Chapter 191 Adriana sends Helen abroad

Adriana felt that if there were some more things weighing on her shoulders, she would really break down and die.

Suddenly, she thought of something and immediately called Jenkins.

"Brother, where are you now?" She asked.

"It's at the hospital for your discharge."

"Brother, now can you do me a favor and buy a ticket to Los Angeles immediately and immediately, and take Helen with you, please?"

Vivian is nowhere to be found, and The Alston family is thinking of Helen.

The only person she can trust is Jenkins, and she herself has to stay behind to continue the search for Vivian's whereabouts.

Jenkins was silent for a while, and Adriana knew he must have questions to ask.

However, a few seconds later, he said, "Okay, I'll get right on it."

"That's fine, call me when you get to the airport and I'll have someone send Helen's passport over. Someone will pick you up when you get over to Los Angeles."

"Got it."

Out of 100 percent trust in Adriana, Jenkins knew more or less what was going on at Hayley's place.

Although overwhelmed by shock, Jenkins did not have the courage to ask questions.

The reason for this is naturally because he is the one who started it all.

How could Adriana have gone down that path of no return if he hadn't been stricken with cancer five years ago and needed money urgently for treatment?

And now that she is in such a situation, Jenkins, in addition to guilt, only wants to make up for this sister who is like his own sister.

Here, Adriana had just hung up a phone call when a person came knocking on the door.

She went to open the door and the person standing outside was Brenden.

Adriana, not surprised, turned and walked in, sat on the couch and couldn't help but smile, "Today, you're the third one to come to me. Let's be straightforward about what you want."

"Okay, I got it, something's going on right now."

On the phone, just told Jenkins that she had something going on, but didn't say anything else.

Hanging up the phone, Adriana returned to the living room, "Tell me, what is it that you came over here today? What's it going to take to get Vivian released?"

Vivian is a person who has followed her all the way, suffered a lot, and is a girl who is hardworking and motivated.

Now it is because of her, how can we turn a blind eye to this?

"It's easy to save Vivian."

Brenden leaned lazily on the sofa, hands on the sofa backrest, a pair of eyes flirtatious look at Adriana.

"Say."

Adriana doesn't have time to talk to her.

Ding--

At that moment, a text message came from Brenden's phone.

He tapped the screen with his phone and then looked meaningfully at Adriana, "So eager to get Helen out of Waverly, what, afraid I'll eat her? Or are you afraid that The Alston family will make a move on her?"

Brenden is well-informed.

To be precise, keeping an eye on Adriana at all times.

Like a fish on a chopping board, at the mercy of others.

is how Adriana feels right now.

"Planning to supervise me for the rest of my life? I'm curious, if you covet The Alston family property, how come you didn't take on Peter openly and honestly, instead of using side channels?"

Wouldn't you feel mean.

"Bright and square? A contest?"

Brenden's face changed and his pupils glared, "I'd like to, but have the people of The Alston family ever given me a chance? If I had that chance, I wouldn't be so unscrupulous."

He let out a sigh, with all the emotion of helplessness.

She blinked her big eyes, puzzled.

"Your godmother misses you, our Helen is so cute, your godmother can miss you."

Only in front of Helen, Adriana will drop that layer of pretense and become extraordinarily gentle and lovely.

After saying that, she gazed at Jenkins, "Brother, please."

Jenkins nodded and picked Helen up from Adriana's arms, freeing one hand to pat her shoulder,
"Remember to call me if you need anything, anything I can do, I'll be there."

For many years, Jenkins felt guilty about her and couldn't let go, knowing he was sorry for Adri.

So, in the future, whatever difficulties Adriana encounters, he will be the first to help her as long as he can.

"What are you talking about, where is the matter."

Adriana controlled her emotions well and did not allow herself to reveal her vulnerable side in front of Helen. After looking around and finding nothing unusual, she said, "Isn't your plane about to take off, hurry up and go."

The Alston family is so famous and powerful that it would be like hitting a rock with an egg compared to her.

The best way is to escape as the best policy.

"Okay, then we'll go first."

"Bye mommy."

"Good boy, bye, remember to call mommy when you get there."

The three said goodbye, Adriana's eyes tearful watching her dear girl left, until watched them enter the ticket gate, the hanging heart only fell.

It seems Brenden really did it, stopping The Alston family on the old man's side, and at least getting the little girl out of Waverly safely, just fine.

"Stop her!"

Suddenly, a voice rang out in the hall.

Adriana's eyebrows suddenly twisted, a bad feeling was born, look back, as expected, Peter walked over, surrounded by a group of bodyguards in suits.

At his command trotted to the security checkpoint, disregarding the obstruction, directly dragged Jenkins back with Helen.

The speed was so fast that she smacked her lips.

As an afterthought, she looked back at Peter, who was walking towards her, "What are you doing?"

"Adri, I"

After that, they sent Adriana and Helen back and had eight bodyguards guarding the entrance of the apartment to keep Adriana safe.

"From now on, no one is allowed to enter Adriana's house. Except for the people Adri wants to meet."

Peter stood in the doorway and instructed.

"Yes."

"Listen carefully, no one from The Alston family will be let in except me!"

He was afraid that the bodyguards would ignore it and warned again.

After that, it left.

At noon, someone brought in a special lunch, which Peter had ordered to be carefully prepared.

"Wow, Mommy, the food is so scrumptious."

Helen was overjoyed.

"Are you hungry? Good boy, come on, let's eat."

Adriana said hello to Jenkins again and the three sat down to eat together.

After the meal, Adriana played with Helen for a while and then tucked her in for a nap.

Not long after, stepping out, Jenkins stared at her with a serious face, "What the hell is going on?"

He is now curious to know.

Adriana pondered that there were still Peter's people at the door, and fearing that she might hear something from her mouth that she shouldn't hear, she turned on the TV, found a random TV channel, and turned up the sound.

The two sat on the couch, Adriana pursed her lips and sighed, "Brother, ask whatever you want to ask."

"Is Helen really Peter's child?"

The journalists, who were suddenly enlightened, were impressed by Peter's deep emotions.

"Adri did not say yes to my advances only because of the business alliance between Theresa and I. And she and Theresa are BFFs, so maybe such love is not acceptable to her. But, I won't give up."

When he finished, the reporters were still asking questions, but Peter raised his hand, "This concludes today's press conference, thank you all."

Having said all he wanted to say, Peter turned to leave.

In this regard, it is also considered to give Adriana an explanation, plugging the yo-yo and minimizing the damage to her.

Meanwhile, the apartment.

Bang Bang Bang -

There was a hard knock on the living room door and Theresa's voice came from the door.

Adriana rubbed her brow with a double headache, not knowing how to react.

"Do you want you to go into your room and take shelter?" Jenkins asked.

"No, what's coming will come sooner or later."

Adriana got up, walked to the living room door and pulled it open.

However, the door had just opened when a hot mouth landed on her cheek.

With a strong jerk from Theresa, Adriana's head hit the corner of the door and was instantly bruised.

"Adriana, you are shameless, didn't you say you would stay away from Peter? Is that what you promised me?"

Theresa, shaped like a shrew, jumped in anger, pointed at her face and cursed.

Adriana did not say a word, just raised a hand to rub the bumped dizzy head, dizzy and uncomfortable.

"Thanks to me treating you like a good sister, this is how you treat me?"

She was in tears, "You should know that I really love Peter, but what about you, I asked you to come back for our wedding and you broke us up in life."

"Are you done?"

Adriana looked slightly cold, "If you have time to talk nonsense with me, why don't you go and fawn over your Peter, maybe there is still some room for redemption. You can't even watch your own fiancé, what qualifications do you have to accuse me here?"

With a bang, the door was closed.

Chapter 196 Helen Recognizes Her Father

"Really?"

Helen's big, crystal-stone-like eyes were wide with longing.

"Sure."

"Yeah, great, great."

She waved her hands, overjoyed, and looked back at Adriana, smiling from ear to ear, "Mommy, Helen finally has a daddy, yeah, that's great."

"Helen, who"

Adriana wanted to tell Helen that she was mistaken and that the person in front of her was not her father.

But the way she was dancing with joy was something Adriana had not seen before.

Despite the fact that Helen has been well clothed and happy all these years, but because of her high IQ and excessive maturity, she always looks old and mature in her vegetation and rarely smiles so much.

At this moment, she really felt that Helen was a child, a child of more than four years old.

Not a half-grown child with a superb IQ.

Moreover, she has the right to know and deserves to know who her father is.

"Daddy, Helen misses her brother."

Helen pulled Peter's arm and shook it, "Take Helen to play with her brother, okay?"

"Huh."

Peter laughed, laughing brightly, like a mountain stream gurgling water, sounding clear and nice.

"Helen baby, Luis's name is Luis and he came out thirty minutes before you, so, he's the older brother."

He patiently explained.

It was Helen who darkened her face, "What? He's a brother? Hm, that's not fair."

Looking back at Adriana, "Mummy, why don't you put me out first?"

"Call me Peter."

The man stopped walking, "Adri, for the sake of the child, give me a chance, and give yourself a chance, okay?"

Adriana looked gloomy and did not speak.

"I'm sorry, I was in a hurry."

The man reflected.

Then taking her hand, "Come, I'll show you around the courtyard."

Adriana knew deep down that there was a mission in mind, and as she followed Peter through the verdant grass of the estate, she looked at the man's back.

Just see him raise his hand, a moment pointing this way, a moment pointing that way, mouth constantly to her introduction, seems to be not tired of.

She actually inexplicably gave birth to an idea that shocked herself beyond measure

A bit of greedy and longing goodness for a limited time?

But, Adriana is afraid that she will fall.

"Well"

As I was thinking this, I suddenly ran into a wall of people.

"What's on your mind?"

The man gently flicked her head, a dotting face.

Adriana blushed and shook her head, "No, it's nothing."

But at this moment, the intense love lingered, her cold heart seemed to be gradually melted, revived, sprouted, and then, reckless and wild growth.

She seemed to say, "Peter, if Theresa doesn't like you, if you're not engaged to Theresa, I'd really like to believe in the Cinderella and Prince Charming story for once.

In any case, this family, Peter is the master, how can she arrogate.

Peter laughed and held her shoulders down so she could sit down while he sat beside her.

The first time a family of four ate together alone, the slightly awkward atmosphere was enlivened by the presence of two children.

After dinner, after playing with the two kids for a while, Adriana got depressed and asked, "Where will Helen and I sleep?"

"Mommy, of course you're sleeping with Daddy."

"That's it."

Luis and Helen both echoed the words, making Adriana's face instantly burst into red, like a ripe peach.

"I"

Adriana just wanted to say something, but heard two little babies with a heart to heart

"I want to sleep with my brother."

"I want to sleep with my sister."

The two children looked at each other as the words fell and laughed joyfully.

"Then I'll take you to wash up." Adriana said.

"No, I'll just let Sofie give us a bath."

With that, Luis pulled Helen and the two ran to Sofie, begging her to come upstairs with them.

Adriana was a little uneasy and wanted to follow.

But Peter pulled back, "Luis was raised by Nadia, the feelings are very deep, Helen's clothes have been sent over this afternoon, you do not worry too much. Besides, it's not easy for the two kids to be together, so let them get along more."

"Mommy?"

The two children were so happy to see Adriana coming down that they immediately pounced on her, pulling her along and chattering.

Sooo used to quiet days, being two children so chattering and noisy, although very uncomfortable, but really happy.

For breakfast, several people sat down to eat together.

"Luis, Helen, eat well, later Daddy will take you to the fun"

Naive, before his words could be spoken, the housekeeper walked in, "Young master, young lady, madam is back."

"Why is she back?"

Peter's face sank, immediately put down his chopsticks, got up and walked towards the outside.

Adriana also got up and followed.

Walking to the entrance of the hall, the party found a bright Maserati parked in the courtyard.

The bodyguard immediately stepped forward and pulled open the door of the sedan, holding the door frame with his white gloved hand, and said respectfully, "Be careful, madam."

Adriana stared at the car, only to see a woman dressed in a white celadon short-sleeved cheongsam come out of it.

She is roughly over fifty years old, her skin is extremely well maintained, painted with light makeup, her long hair is meticulously coiled behind her head, with sky blue tassel earrings, her charm is still there, graceful and elegant.

I can almost imagine that Peter's mother must have been a well-groomed and attractive woman when she was young.

"Brother?"

Inside the car came out another girl wearing super short pants with a short shirt that showed her belly button, painted with smoky makeup, dirty braids and sneakers.

She trotted up to Peter and wrapped her arms around him, "Brother, I miss you so much, oh, do you miss me?"

Peter's face was clear and cold as he pushed her away, "Girls, what kind of talk is it to be adventurous all day long."

Otherwise, she will be made to collect Vivian's body.

Having seen his viciousness and bloodlust firsthand, Adriana doesn't dare to take it lightly.

"Adri."

Peter went to Adriana's side and took her hand, "You once said that two people will not be happy in a marriage if they do not have the blessing of people. So, can you stay, I believe they will slowly like you and accept you. Is it okay? Of course, if you don't want to, we can also move to another place."

Adriana was grateful to Peter for thinking of her and was touched in her heart.

But

Peter, even if I stay, it is certainly not to please them.

Nodded, "Yes, I'm willing to try."

Her simple words, but deeply moved Peter, a hand into her arms, "How can you be so kind, kind to the heart."

Snuggling into her shoulder, Adriana's eyes narrowed slightly and her cheeks took on a cheek-to-cheek smile.

A family that she couldn't fit into, and she didn't have the heart to do so.

In any case, Peter is high in the emperor, identity status and her heaven and earth, everything speaks of door to door, otherwise, one day will be for various reasons and go their separate ways.

Knowing the outcome, Adriana would not jump into the fire.

The family of four walked hand in hand into the living room.
