Chapter 536: Future Career

"I don't know how she knew this, but what she said that day was true, grandfather." Earl Ren said. It has been a week since they saw Gabi and today, they concluded the investigation about the substandard materials. "Grandfather, what are we going to do about this?"

"I will talk to Chairman Yu."

"Grandfather, are you planning to cut ties with the Lee and Li's?"

Old Man Ren furrowed his brows. He couldn't help but feel conflicted about this matter. First and foremost, Chairman Yu was his old-time friend. The Yu Family also supported him in the past. Cutting their support could attract the attention of other companies. "Sigh it seems that this old man is going to work harder from now on," he noted. The fact that Gabi was capable of knowing something like this only shows that he made the right choice.

However, this would only mean there would be more work for his old bones.

"Grandfather, you should take care of your body. Please take it easy, I will be here to support you."

Old Man Ren smiled. "Let's go and see Chairman Yu."

"Ah, before I forget, we notice something else when our people were looking into the information."

"Something else?"

"There are other parties looking into this information."

Old Man Ren nodded. While he didn't know where Gabi got this information, he was sure that she didn't personally investigate this herself. Meaning, there could be a leak somewhere. "Call Gabi and inform her about this matter."

"I understand."

"Well then let's go see Chairman Yu."

..

Everything is in order.

The Sealey Family is not joining any social gatherings in the past few days. And Alfons actually stopped bothering her. She knew that this peace is only temporary, so it is best that she take advantage of this and close all paths that Alfons wanted to take in the future.

"Miss, I think you should see this." Kasper handed her a tablet. "This was just uploaded a couple of minutes ago. Look, it has been shared two hundred times already."

"Alfons is joining a protest against a SEO company?" Gabi smiled. So it was starting. Alfons is making his move. He is starting to make himself well known. "How amusing." She watched the article with an image of Alfons sitting in the street with other people who just lost their job.

He was trying to make himself look good.

"Miss, please look at the TV." Kasper turned on the TV and Gabi immediately saw Alfons' face. He was being interviewed.

'Mr. Sutton, why are you here? Do you know these people?'

'I saw them protesting here while I was on my way to see my friends the other day. I made my research and discovered that these people just lost their job after the SEO company filed for bankruptcy. However, after looking into the company, I discovered they are hiring new employees and making them work eight to twelve hours per day while they are slowly getting rid of all older employees and even cutting their working hours to four to six hours.'

He continued, 'Some of these employees had been working for at least ten years! They are already in their late thirties or forties, getting a new job at this time is going to be difficult for them. These people have families! They have children! How could SEO Company do something like this? SEO Company! I grew up in the streets before the prime minister found me! I know what it felt like to be homeless! To have no money for food and medicine! I watched my own mother die because I am just a helpless child!

'So while I don't know this person or anyone here, I don't want their children to experience what I have been through in the past. No child should feel that helpless and worthless! So, SEO Company, I might be powerless but I will do my best to help them! Please give us an explanation of your latest actions or we will continue doing this until one of us dies!'

Gabi couldn't help but clap her hands after Alfons finished speaking. "He is good!" she said. Alfons looked angry and sad. There were tears pooling in his bloodshot eyes, her lips trembled as he tried to contain his anger. "Wow." Alfons' skills are indeed top-notch!

In the previous life, this incident happened too. However, at that time, Gabi joined Alfons in that protest.

Yep, she was foolish enough to do that.

When she saw Alfons in the news, she immediately went to see him and tried to convince him to stop this nonsense. When Alfons refused to do it, Gabi sat next to him and joined the protest until she fainted.

Obviously, her fainting made her grandfather so mad, he contacted the SEO Company and demanded an explanation himself. The company was forced to comply when Grandfather Ren threatened them.

When Gabi woke up the next day, the company already offered an apology and good compensation for everyone who suffered.

But what would happen in this lifetime? Gabi is not going to join him. Meaning, she won't faint and her grandfather would not demand an explanation from SEO Company. Right now, Alfons is known only to the people his age. His classmates from the prominent university know him and admire him but their parents don't.

Even if they do, they would never involve themselves in something like this just for the sake of someone like Alfons. These families were all wealthy and most of them owned a business or two. Meaning, they understood how a corporation worked. Gabi was confident that they knew why SEO Company did it.

Moreover, some of them also knew that SEO Company is backed by a congressman. It would be very hard to attack a company like that.

Hmmm Now that she thought about it, there is a possibility that Alfons also knew this. However, he still dared to do it in front of the media. Obviously, he wanted to make this as a stepping stone for his future career.

She squinted as a smile appeared on her face.

Chapter 537: 'Friends'

"I was surprised to hear that you didn't help Alfons when he was out in the sun protesting for other people's rights," Felice said. "I actually thought that you would sit next to him and use your grandfather's name to help him."

Gabi's eye twitched when she heard her words. "Do I really look like that to you?"

"No offense, but the rumors said you would never want your cousin to suffer."

Gabi chuckled. "Did the rumors said that I love my cousin, too?" Seeing Felice turned silent, Gabi couldn't help but laugh this time. Of course, she already heard those rumors in her previous life. "And do you believe them?" She slowly finished the macaron while observing Felice's reaction.

Gabi didn't think that she would meet this woman after saving her. However, it seems that Felice really wanted to get close to her. The woman called her and told her she had something important to tell her. Gabi initially declined the meeting as she was really busy. However, Felice said that this is the payment for saving her back then.

"Of course not. Hey, I was joking."

"You seemed cheeky today." Felice looked depressed last time. However, now, she looked thrilled. "Did something happen?"

"I was about to share the news with you."

"What news?"

"I am now working in my father's company."

"Oh?"

"Sorry if I disturbed you. I know you are busy. I just " Felice lowered her head. "I don't have any friends except you."

'Friends',

The word made her speechless. Gabi never had one before. Moreover, she only met this woman once. Why would Felice think they were friends? "I "

"It's alright if you don't think we are friends."

"That's not it. I'm just a little surprised."

"It's really alright. I knew your not the friendly type."

"I just didn't think that you would consider someone like me as a friend. After all, you only met me once."

"Friends save each other, and they treat each other food."

"My mother said that."

"She's dead now."

""

Felice smiled at her. "Sorry for mumbling like that."

"It's alright." Honestly, Gabi was speechless. She didn't know what was she supposed to say. In the end, she maintained her silence.

"My father was the first one in the family who finished college."

"Ah"

"My grandfather single-handedly started our business with no sort of educational background. It was just because of talent that he managed to make the company big." Felice continued. "He always said that building connections are good. So, he sent my father to a prestigious school. Then the two of them made sure to send me to a more prestigious school. I too think it was the right move. In that school, we met all the future CEOs, heirs, and heiresses, even royals were there."

Gabi stayed silent.

"I think I got it wrong, though," Felice said.

"What do you mean?"

"I thought he sent me there just to connect with other people. I think he sent me there as a wake-up call." Seeing Gabi just stare at her, Felice continued. "Before I went to that school, I was the top of my class. I aced all exams. I was pampered by everyone around me. However, this changed when I started college. I realized that there are smarter people, wealthier, more influential, braver, more ruthless. There was always someone ahead of everyone. The world is such a big scary place."

"So, that night, I told my grandfather about what happened to me. I also told him that I wanted to kill myself because I felt unworthy, but you saved me." Felice said.

"Why are you crying?" Gabi asked.

"It was because he told me something."

"Hm?"

"Do you want to know why my grandfather made it in the business world?" Felice said. "It was because of your grandfather."

Gabi stared at the woman, flabbergasted. What was she talking about?

"So I " Felice suddenly stood and give her a low bow. "I am here to thank you for everything. I promise I will do my best to succeed in this field and support you in the future. This is going to be my family's payment for saving us."

"" Was this the reason why the Brent Family helped them? Gabi didn't know this kind of story existed! "Miss Brent, please don't bow like that. It's ummm embarrassing. "She looked to her left and right and, as expected, people are already looking at them. "Please stop that. It looked like I was bullying you." The woman was sobbing while giving her a bow. While she was calmly eating without an iota of emotion in her face.

"Sorry" Felice used her handkerchief to wipe the tears from her face.

"It's alright. Please stop that. You are making me uncomfortable."

To her surprise, Felice smiled in response. "Yeah yeah I understand. Sorry about that."

"Anyway, I didn't disturb you for nothing."

"Hm?" Honestly, Gabi didn't know what to expect anymore. Right now, she felt really clueless. Despite coming back from the dead, Gabi felt that she actually missed a lot of important things. What had she been doing in the past? How could she even say that she was smart? She doesn't even know anything about her Ren Family!

"I came here to give you this." Felice gave her a flash drive.

"It's dirt."

"Hm? Dirt?" Gabi looked at the silver flash drive.

"On everyone who bullied me."

"What?"

"I am not asking you to have revenge or anything. Please don't misunderstand. I know that revenge won't give me anything. However, I know that you are smart and your future is limitless. We don't really know if one of these people would try to hurt you in the future. So, use this against them."

Gabi stared at the flash drive for a few seconds. "How did you get this?"

"As someone who was treated as a maid, I have the opportunity to know a couple of their secrets. They were confident that I wouldn't do anything about it. After all, I am just the daughter of a small businessman from the south. Some are recordings of bribery and abuse of power. It is not enough to take them to prison, but it should help you, in case something happens."

Chapter 538: The Quiglys

"Miss, everything inside the USB has been confirmed. These people are indeed accepting bribes, bullying students, and abusing their power. Shall I send this to the media?"

"No need," Gabi accepted the flash drive that Felice gave her earlier. "I will keep it." She then put it on the vault that is located inside one of her drawers. "However, I want you to investigate more. The names are included inside the drive. Please give me a thorough investigation about them. I am not in a hurry, so take your time." This is just a small matter. If she really wanted to use this as a weapon, then she needed a more thorough version of everything.

Gabi got up and looked at the view outside of her office. Fall has arrived. Winter will come next. It will be cold and there will be snow. That would also mean that she had reincarnated for six months now. So far, she had accomplished a few things that would have significant effects on her future.

However, what would happen after she get rid of Alfons?

Honestly, she didn't think of these things until Felice showed her the flash drive. In her world, there is no such thing as living languidly, enjoying life somewhere. She was smart enough to know that a peaceful life is nothing but a dream. There is no going back from what she is about to do.

Meaning, she needed to prepare herself not just for Alfons but for other people.

She crossed her arms across her chest and let out a sigh. The information that she received is another stepping stone. She is going to use it for her future.

"You look so serious."

Gabi turned towards the door and was surprised to see her cousin, Earl. "What are you doing here?" Earl had a bright smile on his face.

"Ah, grandfather told me to give you something."

"Hmmm take a seat. Do you want coffee? Or tea?"

"I prefer coffee. Latte is you have."

"Kasper, please give him some latte and tea for me." Gabi gestured earl towards the couch and the two of them sat across each other. "I didn't expect that you still have the time to run around and personally send me something. I know that you are busy."

"Ah, yes. I am a bit busy. However, I am giving you something important for the family. So "Earl didn't continue his words as he roamed his gaze inside her office. "I was honestly surprised to see this place."

"Why?"

"Well I was expecting to see some high-tech stuff and a sleek, super-polished office surrounded by glass. Your office is the exact opposite. Though it looks really cozy, I could sleep here."

"You looked enthusiastic," Gabi noted. "I am not letting you sleep here."

"Hey, that was a joke. A joke." Seeing that she was still staring at him without a smile on her face, Earl cleared his throat. "If you keep on frowning, you will soon have wrinkles."

"Sorry, I was just a bit preoccupied with something."

"Oh? Am I disturbing you?"

"No. It's fine."

After a few seconds, Kasper arrived with Earl's latte and Gabi's tea. "Anyway, you said grandfather wanted you to give me something?"

"Yes. Before anything else, I wanted to inform you that the matter with the Lee and Li is already taken care of."

"Ah. That's good."

"And the bidding. Is also good. Grandfather is going to make sure that we would not win."

Gabi nodded in response.

"Anyway, I am here to give you this."

"What's this?" She opened the tablet that Earl handed her.

"There is a copy of the information inside this flash drive. As you can see it is really important that I personally give it to you."

"Councilman Yong?" Gabi's eyes squinted at the information of the man in front of her. It was one of the famous councilmen in their city that is known for being kindhearted. This man was well known to give homeless people food. He personally visits the market and makes sure that no one is overpricing the fish and vegetables, he also make sure that everything is fresh. This man is just all over the city, helping people left and right.

However, the information in front of her eyes was different.

"Grandfather said that this is going to be your official task."

"You wanted me to convince Councilman Yong to agree to the land reclamation project?"

"No, on the contrary, grandfather wanted you to stop it."

Gabi blinked at Earl before she started reading the information again. Stopping a land reclamation project? Why? However, just as she could analyze what was going on, Kasper walked towards her and whispered something before showing her another news on the tablet.

"Who is that? Is that Alfons again?" Earl asked. "That man has been making headlines because of his protests lately. Do you think he would succeed?"

"No," Gabi uttered. "He wasn't able to convince the SEO Company to give them an explanation. However, he was able to use another person." Gabi smiled and handed the tablet to Earl.

"Eh? Lyle Quigly? Why would she"

"She joined the protest and fainted. It's fall, it is getting colder. I am surprised she even lasted two days before fainting." As always, Alfons was able to manipulate someone to finish the job for him. Then, he would take all the credit.

"Why would the Quigly family allow this to happen?"

"No idea. The Quiglys are a bunch of arrogant folks. I didn't think they allowed Lyle to join the protest. However, I wonder if this would change anything." Gabi couldn't help but smile. Lyle Quigly and Alfons Sutton.

Should she just help these two marry each other and live a happy life together?

"You are right. I have met the chairman before. He isn't the nicest. Too arrogant."

Gabi nodded. The thought of the Quigly Family made her wonder about the information that she asked Aden. It has been a few days, and she still didn't receive anything from that man. Does this mean it was difficult to investigate the Quiglys? "Anyway, let us stop talking about them. I want to know why grandfather wanted to stop the land reclamation project."

Chapter 539: Reading Him Like a Book

Kong City, Xu Country.

"It was a success!"

Aden yawned when he heard the voice of his assistant. "Yeah yeah inform mother about it." He removed his coat and immediately went towards his office. Now that he successfully created the first robot that could directly repair human genes, he could laze around for a few months.

He immediately converted his chair into a bed and closed his eyes. He needed sleep; he craved one.

"So, you sleep ten hours in the night and still sleep during the day. Brother, are you a pig or something?"

"A Koala."

"Huh?"

"Pigs don't sleep a lot. My lifetime goal is to sleep like a koala."

Aya frowned and opened her phone to search for Koalas. "You want to sleep eighteen to twenty-two hours every day!?"

"You are so clueless. Who doesn't want to relax like that?"

"You "

"I just completed a series of experiments. I am so tired, I could barely move."

"Brother you just started the experiment two hours ago."

"So?"

"It only took you two hours to work and you are already this tired. Should I tell mother that something is wrong with your body? Maybe it has something to do with your endurance."

Just as expected, Aden's expression changed. "Why are you here?" Finally, Aden opened his eyes and glared at his sister. "Oh? You brought food? Why didn't you tell me earlier?" Almost immediately, Aden's face lit up like a child who just saw his favorite candy. He sat up and gestured his sister towards the L-shaped couch inside his office. "Heh, is that my favorite?"

"Yeah, I made it."

"Oh. Then what do you want this time?"

"Are you leaving after this project?"

"Yep."

"Why?"

"A mountain can't have four tigers."

Aya pursed her lips. By four tigers, Aden meant their father, mother, him, and Aya. This was something that Aden always say. Their family is too great, they can't stay next to each other. Of course, this was only Aden's excuse. The actual reason this man didn't want to stay here is that he feared their mother's capability to read him like a book.

"Everyone knew you are smarter than me. If you become the next "

Aya didn't continue her words when Aden gave her a knowing look. In fact, she knew her brother was doing this for her. Right now, Aya worked in the Shen Group. She had been training for a management position. However, everyone knew that Aden, along with their mother, was actually the core of the company.

Shen Group started their pharmaceutical chains when Aden decided to make some medicine that could combat their mother's poison. Since then, the company has produced some astonishing feats in the world of medicine. And everything is thanks to her brother's brain.

Because of this, most shareholders wanted Aden to take over the company. However, just like their brilliant mother, Aden didn't want to work behind a desk. He wanted to roam around, sleep, and eat.

"I don't do well with management." Aden started eating the spicy friend chicken that Aya made. This recipe was made with various types of pepper. From marinating it to cooking. The spicier, the better. "If I became the CEO many people would die."

Aya nodded while picking up one of the chicken legs. "I heard you succeeded?"

"Yep. I am smart, after all."

"Too arrogant."

"Just all about facts here."

Aya rolled her eyes.

"Man, you looked stressed." Aden chuckled. "If you are having a hard time handling those people. Just tell me. I could kill them, make it look like an accident, or just make them disappear. We could let the world know they run away or something."

"What are you talking about?"

"Killing is better than talking. Definitely easier too."

"You Psycho."

"Add handsome," Aden said. "A handsome psycho."

Aya just stared at her brother, speechless. While everyone knew Aden is smart, there is a minor problem. He grew up surrounded by robots and was raised by their mother. While their mother was loving, insanely brilliant, and caring, she didn't really think too much about anything outside of her family. In short, their mother was only warm to them but extremely ruthless to other people. And Aden inherited this trait.

Aden Archy Shen doesn't really think too much about anyone outside of their family.

Memories of their childhood appeared in her head. When she was three, she realized her brother was extremely smart. However, having a genius with a brother is good but sometimes, she worries too much about this man.

"Just tell them if they don't want to submit to you. I will make my company that will rival Shen Group."

"Yeah because you are willing to sacrifice yourself for that."

"Hey, I am still making you the CEO."

"Haha whatever."

"Look, if they resist and still question father's decision to make you the next head, then just put some pressure on them. Aiyo why don't you let me take care of this matter? I can "

"Nope. No, thank you. I will take care of everything."

"But look at your face. You look older than me."

"Your skin is a bit dry. That's because of stress."

"Anyway, even father and mother agreed that managing the company isn't suited for me. Damn, I would never work with those people."

"It's fine. I can handle it. Those old folks can complain all they want. They already knew that I am skilled enough for the position, but their misogynistic thoughts were stopping them from acting like a rational human being."

"See? That's the problem. Ugh people are weird."

"Really. No need to worry. Plus, mother is with me."

"And that is the exact reason why you should let me act first," Aden uttered. "What do you think would happen if mother does something? Aish you should be thankful she is too lazy to do anything for now. But if she knew they were giving you a hard time she would surely make those people suffer. Meaning, the stocks are going to be affected! Meaning, my profits are going to take a hit! So before she does something crazy, let me take care of those people, alright?"

"You are all talk!" Aya said. Of course, their father would never let them do anything about this matter. "If you are so brave then... why not asked father about it?"

"Using robotics to repair damaged tissues." Gabi smiled when she read the newspaper. The Shen Group is really going all out. Even in her previous life, the Shen Group has always been successful in using robotics in the field of medicine. The Shen Group excels not only in the military but also in medicine.

Years from now, Shen Group is going to become a superpower, capable of changing the economy of one's nation. This was the company that was owned by the Shen Family. However, the thing that stands out the most about this company is the fact that they are going to discover a way not just to create new body tissues, but also to regenerate lost limbs.

"Alright, tell Lawyer Oh, to slowly buy more shares of Shen Group." After telling Kasper about this matter, she also sent some documents to her grandfather, suggesting that he should invest in Shen Group too.

"Miss, here is the news about young master Alfons. Just as you said, he is getting closer to Miss Quigly."

"Good. It's all good. You can leave now." Gabi was still in her workout clothing because she just finished running and doing all of her exercises. It has been a few weeks since she started running and she could proudly say that she could now run two kilometers without fainting! Just yesterday, she started pushing her limits and increased the distance to three kilometers!

It was a slow process, but she could also feel the changes in her body. Right now, running on the stairs isn't tiring anymore. And she could now enjoy the cold temperature without wearing a thick layer of clothing. Aside from this, she is gaining weight!

Glen, her trainer, said they were muscles from the protein that she consumed every day and the exercise.

Because her body was getting stronger, the recoil from her gun didn't affect her as much as it used to. She felt relaxed, energetic, and definitely happier.

"Miss, finally Councilman Yong agreed to see you. However"

"However?"

"He wanted to see you in an hour."

"Oh?" Isn't that interesting?

"Shall I tell him that you are busy?"

"No. Tell him to meet me in the Bobo jewelry store in an hour. Miss can we really demand the "

"If he won't agree tell him this is about the reclamation project." If the rumors about this old man were true, then she was confident that he would agree to meet her. Councilman Kong would think that Gabi is going to bribe him for the reclamation. The old man would never miss an opportunity like this.

"Miss, if you don't mind, shall I start preparing for the money?"

"No." Gabi smiled. "Let's leave now or we are going to be late."

"But miss what about your breakfast?"

"It's fine. I am not that hungry." The old man actually thought that she would decline this meeting because it was still seven in the morning. Moreover, the appointment was too sudden. If Gabi would decline, then there is a possibility that she would never be able to meet the old man again.

Dressed in a white pantsuit, Gabi and Kasper arrived in the Bobo jewelry store at exactly eight in the morning.

"You know we open at nine." The man who welcomed her was Sari. However, this time, he was actually glaring at her. "You are treating this place like a restaurant."

"And yet your boss agreed." Gabi smiled in response. This man looked too serious and scheming. She recalled the last time she was here, this man actually dared to plant some recorders around her! "I would assume that the thing that happened last time isn't going to happen again?" Gabi stared at the man's eyes. Despite their height difference, Gabi didn't feel intimidated at all.

"Hmph. Just follow me."

Sari turned and ignored her as he led her to another private room this time. "I will ask someone to bring you food. Do you have any allergies? Or preference?"

"Coffee and a bottle of water, thank you."

Sari nodded. This man was really different from the man that he met the last time. Was it possible that this was not Sari but someone else? What if they were triplets? That is possible, right?

After a few more minutes, Councilman Yong arrived. The gentle smile on his face looked exactly like the smile that he used to give Gabi in her previous life. "Miss Sutton I am sorry for meeting you like this. However, I am really busy. As you know I distribute food to the slums every morning and evening, so I am really busy. "Councilman Yong was wearing a simple shirt and pants. Anyone who doesn't know him would say that he just looked like an ordinary salaryman walking down the streets with some groceries in his hand.

Everyone knew that Councilman Yong was simple. He loves serving people; he is kind to everyone and spends most of his salary giving back to the less fortunate families in the slums. And this was one reason why this man was going to become one of Alfons' powerful allies in the world of politics.

"Take this" Gabi slowly pushed a velvet box towards the old man. She didn't offer him coffee or tea or food. She just gave him the box.

"Miss Sutton what is Jewelry?"

"It's a necklace. Many women would love that."

"Miss Sutton are you trying to bribe me right now?"

"Hm?"

"You just gave me an expensive gift even though this is the first time that we met. Are you trying to bribe me into doing something for you?"

Gabi only smiled in response. "No, Councilman Yong this is a gift."

"A gift? I have no wife. I only have a son. Why would you give me something that I cannot use? Unless, of course, you wanted me to sell it."

"No. It's not for you or your son. It's for your daughter."

Almost immediately, Councilman Yong's face contorted into an ugly scowl. He glared at her. "What did you just say?"
