

Chapter 36

Lucy agreed and walked into her room.

Immediately, she noticed how girly the room was. There were even roses and pink peonies everywhere.

The many floral decorations completely changed the room's aesthetic into a more feminine style, making it look luxurious, extravagant, and even a little romantic.

Lucy was very pleased with the design. She looked around and remembered Matthew's instructions to open the wardrobe.

She opened it and was shocked by the clothes inside. Not only was there the bathrobe Matthew mentioned, but there was even a nurse uniform, a sailor uniform, dress shirts, and a lot more.

The most outrageous things were the bunny costume, maid costume, and such.

Lucy was so embarrassed that her head was about to explode. Was Matthew hoping that she would wear these?

Why else would these things be in her wardrobe?

Matthew had been falsely accused.

Although Matthew wanted to see his wife beautifully dressed up, he would not step out of line and do something like that.

These clothes were placed there by the hotel staff who just could not resist sticking their nose in the couple's business. Since Matthew finally brought a woman here, they wanted to help him perform better.

The roses in the room were also their idea.

However, Lucy did not know that, so she just put those clothes back shyly.

She took out the bathrobe from the wardrobe and was about to put it on when she suddenly realized a serious problem. It would be inconvenient for her to wear a bathrobe to the hot springs with Matthew because she would have to take it off.

Was he doing this on purpose? Lucy was wondering if she should wear it.

She was in a dilemma because he seemed to be looking forward to seeing her in it.

After contemplating, she finally came up with an idea to get the best of both worlds.

She would wear the bathing suit under her bathrobe. Then, Matthew could still see her in the bathrobe.

When it was time to enter the hot springs, she would still be wearing the bathing suit under her bathrobe. She was a genius.

Lucy secretly praised herself.

After making up her mind, Lucy got ready and walked out.

Outside the room, Matthew had been waiting for her for a long time.

Seeing Lucy come out in the bathrobe, his eyes lit up in approval.

Lucy was in a pink bathrobe, and her fair wrists shone under the light. The sight of her like this ignited a fire behind Matthew's eyes.

Damn it. He should not have asked her to put on the bathrobe.

How was he going to control himself when they got to the hot springs later?

Wait a minute, Matthew forgot something. Were the hot springs separated for men and women?

The resort belonged to him anyway, so he could do whatever he liked. If he said that it was mixed genders, then it was mixed genders.

It would just be him and his wife anyway.

Either way, Matthew felt like he had just shot himself in the foot.

He suppressed the urge brewing inside of him and grabbed Lucy's wrist, the same one that caught his eye earlier. He led her toward the hot springs.

Lucy obediently followed behind him.
