

Lazily 359

Chapter 359: To Win and Conquer

"Less than ten minutes? Less than ten minutes! Ma Ping and Gu Cheng are so awesome!" Cleo couldn't help but jumped out of her seat as she clapped her hands. "Ah, so awesome!" Like a child, Cleo jumped up and down as she stared at the time on the large TV.

"Can you stop jumping like a child?" Chu Nan who was sitting next to her uttered in a low voice. "That rescue mission was done perfectly and quickly. Less than ten minutes is a very good time. If my guess is right, the other companies won't be able to finish that in such a short time. They will feel pressured and embarrassed. After all, we only sent fifteen people this time. Moreover, none of them were wounded." Actually, Lyca's strategy was pretty good this time.

It was smart and not something that many people could think of.

"Now, many would think that we are weak," Ronan said, his eyes were sparkling as he stared at Lyca. Now that he said those words, Chu Nan immediately realized the underlying strategy that Lyca used this time. By acting like they were afraid of confrontation, people believed that they weren't capable.

Meaning, they would underestimate them.

Moreover, those people would surely do their research and realized that Lyca's team was only formed about two months ago. Obviously, two months is not enough to train people to the point of perfection.

The strength of the team relied on agility. This is why Lyca let them run to the mountain with weights. It would make them lighter and faster. The target of her training was always her people's agility. She wasn't aiming for the perfect soldier that could fight face-to-face combat.

"My people's martial arts are only so so," Lyca said. Actually, no one could really say that they will win a battle base on their martial arts skills. In a fight, the most vicious one would always win. For example, the weaker party could always use tricks dirty tricks to win a fight. They could blind their opponents using sand or any type of powder. Then they would easily gain some advantage.

These tricks are dirty and might be frowned upon, but these are survival skills. In life and death situation, skills like these could save your life. She leaned against Shen Qui's arms and added, "War is often won by deception, showing confusion while being organized, seeming hungry while being fed, seeming poorly armed while having concealed sharp weapons, seeming to have few troops while having many." Pursing her lips, she eyed the flashing words on the TV. "The best wars are won without fighting."

Lyca thought that her personal belief is actually pretty useful in survival. After all, she already lived another life and experienced a lot of death and even war. She lost people and watched as her family was slaughtered. In her previous life, she loved working alone. This was not because she was confident in her skills. It was because her viewpoint was always different.

She was a killer a lazy one. For her, if other people could do it, then let them do it. If she could avoid fighting and hurting herself, then just sit down and avoid it. If she couldn't defeat the enemy, then what's the use of fighting? Run! If the enemy has many people, then she would use her brain and defeat them using the smallest effort.

She wasn't the type to act like a hero and save people. She was always the type to prioritize herself above everyone. Of course, at the end of the day, she still died because of her stupidity.

She lowered her gaze to hide the emotions in her eyes.

She always believed that she was selfish. Aside from herself, she would only save those people that were important to her, and she is willing to do everything to keep the people that she cared about safe.

"Our resources are inferior to other companies because we have fewer people. This is why we need to beat them using tactics and innovations." Shen Qui added. "However, we should be very careful. After all, tall trees attract wind. The other companies would soon target us."

"Hmmm" Lyca nodded. "Power is seductive and many people would do everything to get it. The company that would win this assembly would surely have the influence and power. Thus, the other companies would try to do everything to get the first place. In the first stage, I am confident that no one could beat our score. Meaning, we will take the first prize. On the second and third stage, people would start to be wary of us."

"We already showed them that our people are faster." Chu Nan uttered. "In the next stage, some companies will directly create strategies to target our speed." This was his worry. It actually seemed like they already showed their cards. It was just the start of the competition and they already showed everyone what they were capable of."

Lyca pursed her lips. She chose not to say anything because talking a lot is really tiring, ah.

She closed her eyes and thought about what Shen Qui said earlier. Tactics and Innovations. They already showed other people what they were capable of unique yet very effective tactics. Meaning, it's time to show the innovative side of their company.

Shen Security.

This is not just a company that would accept normal security details. This is going to be the company that would make the criminals shiver in fear. This wasn't just because of their skills. This was because of the gears. The gears that Lyca would personally create.

"Ask everyone to gather in front of the building that we were staying. Don't let them take off their armors. From now on, they will not take off any of their armor inside this facility." This is for their security and this is going to showcase the capability of Shen Security.

After all, Lyca wasn't just here to win.

She was here to conquer.