Chapter 91 Good for him

"Get out!"

Peter scolded and closed the door with a bang.

Adriana was sick for three days.

Peter stayed by her bedside for three days and stayed with her.

In three days, Peter disappeared and Adriana disappeared.

But no one knows where they are or where they have gone.

There is no news.

On this day, Adriana finally recovered a bit, the morning sunlight cast through the floor-to-ceiling windows into the room, falling on her cheeks.

The dazzling light woke up Adriana.

When I opened my eyes and looked at the unfamiliar room, there was a moment of bewilderment.

Then found a person lying next to the bed, the familiar figure, only a glance to know that it was Peter.

He kept such a guard?

Adriana felt a little guilty and immediately put up a blanket for him.

Who knew that the blanket had just been placed on him and although the movement was light, Peter woke up.

"Awake?"

Peter, whose eyes are full of scarlet bloodshot, is extremely tired, and his slightly haggard face cannot hide his sleepiness.

"Thank you, this time if not for you, I really" Adriana thanked from the bottom of her heart.

"It was just an accident. Besides, I was at fault." Peter didn't care and asked, "How are you feeling? Better?"

"Well, that's better. What time is it?" She asked, nodding.

"The morning of the 23rd, at seven o'clock."

"What? 23? You are saying I was in a coma for three days?" Adriana was so shocked that she almost didn't drop her jaw in shock.

"The doctor said you were in shock, so you've been running a low fever and half asleep."

"That's right. So, you kept watch over me for three days?" That's, well, not quite what Peter would do.

Peter looked slightly unnatural and sat up straight, keeping his usual reserved and high-minded, "I'm afraid that if you die, I'll just take the blame."

"Don't worry, life is too big to die."

In fact, it's not that she thinks her work is important, but that she will fall into disrepute if she doesn't do things well and let Brenden do something extreme.

"The doctor told you to go down to the hospital for a full body checkup."

"Check what? I'm fine now, no need."

"It's better to get it checked out so that you don't rely on me for any subsequent problems."

Adriana: "....."

Eyes fierce glare at him, "Mr. Alston really feel good about himself, there is Brenden, why should I rely on you."

I hate Peter's condescending posture, always thinking he's right about everything.

The key moment to pull Brenden to do back, but also good.

"Brenden?"

Peter silently recited Brenden's name, only to glance at Adriana with deep eyes and be silent.

Shortly after serving the meal, the two dined in silence, no one spoke.

After the meal, back in the suite, Adriana went in and found that Peter had followed her in.

She immediately stepped in front of Peter, "What are you doing in here?"

Peter laughed at her words, "So where do you think I should go?"

Crossing the river and tearing down the bridge?

"This is my room, get yourself another room."

Peter pointed to the room card, "Look carefully, this room is open to me."

Adriana was stunned and remembered as an afterthought that she had been sent here by Peter after she passed out, so how could she get a room by herself?

"Then I've already stayed, so get yourself another room."

"You're not leaving later?"

"Even if you have to leave later, you can't have a man and a woman in the same room."

At her words, Peter laughed.

Leaning against the door frame, with his arms around his chest, he looked at her with interest, "Can't men and women be in the same room together? Are you talking about me, or you?"

Arriving at the neighborhood, she saw Vivian standing in front of the neighborhood waiting for her from afar.

After getting out of the car, he waved to Vivian, who took the money and paid the fare, and the two entered the neighborhood together.

"How are things going with the company?"

As the two walked, Adriana asked about the new company.

Vivian put her arm around Adriana and smiled, "Don't worry, everything is going well."

"Well, that's good. Remember to let me know if there are any problems in time."

The two just walked to the door of the elevator hall, they saw a person standing at the door.

That person turned out to be Alvin.

Adriana's pace was stunned, and Vivian beside her said with extreme awareness, "You guys talk, I'll go first."

After saying that, she went straight upstairs first.

"Adri, where have you been these days? Do you know that I have been looking for you very hard? I can't get through to you on the phone, I'm really worried."

Dressed in black casual clothes, Alvin strolled up to Adriana with a tired, unspeakably haggard face.

"That me"

Adriana didn't realize that Alvin had been looking for her and that her cell phone had broken after she fell into the water and she hadn't had time to fix it, so she couldn't get in touch with the outside world.

After three days in a coma, there was no news.

"I've been out of town on something lately and my phone is broken, so I can't get through." It's a good thing Vivian has the key to her apartment, otherwise she wouldn't even be able to enter her home now.

"It's good just to see that you're okay."

Alvin has a melancholy look on his face, his eyebrows are thick with worry, "In the future, you must keep your phone on at all times, otherwise you can't get in touch, it's really worrying. I almost had to call the police."

"Hmm. Thank you for worrying, I'm really fine."

Adriana shrugged and pretended that everything was fine.

Brenden's words almost made Adriana not explode.

The bastard clearly did it on purpose.

"Hayley, I'll treat you to a Western dinner sometime later. I have something important to say to Adri today, so I can't take you with me."

He raised his hand and brushed Hayley's slightly messy bangs from her forehead and pinned them behind her ear, "I'm sorry."

In the middle of speaking, he even patted her head, that look like petting a pug.

Hayley, however, was so turned on by Brenden that she couldn't help herself.

The cheeks are flushed with scarlet, nodding repeatedly, "Mmmmm, well. hayley wait for Uncle Oh."

"It's a deal."

Brenden finished and walked away as soon as he took Adriana's hand.

Despite walking a long way, Adriana still felt a sharp gaze on her behind.

"Brenden, has anyone said that you are really shameless? To achieve the goal by any means, even to sell beauty, you can be really shameful"

Her sentence came out of her mouth, but the next moment she was interrupted by Brenden, "What, jealous?"

Raising his hand to wrap his arm around her waist and bring her into his arms, his long narrow phoenix eyes showed a strong playful look, "Adri's angry look is quite cute."

Adriana: "....."

Why don't you go to hell!

"My God, look, guys, isn't that Mr. Alston?"

"Tsk Isn't Mr. Alston's wife still alive? I can't believe he's looking for a woman openly and honestly."

"Who says it isn't, Adriana looks like a fox and does some nasty things."

"But Mr. Alston really looks so handsome and manly."

.....

It was during the rush hour, and colleagues were walking past in twos and threes, while not forgetting to whisper.

Adriana was in an awkward situation, not to mention how bad she was feeling at the moment.

Brenden got up and followed Adriana out.

Seeing the two of him leave, Peter felt his appetite was gone and got up to leave, "You take your time eating, I suddenly remembered there was an urgent document that had not been processed."

"Peter?"

Theresa shouted, but Peter didn't turn around.

Angry, she gripped her chopsticks tightly, her face showing anger, "Adriana!"

A woman's sixth sense intuition is very strong, if Adriana may not have a relationship with Peter, but at this moment, a strong intuition makes it clear to her that Peter's feelings for Adriana are very unusual.

.....

"Mr. Alston, are you free to go now that it's okay?"

As the two men exited the restaurant, Adriana pulled away from him and said in a deep voice.

"Come on, I'll take you to meet someone. "

Brenden pulled Adriana straight downstairs without a word.

"Hey, where are you taking me? I'm not going!"

She was subconsciously very resistant, and wherever she was going, Adriana didn't want to go with Brenden.

The two are only in a transactional relationship and have not yet reached that level of intimacy.

"Don't move."

Brenden instantly collected his expression, his face serious and gloomy.

Brenden was like nothing she had ever seen before and seemed really angry.

"But I'm supposed to be at work in a little over an hour."

"With me around, what are you afraid of?"

"What's so loud? It's really noisy."

With one hand over her mouth and Adriana's hand in the other, Brenden ruthlessly and mercilessly removed the oxygen mask from Gisselle's mouth, cutting off her breathing.

Even though she kept struggling, reaching for Brenden's arm and sinking her nails hard into his skin, Brenden didn't struggle or resist.

It was as if the pain could not be felt.

But Adriana kept resisting and struggling, but her strength was no match for Brenden's, and Han couldn't move a bit.

On the hospital bed, Gisselle was without oxygen mask, she was not breathing enough, her chest was rising and falling more and more, her nostrils were emitting basic breathing, and even her immobile fingers were slowly moving.

Subsequently, the body began to twitch, struggle, and finally the struggle became weaker and weaker, until finally lying limp-like on the bed, completely out of breath.

"How was it? Was it exciting? Exciting?"

Brenden let go of Adriana.

Adriana immediately turned around and shouted, "Come on, someone, kill someone, quickly"

"Shout, shout. The oxygen mask has your fingerprints and mine on it, and the rumor is that you and I are about to get married, but now Gisselle is suddenly dead. Who do you think is the most suspicious?"

The man stood at the edge of the inner bed, looking down at Gisselle, and addressed Adriana.

"Brenden, you crazy, you are crazy!"

Adriana was weak, her hands propped up on the nightstand, her eyes closed, on the verge of collapse.

"Crazy? Yes, I'm a lunatic."

He sat on the edge of the bed, put the oxygen mask on Gisselle's mouth and murmured, "Have a good trip, and be a good human being in your next life."

The two stood and sat in silence for a while without any words.

Adriana was deep in fear, feeling that the recent events, one by one, one by one, were almost destroying her, ruthlessly wreaking havoc and destroying.

"Why would it be me? Why?"

Adriana crouched helplessly on the ground, her hands covering her face, in pain.

"Because, you're Theresa's BFF."

He asked coldly, "Don't tell me you're so eager to marry Brenden that you're trying to avoid suspicion, are you?"

Adriana gasped and laughed.

A sarcastic smile appeared on the pale, bloodless skin, "When did Mr. Alston get so smug? If you say so, then so be it."

She closed her eyes, "I'm tired and want to take a nap. You go out."

"Luis wants to see you."

"No see."

She refused dryly.

"After you fell into the water that day, Luis was very worried about you. Also he dragged you to the haunted house and scared you, Luis felt deeply guilty in his heart and always wanted to apologize to you back then. You have not been well recently and have been in a coma, so he was not allowed to see you."

Peter said with a slight frown of honesty.

"I don't blame him, it's really okay."

She still closed her eyes, not even interested in looking at him.

"Gisselle's memorial service is tomorrow, do you want to go to it?"

"Good."

At the mention of Gisselle, Adriana's eyes finally opened.

The eyes are vacant and listless as they stare at the ceiling, and the face is a few shades paler.

"Do you have any relatives or friends? Shall I call them to come and take care of you?" Peter was close to Adriana and knew her situation, so naturally he investigated her connections.

It's just a shame that she really doesn't seem to have any friends in the country, except for Theresa who is her BFF.

"I can do it alone."

Even in this current situation, she is still holding her body strong.

"Mrs. Atkins, you can't say that. adri is my BFF and I know exactly what kind of person she is."

Theresa held Adriana in her arms and was particularly protective.

But Adriana's gaze was dead on Brenden, and her eyes were filled with anger.

If the eyes can kill people, her sharp gaze will certainly be its death by a thousand cuts.

"You know it well? What are you clear about? My daughter had a car accident for no reason, it was her sister so-called, and I now suspect that she had planned to kill my daughter for a long time."

Mrs. Atkins is not willing to give up and is determined to get justice for Gisselle.

When confronted by Mrs. Atkins, Adriana could not say a word.

In addition to the fiery pain in her cheeks, there was a gush of pain in her heart that made her ache for life.

"Mom, this matter is still under investigation. You"

Feeling Adriana's stern gaze, Brenden only unhurriedly opened his mouth to explain.

However, before he could finish his sentence, he was interrupted by Mr. Atkins, "Shut up, you have nothing to do with this matter. He is your wife, if you can't even take care of your own wife, what do you need?"

The scene was so rowdy that a memorial service turned into a farcical scene.

Faced with the Atkins family's accusations, reporters swarmed forward, taking all sorts of photos and catching the latest news and information.

Adriana suddenly felt like a clown, no dignity, shame.

"What's going on?"

At that moment, Peter walked in, his face cold and questioning.

At the same time, his gaze fell on Adriana's cheek, looking at the clear finger marks on her cheek, his brow furrowed in some displeasure.

"Peter, it's good that you're here. I heard that Adriana is an employee of your company. I'd like to ask you, how did this little bitchy hoof get into your company? Someone told me that she was the last door and someone forced her into the company!"

In the nick of time, Peter stepped forward and pushed Adriana and Brenden away from the two, and withstood the heavy blow of the incense burner with the back of his head.

Bang-la-

The incense burner fell to the ground and shattered, splattering a floor of crumbs and incense ash.

"Peter?"

From the moment he jumped on Adriana, Theresa has felt Peter's difference to Adriana, although heartbroken, but more heartbroken Peter bleeding in the back of the brain.

"Are you okay Peter?"

Theresa walked over and covered the back of his head with her hand, tears instantly came out, "Are you stupid? Although Adri is my best friend, you don't have to protect her so much, right? Do you know I'm really heartbroken?"

The smart and wise Theresa was afraid of the media people messing up the description of Adriana and Peter's relationship, so she directly used the identity of 'bestie' to defuse the reason why Peter took the initiative to protect Adriana, giving a reasonable explanation.

Adriana looked straight at Peter with her eyes, and Peter looked at her in the same way.

The two men looked at each other, each with their own thoughts.

And Adriana is more incredible, unbelievable.

The crisis came and she thought she was going to be finished, but Peter swooped in and saved her.

That kind of speed was really beyond her expectation.

There doesn't seem to be any reason to explain why Peter saved her, only one thing

That is, he likes himself!

In any case, she is also a mature little woman, for emotional problems have seen a lot and seen a lot, how can not feel at all?

"Have you made enough noise!?"

Brenden pulled the dazed Adriana behind him, "Don't you want to know why Gisselle and I divorced? Well, since you guys are so unemotional, I'll let you see it clearly."

Saying that, Brenden took the tablet from his assistant, clicked on the video on the Ipad and handed it to Mr. Atkins, "Watch it carefully, what kind of good person do you think your doting daughter is? Ten years ago, the wedding room, she was with another man behind my back, at that time I could have ruined her, but I gave her a chance. The next day's news, The Alston family dominated all the news pages and became the hottest topic of the day.

Also on the Twitter Trend list was Adriana.

Adriana took leave again due to bad condition.

It was Brenden who arranged for her to join the company, so no one would object to her taking time off no matter what.

Knock Knock-

Lying down to rest at home, there was a knock on the door in the living room.

Adriana got up with her tired body and opened the door of the living room, she saw Alvin standing outside the door.

She let out a sigh, even though she knew what Alvin was up to before he even spoke.

Move out of the way, "Come in."

Alvin walks in and Adriana closes the door.

She walked over to the couch and sat down, looking at Alvin who was standing frozen in the living room, "If you have anything to say, just ask."

Alvin had his phone in his hand and opened the news page, on the page was a picture of Brenden hugging her, "You're with Uncle?"

His question was already expected by Adriana.

Not even in the mood to answer him.

Poured a cup of tea, "Sit down and have some tea."

"Adri, I'm asking you a question."

Alvin is obsessed with his problems.

Adriana's movement of pouring tea slightly stiffened, then picked up the tea and took a sip, saying: "Senior, I have told you many times, there is no possibility between us. You have Flora, I have my own life. Do not bother each other, be friends, is not good?"

She put down her cup and added, "If it's not good to be friends, we can be strangers."

Raising his eyes, he surveyed the room, "Here, I don't plan to stay, I'll leave in a few days when I find a house."

It's always bad to live too close to Alvin, it can be misunderstood.
