Chapter 131 The originator behind the

Since she was warned about being late, Adriana has been coming to work half an hour earlier every day.

Only this time after returning to the company, it seems that every one is not very friendly to her.

Everywhere you go, there are gossip about her, and there are many different opinions, all of which slander her.

Adriana is acutely aware of what it means to be afraid of people's words.

Even though my heart is tired, I can only endure it.

For more than half a month, those negative gossips have not disappeared either and are still circulating in the company.

Adriana is subjected to a variety of people pointing at her and spitting at her every day.

During her isolated days, she buried her head in work every day and no one spoke to her except for the tasks given by the company.

How much suffering, she knows in her own heart.

On this day after work, Adriana received a call from Brenden.

"Is something wrong?"

She hates Brenden, the man who has messed up her life, but there is nothing she can do about it.

"I hear you've been having a tough time with the company lately?" Brenden asked.

"All is well with your memory."

Good or bad, what does it matter to him?

Brenden snorted, "You're a tough talker. But have you ever thought about who's behind the scenes?"

Asked about this, Adriana frowned in annoyance, suppressed half a month of emotions at this moment finally exploded, "Brenden, what do my things have to do with you? Everything is not because of you to become this way now? What's the point of you coming back to me now to tell me this? Are you trying to tell me something or remind me of something? I'm talking now, and you listen. I don't want to know who started the rumor, and I don't care to take it! Is that clear enough!"

At the end of the sentence, Adriana flung the phone on the table.

She sat on her knees, her hands clutching her hair helplessly, almost collapsing.

It's not that she didn't know what Brenden said, she just didn't want to know the truth.

Hank spoke very cautiously, out of the corner of his eye from time to time to observe the face of his boss, afraid that a wrong word will have to be sent to the guillotine.

Then, he said: "Recently, the company has circulated a new saying. It says .....Adriana is bent on climbing the ladder of luxury, and quite a few people in The Alston family are having affairs, and others say they saw Adriana introduced in a bar a few years ago, a ....."

The latter words, Hank did not continue.

Because he obviously felt the boss body stiffened, the cigarette in his hand was hard to pinch deformation, surrounded by cold air.

"Immediately go and find out who is behind the rumors and create trouble, once found out, punish severely." Peter coldly dropped a sentence.

Hank led the order and immediately went down to investigate at this time.

The next day, Adriana entered the company and found that all the finger-pointing was gone, and even the whispering was gone.

At first it was not clear what was going on, but finally it was discovered that there was a notice in the department group that employees were not allowed to talk about their supervisors in the company, otherwise, they would be transferred to the judicial authorities for defamation.

With such a shock, who would dare to say anything?

After the calm, Adriana's life has become a lot more peaceful and relaxed.

That night, a miracle followed, and Nelson Dean wouldn't let her work late either.

Adriana felt like she had finally walked out of hell.

On the same day, a phone call was made to Theresa for an appointment.

An hour later, the cafe.

Adriana sat in the cafe for a while, ordered a glass of Blue Mountain, and not long after, Theresa, dressed in a white professional dress, appeared in front of her.

"Hi Adri, long time no see. How come you gave up asking me out?" Theresa looked natural and waved to the waiter on the side, "A mocha."

Chapter 133 What is trust

The evidence not only proves that this time it was she who instructed Ana from the company's secretarial department to spread the gossip in the company, but also deliberately added fuel to the fire by having Ana spread the news in the company.

It happens to be all about some chats, clearly shown in screenshots.

Later, it is she went to Gisselle's parents after Gisselle's death, and those images of conversations with them were actually collected.

The evidence is overwhelming, and it seems pointless for her to repeatedly deny it.

Then he put down his phone and smiled like Kiri and mocked, "I really underestimated your charm, it seems that Brenden really likes you?"

Adriana did not answer.

Like it or not, as far as she is concerned, there is no direct relationship.

"I'm sorry, I didn't want to do it. But ..... I had no choice." Although she was apologizing, but her attitude could not see the slightest apology, "At first, it was you who caused me to have no uterus, and I now have a loving and rich fiancé, but ..... but he ....." "

The end of the words, Theresa also looked a little broken, she spread her hands, helpless bitter smile, then reached out to cover her face, sighed, "that rainy night, he in order to go to you, I cried and begged, he refused to stay. adri, he is my fiancé ah, but watched him for you, abandoned me in disregard, my heart ....."

She pursed her lips, wanting to speak, hand over the heart position, only to feel the heart wringing pain, "At that time, I think I am worse than death."

"What about me? You don't trust me that much?"

Adriana asked rhetorically.

On the rainy night, Peter was there to find her, but how could he not expect that this was the case between Peter and Theresa.

"Trust?"

Theresa snorted and shook her head, "I would like to trust in front of love, but how do you expect me to trust?"

Once good girlfriends, now this is a showdown.

Before looking for her, Adriana hesitated for a long time, because she was not someone who was always bullied but willing to suffer in silence.

But now, after all is said and done, it seems that she herself is the betrayer.

It is clear that the man's ability Rex, but still have a fluke.

Ta-da-da-da

The man held a pen, quietly tapping the desktop, his face gloomy like ink, gazing at the computer screen, did not speak.

After a while, Theresa finally quieted down and immediately said, "Peter, this matter really gives me no relationship. I ....."

Hula--

She had not finished a sentence, a pile of A4 paper flung in front of her with a whimper, "Give me a good look for yourself."

Peter's tone was slightly deep, "I've warned you countless times that I hate lying women, and you, again and again, provoke my bottom line!"

A roar, scared Theresa's body trembled, face white a few points, can not stop back a few steps.

Looking down at those papers on the ground, leaned down and picked them up, and on the color paper, the same chats were recorded.

It's the same exact evidence that Brenden gave Adriana.

She even wondered if Adriana had given her the same evidence that Peter had given her.

"Peter, I'm ..... I'm ..... sorry I ..... I was the other day... .."

"That day what? Say, I'll give you a chance."

Peter's eyes narrowed slightly, waiting quietly for Theresa's explanation, as if still giving her one last chance.

It's just a matter of whether the woman cherishes it or not.

Theresa looked at Peter, his handsome, knife-sharp face glowing with a bitter chill.

She then does not know how cold the polar ice is, but knows how cold Peter's breath is around him at this moment.

"I ..... Peter, I ....." her cheeks trembled slightly, her eyes flushed with red and dense with tears, "I was just hot-headed that day to So impulsive, I really did not mean to."

Tears came to my eyes as the words fell.

"Okay, I can go back."

Theresa brushed her sleeve and wiped her tears, sniffled, and asked with forced composure, "But I just want to know one thing, did you ..... ever love me in the end?"

The question finally made Peter slowly raise his head and give a cold look, "Theresa, stop it. It's late, go get some rest."

At the end of the sentence, Theresa did not intend to leave the study, but instead stood still and stared at him with burning eyes.

"As long as you're at peace, you're still my Peter fiancée, and I warn you, don't try to provoke my bottom line again."

In this case, he has forgiven Theresa enough.

If it wasn't for this necklace, if it wasn't for that one incident more than ten years ago, the current Theresa would have been thrown out by him long ago.

"Peter, you ..... are fine, I'll go, I'll go."

After a short communication, Theresa already knew exactly what Peter meant, and even the geometry of his feelings about himself.

It would be impossible to say that we don't hold a grudge against Adriana. After all, it's all because of Adriana's appearance, otherwise how could we end up in such a situation?

Peter didn't know that every word he said was like a sharp dagger to Theresa, piercing deep into her heart, hurting so much that she could barely breathe.

In love, the one who loves deeply will always be bruised all over.

She turned to leave the study.

Three steps back, but Peter kept his head down and never looked at her at all, as if he really was heartless and didn't care about her.

Is a man like that really worthy of her love?

Theresa stood at the door of the study, and when she wanted to close the door, her gaze was deep and complex as she gazed at the man and finally closed the door.

She only wanted to show her closeness to Brenden as a way to distance herself from Peter.
Brenden rubbed her head dotingly, "How hard it is to come down, I'll just go up myself. By the way, I brought you one thing."
Said, pulled open the door of the car, from inside to hold out a bouquet of delicate roses, "like it or not? Give you."
Ninety-nine red roses tied into a bouquet, dotted with white stars, wrapped in purple flower paper, sprayed with water, drops of dew drops rippling on the flowers, glistening, like a bit of starlight, beautiful.
She held the flowers, even though there was a moment when she wanted to turn around and immediately throw them into the trash.
But when he found Peter still standing at the corner of his eye, he leaned over and sniffed the flowers, nodding his head with a happy smile on his face, "It smells good, I like it. Thank you, Gaki."
"Silly girl, why are you polite with me."
Brenden deliberately glanced at Peter, the look of smugness, holding the back of Adriana's head, leaned down to her forehead a kiss, "Later, I will send you again."

"No need to break the bank so much."

"For my beloved Adri, without breaking the bank."

The two of them are immersed in 'sweet talk', but they are both making a show, each with their own agenda.

On one side, Peter stood quietly, his bitterly cold gaze glancing incessantly at the present.

Looking at her fondness for flowers, looking at her love for Brenden, and even feeling that she must have been self-absorbed to think that Adriana was threatened by Brenden.

She was clearly red-handed by Brenden, such an idiot, deserved to be cheated!

"Stupid!"

Peter dropped his hands in the pockets of his suit pant pockets clenched tightly together, holding back the anger in his heart to make himself so calm.

At the sound of her voice, Adriana looked back at Peter, "Mr. Alston, would you like to come up and sit with us?"

"So silly it hurts."

Adriana is disgusted with the way Brenden is making a show, but still her face shows a smile, "I know you care about me, but, you should trust Theresa. she is really a nice girl."

"OK, OK, OK, I believe you, I believe you."

Brenden did not continue to argue with Adriana.

Instead, Adriana looked ahead and could clearly see Peter watching her through the reflective wall of the elevator.

In that moment, her eyes flickered and she looked sideways to the other side, avoiding his hot gaze.

Ding--

The elevator stopped.

The trio exited the elevator and went directly into Adriana's home.

Adriana poured Peter a cup of hot water first, "Mr. Alston, didn't you say you were thirsty? Hurry up and drink some water."

Peter just sat on the sofa, the woman's attentiveness made his face sink.

Accepting the warm boiled water, he couldn't help but tease, "So anxious to send off your guests, aren't you afraid that I'll disturb the beauty of you two?"

Raised his eyebrows, smiled and hooked his lips, "You can pretend I don't exist."

Pretend he doesn't exist?

Adriana gave him a blank look, suddenly feeling that Peter was insulting her intelligence.

"Peter, you're a man and Adri's a girl, can't you see she's shy?" Brenden leaned lazily on the sofa and said deliberately.

At that, Adriana raised her hand and touched her cheek, frowning and retorting, "What nonsense, I'm not blushing."

What the hell does this bastard Brenden want, and what does it mean to talk nonsense in front of Peter?

Peter looked down and sipped his tea without squealing.

And then, Adriana sat aside and the three just stood there.

Adriana turned on the TV, holding the remote control, and kept switching channels, but whichever program she watched didn't feel like the right drama for the three of them.

Then, he asked, "What do you want to see?"

The police officer immediately asked the situation, "The license plate number is S83A30, my name is Adriana, just now your police department asked me to come over to pick up a person, I walked out from the district then found that person has been following me."

Adriana is scared.

So much has happened recently that I now encounter anything with trepidation.

The police officer called a named colleague and walked out of the police station with her.

In the distance, she also saw where that one car was parked.

Adriana helplessly held her forehead, "Peter, what the hell are you doing? What do you mean by following me in the middle of the night?"

Didn't he leave with Brenden a long time ago, so why is he still in front of the neighborhood?

Driving such a low-profile car, how did she know the man was Peter.

Peter seemed to understand Adriana's meaning and immediately took out a pile of RMB from his wallet and directly stuffed it into her shoulder bag in a domineering manner, "Now, is that okay?"

Forced to buy and sell!

"You .....!"

Adriana gas chest heaving, anger straight to the brain, just want to refute what, suddenly thought of something, then immediately said: "Yeah. But ....."

Raising a finger to point at the surroundings, "Mr. Alston is not always so impatient to act in front of the Public Security Bureau, right?"

Smiled and continued, "Vienna Hotel, you get a room, give me the address, I'll be there after I take care of things."

Peter froze, seemingly not expecting her to answer so readily.

"Okay, I'll wait for you, better not play any tricks for me." After saying that, the man directly got into the car and left.

Start the sedan, the man turned the front of the sedan, a meaningful glance at her.

After he left, Adriana went straight to the police station.

At the police station, she saw Brenda.

"Uhhhhhhh ..... Ms. Hale, you're finally here. Oooh ..... I'm really scared ....."

Brenda looks wretched, crying with rain, I can see the pity.

Those red and swollen eyes were enough to show just how long she had been crying.

"What is going on? How did you get bullied by those people? Where is everyone?" Adriana handed over a tissue and asked with concern.

The apartment you live in is a one-bedroom apartment with a large balcony.

So Adriana directly arranged for her to live on the balcony, which is all curtained and can be divided into separate spaces that do not let in light, and is barely settled.

When Brenda was settled, she rested for a while.

At this time, a cell phone text message alert sounded.

Peter sent it over.

Adriana was immediately shocked, looked at the time, an hour had passed, and immediately replied, "Okay, okay, I'll be right there."

The message was sent and Adriana left straight away.

When she got downstairs, Adriana called Vivian first, "Vivian, sorry to call you so late."

"Um, Ms. Hale, what's up?"

"You take the time to give me a careful investigation Brenda, must be very careful, I always feel that this person is somehow not simple."

"What's wrong?"

"Three words can not say clearly, you investigate clearly as soon as possible."

"Okay, I got it."

After hanging up the phone, Adriana drove, straight to the Vienna Hotel.

On the way, she kept thinking about it.

When Brenda was initially innocently slept with at Night KTV, she mistook the person who slept with her for Peter, so much so that her mother repeatedly sought trouble with Peter, resulting in her drowning death.

Brenda then looked around for a lawyer to sue Peter, but no one dared to take the case, so how did she finally find Jenkins so coincidentally?

Jenkins had just taken the case and was assaulted, just by coincidence, and Jenkins was misled by the assailant that the person who did it was Peter.

Just show up and she goes to pick a fight with Peter!

Later Brenda was kidnapped and the other party contacted her directly by phone to rescue Brenda, while Peter was also there.

Afterwards, she found out the problem and found the KTV where Brenda was raped and discovered that the manager had deceived Brenda, misleading Brenda that it was Peter who slept with her and telling her to sue Peter.
