Wife is a Lawyer

Chapter 272 Adriana is missing

Then she said, "Although Peter has helped, but the clientele is limited, most of the old customers are still the main. Before that, the Hale Cobb Law Firm had two shocks and then overturned, there was the YY Law Firm. it was easy to stabilize for more than two months, and now this happened, you think it can still be turned around?"

To put it bluntly, it can be repeated again and again, but never again and again.

Even if the law firm continues to operate, that income is extremely meager.

All in all, the company was tossed twice before by Peter, overturned, reversed, in overturned.

Then another turnaround with her efforts!

It is to her credit and to Peter's credit that she has made it to where she is now, but customers don't look at how your process works, only the results.

The repeated occurrence of such major accidents can only mean that there is something seriously wrong with the company.

Just ask, who would use a company with such tired problems?

About what happened before Adriana, Harlee knew something.

So listen to her words, but also can understand a couple of.

"If you really can't, why don't you hang out with me? At least, I can support you." He walked to stand beside her, turned sideways, propped his right hand on the railing, and leaned against it in a lazy stance, his deep gaze on Adriana.

"Stop it, I'm not in the mood to joke with you right now."

"I'm not kidding with you."

"Then you let me calm down."

Adriana suddenly looked at him, good-looking shear water eyes full of indifference breath, that kind of indifference is emanating from the bones, people such as in the nine cold days, cold side bones.

I can't help but want to avoid that look, and then run away, away.

Harlee hesitated for a moment and nodded, "Okay, then you calm down and cool off."

He left the room and went downstairs to get breakfast for Adriana.

Half an hour later, Harlee appeared at the door of the room and found the door half-buried.
