breath in taking in his scent, and I kind of love it. He didn't let me finish when I felt his warm lips on mine, how I always miss being in his arm.

He moved him and I didn't refuse as I responded to him making him smile while we kissed. We pull away for a moment

"I broke everything with Claire when you left that day? I wanted to come and get you but I know I have to give you some time to get a hang of everything. You know"

He looks at me then continues “Claire went against me for months when I refused to be her mate again. She even tries to bring in the council. Yet too bad she was found guilty instead and was banished from the pack. Now Eric’s pack is run by Lucian and his mate”

“Council” I look at him with confusion “yes it’s something all Alphas agreed on, so it runs by four elders and us the Alphas. It’s for bringing orders and laws consistently throughout our race,” he explains.

“WOW that’s a lot of info” he laughs shortly “so where is she now if she was banished” I refer to Claire

He looks guilty for a moment “she was found dead near our border. Theoretically, she has been attacking by rogues.” He sighs heavily then shoves his hands in his pocket, turning away from me.

“Elle, I’m sorry for everything and I’m sorry for not coming after you. I did want to but I know you need more time. Even if it takes more than just a year for you to come back I’ll still wait,” he turns back to me

“I’m sorry Elle.”

Eliz doesn’t have any more problems with Aaron. She has liberated herself and has agreed for me to be with anyone. She always told me back in the human realm that it’s never too late for us.

I step forward and peck him on the cheek as I didn’t want to rush into any relationship “is that so” and he smiles “thank you” I told him.

He didn’t hesitate to pull me in his arms then kisses me on the forehead. “I love this, us being together” he squeezes my shoulder.

“Wait I might have promised Eric to be there if we met in another life,” Aaron pulls me in a hug “it’s okay”

“You’re not mad,” I ask him. He lowers his head tilting my chip to meet his gaze “nope. As long as you’re with me now,” I smile thanking the moon goddess for how I get to be so lucky.

“I like you” I took him by surprise. I didn’t want to say the love word, not so fast. I want to take things slow with Aaron and savor every moment of it even with our last breath.

“Say it” he begs me “Aaron you’re my significant one and I really like you” he kissed me on the forehead again then whisper while looking me straight in the eyes “I like you more, my significant one.”

Now I am content and happy to live this life with the man beside me and to begin this life again. I have been late before but this time I’m not.

I mean who would have thought that after all the misfortunes, the heartache, the dramas, and the battles. In the end, the moon goddess still makes sure that latecomers like me would never be left without a Mate.

After 3 decades the moon goddess finally granted Eric’s last dying wish.

He has been working for his own mistakes and sins in another dimension.

On a red full moon, the first time in the history of a werewolf ever happens the sky pierce and four souls were reborn again, with the same features into the same world.

Those souls were Eric, Claire, Aaron, and Elle. The moon goddess tries to change each fate, for them to be happy with their chosen one.

Aaron didn't reject his Mate Claire yet once again she decided to go against fate. Running away from Aaron as she didn't want to be mate, and met Eric who rejected her advances and decided to wait for his true soul mate.

She returns to Aaron who now has a pub from another female werewolf. Claire didn't care as she has fallen in love with her mate. She works for his forgiveness until he decides to give her a second chance.

Elle met Eric the same way they did before except they parted ways to try and give one another some space to think.

One night under the clear dark sky where stars twinkles and the moon shone brightly Eric met Elle again at a pool near his territory.

Just as the moon goddess has gifted every werewolf. The two felt the pull towards one another getting stronger. Elle and Eliz were finally excited and blissful as she has found him the one she has ever dreamed of, the one meant for them.

Without hesitation, both mates confess their undying love to each other. Not waiting for another day they showered each one another with every passionate sweet kiss and love in their humans and wolf forms.

They didn't stop for any minute as they were both so lost in unifying and connecting in every way. They only stops when it was dawn and both were restless

“you finally came Elle, my love”

He kisses her forehead while she lies naked on his bare chest, his hands now rubbing her mark-making her moan in pleasure. She hoists herself up a little looking in his eyes giving him a loving smile

“I kept my promise love” and they seal it again with a kiss.

The moon goddess smile from above with approval. She created mates for a reason and that reason is to love but to complete love. Mates need to understand one another, forgive, give chances, believe, have hope, and be faithful.

They need to acknowledge that to have a human side is a form of imperfection and that imperfection will be balanced by the goodness of their other half.

She shifted her gaze to another side of her globe and finds another couple in upheavals. She smirks at this and watched from above with interest on how the two souls she knits together will end up.

Shaking her head she muttered, “stupid wolf” he curse to the male who just rejected his Mate. Yet she smiles when the female retaliates making her go in awe.

“interesting”

She sat back in her chair watching the two alone. She wonders if they ended up the same or.... just... she doesn't want to predict.

There you go, my lovely readers. Thank you so much again for your support. The sequel will be up soon and it's going to be a little bit different from this one. So please stay tuned... You can find the cover below.... Until then my dear readers...
