Chapter 486: Slow Motion

Seeing Xu Ke on the floor gave Lyca some weird emotion that she hadn't felt before. It was the satisfaction of killing someone.

Even in her previous life, Lyca killed people without remorse or any emotions.

She kills.

End of story.

However now, seeing Xu Ke weak gave her something. Some sort of satisfaction that she didn't know she needed. She neared him, eyes beaming, like a predator watching its prey. The need to just kill him right now slowly burned inside her. She wanted to choke him and see the light disappear from his eyes.

But no.

Why would she give him something that he wanted now?

Lyca lifted his shirt up and examined his chest. Just as she expected, his veins had become visible, green and blue veins appeared before her eyes, looking like intertwining rivers.

"What cough what are you doing?" Xu Ke struggled to speak. "What "

"This body" Lyca started. "This body is not from this world." She stated. "You are obsessed with that creature because you you are like it?" The veins that Xu Ke had were just like the ones that the creature would have every time it is about to eat its own self. She eyed Xu Ke's wounds and immediately felt relief when she saw that they were not healing. At least, unlike the creature, Xu Ke wouldn't eat himself, right?

Wait.

Xu Ke couldn't eat himself because he can't heal. But he could eat someone else! "You the reason why you wanted me to find a way for that creature to live is that you wanted to live too?"

Xu Ke was about to say something when he coughed up another mouthful of blood. "Who Who doesn't want to live?"

Lyca gazed at his cloudy eyes before she sighed. "You were able to cross dimensions purely by accident, right?" Questions upon questions piled up in Lyca's head. If he crossed using his original body, then how did he become Xu Ke? And when the hell did he travel? Was it by pure accident?

Was he telling the truth about the ritual?

Was he really eating humans to survive in this world?

Was it possible that he ate the president and all the people that he killed before?

Lyca stared at Xu Ke's necklace. It had the same moon pendant, the same one as the one that she gave Shen Qui. However, this one is black. Her's looked like the moon, it was white with a few holes. "What's this?" Without any hesitation, Lyca snatched the necklace.

Xu Ke tried to hold the necklace, but he was too weak. His strength had dwindled. Seeing the veins started to show on his face, Lyca stood and took a step back. Then she walked towards the remaining light and examined the necklace against it.

The necklace looked like a shiny black rock that was shaped like a crescent moon. It resembled hers, but upon closer inspection, it wasn't really the same. She looked at him again and to her surprise, Xu Ke managed to sit down.

"You really think it would kill me?" Xu Ke smirked just as he lifted his shaking hand that was holding a small Glock. "Did you know how much I studied this world just so I could have an explanation of my weird dreams about my previous life?"

Lyca lifted an eyebrow. Previous life? Meaning

"Did you know how depressed I was when I thought I had gone crazy? The memories in my head didn't make any sense!"

So the transmigration actually happened, but the memories were not complete?

"When I saw those people flying, using elements and magic. Did you know what I felt?"

"Xu Ke "

"Stop calling me Xu Ke! My name is Ken!"

Lyca squinted at him. "So you just dreamed of the past," she stated. Was that the reason why he became obsessed with everything? Was that the reason why he didn't reveal anything to her? Because he just saw Xu Ke's life in his dream?

"I want that world! I want to learn everything in that world! I want to go back to that world!" Xu Ke continued.

Lyca just continued staring at him. If her guess was right, Ken must have dreamed of Xu Ke's memories. Perhaps, they are connected in some ways. The teenager then grew to like Xu Ke's personality and soon started imitating him. Until he realized that he was Xu Ke's reincarnation.

All this was possible in her previous world. But not in this world.

He must have studied his dreams and realized that other things connected with this world into that world. When he didn't find a way to use magic using those stones that he gave to other people, he grew frustrated and became obsessed until he started thinking that he was indeed Xu Ke. That Xu Ke's soul was inside him when all he had access to was Xu Ke's memories.

This could explain why Xu Ke's explanation about the previous life doesn't make any sense to Lyca at all.

This should be the reason why he didn't do anything to touch her. Which wasn't really Xu Ke's way. If it was the real Xu Ke, he would have touched her body and claimed her the first night that she stayed here. Even without her consent, that man would have touched her over and over.

But this Xu Ke never did.

"You ate those people thinking that you would attain some sort of power when you do that?" Lyca said. "Did you did you eat the creature as well? Is that why the veins "Crazy. This man is already crazy. Not even therapy could save him!

This is messed up.

Even Lyca couldn't explain this phenomenon.

But at least, she is already aware that there should be some problems, perhaps a hole that connects the two dimensions together.

"Did you think I would die without taking you with me? You are Xu Ke's woman! You are my woman! And you will stay that way, even in death!"

Lyca calmly looked at him, then she smiled. "You already killed me "

*BANG!"

Lyca let out a curse as she held her arm that was hit by the bullet.

"I was right. You are fooling me! The gun worked even with the gas!" Xu Ke chuckled. He pointed the gun towards Lyca just as one of the broken glass appeared in Lyca's hand. "You will die with me!"

Then Xu Ke pulled the trigger just as Lyca throw the glass towards him...

"NO!"

It was as if Lyca's world stopped when she heard Shen Qui's voice. She turned towards the door, eyes wide as the bullet move towards her. She saw him approach in a slow-motion that reminded her of those superhero movies.

A smile appeared on her face.

Then she felt herself falling.

Chapter 487: Blue Lights

"What did I tell you about me being always on top?" Lyca said as she tried to push him off her. The sharp broken glasses were everywhere, and she didn't want to hurt herself.

"Are you alright?" Shen Qui who now looked like Ye Wan asked. "Are you "

Before he could continue his words, she suddenly pulled him into a tight hug. She missed him. She wanted to prolong the hug and maybe even kiss, but that was when she noticed that he too had been wearing the armor that she made for him. Unlike Lyca, who took the antidote that she created using the toxins of the creature, Shen Qui and even Xu Ke didn't have one.

"Is he dead?" Shen Qui said as he eyed Xu Ke, who had a deep cut in his throat. Xu Ke's eyes were still open, unwilling and anger still apparent in his orbs. However, before Lyca could answer, Shen Qui already walked towards Xu Ke, and this time used a knife to cut his throat.

Yep.

If he didn't die because of the piece of glass that Lyca threw at him, the knife that basically cut his neck should have done it.

"Just to make sure" Shen Qui smiled at her just as when she smiled at him the first time that she saved him. "He then eyed the green gas that is still around them. "We need to leave. Our people are putting explosives in this place."

"I need to find out about something," Lyca said as she held Shen Qui's hands and pulled him out of the lab. She looked behind them and stared at Xu Ke's corpse one last time before she left this part of the facility. "Do you have the map?"

"Here it is Ronan was able to hack it after the gas was triggered."

Lyca stared at the tablet before she peered at him. His features had been changed, but the warmth in his eyes was the same. "This is "she sighed. It seems that this facility is actually bigger than she thought. "Take me to Xu Ke's office."

"Alright." Shen Qui smiled and, hand in hand, the two left the area.

Unbeknownst to them, just as they left, Xu Ke's fingers started twitching.

Of course, they have no knowledge about this. Lyca had suspicions that Xu Ke did something to his body. That is the reason why he was so confident about dying. So, she wanted to go to his office and make sure.

After about five minutes of walking through the corpses of Xu Ke's men that littered the floor, they finally arrived at Xu Ke's office.

"The security is already in our hands." Shen Qui said as he ordered Ronan to open it now.

Lyca and Shen Qui immediately got inside and started rummaging into Xu Ke's office. To their surprise, the office was clean and organized, to the point of looking a bit boring. Seeing this, Lyca immediately tried to find ways to access some hidden compartments something that Xu Ke always wanted to do, even in that world.

If Ken was trying to act like Xu Ke, then it would make sense for him to use this method.

"Uhhh. "

Lyca lifted her head when she saw Shen Qui make a sound while staring at the monitors.

"He's alive"

"Who?"

"Xu Ke he just"

Lyca immediately approached him and focused her attention on the screen before them. Xu Ke asked the IT team to set up their computers here to monitor Lyca, and these computers were not damaged by the gas. Because of this, Lyca could still see everything inside the lab and her room.

"What what is that thing?" Shen Qui asked when he saw Xu Ke started twitching and crawling on all fours. His eyes were red, bloodied, and wide as his head slowly turned towards the monitor. "He knows that we are watching him?"

"Asked Ronan and everyone else to leave this facility," Lyca ordered.

Without asking questions, Shen Qui immediately told Ronan what she wanted to do. The two then watched as Xu Ke's body seemed to become leaner. It was as if something inside him was sucking his flesh.

"I was right" Lyca snorted. "He ate that creature. To sustain himself he was eating humans." That creature would always want to eat flesh and enjoyed swimming in blood. It was barbarous and blood-thirsty.

Shen Qui held the armor and said. "They are out."

"Now lock every door on that side of the facility. That should delay that creature." Lyca said. This time, she ignored the screen and started rummaging towards Xu Ke's things.

Xu Ke and his people didn't succeed in controlling the creature. Unlike Lyca, their knowledge when it comes to the poison of the creature was close to nonexistent. Moreover, Xu Ke was a fake. All of his actions were based on his dreams. There was no way for him to know everything about the previous world.

In the previous world, there was a reason why people don't just eat herbs and any creatures immediately, even if they are already dead. And that is because the magic inside them still exists. There is a possibility that this magic would overpower the body of the person who ate them. In the end, the person would become its food instead.

As long as he feeds the creatures with blood and flesh, then it wouldn't consume him, at least not completely.

But this time Xu Ke died.

Meaning, the creature would have no way of eating.

Upon sensing that Xu Ke's body is dead, the creature immediately used it in an attempt to find another body to occupy.

"It's dangerous." Shen Qui said. He was still looking at the screen and by now, Xu Ke was already crawling towards them. Just as Lyca said, the glass doors were making it hard for him to approach this part of the facility. "We need to leave and blow up this building."

"No," Lyca said. Xu Ke had no problems dying because he knew that the creature would try to use his body and kill Lyca. Or perhaps he is still hiding other secrets.

She recalled how Xu Ke looked so proud when he saw the creature birth its own. He even called himself its father. Which was totally gross at that time. But now Lyca understood everything.

"Found it!" Lyca said as she pressed a button on one of the books on his bookshelf.

Almost immediately, the light flickered. The bookshelf moved, giving them access to a room with only blue lights.

"What is this room?" Shen Qui asked.

Chapter 488: Nightmare

Lyca almost couldn't believe her eyes when she saw the people's skin being hanged inside the room or freezer.

There were about five, no ten? Perhaps twenty skins hanging inside the room. "What the hell?" Shen Qui let out a surprised gasp. Then the two walk inside the room. Walking past the skin hanging on the ceiling, they saw another room. This time, no password was required to enter.

When Lyca saw the contents of the room, she couldn't help but frown. She was right and wrong at the same time. Xu Ke isn't eating flesh but drinking blood. The wooden table inside the room immediately attracted her attention. This wasn't because it was placed at the corner most part of the room but because all the tables inside were made of alloys, except this one.

"Ronan said, he will reach us in about three minutes. We need to leave so we can blow this place up."

Lyca only looked back at him in response. She can't leave. This time, she needed to see Xu Ke die.
"Do you trust me?"

"No, you can't stay here alone without me."

"You "

"No matter what you say, I am not going to leave you behind."

"Qui'er "

He shook his head. "Won't work. If you badly want to die, then let's do it together."

She pursed her lips. Seeing Shen Qui's resolute expression, she let out a sigh. She knew that convincing him to leave her would be hard. This man is stubborn, but she absolutely understands him. She examined the blue liquid next to her. "Fire should work against him."

"Ronan said, he looked like a monster now. He was crawling towards us."

"He was crawling towards the blood." Lyca's only regret is losing all of her toys and poison. Xu Ke actually took them when she got in. "Do you have a bomb?"

"Yes."

"Put it outside."

"Confirm to Ronan that he could see everything in this room."

"Yes, he already said that earlier."

"Good." Lyca nodded. "Put the bomb and wait for me. We're leaving."

"I thought "

She snorted. "You are too handsome to die."

Shen Qui stared at her before he laughed. Is this really the time for jokes? With that, Shen Qui started placing the bomb outside and inside of the room and set it to sixty seconds.

"Done." He said. "We have fifty-seven six seconds to leave this place."

Lyca nodded. She made sure to destroy everything about the creature and brought the small notebook that she found hidden in the drawer of the wooden table. "Let's leave this place."

Following Ronan's instructions, the two quickly left the room and closed that secret room inside Xu Ke's office.

The loud howling sound surprised Lyca, but she and Shen Qui didn't stop running towards the exit. Her heart started racing, sweat trickled on her forehead as Shen Qui grabbed her hand and led her out of the place.

The scene actually reminded Lyca of an action movie where the Male Lead would lead the female lead out of a burning building. The thing is she wanted to be carried by him.

Wait, why was she thinking about things like this in the middle of such a crisis?

It seems that seeing Shen Qui again, awoken the pervert side of her again.

The mechanical sound of the door pulled her back from her stupor. She squinted at the sudden onslaught of the sunlight, her vision blurred before she felt herself being lifted by Shen Qui.

She used her hand to cover her eyes and let him carry her out.

It's been so long since she saw the sunlight, seeing it again somehow made her a bit lighter. She started to hear some explosions behind her and was tempted to look. But in the end, she didn't.

She let out a sigh of relief, hoping that everything is done now.

It should be right?

"You can open your eyes now."

Lyca didn't hesitate to follow Shen Qui's words. Then she realized that they were already inside the car. She watched as he took his helmet off and gave her a gentle smile. "I miss you" he uttered.

"I " Her words were interrupted when she suddenly saw a piece of debris towards their car. Her eyes widened as the debris made its way into Shen Qui's head.

She saw his eyeball jumped out of its sockets before she let out a scream.

"AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH!"

Lyca sat up in a jolt.

Realizing that it was a dream, she immediately let out a sigh as she patted her chest, her heart was racing so fast, she thought it was real. It was almost a year since the facility was destroyed along with Xu Ke and yet sometimes, her dreams about the events that happened would still cause her a lot of nightmares.

She looked at the empty side of the bed before she held her temple. She recalled what happened and couldn't help but put a smile on her face.

After getting out of the facility, Lyca actually fainted. No suspense, no zombie apocalypse, or some monster versus the overpowered Lyca, she just fainted into his arms. In Lyca's mind, fighting a monster was actually unnecessary. Why would she hurt herself when the explosion could kill him?

All she needed to do was mixed the blue liquid and some other liquids inside that room to cause the temperature from the explosion to triple.

Her wise and a bit lazy decision was indeed effective, but in the end, she fainted from exhaustion. This made Shen Qui carry her like a princess with the background of the fire behind them.

Isn't it a bit romantic?

When she woke up again, she was already inside a comfortable tent. They were still near the facility, and that was when Ronan and Shen Qui confirmed that Xu Ke was indeed destroyed from that explosion. Of course, seeing Xu Ke explode from the video made her believe that the man was indeed dead.

Ronan was quick to hack the satellite, hiding the explosion from other people's eyes. Then, he created news of some power plant accident in the area. The news obviously scared a lot of people, making them avoid the facility.

After a few weeks, Lyca's people and Ronan confirmed that both the inside and outside of the facility were unsalvageable. The best course of action is to dump some ground and concrete to cover the huge hole from the underground facility.

Soon, the passing of the president was announced, prompting the vice president to take over.

"Good morning beautiful"

Lyca turned towards Shen Qui who suddenly arrived with a huge smile on his face.

Chapter 489: Contraceptive Pills

"What time is it?" Lyca asked before she leaned over and kissed his lips.

"Late"

"How late?" She stretched and smiled. "How late is late?"

"Eleven in the morning. You should sleep more."

"I can't," Lyca said. Considering her bulging stomach sleeping is a bit hard.

"You need to rest."

"I just woke up. And my lower back is killing me." She looked at her stomach. 38 weeks and counting. "It's heavy." Why did she marry someone big? Considering Shen Qui's height and her gene's the child inside her tummy is really considered big.

"How about you sleep and then we can walk later?" He rested her calf on his leg and started massaging her ankle. "I made some breakfast."

"What kind of breakfast? Please don't tell me it's usual."

"You need to eat more vegetables. A salad would be perfect for you."

"Those are legumes not vegetables." Her face darkened. She had been eating peanuts and beans and peas, along with her dark and leafy greens. And to be honest, eating the same thing almost everything is kinda tiring. It made her want to puke. "I want to eat noodles," she said. "And rice... white rice." For some reason, she doesn't like the taste of brown rice and quinoa in her mouth. She also hated oats and barley. She knew it was healthy, but damn, her mouth was craving for something ... unhealthy.

Maybe junk food? Then there are the spicy noodles and some burgers and fries. She wanted some fried chicken too!

Just thinking about those things made Lyca gulped. But then she saw Shen Qui's eyes. She immediately knew that he would never say yes to her eating something unhealthy and greasy with a lot of unhealthy fats.

"I made something special for you." He ignored her puppy eyes and continued massaging her legs.

"By special, you mean? " She silently prayed that he won't say something like a healthy version of burger because she knew it wouldn't taste as good.

"Salmon."

Salmon Lyca's eyes immediately widened. She sat on the bed in a jolt and beamed. "Then what are we waiting for?"

"I thought your back hurts?"

"Is there really something I can't handle?" Lyca laughed. Since they successfully destroyed the lab that killed Ken Xu, Shen Qui and her had been through a lot of stuff. Dealing with the aftermath and was just as tiring as being held captive.

While they successfully avoided the media, dealing with everything else made her so stressed she had forgotten to take her contraceptive pills.

And well the rest is history.

"Here are the newly developed armor and weapons. The second batch will be given to Du Empire soon. The rest will be donated to the military in Xu Country. "

"Why do I need to deal with these things?" Lyca said as she started eating her salmon. "Why can't you just sign it? I am about to give birth. Just signed it."

"I can do that but the Du Empire" Shen Qui smiled wryly. During that time that Lyca was held captive, he asked the Ye Family for help as he presented the necklace and told them about Lyca and her plan to create more armors for Du Empire instead of Xu Country. Shen Qui offered a collaboration.

Lyca would produce the weapons and armor and in return, the Ye Family will deal with the things that Xu Ke had been doing, including the future leadership of the Xu Country. They agreed.

However, they wanted Lyca to personally deal with the armors and weapons. They wanted to interact with Lyca and not Shen Qui. Their reasoning was simple. Lyca is someone from the Ye Family. She had their genes and talents. She needed to know about her Ye Family.

"I know. But they should understand. I am about to give birth. I can't sign documents while looking like a whale."

"A beautiful whale and that had nothing to do with using your thumbprint to sign them."

Lyca mumbled something.

"They said they will visit in a few days. Father and mother already arranged for their stay."

Lyca rolled her eyes. The thing about the Ye Family is that they are very particular with their hair color.

While her father was also a descendant of this family, they are clearly treating Lyca better because her hair is white! Lyca really couldn't understand their history with white-haired people. Yeah, it is unique but so what? What's with this white hair and knowing her family roots? Just thinking about this is giving Lyca a headache.

"Alright, that poisonous liquid from Xu Ke's office"

"The green one?"

"Yes. You were right. We could create some gaseous weapons using that liquid. But I won't allow you to do some experiments since it might affect our son."

Lyca nodded. Of course, she wouldn't risk her son's health for some experiments.

"Ah Chu Nan and Cleo also decided to change their wedding date. They said they won't have a wedding without you. So, they will do it three months after you give birth."

Lyca nodded. "And Chu Munan?"

"Well Rue refused to talk to him and even acknowledge his presence."

"Well he is a bit dumb. Let him suffer." Lyca started munching the vegetables. For some reason, that Chu Munan never gave up on liking Lyca when he had been using Rue as his fake girlfriend. What a stupid man.

When he realized that he actually liked Rue, the woman already decided to stay away from him. Hey, at least Chu Nan is already close with Cleo's son. "They don't have to wait for me you know. I mean, if they would wait for me to give birth, Cleo might give birth soon."

"Yeah, I think they wanted her to give birth first before the wedding."

"Oh." Lyca nodded and accepted the milk that Shen Qui handed her. "By the way, I haven't seen mother and father lately? Are they still in Du Empire?"

"Yes.." Since Lyca's grandfather woke up, Huang Sheng Hong, Tang Nini, and their grandfather had been traveling around the world. Of course, when they went to Du Empire, the Ye Family was very glad to welcome her wheelchair-bound grandfather. After all, he too had white hair when he was born.

Chapter 490: Arche

"Nope." Lyca shook his head. "I don't understand why you would want to name him Kale. Reminds me of the vegetable."

"It's the name of the moon. One of the planets. I think it suits him."

"That is a disfigured moon," Lyca argued, she stared at him, unimpressed. "I don't want to name my child Kale."

"Then are you going to name him Ares? Like the God of War? Isn't he like an evil god or something?"

"Number one. Ares had problems with his morals. He has some good qualities, too. Like his abs. Second. He is the spirit of battle." Lyca said.

Shen Qui frowned. "If you want Spirit of battle, then let us use Mars. Mars is also the God of war and also considered a guardian. The agricultural guardian."

"Mars Shen? Doesn't sound too good, no? I'll stick with Ares."

"Ares Shen doesn't sound too good too."

"But it's better than Mars." She shrugged and ate some dried mangoes that Shen Qui was holding in a bowl. "Ares Shen. Ares sounds sexy, and it is short."

"Are you too lazy to call your son's full name?" he asked.

"Kind of. If my son is named Felemon, I would call him Fel. Ares is short. I can't call him Ar or Es. So I would always call him Ares."

"But Mars is short too."

"I'm not naming my son after a planet!"

Shen Qui shook his head. "Let's talk about this later."

"I'm about to give birth. We needed to decide his name now or I will use Ares."

"You can't use Ares!"

"But I'm not using Mars!"

"Why are you naming your son after gods of wars?" he asked, confused.

"Then give me a name that's not God of War?"

Shen Qui shook his head and let out a sigh. "How about Arche?"

"Where did you hear that name?" In her previous world, Arche is a term used to call an origin or the beginning. But in this world, it is the name of a moon of some ringed planet.

He shrugged. "I thought it was cool. I thought I heard it from somewhere."

"Hmmm. Then let us name him Arche."

"Really?"

"Really?" Lyca smiled. In her previous world, people believe in many gods. It was kinda like the Greek and Roman gods. But there were more gods in her previous world. There were gods of poisons, gods of archers and knights, and many others. However, there was this one legend. About a God known as Arche.

They say he was the first God, but he wasn't the most powerful one. They say that Arche's greatest ability is his brain. He was brilliant and could travel in different worlds.

Obviously, not many people believed this story. In fact, she never heard of anyone worshipping this god.

Lyca smiled as Shen Qui held her hand. "I think that would be a perfect name for our Son." Arche the Origin and it could also be called a moon. It's perfect. Lyca traveled into this world because of a moon necklace and now she was naming her son Arche. "Aw!" her face changed as she held her stomach.

"What's wrong? Is it time? Are you going to Oh my god! I should get the car!"

"Stupid!" Lyca elbowed him. "He kicked." She pointed at her stomach.

"He kicked you?"

"Stop glaring at my stomach. He was could hear you." She laughed. "He must be excited about his name." She smiled when Arche moved. This time, she could feel him move his body. It was as if he was turning his body. It felt weirdly satisfying and frightening at the same time.

"Why is he moving so much?"

"I don't know?"

"You're about thirty-nine weeks, right? You can give birth anytime, right?"

"Can you stop panicking?" Lyca reprimanded. "You took classes and even started acting like a doctor. How could you show signs of panic? So embarrassing."

"I " He was still glaring at her stomach. How childish. "I was just scared."

"Scared of what?"

"Why was he moving so much already?" he asked.

"He likes to move. Just like me."

"" Shen Qui deadpanned.

"Aw! There you go he is moving so much." Lyca slowly stroked her stomach. "He must be excited or he could feel you glaring at my stomach like you are about to remove him from my belly." She rolled her eyes inwardly. "He is scared of you."

"How could he be scared of me? I am so good-looking and kind." He snorted. "He should be thankful he has a father like me."

That made her laugh. Soon, her low chuckle turned into a giggle. "He will be prettier than you."

"That That is something that I cannot argue with."

Lyca let out another burst of laughter. This man is really funny. "By the way, why are you here? You are supposed to entertain our guests. The Ye Family with my parents should have arrived, right?" Until now, Lyca still addresses them as someone from the Ye Family. It wasn't because she wasn't very welcoming or that she doesn't like them.

In fact, Lyca actually thought that the Ye Family are very reasonable people. However, she still has this feeling that the Ye Family is looking at her as if she was some sort of goddess. To be honest, Lyca expected the Ye Family to demand that her child have the Ye Family name. She was prepared to cut contact if they said something like that.

However, not one of them said that they wanted her son to become a Ye. All they did was celebrated with her parents and sent her expensive gifts for her child. They were very supportive and actually made her feel like a part of the family.

"Hey, pregnant lady!"

The peaceful atmosphere inside the entertainment room was interrupted when Tang Ruyi walked in with a huge smile and a bag of popcorn in her hand. Without wasting any time, Tang Ruyi looked at Shen Qui. "She can eat popcorn, right?"

"Ummm Excuse me? I am the pregnant lady here. Not Shen Qui. Why are you asking him like he was the pregnant one?" Lyca immediately complained.
