Chapter 161 Helen has difficulty attending school

Adriana walked up to her, looked at her own cute little girl, liked it so much that she leaned down and gave her a kiss on the cheek, "Good morning, my dear little baby."

"Hee hee hee, good morning mommy oh."

Helen gave her a good morning kiss on the cheek, too.

"Well, hurry up and eat, you have to find school later."

It was time for the children to go to school, and Helen returned from abroad and had to hurry to find a school in order to do so.

"Okay, Mommy."

The two had a pleasant meal together and then set off to find a school.

The schools for children are not that easy to find, and the ones closer to her neighborhood have no more places, so Helen can't even enroll.

Farther away, she is also worried about the inconvenience of going to and from school.

Finally, I found a bilingual kindergarten with a lot of connections.

On the third day, Helen went to school and Adriana squared off to the office.

In the company, everything Rene is unharmed, which makes Adriana feel more relaxed.

But things didn't go as smoothly as expected

At noon, Theresa called her and the two of them arranged to have lunch together.

Western Restaurant.

Adriana packed up everything after work and arrived at the western restaurant when Theresa was waiting for her.

"Sorry, I was busy beforehand, so I kept you waiting."

She sat across from Theresa, keeping it polite and distant.

It seems that after a series of events, the relationship between the two has long since returned to the beginning.

It is also because there is no longer that intimacy that it is important to remain polite.

"What's the point of being so foreign to me, have a seat and see what you want to eat?"

Theresa is full of smiles, that affectionate look as if the two are back to the beginning, the relationship is too good to be true.

"Come on, talk properly, don't cry, crying won't solve the problem."

She reassured Theresa, "Peter already has a child, there's no way he'd resent the fact that you can't have children."

"No!"

Theresa immediately retorted, "Really, I heard it from Hank myself that day. He said that the Alston Group needed an heir and now needed to stabilize Peter's position in The Alston family, so it was necessary to have a biological son to do so, otherwise, he wouldn't be able to get a foothold in The Alston family at all. Otherwise, Peter wouldn't have been trying to break up with me recently."

She told Adriana everything.

But Adriana is no longer the same Adriana.

Every word that comes out of Theresa's mouth, she carefully weighs the degree of truth and falsehood of the words and does not believe them easily.

"Have you ever thought about Luis' identity? In fact, if there is no mistake, Luis is Peter's real son. Theresa, don't think so much, stay well with Peter, as I said, I won't interfere with your life, and you don't need to guard against me at all times."

Called her out, grumbled half a day, is not to tell her this problem.

Adriana has the self-awareness to know exactly what Theresa means, of course.

"Well, the company still has some things to do, I first"

She had just stood up when Theresa took her hand, walked over to her and flung herself down on her knees in front of her.

This sudden move directly stunned Adriana.

She was stunned in place, looking down at Theresa in amazement, and the next moment, immediately held her wrist, "Theresa, what are you doing, you hurry up, get up quickly."

Adriana is quite helpless.

Still here is in the box, otherwise, she has no way to face the current situation.

Those who don't know still think she did something hurtful.

Looking at Theresa's innocent crying, Adriana was helpless, but no matter how to pull Theresa, she was dead on her knees and would not get up.

"What the hell do you want?"

She couldn't wait for Adriana's answer, so she walked up to her and took her hand, "Adri, say something, will you say something?"

Faced with such Theresa, Adriana raised her eyes, a pair of dense tears in the eyes tinged with a little cold.

Finally, she jerked up, shook off Theresa's hand, and left straight away.

But just as she reached the door of the private room, Theresa called out to her, "Adriana, I called you here today just to inform you, not to discuss with you."

Just a notice? Not a discussion?

These words fell on Adriana's ears, like a bang on the head, making her brain a little dizzy and confused.

Turning back, looking at Theresa, she couldn't stop snorting a laugh, "Notice? I'd like to know what you'll do if I don't say yes?"

Theresa's face changed, there is no more the sad and desperate air, instead of the cold and bitter cold air, "I will use my own way to solve."

"Heh."

Adriana shook her head and smiled, turned around, pulled open the door and left directly.

Work it out in her own way?

Adriana felt as if she had heard the funniest joke of all time!

In the afternoon, she sat in her office, her mind recalling what Theresa had said this afternoon for a long time.

Shocked beyond description.

Meanwhile, the president's office.

Hank walked into the office with a copy of the information, "boss, the information you asked for has been found, Adriana had a child when she was abroad."

He handed the information to in Peter.

Peter put down the file in his hand, answered and said, "All right, you go out first."

"Yes."

After Hank turned and walked out, Peter picked up the piece of information, which detailed Adriana's situation over the years and her entrepreneurial experience.

But the most important is Adriana and her daughter, Helen.

The account book shows that Adriana's daughter Helen was born on the same day as Luis.

And when Adriana was pregnant with twins, one girl was born suffocated and died, and now it seems likely that that girl did not die.

Peter enlightened him with great patience.

"No, listen to you, go to KFC. You're the younger brother."

Helen is not willing to suffer, so she is more than willing to accompany him to KFC.

Once again, the two disagreed, and Peter couldn't resist speaking up, "From now on, whichever one is closest will be the one to go."

"Yeah, yeah."

"Okay, listen to Uncle Handsome."

.....

The two children were excited.

Peter is always watching the two cute little babies, but not much time together, Peter found that Helen is a little more calm than Luis.

This girl may be with Adriana suffered a lot of aggression, in all aspects more understanding than Luis.

It is this kind of understanding that makes Peter feel guilty inside, and feel deeply sorry for Adriana and Helen.

We went to a McDonald's nearby and ordered some food for the two kids, and Peter was a baby daddy the whole time, taking care of the two little kids.

Meanwhile, Adriana is working at the company.

Suddenly, I received a phone call from the kindergarten director.

She wondered in her mind, could it be that Helen was having trouble at school?

With this in mind, she immediately walked out of the office and answered the phone in the hallway, "Hello, Director."

"Hello, is this Helen's parent?"

"Yes, I am."

"It's like this, Helen's little student was picked up by a man this afternoon."

"What? Who picked it up?"

Adriana's heart was in shock, and instantly her heart was hanging high, almost not scared out of her mind.

"Peter, Mr. Alston. he said he was the father of the child and had picked it up."

"Yay, mommy is so nice."

Helen laughed heartily and pulled Luis, the two ran into the amusement park and played away in it.

With a cold face, Adriana walked up to Peter, looked down at her, and said angrily, "Peter, what do you mean?"

Peter leisurely stood up from his chair and leaned lazily against the guardrail, "What do I mean? I'd like to ask you, in Los Angeles, you lied to me, why?"

"Los Angeles?"

Adriana remembers with hindsight the time when she lied to Peter to keep him from knowing she had a child, saying that the child was the daughter of Anne's relatives.

She touched her nose, instantly lost her breath and spoke in a lower voice, "My own daughter, if I want to talk about it, I don't want to talk about it. What reason do you need, it's ridiculous."

"Adriana, you're such a liar!"

Peter couldn't do anything with her.

Looking down at the youngest daughter in front of her, measuring her features, the exquisite good-looking cheeks, features with Helen and Luis have a few similarities, although it is simple beauty, but also exudes a deadly allure. The power of confusion.

So that he could not move his eyes away.

He stared at Adriana with a hot gaze that made her uncomfortable, and immediately frowned and asked, "What are you looking at me like that for?" Peter, I'm warning you, stay away from Helen in the future, that's my child."

"Your child? Your child with Brenden?" He asked knowingly.

Adriana choked and fell silent.

"Gee, tell me, does Brenden know you have this baby?"

"Of course I know."

Angered by his words, Adriana returned without a second thought.

But also because of this sentence suddenly reminded Peter.

If Brenden knew that Adriana had a child, then must have known that the child was his Peter's child.

On the way, Adriana was thinking about how to get out, but Helen and Luis were having too much fun, and she tried to talk several times but the little girl gagged her, so she couldn't talk.

In the end, an evening was spent in this awkward and formal atmosphere.

As she was leaving, she got into her car and Theresa came over again and stood by it, keeping a sweet smile on her face.

Not far away, Peter glanced at, with his perspective also thought Theresa and Adriana two have lifted the conflict, the two girlfriends and reconciled as before.

In truth, over here, Theresa threatened, "Adriana, I'm warning you, stay away from Peter in the future, I hope, you don't ruin the last half of my life and have to ruin the rest of my life."

"Theresa, what do you mean by that, I don't understand."

Adriana leaned back in her car seat, hands on the steering wheel, fingertips tapping the wheel.

"Don't get it, do you? Then I'll tell you clearly, don't think that just because your daughter is having fun with Luis, it can be used as a bargaining chip to get closer to Peter. In the future, stay away from him, or don't blame us for flipping out."

She dropped the words, waved her hand, and turned to leave.

The whole thing, saying creepy things but with a big smile and outrageous hypocrisy.

Once again, it refreshes Adriana's perception of her.

Adriana really doesn't know how Theresa did it.

On the drive home, Helen asked, "Mommy, does that aunt not like you?"

"Children, don't talk nonsense. The world of adults, you don't understand."

Although Adriana is harshly reproaching the little girl, her tone is also extremely gentle and full of doting towards her, as if the only softness is given to her.

"Hee hee, mommy, I can see it all. And ah, does that handsome uncle like you, yo?"

Helen saw right through the foul play between Peter and Adriana.

The words fell on Adriana's ears, and her eyes widened in shock and disbelief.

"Cough cough"

She choked and coughed a few times and looked at her daughter with a red face, "Helen, you are talking nonsense mommy will be angry oh."

"Luis's arrival is a long story."

Peter didn't know how to go about it with Theresa.

But Theresa spoke up, looking at him with red eyes, "It's a surrogate, isn't it? I want to know, who is that woman?"

She trailed off.

"This matter has been kept secret from anyone, even Luis' own mother doesn't know about his existence. So there is even less need for you to know about the man's existence."

Although Peter now knows the person, who it is.

But right now, he doesn't want to tell Theresa.

"Then why did you lie to me in the first place? So what if it's your child, I love you, why would I care so much?"

She placed her hands on the couch and clasped her hands tightly against it, not to mention how angry she was.

"So, what's the point of asking these questions again?"

Peter's cold face was covered with gloom, "Theresa, you should know that I hate it when people investigate me. You, don't be provoking my bottom line."

The man got up, walked to his desk and continued to bury his head in his office.

For her crying pearly, pitiful, but without a trace of heartache.

Theresa felt his coldness and disdain and looked up at the ceiling in despair, letting the tears slide down her cheeks and over her neck, finally soaking her lapel.

"I just care about you too much."

Women are like this, like a person can be humble to the dust, but more often than not in exchange for a man's lack of understanding.

Theresa did not think that Peter would understand her, but simply hoped that Peter would feel the love that she had for him.

But what Theresa doesn't know is that this love, for Peter, is really heavy and burdensome.

Until Adriana came along and made him change his mind.

Only then did I realize that once love appears, all vows and beliefs are instantly shattered.

"Adri again?"

The tears in Theresa's eyes finally couldn't stop spilling out of her eyes, sliding down her cheeks and dripping to the ground.

She sniffled, pursed her lips, and covered her cheek in pain.

"Peter, she's my best friend, best friend. You can like anyone, why do you have to like her? How do you let me live with myself, have you ever considered my feelings?"

There are times when it really breaks down.

Peter likes anyone, she can accept it, but that person is Adriana.

At first, the necklace was Adriana's, and she went to great lengths to get it from Adriana and succeeded in taking Peter.

So on the day she got engaged to Peter, she begged Adriana to come back to her country just so she could witness her happy moment.

But I didn't think that was the beginning of a nightmare.

If I had known that, why did I let Adriana come back.

Theresa regretted it.

"I'm sorry."

Peter was not good at apologizing, but now, he was full of guilt towards Theresa. "Don't worry, after the annulment, I will find you a better man and give you a good amount of compensation, so that you can be clothed and fed."

It was the only thing that could be done for her.

"No, I don't want any of that, I just want you, just you."

Theresa got up, went to Peter's side and took his hand tightly, "Peter, it's you I love, it's always been you."

Peter stiffened and did not move.

But she could not restrain her excitement. Emotions, hands around Peter's face, came over and kissed him, "Peter, I love you, I want you, give me, give me, OK? Oooh I beg you."

The closer Theresa got, the more annoyed and even a little disgusted Peter became.

For some reason, perhaps because of his relationship with Adriana, he now feels a surge of anger whenever he senses the slightest hint of need from Theresa.

With their family, except for Jenkins, there is no one good to get along with.

"Adri, my mom said you were a big help this time and told you to come over. How late, she will wait for you."

Jenkins blocked her back.

Adriana was a little helpless and wanted to refuse, but the other party had already said so, she really had no reason to refuse, "Okay, I know."

Hanging up the phone, she slumped in her chair, exhausted and exhausted.

I went to the office and then Helen, took her with me to buy a gift and went straight to The Hale family.

"Helen, you must remember to be polite when you see people later."

She admonished, fearing that Helen would get into trouble if she went to The Hale family

Half an hour later, arrived at The Hale family.

Went upstairs, knocked on the door, and stood here in a familiar and unfamiliar place.

It was The Hale family who later changed the house, and she lived here for a few years, but remembers it vividly.

The door opened with a creak, and it was Jenkins who opened it.

"Coming?"

Jenkins said, but her eyes saw Helen standing beside her and asked in confusion, "This little friend is? Your colleague's child?"

Adriana looked down at Helen, "Call Uncle."

Helen inclined her head to survey Jenkins and grinned as Anne's shouted, "Hello uncle."

Adriana introduced herself solemnly to Jenkins, "Helen is my daughter."

"Your daughter?" Jenkins was shocked.

He looked at Helen incredulously, his eyebrows wrinkling deeper and deeper, "This child looks more than four years old, how can it be your child? Adopted?"

His first thought was that the child was adopted by Adriana.

Calculating the time, Adriana has not left for a few years, how can the child is already so old.

"No, pro-life."

From now on, we are a family, your sister's affairs, you have to help her more ."

Nothing is adultery or theft.

Adriana understands this very well, and it is even more evident in Thelma.

She withdrew her hand with force, "Go ahead, how do you want me to help her?"

Adriana asked directly.

All in all, if it gets Hayley what she wants, she Thelma won't keep pestering her.

"However, I warn you in advance."

Adriana feels that some things must be said more clearly, "Brenden is not a simple person, hard-hearted, really not as simple as you see on the surface. If you can, you better not let Hayley with her."

"Adriana, if Brenden is a bad person, how could you be with him? Who are you kidding? You really treat me like a child."

Hayley didn't believe Adriana's words at all, not even, not a word, not a punctuation mark.

On the contrary, Jenkins, sitting across the table, felt that Adriana was somewhat compelled to do so.

Then he asked, "Adri, did something happen to you?"

The only person in the large room who cared about her was Jenkins.

It is also considered to be the meaningful warmth amidst the cold ice.

"Brother, I don't want to deceive you guys, it's just that there are some things I really can't tell you. brenden is from The Alston family and can have everything he has now, how can he be a simple-minded person? There is also the death of his ex-wife Gisselle, which he also contributed to."

Facing Jenkins, Adriana told Jenkins everything she could.

As for Brenden's threat to her, there is no way to talk about it now and it must be kept secret.

"Come on, you really talk a lot."

I'm not waiting for Jenkins to speak, Hayley to not happy, miso stood up, reached out and pointed at Adriana, "you do not think I do not know what you think. Put on a generous face in front of my mother and brother, and then scare me into not being with Brenden. What do you mean? Do you think I'm not as good looking as you, or not as capable as you are? Don't you just have your own law firm? But The Alston family is not short of money, he would care about you for that?"

Hayley is arrogant and has some shrewishness.

Falling into Adriana's eyes, it made her furious.

Several times want to seize the door out, but finally have to hold back.

The first time I looked at her, "Hayley, I've said everything I need to say, and whether you believe it or not, I've done my duty. If you want to pursue Brenden, you can. I will not only oblige you, I will help you."

Thelma's intention in calling her over today was clear: it was for Brenden.

So, you don't have to ask to know what it means.

"Hmph! That's more like it."

Hayley gave her a blank stare.

Helen, who was eating the cake, looked at several people with big watery eyes and suddenly said, "Mommy, didn't you tell me that you must have a humble attitude when you beg people? Why are you still so arrogant when your great aunt asks you to do something?"

She blinked her pretty eyes and feigned a look of ignorance.

But the words came out, but like a slap in the face of the curtain Hayley, so that her old face a red, half a long time did not say anything.

"Helen, adults talk, children should not interfere oh." Adriana was amused, but did not show it.

Hayley immediately conformed: "Yes. Why do you interfere when adults are talking, hurry up and eat your cake."

"Here's the thing. I discussed with your sister, you are not single and live alone now, Brenden also often go over to see you. Do you see if you can get Hayley to live with you, so that the chances are not much better?"

Thelma analyzed the situation in a serious manner.

Adriana swore to God that she had seen too many shameless, shameless people, but really hadn't seen anyone as extreme as Thelma.

If it wasn't for the kindness of raising her back then, she wouldn't have been patient enough to tell her so much.

"Mom, aren't you going a little too far? In any case, Brenden is still in a relationship with Adriana, so what do you want Hayley to be? Meddling in the third party?"
