

Lazily 606

Chapter 606: It wasn't Cheating! It was Racing!

Gabi wasn't surprised to know that no one immediately challenged her after the list was revealed. However, this didn't mean that she wasn't going to challenge everyone. This time, she had her eyes on the second placer. It was a man named Rodrigo Imperial. She recalled the man's appearance from the first task and knew that he got an injury in the leg. He is also one of the few people who fainted during their running exercise on the second day.

"So you challenged someone who could barely walk?" Someone asked her when she issued the challenge.

"This man is about six foot one," Gabi said.

"But he could barely walk."

"He got a total of thirty-three points." The first placer of the first test got three points. The second placer had two points, and the third had one point. The thing is, all three of them sustain a lot of injuries because they just ran and ran without analyzing the location of the beam.

Of course, she wasn't too excited to challenge an almost cripple man. But this is survival of the fittest. If she won't challenge them, someone else would challenge her. Next, she issued another challenge, and this one, she challenged the second placer, then the third. After that, Gabi started putting in the names of the people that she wanted to challenge for the rest of the week.

"Hey! Why are you inputting the names now?" Someone asked. Since everyone else was hesitating to challenge her, she challenged them instead. Of course, her actions caused panic in a lot of people.

How could she choose the ones with the largest injuries? Men and women who got a lot of burns were challenged. They could barely sleep because of their burns and now this demon who didn't have any injuries issued a challenge every twelve hours!

"She is indeed a special child." Alfredo or Fred said as she squinted his eyes at the challenges. "She also challenged the both of you." He looked at the list of twelve people that received the challenges. "This woman is either too crazy or too stupid. Even if she didn't sustain any injuries, it would be impossible for her to fight against big guys every twelve hours." The thing is, the first six people on her list were all men, all-around six feet with a body full of muscles.

"I know, right? Isn't she a bit too much? I notice that she didn't have some muscles. She looked like a model, actually. Her skin was too pale and her arms were too thin. Can she really fight a six-footer with those arms of her?" Mara snorted. So what if Leona was the first in the entrance exam? She won that exam without fighting.

She got the top spot because of her trickeries.

Moreover, her body looked really weak. "She got lucky, she didn't have any injuries that day," Delia noted. "Now, we just need to rest and wait for her to exhaust herself, then we can show her what it felt like to be injured. Hmph!" In Delia's mind, Leona was only arrogant because everyone else was injured.

They didn't know that Gabi already calculated everything in her small little brain.

"She actually challenged the people with the worse injuries?" Ma Ping's eyes widened when he saw the list. This woman was not only scary smart! She is also ruthless! But isn't this good?

So, on that night, Gabi had her first fight.

The fight this time was on a different floor. There were a total of twenty caged spaces. Each space was about eight to ten meters squared. It looked like the caged space where martial artists fight on TV. However, this one is circular.

Gabi looked at the man in front of her. Earlier, the man was limping towards the stage. However, the man didn't show any weakness in front of her.

"You actually dared to fight me while I was injured. Don't think that I won't challenge you again once I am healed." Rodrigo spat, fuming. "However, did you really think that this injury could stop me?"

Gabi just snorted. She didn't say anything, instead, she looked around and realized that all trainees were here watching the show. They must be here to know her fighting style!

Too bad for them, she wasn't planning on showing them anything.

"You You actually dared to look around!? Are you underestimating me?"

Of course not! Gabi thought inwardly. Just her waist alone looked like the man's legs! Who would want to fight against a man like that? Seeing her nonchalant shrugged, Rodrigo let out a curse before he suddenly jumped towards her. The action caused him to winch, but it was nothing he couldn't handle.

Rodrigo had been stabbed before, and he grew up in the streets fighting. How could a slight pain hinder his movements? However, he failed to realize something.

Gabi wasn't here to fight him.

The rules didn't say anything about the style of the fighting. As long as there is no weapon involved, then they can do whatever they want. And this includes running around.

Gabi was smaller and undeniably quicker because she didn't have injuries. Obviously, it would be difficult to outrun her. Especially if the giant that followed her was injured in his leg.

"Ahhh! If you are so brave, fight me!"

"Stupid! Am I not fighting you?" Gabi rolled her eyes. "Racing is fighting too."

Racing

Racing

Racing

Her words echoed inside the whole space. The silence that followed was suffocating, yet many people who were watching didn't know if they should laugh or cry at her words. How could the top one at the entrance exam be this shameless?

Everyone speechlessly stared as Gabi used her agility and small frame to avoid the man. It was actually a hilarious sight, as the injured man looked like he was trying to slap a mosquito or catch a fly instead of fighting Gabi.

"You You This is cheating!"

Again, Gabi snorted. "Cheating? Did you even read the rules? You cannot decline or refuse any challenge." But did it say you have to fight fair?

The answer is simple.

It's a f*cking NO!

Chapter 607: A Good Night Sleep

"One hour and twenty-five minutes!" The fight lasted for one hour and twenty-five minutes. However, it didn't look like a fight at all. It looked like Gabi and Rodrigo were playing games. In the end, Rodrigo lost all the will to run. He surrendered.

To him, it was better to lose than to act like a child! In the end, the glory was still his. After all, his opponent was a damn coward. Even the other trainees started thinking that Gabi was indeed a coward who only got the first spot because of tricks.

However, that fight lingered in everyone's head that night. Many wondered what would Gabi do in the next fight. Would she run around again? Wouldn't that be too much? Some of them also started expecting that the teachers are going to change the rules because of what Gabi did.

Sadly, they won't be able to see the fight, as they would already start another round of training by then.

"You How could you embarrass Rodrigo like that? That man was a war veteran!" Mara was first to say what was on her mind. In fact, the fight earlier made everyone upset. That Rodrigo was already twenty-seven years old, and he already served two years in the military before quitting. A family decided to fund him and that was the reason why he was here. "How could you insult him like that?"

"What are you talking about?" Gabi said after she drank her water.

"You actually looked like you were playing tag with an injured person! How could you be so shameless!"

Gabi just shrugged in response. Was that really shameless? Of course, it was! However, she couldn't remove Ma Ping's words from her head.

They are here to survive.

These people came here to fight and show their dominance. However, they were wrong about one thing. You cannot always use fighting to show your dominance. Sometimes, you have to use your brains too!

The rules this time didn't say that she couldn't play tag with her enemy. She just needed to defeat them. Moreover, she only used her advantage to defeat the enemy. Was that really too despicable?

Umm maybe?

However, she wasn't planning on stopping. She was aware that her martial arts might not be the best, but she still had other weapons, the ultimate weapon. Her brain!

These people wouldn't understand it.

"You Are you going to do that too once you fight us?" Mara asked. It felt like Gabi was looking for fun. Gabi wasn't actually taking them seriously! Did she really think that everyone here is as weak as her? Mara met Delia's eyes and the two silently thought about the things that they were going to do to Gabi to show her that they were not someone that she could underestimate!

Just like the trainees, Ma Ping and the other teachers were also speechless when they saw the fight.

"I think we should change the rules," Kincaid, the man that Gabi met a few days ago, said. "This time we should emphasize it. Right? Fighting with fist and legs. Not just racing." For some reason, Kincaid felt second-hand embarrassment because of what Gabi did.

It only showed that the rules have holes! This is going to be a problem in the future!

Alison, another teacher, chimed in. "She's using her brains. Do you think you can just fight with your body? The madam would surely like this style."

"I agree!" Donna nodded. "I think it was commendable. She didn't want to exhaust her strength fighting an injured giant. Look at her, she's so thin. If she really fought... Hold on!"

"Right. She chose to fight with big injured guys on her first six challenges because she was planning to just run around until their injuries would bleed again." Kincaid said, as he facepalmed. This is so embarrassing!

Not one of them realized what she was planning! When she chose all injured trainees, they already thought she was shameless. But using this method to win against them is just

"Let's be honest here" Ma Ping smiled at everyone. The people working for Ma Ping were not personally trained by Madam Lyca. Unlike Ma Ping, who experienced Lyca's shameless behavior, these people were like second and third generations. They only heard stories about what happened, but didn't actually see it. "Leo is different from all of you." How could Ma Ping hate someone that reminded him too much of the madam?

At least Gabi wasn't as lazy as the madam? But hey! Shamelessness is a talent too!

"So we are not going to change the rules?"

"We cannot change the rules now. Next year, however" Ma Ping chuckled. He already had a shameless plan in his head. "This is good, too. This is the first time that we encountered someone like her. We should use this opportunity to see if we could improve the rules next year!"

"I agree. We should just let her do her thing. The thing about men is they easily underestimate us women. Right now, everyone must be underestimating Leo too. After all, she looked thin and weak. And now, she is also showing that she is afraid of fighting. I guess this is her strategy."

"I honestly think so too! I think she is using this opportunity to make everyone underestimate her and once everyone already thinks that she was weak, she is going to strike!"

However, when Gabi received this question from Mara, her answer was actually pretty simple. This wasn't just about the scheme. It was simply because she is scared of pain. If she could avoid being hit, then why not?

Those men had really big fists

One hit and she might lose her consciousness. One kick and her insides would get damaged!

When facing an enemy like this, the best way is not to fight head-on!

So, she decided to take advantage of their injuries instead!

"Anyway" Gabi waved her hand. "I'm off." Tonight, she is going to have another goodnight's sleep in her private bedroom.

Chapter 608: Fake Lioness

Just as everyone expected, Gabi won the next five fights by running around and exhausting her already wounded opponent. It was something that made most of the trainees upset. After all, they wanted to see her skills the skills of the person who topped the exam but ended up seeing nothing but her shameless behavior.

Because of this, many trainees started calling her the Fake Lion. Those people thought that the Lion was the king of the jungle because of its strength and courage. However, since Gabi didn't show any of this, she didn't deserve the top position and thus, she was named the Fake Lion. Of course, this was also about her name which was Leona.

"Fool." Gabi snorted when she heard someone whisper about her nickname. These people were wrong about Lions. Lions were considered the king of the jungle not because they were the biggest for instance, an elephant is clearly bigger than a Lion. It wasn't considered the king because it was the fastest obviously, a cheetah is faster than a lion. It wasn't also the animal that could fly the highest or swim the fastest. A Lion is considered a king of the jungle because of its fearlessness.

Lions are fearless! They would always face their enemies head-on even if they were smaller or weaker than them. In a sense, Gabi considered herself half a lion. After all, she was very vicious in her previous life too. Moreover, she had never been afraid of anything before. However, having Luca changed her.

In her previous life, she depended on other people and hadn't learned anything to protect herself. She trusted people easily and suffered because of it. So yeah, she was only half a Lion.

The thought of Luca made her melancholic. If she would have another Luca in this life, she would surely do everything to protect him from everyone.

That's why she needed to learn more and can protect herself. After all, she wouldn't be able to protect her own son if she cannot even save herself from other people's schemes.

"Tomorrow you will be fighting against Mara. I saw her spar with Delia. She's strong." Miles said as she sat opposite her. Since that day, Miles started sitting opposite Gabi every day and just ate her food. Sometimes, she would congratulate her for winning, sometimes she wouldn't say a single word and just leave after eating.

Actually, Gabi started to wonder what was this woman's motives. If she wanted to get close to Gabi then why not say a word?

"Yes." Gabi nodded.

"You ready?"

Gabi nodded. "I am." Then she stared at Miles as the atmosphere between them turned awkward. Is this the classic case of two introverts talking to each other? As if sensing her thoughts, Miles lowered her head.

Of course, Gabi lowered her head too and maintained her silence.

And just like that, the two finished their food and immediately went to join the training. This time, they were asked to crawl underneath electric barbed wire.

Yep.

There was electricity on the barbed wire. If you hit it, a burst of pain would surely hit your body and might even make you faint. Of course, you can't just crawl slowly as there was a timer and the first few people that would reach the other end would get rewards.

However, Gabi wasn't here to get rewards. She was here to remember who got the rewards and challenge them next!

In Gabi's analysis, it would be impossible to pass this kind of activity without feeling that pain from the electricity. So, those people who got the first, second and third place would have suffered lots of injuries too.

Right now, Gabi was more concerned about who to challenge next! Since she was aware that she wasn't that strong, she was going to take advantage of this chance to learn more and challenge weaker opponents first. Then she would come back and haunt the stronger ones later.

"Alright since you are all here" Ma Ping's voice suddenly echoed inside the training hall. He wasn't there so Gabi assumed that he was watching them from that control room, again. "You have three hours to occupy the fighting Arena. You will be given a chance to practice your martial arts. Weapons will be provided. However, you are not allowed to fight each other. At least not now. There have been some changes in the rules. I will inform everyone about it next week."

Changes?

It's not because of her, right?

Gabi chuckled inwardly.

"Hey Leoness why don't you show us what you're capable of?"

Gabi stopped walking for a few seconds before she shrugged and decided to ignore it.

"Ohhh she's scared. She is just good at running away."

"Well that's only because she's a coward. There is no way that she would be accepted in this place if she didn't have the ability to fight, right?"

Gabi didn't say anything. She continued walking until they reached the fighting Arena. Just as Ma Ping said, there were weapons everywhere. However. Where are the guns? What's with these weapons?

Spears?

Swords?

Daggers?

Axe?

Huh?

A Question mark appeared on Gabi's head. Who would use such a weapon in this day and age? She looked at some of the weapons that she didn't even recognize and spotted some bows and arrows.

Why let them use weapons like this?

Gabi narrowed her eyes. No, there must be a reason why they were given a lot of time to practice using these weapons. But what could it be?

Are they going to let them fight against each other using ancient blades? However, Ma Ping said that they weren't allowed to fight unless it was a challenge right?

Hold on!

Ma Ping also said that there would be some changes in the rules. And after that, he said he would announce it next week. Was he deliberately trying to drop some breadcrumbs and lead them into thinking that they are going to fight?

Hmmm

Chapter 609: Bow and Arrow

"Look at her, she didn't even dare to use any weapons. What was she swinging the halberd for? Does she even understand what that is?"

"Look at that posture! She didn't know how to use it!"

"How embarrassing!"

"Damn! I have never seen anyone looking so ignorant as her!"

Meanwhile, Gabi was only checking the weight of each weapon. She quickly realized one thing. The spear-looking one isn't suitable for her as it was too heavy. She doesn't like that sword with a curved blade either.

Moreover, she isn't an expert on daggers or needles that are five inches long.

She only has one option!

"That's a Ulfberht Sword." Miles suddenly appeared next to her. "That one isn't a spear. That's a halberd."

"Oh."

"Do you need help?"

"Tell me the names?" Gabi asked. She honestly didn't know their names!

"Well that's a sickle."

"I know what a sickle is. Isn't that something grim reapers have?" Gabi asked. She ignored the comical look on Miles's face as she picked the one that looked like an axe. "This?"

"Battle axe."

"So it is an axe."

"It's a battle axe. It's for battle."

"Oh. And this?" she pointed at the weapon that looked like a spear but both of its edges have sharp blades. It was smaller than a spear too.

"That's a swallow."

"Who do you think made these weapons?" she asked. As a reader, she thought she could only see these names from the books that she read in the past. Well, she mostly read romance too so her idea about fantasy weapons was quite limited. "What about this?" she pointed at a short sword with really big blades.

"That's Ummm It's called a bastard sword."

"How do you know so many weapons?"

"I like weapons."

Gabi nodded. Miles was nice enough to introduce some weapons, should she give her little tips too? "They are planning to let us fight in groups. You should prepare yourself." She said in a low voice. By now, the other trainees already had their chosen weapon. They were using it and performing some sort of sword dancing or spear dancing.

All of them looked mighty and intimidating.

"How did you know?"

She shrugged in response.

"Are you going to use a bow and arrow?"

"It's the only thing that I can use." Her thin arms wouldn't allow her to use any of the bigger weapons and she didn't even know how to use the smaller weapons. However, she practiced using guns and at least her aim had been decent after the nanoparticles.

In fact, right now, she was confident that she wouldn't miss a shot. After that treatment, her eyes had been very sharp. Moreover, her reaction speed improved too.

It was akin to a superpower, except for one thing. Her strength didn't really increase. But she could only blame this on the fact that she was too skinny. How could she wield a lot of strength if she didn't have a lot of muscles?

Therefore, she needed to improve her body first. Maybe she should eat more protein and gain more muscles? Or

"Hey, Leoness"

The use of e instead of i is deliberate. They wanted to irritate her.

"How about a spar?"

"It's not allowed." Miles was quick to answer.

"They say it's not allowed to fight. But sparring should be alright, right?" the person who asked was the same man who had been laughing at her since earlier. He wasn't really that tall. Probably about five foot nine or ten. However, he had very broad shoulders, his biceps made him look like a wrestler that could easily throw her towards the wall.

"Sparring and fighting. What's the difference?" Miles asked. "Are you really so courageous that you are willing to be kicked out just because someone beat you?"

"Ah! I fought with you before, right?" Gabi's question worsened the atmosphere. She had been really occupied, she actually forgot that this was the same man that she fought a day ago. However, this was only because the man's bandage on his eyes had been removed. "Your injuries are all healed?"

"Are you mocking me?"

"No. I was simply asking a question."

"Yes. I am healed. So I wanted to challenge you to a fight!"

"Ah then wait in the line. Feel free to do that next week." Gabi calmly said.

"You-- "

"Anyway, I am about to practice" Gabi suddenly raised her bow and arrow then pointed them to the man. "Will you move?"

"And if I won't?"

Gabi wasn't surprised at the man's daring behavior. He must have thought that she wouldn't shoot him. After all, this is forbidden. Oh well" Then just stay there" Without completing her sentence, she suddenly let go of the arrow.

*SWOOSH*

A gasp echoed inside the room. It was followed by a long stretch of silence.

"You- You actually dared to shoot me?" The man held his cheek that was hit by the arrow. Luckily, she wasn't a great shot! What if the arrow actually hit his head? Everyone thought that she wouldn't dare shoot the arrow! This woman was crazy! The man silently thought. She isn't scared to break the rules!

Does she know the consequences of hurting someone outside of the challenges?

In fact, the man was just trying to provoke her earlier. Who would have thought that she would-

"I was shooting at the target." Gabi suddenly said. "It's about twenty steps behind you."

"You-" The man turned his head. Anger gripped his insides. Indeed! There was a target board behind him! And she actually hit it.

Clearly, she didn't even aim properly! It looked like she was just playing around!

How did she hit it?

"I told you. I will practice." Gabi said as she picked another arrow and positioned it on the bow. Then she lifted the bow and aimed it at the man. "Now are you going to move? Or do you want me to use your head to make it more challenging?"

Gabi smiled at the man. Silently, she was actually shouting with joy. She just realized that the nanoparticles were so useful! Ah! Aden! She wanted to kiss him!

Chapter 610: Fecal Incontinence

"You can shoot?" Miles chimed in behind her. Gabi nodded and didn't say anything else. She was still celebrating inwardly.

Still, she had to pretend that she could do these things for a long time now. She was enjoying the look of surprise on everyone's face.

"Alright why are you still looking at her? Go and practice!" Miles said. "That's a good shot."

Gabi shrugged coolly. Honestly, she didn't want to show off either. However, she didn't want to make these people make fun of her all the time. Moreover, she also had another plan this time.

First, she wanted to surprise them.

Second, she wanted to let them think that she was only good at shooting arrows and weak in close combat.

And most importantly, she wanted everyone to think that her skills lie in long-range combat. The reason behind this is that she wanted her future teammates to avoid giving her close combat tasks.

This would only lower her chance of having an injury!

This would also avoid any sort of painful injuries that come with fighting someone in close combat.

Just as she expected, many people believed that she intentionally showed off her talents in bow and arrow to make them believe that she wasn't useless.

"So what was so good about having talents in bow and arrow? In this day and age, everyone knows how to shoot a gun! Is that really something to be proud of?" Mare snorted while watching Gabi from afar.

They were scheduled to fight in six hours already and to be honest, she couldn't wait to put that woman in her place.

"Blades aren't really allowed inside the arena," Fred said. "However, you no longer have to worry about the fight."

"What do you mean?"

"I already took care of it."

"What?" Delia asked. "What are you talking about?"

"Well, she made a lot of people irritated. Some of those people wanted to put her in her place. So they used their influence and bribed the cook."

"You-" Mara's eyes widened when she heard his words. "That's illegal. They will kick us out!"

"Only if they knew that something was wrong." Fred snorted. "That woman loves routine. If you haven't noticed yet, she loves eating and would always run towards the canteen. She was always the first one to arrive. Every time."

"I noticed it too. She ate a lot. Did you see it too? I honestly felt awkward while watching her devour the food like she had a bottomless stomach. She could eat twice as much as me." Delia agreed. Mara and Delia's meals were already considered a lot by normal standards as they are following the diets that would give them the best strength possible. They ate a lot of chicken and potatoes and proteins in general.

However, that woman who looked skinny and smaller than them could eat twice as their food! At first, they thought she was bluffing when they saw her go back to get more food and return with a tray full of proteins.

To their surprise, the woman finished everything and even came for a third round. Now, this didn't surprise Mara and Delia but everyone who witnessed her ate.

That woman looked so skinny!

How could she eat so much food?

The thing is, Gabi would do this every meal and would even eat some snacks twice a day! Everyone knew that she also had a fridge full of food inside her room so they weren't really sure if she only ate snacks twice. Who knows if she wakes up at night and eats more?

But Why isn't she gaining any weight?

Well, the answer to that is simple.

It was because she barely had any sleep as she fought people twice in twenty-four hours and also joined them in exercises.

"So you guys are going to poison her food?"

"What if you poisoned the wrong person?"

Fred snorted at the women's questions. "Who cares? The thing is, no one would know about it."

"You were able to bribe the chief?"

"Not me. Someone else did. If they found it out, I won't get implicated as well."

"So poison? Is it going to be deadly? Because if it was"

"What a coward." Fred snorted. "The poison isn't going to kill her. Just give her a little stomach ache." It might not be considered that 'little'. "The thing is, people would think that it was only because she overeats or something. After all, even the teachers knew that she ate a lot of food.

"Are you sure this is going to work?"

"Of course! Why wouldn't it work? It's all clean. The payment was done through a third party. All cash. And I wasn't involved in any way." Fred smiled as he watched Gabi. In fact, Alfredo hated dirty means like this. However, Gabi shouldn't blame Fred alone. After all, this was Gabi's own fault.

Who told her to cheat her way to the top?

Everyone knew that she was weak but cunning. In the outside world, she wouldn't survive longer than them. She was just good at cheating everyone!

Because of this, many students felt that it wasn't really fair. How could a cheater get the top spot? So, they devised a plan to embarrass her!

Someone actually paid someone to give her a drug that would cause an inability to control her bowel movements. This would cause stool to unexpectedly leak from her rectum. And the timing was perfect too.

The drug was expected to have its effect while she was fighting with Mara! That woman was called the Fake Leoness now. After this event, everyone would surely start calling her the sh*t Leoness.

Just the thought of it made him laugh.

"Ah don't forget to bring some handkerchiefs to cover your noses later. Because it would surely smell like sh*t!" Fred started laughing.

While uncomfortable, both Delia and Mara started laughing too!

Indeed, there will be a good and funny show, later!
