

Lazily 212

Chapter 212: Multiple Personality Disorder

"Well seems like that woman could maintain your contract with the government." Tang Xi made a peace sign with his hand. "Ciao." She playfully gave the man a wink, giving the impression that losing him and the Long Company does not matter to him.

"I agree." Long Yi suddenly said. He needed this deal, and he will have it no matter what happened.

"Good. Lai Su give him my bank details. I will wait here for the contract." Tang Xi uttered before she went back and sat on the couch next to the table with a grill.

She was only playing with her current advantage. In a chess game, Lyca is currently the Queen. She can move in every position. Be it the defense or offense, and every piece will bend to accommodate her presence.

Sadly for Long Yi, his chess skills were a bit lacking.

"I will give you thirty minutes to prepare the contract, and I'm out of here."

Long Yi stared at Lyca. Why does he felt that this had been Tang Xi's plan all along? Son Yani and Huang Xiaoxuan offending him so he could make crazy demands, forcing Long Yi to agree or lose the formula.

"Why are you still standing there?" Lyca lifted an eyebrow. "Tell the owner to bring me some meat on your way out." She looked at Xie Jun. "I presumed Mr. Long will stay here while the two of you would process everything?" Lyca didn't hide the victorious smile on her face.

It's funny how these people aimed to rule the world when they don't even realize that Lyca was playing them, letting them dance in her palms like damn toys? Well it's not like these people don't deserve it. Moreover, this is just like the prelude to everything.

Now that Lyca had access to the Long Company, it would be easier for her to join them. Slowly take everything away from their company. Lyca watched as Long Yi sat opposite her and Lai Su while Xie Jun and Zhang Zhi left to take care of the paper works.

If Lyca's guess were right, the trio should already have written a contract. So, they only needed to alter it, and everything would be good. Ah, Lyca can't wait to leave this place so she could see Shen Qui again. Speaking of Shen Qui Lyca opened her phone and sent a heart to Shen Qui's number. According to the TV series that she just watched, sending memes and hearts like this should be good enough to remind their partners that they are thinking about them.

Isn't that sweet?

In her previous life, Lyca didn't remember doing anything like this. Her way of showing love was helping that man kill people and the other way around. Then there was sex. Sleeping around like rabbits every time they fight.

No conversation. Just lust and desire.

Relationships like these are simply not bound to last.

This world called it 'Make-up Sex', and it was said that science can explain why you feel horny after a fight with your partner. However, this does not offer any resolution to the fight and misunderstanding. This would only prove that well you can have a powerful s*x just after an emotional argument.

Communication is still the key.

Of course, physical intimacy after a fight is still advisable. But right now, Lyca would prefer to just cuddle on the couch, watch some drama, talk about their relationship and misunderstanding, and of course, eat something like pizza and icecream. Of course, she could always eat him too.

Lyca blinked and blinked again before smiling like a silly person.

On the outside, she looked like a little kid giggling while looking at her phone. But to Long Yi, this was enough proof that Tang Xi was indeed a crazy person. Why was he smiling and giggling like that when he just threatened to kill someone a few minutes back?

The switch of the attitude does not make any sense at all!

However, to Long Yi, this would also mean that it would be easy to kill Tang Xi. After all, a crazy person like this has their own triggers that Long Yi could easily take advantage of to have his revenge.

"Eh? Mr. Long you are staring at me like you like me." Since Lyca was in a good mood, she was planning to make it better by making Long Yi faint from anger. "Don't tell me that you "

"Mr. Tang I suggest that we keep this relationship professional."

"The last person who told me that " Lyca gave a lecherous smile. "Is currently sleeping with me. Mr. Long let me just say this once and for all. You are not my type. So even if you are planning to "

"Enough!" Long Yi hissed as he slammed his fist on the table.

"My You are lucky. My food is not yet here. If you people waste another of my meat you will definitely die before you can leave this room." Lyca narrowed her eyes before beaming. "Lucky "

Tang Xi's sinister smile made Long Yi silent, he felt the hair behind his neck raise as if as if he was staring into a frightening predator. To him, an unreasonable person like Tang Xi was more intimidating than anyone else that he met before. Tang Xi had been showing some signs of his unpredictable behavior. Even Long Yi who prided himself on his good analytical skills found it hard to predict Tang Xi's reactions!

The suffocating atmosphere was interrupted when a new set of meat was brought by the owner himself. Tang Xi's face instantly changed. It was as if his whole demeanor became lighter, kinder. The change was too sudden Long Yi couldn't help but gasp at Tang Xi's behavior.

Why does it feel like he was once again looking at a different person? Was it possible that Tang Xi had multiple personality disorder?
