Chapter 21 Theresa's Scheme

Adriana worried that Kenny was not good at pretending, so she handed Alvin a beautifully wrapped present and headed inside with Kenny in a hurry. "Alvin, excuse us."

Without waiting for Alvin's response, they rushed indirectly.

As they walked up to the second floor, Kenny was stunned by the sight of the magnificent cruise ship. There was a large ballroom lingering with elegant music on the first floor. Gorgeous men and women in their delicate suits and gowns were dancing to the music on the dance floor.

On the second floor was the dining hall. On the long tables on both sides of the hall, there were various delicious desserts, champagne, and wine, bedecking with beautiful pink roses.

Well-dressed people from the upper classes gathered in drabs and drabs in the hall.

Having never been to a place like this, Kenny went weak in the knees. "Ms. Hale, I... I... I have a stomachache. I need to go to the restroom."

"Okay."

Adriana waved her hand and didn't mind.

She went into the hall by herself, took a sip of a cup of fresh orange juice, and found a place to sit down.

Just as she sat down, her cellphone buzzed.

It was a text message from Kenny. "Ms. Hale, something from home just came up. I have to go. My phone is out of battery, so don't call me."

"Kenny!"

Adriana snapped and dropped the goblet on the table heavily.

What a coward!

She sighed with frustration. All of a sudden, the light in front of her darkened, a shadow casting on the table.

Adriana put her hand down from her forehead, looked up, and saw a slender man standing against the light in front of her.

Chapter 22 A Woman Who Would Not Give Up

Adriana was soaked through. She wiped the water away from her face with the bath towel, shaking her head, and said, "I'm okay. I know you didn't mean it. It was just too crowded. Achoo"

It was so cold at night on the sea that Adriana kept sneezing. She tightened the bath towel. "Let's go back and get changed."

Then the two of them got off the deck. Theresa led Adriana to a suite on the fifth floor. "Go take a hot bath. I will get some clothes for you."

Theresa left the suite after settling Adriana.

Ten minutes later, a waiter came to Alvin. "Mr. Grant, Ms. Hale just fell into the water, and she sent me to tell you to bring her some clothes. Here is her room card. "

Alvin was drinking with people when he heard Adriana fall into the water. He was worried but wondered, "Isn't she here with her husband?"

"Well...I don't know, sir." The waiter shook his head and left.

Alvin didn't understand why she would ask him for help because he saw that she come with Kenny, her husband.

He felt confused.

"Alvin, what is the matter?"

A lady beside him nudged Alvin and asked.

"Excuse me, but I've got something to take care of now." Alvin put his glass down on the table, turned, and walked upstairs.

People who were left behind looked at each other and wondered, "Who is Ms. Hale?"

"I don't know. Is she Alvin's girlfriend?"

"Her name is Adriana Hale. I met her a few days ago. She's quite beautiful, but she's married."

"My goodness, Alvin fell for a married woman. Unbelievable. "

Chapter 23 Test the Bottom Line

She felt a bit terrified when she saw Peter here.

"Bullshit."

He squinted slightly and held up the room card. "Were you afraid that he would wonder, or are you trying to seduce him?"

Damn it ! This woman kept testing his bottom line.

"I'm not!"

Adriana immediately retorted.

"Are you sure?" He gave a grim smile as his eyes flickered to her bath towel. "Then why are you dressed like this?"

Peter pinched her chin and said in a cold voice. "Don't try to fool me and don't think you can do whatever you want just because Alvin likes you. You are just a cheap woman who would sell herself for money. What makes you think you can be with Alvin?"

"Peter, you bastard!"

Adriana pushed Peter away angrily. "You don't know anything. How can you talk like that..."

Without finished saying, Adriana felt weird. She looked down and found that her bath towel suddenly loosened and dropped to the floor.

At that moment, the atmosphere became strange and awkward between them.

"Ah!"

Adriana screamed and felt the sting of blush on her cheeks instantly.

Then she bent over and wanted to pick up the bath towel from the ground.

But Peter stepped forward and on the bath towel under his bright patent leather shoes, and said coldly, "Don't you like to seduce men? Why are you acting like you are shy?"

Peter was irritated by the thought of Adriana deliberately inviting Alvin to her room and putting on such a show to seduce him.

Chapter 24 Philter

She must have taken philter. Maybe somebody dropped it in her drinks.

Who knows? Maybe she took it herself.

At the thought of that Peter's face grew more and more gloomy.

With a cold sneer, he made a move to leave.

Bang-

Adriana slammed the door of the bathroom open. Being wrapped in a bath towel, she stumbled and fell to the ground. Then she got up, leaned against the wall, looked at Peter, and begged for help. "Peter, could you please call a doctor for me? I feel so hot... please, call a doctor for me. "

Adriana went down in agony on the ground, getting unconscious.

She was not stupid. She had figured out what was going on with her.

The heat in her body made her crave a man.

She must have taken something, but she didn't know where and when.

Peter stood there indifferently, adjusted his suit, and then slipped his hands into his pockets. He glanced down at Adriana, who was miserably sitting on the ground. "You took something and now you are suffering from it. It has taken effect, even the best doctors can't do anything about it. "

He raised his eyebrows, and said, "You deserve it."

Then he turned to leave.

Adriana understood what he meant.

But if he left, she could be in danger.

"Peter, if you don't help me, I will call Alvin. I believe... I believe he would help me. If anything happened, he would take the responsibility."

She threatened Peter.

Adriana was getting unconscious, but she knew Peter hated her, so he was the least likely to take any advantage of her.

That's why she asked him for help. Otherwise, she couldn't imagine what would happen later.

Peter stopped and turned. "Are you threatening me?"

"Cold... so cold..."

Adriana curled up, but her whole body was so stiff and numb that she moved slowly.

At the sight of her like this, Peter couldn't help but put his arms around her and wrapped her tightly in a blanket. "You can't die now!"

No matter what, Adriana was the mother of his son, Luis. If she died, it would be a cruel thing for Luis.

Adriana's mind had gone completely blank, and she leaned into Peter in a subconscious attempt and mumbled, "Cold... I feel horrible..."

Leaning back against the headboard, Peter looked at the woman in his arms. His eyebrows twisted until he saw blood gradually coming back on her face.

As her body got warmer, Adriana felt that the flame in her body was burning more and more fiercely, which had her completely lost her sanity.

She looked at Peter with her hazy eyes and slightly rubbed her head against his chest. "I feel so hot ... kiss me... Kiss me..."

While speaking, she raised her lips to his.

Her hands ran on his body. When her fingertips teased his chest, a tremor ran through his body.

"Adriana, do you know what you are doing?" His face looked dark, and his body tightened.

"Um... it's too hot..."

Two hours later.

Adriana opened her eyes and glanced around the room, not recognizing where she was.

It took a while for her to recall that she came here to attend Alvin's birthday party on a cruise ship.

She turned over on her side, feeling all sore and painful, which made her suck in a deep breath.

However, when she saw a man sleeping beside her, she instantly stiffened and did not dare to move.

"Mark your words and don't break your promise again," he said coldly, shutting the door after he entered the bathroom.

Adriana got up and put on some brand-new clothes that were placed on the desk.

She brushed her hair with her fingers and straightened her clothes to make sure she didn't look like a mess. Then she walked up to the door, took a deep breath and opened the door, "Tessa, you're here?"

"Adri, what took you so long to open the door?" Theresa stuck out her head and peeped into the room by the door, "are you all alone?"

"Yeah, I'm alone."

Adriana smiled and asked, "Where were you? I haven't seen you for a long time."

Back when she fell into the water, Theresa was the one who brought her to this room. But after she went out of the bathroom, she hadn't seen her since.

It was natural for her to have some doubts.

"I...I bumped into someone I know." It had been hours since the incident happened and it was already 11 o'clock.

Theresa thought what should happen must have happened already.

"By the way, did you see Alvin?" Theresa asks tentatively.

Adriana's eyes darkened and then she shook her head, "No...I didn't see him. When can we leave?"

"I'm not sure yet. You should ask Alvin. The ship has left the open sea, so if you're in a hurry you can get back early by boat."

Theresa frowned confusedly, "You really didn't see Alvin?"

That was odd. If Adriana never saw Alvin, who gave her the antidote?

Adriana shook her head again.

"Why are we still standing by the door? Let's talk inside," Theresa pushed Adriana into the room, "you're all alone by yourself all this time?"

Adriana suddenly stopped and turned around to look and Alvin, sighing, “Alvin, I’m a married woman and that man is my husband. You’d better not come to me again so we can avoid unnecessary trouble.”

She kept her voice down and only the two of them could hear what she said.

Alvin’s smiled stiffly. He tried to say something but didn’t know what to say.

Adriana turned around and left. She went back to her room and lost sleep all night until the next morning when she finally fell asleep.

In the afternoon, the cruise ship returned to port and Adriana left directly without saying anything to Alvin.

She had a break for half a day and went back to Hale Cobb Group the next day.

She spent her whole morning on office business. Then her assistant, Vivian walked in and said, “Ms. Hale, the president of Alston Group is here.”

Peter?

What would he come here now?

“Send him in.”

Peter walked into the office and looked at Adriana wryly. He took a look around the office and sat on the couch without saying anything.

Adriana got a little bit nervous as she saw Peter.

Maybe it was because Peter knew about her secret or maybe it was because of what happened between Peter and her, Adriana couldn't help getting anxious every time they met in private.

“What can I do for you?”

She walked up to her and asked.

The man crossed her legs and sat there like a king who owned the world.

He looked at her coldly and noticed that she was uptight and acting weird from the look on her face, “Are you afraid of me?”

Adriana looked away and avoided any eye contact. She walked to the floor-to-ceiling window and looked out with her arms around her chest, “Since I've made a promise, I'll definitely do it. But we've still got a lot of things to deal with in our company. Please give me a few days to handle everything and I won't stay here afterwards.”

Chapter 28 The Company Went Out Of Business

After this call, Adriana knew what Anne felt about this and she didn't say anything more.

Then she just FaceTimed with Helen but at that time Helen was sound asleep and she didn't want to wake her up.

After she hung up the phone, Adriana left the company and went to a bar to have a drink.

She felt sort of dizzy and didn't dare to keep on drinking. She was afraid that if she drank too much, her stomach would hurt.

She grabbed her purse and walked to the front door. Then she saw a crowd of people were gathering not far away.

“Geez, that man hurt really bad. I feel bad for him.”

“Yeah, who did this to him? This is so cruel.”

“I don’t know.”

Hearing their words, Adriana walked up out of curiosity. Through the crowds, she saw a man was lying on the street. His face was covered with blood and somehow looked familiar.

This was...?

“Jenkins?!”

She tilted her head and took a look at that man and suddenly found out that this was her foster mother’s son, her brother, Jenkins Hale!

“Brother, are you alright?”

Adriana went sober all of a sudden. She pushed those people who were blocking the way aside and dashed towards him, “Brother, wake up!”

She squatted down and held Jenkins up. She patted his face but he didn’t seem to wake up for a while.

She took out her phone and wanted to call 911, only to find out that her phone died. She hurriedly asked the people around for help, “Could you please dial 911? My phone died. Please, help us.”

“That’s your brother?”

“Don’t panic, we’ve already called 911 and they’re on the way.”

“Peter?”

Adriana was shocked. She didn’t expect that the plaintiff of Jenkins’ first case was Peter?!

She suddenly felt weak and fell onto the chair as if she had no strength left in his body.

How could it be Peter?

Jenkins told her that there once was a man who threatened him over the phone and the attacker this time might be the defendant.

That meant the guy who beaten her brother up was Peter?!

“Jerk!”

Adriana gathered up the files and left the firm for Alston Group.

After half an hour, the taxi pulled over in front of the building.

She dashed to the front desk and said, “Hi, please tell Peter...please tell Mr. Alston that Adriana Hale is here to talk to him.”

“Would you mind telling me if you have an appointment?” the receptionist asked politely.

Adriana’s eyes shimmered and lied, “Yes, I have.” Last night Peter went to her firm to give her the ultimatum. He would definitely agree to meet her now if she came for him.

The receptionist immediately dialed the president’s number and said, “Mr. Alston, there is a Ms. Hale asking to see you. She said that she has an appointment with you.”

“Oh, okay, I see.”

The receptionist hung up the phone and said to Adriana, “I’m sorry. Mr. Alston said that since you don’t keep your promise, you should deal with the situation yourself. He doesn’t want to meet you.”

“What’s that supposed to mean?” Adriana was anxious and had a bad feeling.

“I’m sorry. I can only deliver the message to you.” the receptionist shook her head and claimed that she didn’t know anything about this.

Adriana frowned and suddenly remembered what Peter said in Hale Cobb Law Firm last night.

Theresa didn't want to give up and followed right after him. She locked the door of the lounge and stepped on the wool blanket with her bare feet. She unzipped her dress a little to show her tempting and heaving breasts.

She stood in front of the mirror and looked at herself. Her makeup was fabulous and she looked seductive and hot.

She had made up her mind that she must have Peter today.

The restroom door opened.

Peter walked outside and saw Theresa.

"Why are you still here?" the man looked a bit gloomy. He glanced at her for a second and then looked away. He wasn't tempted by her beauty at all.

Frankly, he didn't care about what she looked like at all.

"Peter, don't go."

Seeing that he was leaving, Theresa immediately came forward and blocked the door, staring at him with tears welling up in her eyes, "Ever since we got engaged, you've never laid a finger on me. Is it because...I can't get pregnant?"

Not being able to have children was an unhealable scar for her and she could never forget that.

"Tessa, stop this nonsense. We're in the office. We can talk about it when I come home tonight."

"Home? Will you even give me the chance when you come home?"

Theresa shook her head and said, "No...Peter...I want it now..."

She held his waist and got into it. She tiptoed and kissed him, nibbling his lips.

But facing Theresa's affection, the man just frowned and stood there still like a statue, letting her do whatever she wanted.

As if he had no interest in her.

The passion from Theresa's kiss gradually cooled down and, in the end, she was just pressing her lips against his.

Tears rolled down her cheeks silently.

She sniffed and straightened up, pulling herself from him, "Peter, do you love me?"

She was choking and her voice was coarse, but she was still longing for his true answer.
