

Lazily 334

Chapter 334: Baggage Compartment

When it comes to ruthlessness, Lyca always knew she was second to none.

Because of her laziness, she tends to kill people immediately. Not giving them the chance to scheme against her and disturb her peace. This was the reason why she mostly killed those clan heads in their territory. Lyca wasn't some hypocrite. She knew she was a sinner. She also knew that the reasons why she kills people are somewhat dense.

Sometimes, she killed them because she became too irritated. Sometimes, it was because she was too lazy to reason with them. Sometimes it was because they did something terrible and she didn't like it. In the end, her reasoning had something to do with her lazy nature. She just got lazy and decided to end it.

However, unlike Lord Olfan, Lyca never killed people for fun.

Lyca glanced at the one-way mirror. She rested her head on Shen Qui's shoulder and didn't move an inch. Like a dead log, she just stared at Lord Olfan without saying anything. Her eyes soon darted towards the water on the table. Lord Olfan just arrived in the interrogation room and was given an unopened bottle of water by the officer. However, instead of drinking it, Lord Olfan just sat there and stared at the mirror.

He knew that some people were also staring at him behind that mirror. A snort escaped his lips. "Lyca Huang I know you're in there. Why don't you come and ask me some questions?"

Lyca rolled her eyes. So naive. Judging from the man's eyes, Lord Olfan really looked confident and arrogant. The man must have already planned his escape with his people. Oh, well even if he escaped this prison, he would still die soon. "I'm sleepy. Let's go home." Lyca said.

If this man really wanted to escape, then it would be reasonable for her to leave now. In this way, she would avoid the upcoming battle that will happen. According to Lyca's sources, Lord Olfan was fearless because he had a lot of people working under him and because everyone here also received some payments from the man.

"Hmmm. Let's go." Shen Qui didn't ask any questions. Since Lyca said that this man would die, then he would surely die. Shen Qui didn't have to ask the exact method of how Lord Olfan would die. He helped Lyca out of the room and they went into the car that was waiting for them.

"Our people already spotted some cars coming this way." Ma Ping immediately said. "Boss, what are you going to do?"

"Leave them be," Lyca answered. "It's better to go home and sleep. She could help the police officers fight but that would risk an injury, maybe even a couple of death from her people. Nope. Not gonna happen."

"Then Lyca let me asked you this. What will happen if that man escapes?"

Lyca immediately turned towards Chu Nan. She can completely forget about this man, ah! How come his presence is this low? "He will still die."

"How? Do you have people in his team?" Chu Nan realized that his question sounded off, so he added, "I was only curious. I am here to learn poison so I am very curious if you will use any poison to kill him."

"Use," Lyca uttered. Like a lazy cat, she adapted another languid form and smiled. "I already said, he will die tonight. If I tell you my methods, you need to become my man." She laughed when she felt Shen Qui flinched. "But I already have a husband. So if I tell you my secret, I would have to kill you after."

"You " Chu Nan bit the inside of his cheek to stop himself from arguing against this woman. It would be pointless and definitely not worth it! Who knows if this woman would suddenly poison his water and kill him?

Just as the group finally left the police station, Lord Olfan was also ushered into his cell. All throughout the interrogation, he didn't say anything nor touched the bottle of water that they gave him. When he was already inside his cell, he sat calmly on the corner most part of the cell and started counting.

One, two, three, one.

One, two, three, two.

One, two, three, three.

After a few minutes, someone arrived and put a cup of hot water on the floor just in front of his cell. The person didn't even glance at Lord Olfan before leaving without saying anything. When he left, Lord Olfan couldn't help but smile. Ah the signal just now meant he should calm down. Their people are coming to save him.

With this, Lord Olfan silently lay on the bed without a mattress and stared at the ceiling. Lyca's face once again flashed in his head. He clenched his teeth and started counting once again.

One, two, three, one hundred one.

One, two, three, one hundred two.

BOOM!

The loud sound thundered inside the police station. It was followed by the sound of more explosions and gunfire. Meanwhile, Lord Olfan kept on counting. He didn't even turn towards the door of his cell and just kept on staring at the ceiling as if this attack doesn't concern him at all.

After a few minutes, loud footsteps echoed towards him. He stopped counting and slowly sat on the bed.

"Boss! We are here to get you out!" The man used his gun to open the door of the cell and handed him bulletproof. "As expected, the defense of the station was quite weak. They also didn't call a reinforcement." The man gave a smug smile. Everyone here was considered their Lord Olfan's employees too. "We killed about two of the police officers and just made a show that we were struggling to fight against them. Follow me, boss, our car is waiting at the back." The man said before leading him towards the back of the building. A black Mercedes was already there, waiting for them.

"So, only police are there?" Lord Olfan asked. He was actually hoping that Lyca would still be here in the station.

"Yes, sir."

"Hmmm" He nodded and immediately got inside the car. "Let's leave. Make a big explosion. Free the other prisoners."

"Yes, boss!" the man enthusiastically responded before he closed the door and gave a playful grin towards the now moving car.

"Boss, after two turns, we will move to a different car. Then another. A private jet is already waiting for you just in Xie City."

"Hmmm. How about the people that we sent to Q's ranch?"

"No contact. They must have died. But the others near the place claimed that they didn't hear any gunshots nor explosions."

Lord Olfan's brows furrowed as he squinted his eyes. No gunshots or explosions could only mean that her ranch was equipped with a mechanism that could poison people! Long Yi told him before that Lyca was an expert in poisons. At that time, he thought it was nothing but a word of caution.

Lord Olfan already experienced Lyca's ruthlessness. Thus, he knew that she was actually very capable of creating a poison that could kill people in a matter of seconds. "Give me my phone." He said as he opened a new bottle of water inside the car. Earlier, he didn't drink anything that was given to him afraid that it was poisoned. It made him so thirsty. He finished the 500ml bottle of water in one go.

Then he dialed Long Yi's number. After a few rings Long Yi's cold tone reached his ears.

"You are still alive?"

Lord Olfan snorted. "You are still alive. How could I die?" He chuckled. "I think you are right, Lyca is indeed preparing a big-scale poison. Probably preparing to attack the Long Family and kill everyone."

"How did you know that?"

Lord Olfan smirked. Obviously, his plan is to make Lyca and Long Yi fight on their own. So, he added more fuel to the fire. "I sent my people into her base. All of them died. I didn't hear any news from them."

Silence followed.

Lord Olfan added, "You can ask your contact. I am merely warning you. I will leave the country so you won't be able to contact me for the time being. You better prepare yourself. She is preparing to face the Long Family very soon." Lord Olfan didn't wait for him to say anything. Feeling smug, he ended the call and opened a bottle of wine.

Lyca already knew that the Long Family is trying to sabotage her business, again. Now, Long Yi is also aware that Lyca is slowly creating dangerous poisons for them. Sooner or later, Lord Olfan will see a good show from these two people.

"Hmm?" Lord Olfan squeeze his eyes shut when his head suddenly started aching. "What " he wasn't able to finish his words as he clutched his throat. His face instantly turned red as he struggled to breathe. Aside from his aching head, his stomach started hurting.

"Boss? Are you alright?" the man asked. "Boss?"

"Take me Take me too "

"Alright boss I will take you to the airport as fast as I could." The driver thought that Lord Olfan was so eager to leave this place. With this in mind, he went full throttle and arrived at the airport after ten minutes. However, when he checked Lord Olfan, he already lost consciousness.

Panicked, the driver immediately knew something was wrong. He called his other colleagues and everyone decided to put the boss inside the private plane to avoid other people seeing him. After all, news travels fast and soon, the police will come barging in here and check the area.

"We should hide the boss until a doctor arrives." The man already called their boss' doctor, so he confidently suggested those words.

"I agree. If the police come in here and check then we will be arrested too!"

'Then hide the boss in the baggage compartment. This is for the boss' safety too!

Surely, he wouldn't mind. Right?
