

Lazily 332

Chapter 332: Antidote!

Lyca's smile became more and more beautiful as she smiled at Lord Olfan. It had been a few minutes since he was arrested.

"Where are you taking me?" Olfan asked, his voice deep.

"Hell," she answered without batting an eyelid. Actually, the car was still in the mansion. There was also no driver sitting in the police car. "I know you contacted the Long Family. I want to know what they want you to do and I will give you a painless death."

A snort escaped the older man's lips. "You won't touch me."

"You think so?"

"Not when my people are about to attack your ranch."

Lyca only smiled. "Then let them attack."

"I never thought you would be this confident."

"I am always confident." Lyca smiled. Killing is basically the only thing she was good at. This self-awareness was enough to make her confident. "Now the Long Family?"

"I thought you wanted Cleo to kill me?" Olfan sneered. "I guess she doesn't have the heart to kill the man that she loved? What a cowardly woman."

Lyca pursed her lips. She was currently sitting next to him inside the small police vehicle. A small dagger was dancing in her fingers. "I didn't want her to kill you. I never asked her to." The thick ominous silence followed her words.

"So you just planned all this. You wanted to show that she actually found someone else just before I was arrested. Was it to distract me?"

"Of course." Lyca smiled. "I am a very petty person. You let her watch as you screw countless of women before. Why can't you watch her while she danced with another man?"

"This has nothing to do with you! This is in between me and Cleo!"

"True." Lyca nodded. "Cleo is my person. But you are actually saying the truth. This is your personal matter."

"" Lord Olfan frowned. This woman actually agreed with him? "Then why involve yourself? I am certain you are not in love with Cleo. I am also certain that you don't want my territory. Why involve yourself?"

"Because I am petty." Lyca said. Actually, she had long heard that this man is already cooperating with the Long Family. Even if this was a rumor, Lyca still felt that it is better to teach people lessons about this matter. The message was simple. If you get involved with the Long Family, you will suffer a loss.

By now, the street so Kong City should have already heard the rumor. After all, Lyca already sent people to spread it within the City. Soon, these words will reach the ears of every other family in the Region. Then they will realize that the families who have allied themselves with the Long Family suffered.

Her target was to cripple the support that the Long Family received from these families.

"I will stop answering any of your questions." Lord Olfan said.

"Good," Lyca said before she smiled and suddenly used his hand to attack him with something. Lord Olfan tried to move and dodged the attack but the police car was too small, his long legs couldn't really move freely. Moreover, he also had some handcuffs on both his hands and his feet!

"What are you " He didn't finish his sentence when he felt a small pinch like pain on his neck. His expression changed when he saw the now empty needles in her hand. "You "

"After two minutes, you will start to feel excruciating pain. It was like your bones had been moved and removed from your body. The pain would make you faint. But no need to worry, I can give your heart adrenaline so it will not shut down." A sadistic face. These words swirled in Lord Olfan's head as he started at Lyca.

"You dare?"

"No offense, sir, but I think the people who would want to see you dead right now would be more than fifty. I am sure that those people would send their own assassins to silence you. Politicians, drug lords, and corrupt officials would join in. I am only giving you a shortcut. Isn't it good to feel pain now? Then feel it later?"

"" What kind of logic was this?

"Eh, I am just in a hurry. I can't waste my time here. I am exhausted. So, it's either you give me what I want and I will stop the pain or you know what I mean, right?"

Lord Olfan squinted. Lyca was saying the truth. Now that he was arrested, the people who worked with him would surely panic and try to kill him, silence him. He lowered his head, a peculiar glint can be seen in his eyes. It seems that Lyca was still too naive? "Alright. I will tell you."

"Eh? So easy?" Lyca smiled.

"The Long Family are arranging people to target your security company. I believe they are slowly sending people to Ralia City to make trouble for your team. They asked me to help them."

"And you did?"

"Of course. I don't particularly like you."

"Oh " Lyca nodded in understanding. "Seems like the feeling is mutual. I " Before she could finish her sentence, the man's expression changed.

"This is " He held his breath. "Antidote! You said you will stop it!" His face turned pale, beads of sweat trickled down his forehead. This was the first time that he experienced the viciousness of this woman. He actually thought she was bluffing, or perhaps the pain would be something he could take.

He was wrong.

Just like what she said, this actually felt like his bone was broken! Every time he moved, his body would hurt like hell! He glared at her. "Antidote!" Even speaking would make his body hurt.

"Alright Alright Calm down. I never thought two minutes is not enough. First, you have to tell me why the Xu Family is supporting the Long Family."

"What?" He gritted his teeth. "You said"

"I said I will give you the antidote once you answer me. " She smirked. "And all of my questions."