Chapter 369: Topnotch!

"Lower your heads. Stop glaring at them." Mr. Liang from Dal Valley had to instruct his people to stop staring at Lyca and Shen Qui's way.

"Boss, they embarrassed us. Aren't we going to do something about it?" Someone from the staff said. "How could they remove their clothes? It's a provocation. They are trying to make us look like fools!"

"We were fooled." Mr. Liang hissed. His men were all trained killers, being ridiculed like this would surely make them lose their cool. In this game of complicated chess, the first people who would blow one's lid would definitely lose the game.

Sadly for him, his people were known for their tempers.

Dal Valley's people were confident. They were deadly, they have good training and support and they always finish their missions. This made them arrogant.

What would happen if mere kids would make fun of them? Ridicule them?

They would explode.

And this will become their greatest weakness.

"Stop staring."

"Boss, what can we do about this? Once they saw their teammates in that state, they started running after Shen Securities people. Those people are hiding at night and they had a good night's sleep in those trees while our people were awake the whole night. They needed their rest!"

Mr. Liang sighed. His men, the abled ones, already started to chase after those people. While they aren't allowed to fight, many of them were hunting the people from Shen Security, hoping to know where they were hiding so they could hunt them during the night.

Those people already didn't have enough sleep the other night because they fought against Long Security. How could they hunt people during the day? This should be the right time to rest.

"Those rats are really dirty. They are playing dirty." Mr. Liang said, his gaze turned towards Chu Munan and the others. "We cannot touch the ones inside the arena. But we can always touch the ones outside." He stood from his seat. "Let's go back to our building."

As time went by, everyone started to anticipate the nightfall once again. They wanted to know what would happen on the second night of the competition.

Right now, no one was able to get a flag and some people from Dal Valley were already trying to hunt the people from Shen Security. This turn of events was unexpected to most people who thought that Dal Valley would surely take care of Long Security first. This made them excited. They wanted to know what is going to happen now that Dal Valley who is actually considered the strongest of the three teams is going to fight against the weakest.

"What do you think would happen next?" Someone from the staff asked his colleague.

"I think Dal Valley won't win against the Shen Security. These people were very clever, ah. Think about it. Shen Security slept last night while Dal Valley didn't. They were busy fighting and applying first aid to their people who got injured. When the sun shone, they thought they would be able to sleep. Who would have thought that they would see their colleague being mocked like that? I actually understand their anger. But they let their anger get the best of them, ah."

"This is true. However, I think Long Security is going to win this time. They won the contest last time, right?"

"Aish they only win because they cheated. They know what's going to happen."

"How did you know that?"

"I don't. But that was the rumor when they won, ah. You weren't here yet so you didn't know this. Long Security was backed by Xu Family. Of course, they would win. In fact, if they win this year's contest, I wouldn't be surprised. They were not strong physically but when it comes to connection, they are topnotch!"

Slowly, the rumors about Long Company started to circulate among the staff. In just a few hours, a lot of people already knew that Long Security cheated on the last competition. Now, they are watching if the Long Security would cheat again.

Rumor has it that Long Security, already knows where the traps are located. They actually memorized the maps that showed all the traps.

Speaking of those traps, each team had their way to avoid them. So, no one suffered from the traps yet. Even Shen Security who is considered the baby and the weakest knows how to utilize their current resources to avoid the traps.

Finally, the second night of the competition started.

This time, everyone's eyes were following the people from Shen Security. Some of them wanted to see the things that their unique armor could do. Some of them wanted to know how are they going to deal with the people from Dal Valley.

However, watching from the TV is very different from being there in the arena.

On the arena, the people from Dal Valley are on high alert. They were guarding their flag and trying to hunt Shen Security. However, because they already have a lot of injured, doing the two tasks together was a little challenging.

"What do you think would happen tonight?" Viper asked. He is one of the uninjured members of the Dal Valley. Tonight, he was using his night vision to examine the surroundings before removing it. He turned towards the man standing next to him, his name is Jun.

"I don't know. But the Long Security would not attack tonight because they were trying to recover. I don't think they wanted to fight again tonight." Jun answered.

"What do you think about the Shen Security? Do you think our people found them?"

"They followed some smoke during the noon, thinking it should be someone from the Shen Security. Let's just hope that they found them. So they could attack them tonight."

"This is unfair, ah. We didn't have any sleep and spend the whole day guarding the flag."
