

Chapter 153

"The company is fine. I made it in time to stop the major shareholders from selling their shares, so we're still in control."

Aaron paused for a bit and asked, "You'd better tell me what the hell is going on!"

Timothy was relieved to hear that the company was doing fine. It was only then that he felt the pain in his body.

He massaged his hands and feet, which had been tied up for hours, as well as the throbbing pain on the back of his head.

He shook his head and said, "I don't know. Nana told me to come home all of a sudden. As soon as I got home, I felt a sharp pain in the back of my head and everything went black. I fell unconscious, and after I woke up, here I was."

Aaron frowned. "Is there anything on you that's missing?"

Aaron looked around the villa. Everything was neatly arranged, and there were no signs of anyone rummaging through the cabinets. It did not seem like a burglary at all.

Meanwhile, Timothy checked his belongings and did not find anything missing. He turned on his phone and saw a dozen calls from his assistant, as well as a text message.

He clicked on the text message, only to find out that it was a billing notification. To be precise, it appeared to be a funds transfer to Luna's company account.

Timothy fell silent as he handed the phone to his father.

"Dad, I didn't transfer this money to Luna before coming here."

His suspicions were confirmed.

Aaron had been in the industry for a long time, so he had developed some wisdom.

He instantly knew what that meant, so he squinted and said, "Come on, let's go to Luna's company."

By the time Matthew received the news, it was already early the next morning. When his assistant reported it to him, he was bewildered.

After finding out what happened, he ended the call with a strange look on his face. He then called Lucy over.

"Wifey, I have some good news. Would you like to hear it?"

Lucy was curious. "What's the good news?"

"The father and son of Lucas Corporation sent Luna to the mental hospital!"

"What?!"

Lucy was shocked. What happened?

Was Timothy not in love with Luna?

Matthew told her everything his assistant told him.

"From what I've heard, both of them stormed into Luna's company, and there was a dramatic showdown."

Lucy looked at Matthew in disbelief as if she were deciphering an ancient scripture.

What had become of this world? How did things come to this state while she was preoccupied with work?

Lucy could not fathom it.

Matthew had an idea of how it all happened, but he did not tell his wife. He simply adjusted her collar and urged her to have breakfast.

Lucy sat at the dining table and ate her breakfast in a daze before Matthew sent her to the company.

At the company, Lucy was absent-mindedly reviewing the documents in her hand. After a while, she put down her pen.

She could not do it. If she did not get to the bottom of this, she would not be able to focus at all, so she called her secretary in.

Amy poked her head in and said, "Yes, Ms. Lucy?"

Lucy asked her, "Do you know which mental hospital she's in?"

Amy paused in confusion. Then, she realized that Lucy was probably referring to her deranged younger sister. After pondering for a moment, she told Lucy the name of the hospital.
