

Reincarnated

"I didn't do it!" Mira's voice rang out furiously from the ring. In front of so many people who had disgusted gazes trained on her, people who once respected her, she tried to raise her head up and tell them that she really didn't kill anyone, it really wasn't her but her eyes only met her husband's, or maybe ex husband? He stared back at her with a smirk as he watched the executioner getting ready to execute her. Isn't that why everyone was gathered here today? To watch her being executed for a crime she did not commit.

Her eyes moved to the beautiful and sweet alluring woman, sitted by his side, the brother and sister duo were the people she wanted to kill the most if she had the chance. They planned all of this, both of them, they framed her for a crime they committed themselves. She became a scapegoat for them.

Mira felt tears pooling in her eyes but she quickly blinked them back, clenching her sts instead.

It was just few days back, when she received a letter from her husband asking her to come to his room. She was delighted as a lovestruck fool thinking that maybe he was nally interested in her. No one knew that her husband hated her as he was always sweet to her in public but not in private. All their married life, he only touched her once and today she thought that maybe he was nally seeing her worth.

She xed her dress and touched up her makeup as she hurried to the room and pushed the door open but what met her was a sight she would never forget. Her eyes widened as she stared at the woman riding him. His mistress. The arrogant blonde she hated so much. Did he call her here to see this? Why?

Clenching her sts, she approached them and hauled the woman off him. Gritting her teeth in anger, she glared at the woman.

"How dare you bh!" The blonde screamed and came at her completely naked while her husband, Jace laid there watching as her hair was being pulled. He gave her a smirk and she wondered what was going on. She was a luna. So this mistress shouldn't have the guts to lay her hands on her but she was doing that right now, without fear and Jason was just... Watching?

She fought back ferociously letting her claws out and allowing her wolf take a little control. The woman was beaten badly by her and just when she wanted to call a guard in to take her out, Jason stopped her. Stepping down from the bed in only his boxers.

"Not so fast Mira." He told her with a smirk that gave her a bad feeling and the next moment, he was plunging his claws in that woman's chest. His mistress. He was killing her and she just stood there, shocked and unable to do anything.

"W-why?" She looked at him and asked with shaky voice. She couldn't understand why he would do that.

"She hurt you." Jason told her and came forward to stroke her hair with his bloody claws then he cleaned them on her clothes. Goosebumps appeared on her arms as she tried to comprehend what he was doing.

Just then the guards came rushing in along with Eli, his sister. They took in the bloody mess and turned to her then Eli ordered the guards to take her away and that was when she knew that she had walked right into their trap. She couldn't prove to anyone that she wasn't the one who killed her as she had the mistress blood all over her body even in her claws. And that was how it was decided that she will be exucated today. There's no one who could save her so she just needed to accept her faith.

After today, they'll be no Mira, no one to disturb their peaceful life. No one to get in their way. They'll have all her power and inuence. It was perfect. If only she realized it sooner.

A smile slowly formed on her lips when she heard the sound of the drum and the people, her pack members who once loved and respected her as their luna now cursed at her. She closed her eyes and waited for it.

A second...

Two seconds...

And there it came, the pain rst, and then her world turning into nothing but an endless sea of darkness.

Water, that was all that was around her. She opened her eyes and started to gasp for breath but only a mouthful of water entered her mouth and went down her throat.

Mira thrashed when she realized she was drowning, unable to swim her way up as she felt too weak. She watched as she helplessly sank down further with no one to come to her rescue.

....

"It's quite hard to believe how evil you have become."

Mira heard this familiar voice the moment she snapped awake and couldn't help feeling a sense of deja vu as she looked around her seeing familiar faces she never thought she would see ever again. Some faces she just wanted to rip off. This scene, this setting was all too familiar to her.

With her cloths and hair dripping wet as she laid there like that. Her eyes moved to where the voice sounded from and there he was, the person who was suppose to be her husband cuddling another woman in his arms as he securely wrapped her in a big cloth while she, his wife and luna laid there unattended to. The woman in his arms was his dear sister, the very person who made sure her life was hell on earth.

She could swear she really died just a minute ago but then she suddenly found herself here, in this place, this day, where it all started.

She had been reincarnated! Maybe even the goddess thought that this life was too unfair to her and gave her a second chance. A chance to change everything, to make everything right. Her eyes met with her supposed husband who was giving her a cold look as if she was the evil one. Until this day, he usually treated her well but what happened just a moment ago?

She was standing in front of a pool, when Eli, her husband's dear sister approached her. They never had a good relationship. Never will.

"What do you want?" Mira had asked coldly. It was no news that she didn't like this woman.

"Being luna must be tiring." Said Eli facing her with a smirk, "I don't think you deserve the title anyway."

"You know Eli?" Mira turned around to face her, "I always get this feeling that you want my position as luna. Isn't that quite impossible? Which left me wondering..."

Mira studied her expression and could detect a hint of panic in them which only conrmed her suspicions.

"You can't possibly be in love with your brother right? Is that why you hate me so much?"

"Shut up!" Eli yelled. Her eyes turning a shade of blue as she glared.

Mira covered her mouth dramatically with a gasp. It was just her suspicions but she didn't expect it to be true.

"If you wanted to be a luna that bad you just had to marry an alpha but who would have thought... You didn't just want to be a luna, but your brother's luna!" She continued with her deductions feeling the rage Eli was giving off but she didn't care.

"I said to f*g shut up!"

Eli pushed Mira into the pool with a murderous expression then she realized what she had just done and looked around seeing that Mira was swimming her way up, she jumped into the water too and grabbed Mira's leg pulling her under while she herself swam up and started to call for help, screaming and thrashing, acting as if she couldn't swim and hoping that the woman dies before anyone arrived but things didn't go accordingly.

The pack members had quickly gathered when they heard the noise and rescued the both of them while Eli quickly started to tell a sob story of how Mira pushed her into the water.

No one doubted her.

Mira knew exactly why. It was because right from the start she never hid her dislike for this woman and now Eli was using it to her advantage.

Mira took in a deep breath as she stopped the memories that came ooding in. She xed her gaze on the duo at the side and as she predicted, Jason, her husband, Alpha of the blood moon pack opened his mouth to speak.

"Trying to kill my sister is a grave mistake Mira, I'll make you pay for that."

Mira smiled, even at this time he was taking his sister side. Well it wasn't like she expected him not to. He never loved her, no, they got married for benets sake. She was the daughter of a powerful and influential Alpha and he, he was no different. In exchange for something she well, had no idea about, her father had given her away to this man after he promised to treat her well. At rst he did, not until his sister suddenly came to live with them. Everything changed.

Mira let her gaze dart between them before she nally spoke, "As an Alpha, isn't it your job to investigate before coming to a conclusion?" She rubbed her arms, lowering her head and looking pitiful. Her eyes were lled with disappointment and hurt making the pack members glance at each other as she continued, "You believe everything she says but not me?"

"Eli... Wouldn't lie." Jason stuttered at this moment. Glaring at Mira as he realized what she was trying to do. He could already see the disapproval in his people's eye. How could he take the side of his sister and neglect his wife and luna? What if they were related by blood? He should do an investigation rst. He watched as someone brought a cloth and quickly covered her up in it.

Mira left her piercing gaze xed on him.

"If you're so sure, how about you let us take an oath? This behavior of your sister cannot go unpunished just because she's your sister. She lied against me and that's a crime big enough to let her spend some days in the dungeon."

An oath?

The others were all surprised.

Why would she suggest something as sacred as this?

She eyed Eli who quickly avoided her gaze and snuggled further into Jason's embrace. A small mued cry was heard followed by Eli's sobs, "I... Its okay... W-we don't have to take an oath... If something happens to her..."

Eli raised her head to stare at Jason with red eyes as she squeezed his hands, "I'm really okay, you don't have to do this. You... You should take care of her too." She got away from his arms, wrapping herself tightly as she stood, shivering.

Mira frowned. The bh was acting pitiful again. Quickly dismissing the idea of taking an oath but she was not going to let that happen. Today, she was going to show the woman's true colors to everyone. If she refused to take the oath again then it would only prove that she lied.

"We don't have to take an oath? Are you the one to decide that? You lied against me so its only natural that you prove yourself, Eli... If you're so..."

Mira heard a growl and saw Jason's dark face as he threw a glare towards her.

"Enough!" He yelled, his eyes already changing colors as his wolf surfaced "No one is taking an oath, it'd be disastrous if one of you suddenly drops dead."

Mira opened her mouth to say something in refute but a shout was suddenly heard as she saw Eli fall to the ground while everyone quickly gathered around her. Her lips twitched wondering where Eli got her acting skills from. At this point, Mira couldn't pursue the matter anymore or everyone would think she was just picking on her. She closed her eyes and took in a deep breath then turned around and left.

She didn't manage to achieve anything today. She lost but she still had a chance. That woman... No, the both of them. The brother and sister duo, she will make it her goal to destroy them.