

A Mate for the Latecomer By Veronica Vito

Chapter 5 Someone

Settling on a rock as tears still fell from my eyes I thought back to the years of pain where things turn down for me.

I don't know why I have such a fate.

It was heart-wrenching my mate had already made his decision thinking he has a tiny bit of heart he rejected me back. Now officially I don't have that someone since he chose for the both of us before I even met him.

I was crying when I heard a snap I look around and saw a b wolf with a strong aura like a force ordering me to submit.

Anyone should be highly alert right now and starts to run away but in my situation, I couldn't do anything at all. I could tell that he's an Alpha I swear I could feel him from where I'm sitting but that didn't bother me besides I was too busy crying to even bother

"move rogue, you cross our territory" he growls at me.

I said between sobbing

"I'm not intruding your territory I'm only borrowing this spot it's not like I'll take it home with me."

His growl grew louder

"Can't you stop growling at me and sit your a down somewhere here. Let me finish crying so don't disturb me. You know how cruel this world so please spare your growl for someone else who deserves it and just let me cry."

"You're a rouge"

He spits out as if I'm the most disgusting thing he encounters and with that, he didn't hesitate to attack me.

I just sat there watching in slow motion as he was ready to thrash me with his claw, waiting to be gone now. Life didn't matter anymore, this fate is better than living with nothing at all.

His claw is now in the air his hazel orbs meet mine and he strikes.

Closing my eyes for my doom fate but nothing happens. He didn't hit me his paws fell next to me. Opening them again I told him straight away

"I'm not a rogue"

I hiccup and turn around to observe the scenery before me again. His wolf is just seated next to me and we watch together at the sunset.

"Your territory's land is beautiful, something I would die for," he just sits there not moving.

'Now how do I run since my tears are now dry and the Alpha is probably waiting to take me to his pack's dungeon.

I may have already disrespected my mate but hey he's my mate his wolf pities me but this Alpha is not my mate therefore only thing on his head is no mercy after this no matter how beautiful this moment is.

Counting one to ten in my head with Eliz more ready to run now. Once I reach number ten I could see from the corner of my eyes that he is off guard I quickly told him

"thank you" and with that, I dash out of there.

I heard him growl closer to me but I promise this is the only thing that would make me run faster than anyone when my life is in danger.

Pull all my strength and run away like there's no tomorrow. I finally lost him and I'm almost back to my mate's territory. Not giving up any time soon I rush to the opening seeing our Beta Leto, and my best friend Aberdeen bid their goodbyes I stopped beside them having trouble catching up my breath

"Water, water"

I tried to breathe Eric call Lucian and in a second he stood in front of me with a water bottle. I took it and gulp the whole water inside the bottle. Yes now I can finally breathe

"Thank you" I thank Lucian Eric's beta "you just save my life but I don't owe you anything."

Their jaw drops at me

"what?"

“are their rogues out there,” I wave my hand no to Aberdeen “no just a big monster” I know I sounded like a four-year-old kid but hey I’m trying to dodge a bullet here.

“Can we go I’m feeling tired” I held on to Lucian since he’s the nearest and my legs almost gave out earning a growl from Eric?

‘What a douche’

I mind linking only to him since he still hasn’t blocked me out.

‘don’t call me that, mate or not I’ll kill you” he threatened me.

“Not before you”

I grin and start walking towards the car before resting in the grave that I’m digging now. I waited for them to get in but Aberdeen just seems to be hiding something.

“Yes Aber did I miss something” she breathes in before telling me what’s going on and didn’t I just go ballistic after yep I did because hell no over my dead body.

I ain’t doing it.

Until Next Time
