

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 21

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3
Matteo's Pov

"I'm pretty sure this is her first time doing it," I glance in her direction.

The guard was telling me that he found her with drugs, and I cannot believe the fer was lying about her on drugs.

'How dare he do that,' Thunder growls, but I try to control myself.

I didn't want her to know that this guard isn't a guard, yet he's a newbie on training. How do I know this? Because I train our pack members guard."

She probably doesn't know because she has never been to our pack's activities, and never has met a lot of people.

To be honest, I was disgusted when I saw the mother fer pressing her against the car.

She may not know this, but from a guy's point of view, the fer was trying to press his thing against her a. He was haraing her instead of handcuffing her as a guard.

Thunder in seeing it and being possessive all of a sudden only wants one thing, and that is to kill him, but I was full-on control refraining him from doing it in front of her.

She was lucky that we happened to pa by on our way back from my cousin's Pack 'The Moonbridge, and it seems like her destination is either at my cousin's Pack or Eric's.

I could have just still gone on, but the moment I saw the hair and the shape of her body, that's how I get my susion. It was her, and yes, it was confirmed when I stopped the car to save her.

"He was lying, I am not on drugs, and there wasn't anything in my car," she almost shouted, defending herself.

"Ms. I saw you," the guard lies, but she almost jumps right there, ripping out his head if it wasn't for me holding her back.

"You fing liar, I'll kill you," I pull her back to my chest.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Okay, enough," I growl loud, 'damn, she smells so good, I thought aside.

I get a good grip of her, "so where are you heading tonight?" I ask out of nowhere.

"To my grandmother's."

"Is it far," she nodded her head yes.

"Very well, you can go now, I'll handle this from here."

I told her, and without arguing the guard stood aside, and Adaah walks back to her car.

My eyes never left her back then she stops before I could ask what was wrong, she abruptly turn, "Matteo."

'f me,' is what I am thinking now and repeatedly chanted in my head, and I know full well that Thunder is smirking at me.

Damn, the way she smiles is fing beautiful, and those white teeth of her. Not forgetting the way, she just said my name.

'Damn it!' I love Quinn, and this woman in front of me is my regret yet why do I strangely feel this way now.

There was no hate here, but I kind of wanted to hold her and truly gave her a chance.

She started her car, pulling it on the road, waving me goodbye, and stupidly I wave back at her like an idiot.

Once her car is gone from my view, I growl, turning back and pinning the guard towards the nearby tree.

ADVERTISEMENT

My claws extend and dig into his flesh. The guard begs me there to let him go, but I was not having it as Thunder was taking control of me now.

"How many?" My eyes widen as I watch my wolf from the back of our mind growling fiercely at the guard while his hold tightens and the guard struggled to breathe.

Also, I am a bit confused about his question, "how many?" Thunder repeated.

"Twenty."

Again I'm confused, and before I took control, thunder crushes the guard's head on the ground lifting his body, then threw him on the other side.

His bone cracks, the guard is shifting into his wolf, but Thunder didn't give him a chance to.

He got to him like a lightning, and before I could try to fight for control he chokes him, and our right hands with claws went straight into his flesh, cutting up his skin deeply as we reached for his heart.

The guard still struggled to breathe, but Thunder smiles with sinister. He grips it a little making the guard scream and pant uncontrollably under our mercy.

Then he did something out of my knowledge. He forces the guard to look at him, forcing his way into his mind.

Flashes memories of the fer r three college students on the roadside, and he also molested four high school students keeps on replaying before us.

Others were brutally murdered, and some were being rd at parties.

I remember these cases the culprit was never found and the victims always withdrew their cases.

Now I know the guy is a psycho and is dangerous.

ADVERTISEMENT

Then the last one appeared, it was Adaah. The fer was stalking her after the game then tries to r her at the party if it wasn't for me. I am stunned right now, knowing now he was the one whom I beat up.

He has been stalking her, and tonight wasn't a coincidence, he knows where she was heading, and he was using his status to get her.

Thunder growls, withdrawing his hand from his heart before beating him up badly.

He lies there on the ground is still not dead as he was breathing.

Thunder sat on his hunches, and without another word, he reaches for his heart again, crushing it before growling ripping it out.

He gave me back control, and I stood their bath in the guard's blood. I never knew this side of Thunder, and I know I have to keep him in control.

Tonight we just murder someone without handing him over to our law's department.

Rapidly I run looking for a pool which I found not far off from this place. I bath in it, washing off his blood.

I then call my father on the matter in which he says he'll do it at least the monster has gone.

Yet even though the guard was a monster for r, molesting, etc. but tonight another monster was born, and it was none other than me.

I don't fully blame thunder as his being out of control was somehow my fault too.

Instead of continuing my way back home. I turn around and go back to the Moonbridge's territory.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 22

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3

My phone's alarm kept on ringing, and lazily I buried my head down the pillow.

I was too tired to reach for my phone to turn it off.

Suddenly the ringing went off, and I felt something sting my arm, making me wince. I woke up in alarm rubbing my arm in pain.

My eyes were now fully open, and my grandma stood there beside my bed with her bamboo maager back scratcher stick and a phone in her other hand.

"Grandma."

I cry out, rubbing my arm, she is talking on the phone which is on the loudspeaker, and the tone of the person on the phone isn't welcoming. Of course, it was my mother, shouting over the phone, not towards my grandma but me.

Calling out every punishment she would do to me for stealing my dad's car and driving without a license.

So practically after Matteo helped me with the guard last night, I came straight to my grandmother's house. She wasn't here, but since I know where she usually keeps the key when I was young, I try my luck, and it worked.

My grandmother didn't know the time, I came home as she wasn't at home, but she knew I was coming.

"Grandma," I pouted, "don't grandma me," she raised her voice, making me flinch.

Turning off the phone, "I love you, grandma," I went up, hugging her. "You liar," she tries to push me away, but I hug her tight.

"Best grandma ever," she hugs me back. "You have grown up, and I am impressed, you're more like your father except for the hair and attitude," she smiles.

"It's been such a long time," I could see her tears about to fall, and I hug her tightly.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Awww, grandma," I gush, "you know if I have a license, I won't miss coming here to see you," she nodded her head.

"Youngsters nowadays, you should use your legs to get here. Don't you have a werewolf gift?"

"You mean the rogues or hunters might kill me before I get here."

Her eyes roll up, "young lady, you need to be brave, now get yourself clean and be downstairs for breakfast. We have a lot to do today," I groan at that.

Stumbling my way down after the shower. I saw my grandma by the dining table with food already spread out on the table.

"Hmm, I miss your cooking," I quickly run towards her hugging her from the back.

"Oh silly, now settle down and eat."

I sat down smiling, then took in the most delicious smell of different food before devouring it.

"Oh dear grandma, you should have warned me, now I'm getting fat," I said, rubbing my full stomach.

My grandma whacks me at the back of my head "Grandma."

"So what if you get fat, eat and live is most important here in my home. Size doesn't matter, dear, you need to appreciate whatever body you have," I sigh.

"I was just kidding."

ADVERTISEMENT

"You better be kid."

My grandma is one typical woman, don't even complain about your face, body weight, height, or hair in front of her. She would give you one hell of a lecture on your life.

Trust me, when I was young, this kid pulls my hair and says it was ugly. So I went home and told my grandma, and you wouldn't believe what she did.

She lectures a seven-year-old kid on the basics of life, and then drags me to the kid's house and points him out in front of his mother, then gave him a warning.

I helped her clean up the table and the dishes. After I was done and was about to sit on the couch to relax. My grandma told me to move some stuff she packs in the bas*t.

She directed me to a room down the hallway, and what got me a frown was the pile of boxes and blankets.

"Grandma," I shouted back the hallway, my voice echoing throughout the house, and she replies, "don't grandma me."

After moving unwanted things in the bas*t. I rested upon a window wiping my sweat. I swear if I wasn't a werewolf, I don't think I'll be able to move everything.

I take a look outside, my eyes moving up to see our neighbor's house, and I went ooh when my eyes rest on a window.

Oh my! I shouldn't have seen it, but damn my eyes met with abs. If this is an onset scene of werewolf neighbors falling for the guy next door, then I would say this is the perfect moment to capture the scene.

If only the directors and the crew are present, then I would have been the actress, as the scene is remarkable.

Luckily I am not seeing anything else except those abs, and I am grateful he can't see me.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Perv," Alera calls me out, but Nah it wasn't my fault that I am seeing it.

"Adaah," my grandma called me from the stairs, and I quickly got up and ran out of there.

"Yes, grandmama."

I jog over to her and only to be met with a visitor in the house. He was quite handsome, his dirty blonde hair neatly in a modern comb haircut, and he was quite tall.

"Adaah, please meet our Alpha Aaron Reed," he extends his hand, and I shook it in return.

"He also lives next door," she says, walking back to the kitchen, leaving me alone with the handsome Alpha.

It was weird, we were both silent, and he didn't seem like the type of guy who likes to converse with anyone.

"Adaah," my grandma came back from the kitchen with a pie in her hand, breaking the silence in the room.

"Please take this next door, and also invite him over for lunch," I became confused since the Alpha is here, then why would I need to bring this over.

She pushes me towards the door, and in the next minute, I was in front of the porch ringing the doorbell. I almost ran out of patience when it finally opens, and oh, those familiar abs again.

My grandma's neighbors are so hot yet... No way!

I scream through my links with Alera licking her lips seductively.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 23

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3

Oh my! And No way!

Those abs, if only it belongs to another male wolf, yet it only belongs to none other than the green eye jerk.

We look at each other with surprise, and I am wondering why the hell he is doing here in another territory.

Does he have to be everywhere I go? I know I should be grateful for last night, but seriously why the hell is he here?

His presence is making me feel giddy. Like right here, I never blushed in front of any guy, but now I could feel the heat burning my cheeks while Alera drools over him.

"What are you doing here?" he asks, bringing me back to reality and just remembers I was supposed to give him the pie.

I put it high in front of me "my grandma wants me to give you this," he squints his brows, then looks at the pie in my hands.

He took a sniff, then a smile blaster on his face. "Wait! Your grandma is nana Gloria," he exclaimed while I furrow my brow, 'why would he call my grandma his nana.'

He immediately took it from my hands excitedly "come on in."

Wow! Again I am surprised he invited me inside without going all hulk on me.

"Should I go inside or not?" I ask Alera, and she quickly replies, "just get your a in, he's your mate, and besides didn't he save you from the guard last night."

He looks back for me, and I took a step inside.

ADVERTISEMENT

The place was quite big, and I felt comfy in there, my eyes darting around towards the photos and paintings on the wall. I followed him towards the kitchen and stood by the door.

I clear my throat, "so what are you doing here?" I ask him.

He immediately put the pie on the table and went through the kitchen cardboard. He fetched forks handing me one, and I nodded my head no.

"So are you going to answer me or not" I try again, hoping he would answer this time. I am seriously curious about why he was here.

"I am here to visit my cousin," he retorted.

Then it hit me his cousin must be the Alpha as this house is my grandma's only neighbor. My grandmother's house is located at the end of this pack after the Alpha's house.

"Thank you for saving me last night from the guard and also in the previous event," I blurted, sitting down on a chair opposite him.

I watch him while he eats, not minding me in front of him. It makes me wonder what it would feel like to date my mate or any other guy.

This is so weird, I remember he couldn't stand my sight in front of me as Quinn was the girl he announced he loved. Yet here we are sitting opposite from one another without arguing.

Nervously I push back my chair, "I have to go now, and before I forgot my grandma has also invited you over for lunch today."

He immediately put down his fork then moves to clean up everything.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Then wait for me, I am coming," he moves quickly around, then he grabs a shirt from the couch and puts it on.

"Shall we?" He opens the door for me. "Lady first," rolling my eyes, I push him out of the way and made my way out.

"You know I heard a scream in the morning but never thought it could belong to you," he says while walking beside me.

I didn't know walking back to my grandma's house would seem to be forever, and all I want is to get there as soon as possible.

"So, and you never thought to come help. I mean what if it's another way" he smirks, showing off his dimples which I forgot it's existed.

"Trust me, nana Gloria's voice in the morning was enough to know that there's no danger there," I huff.

"What?" he looks at me questioningly.

"You call my grandma your nana," I point it out to him.

"She's not your nana but mine grandma alone. Call me selfish, but you go find yourself a nana," I sneer at him.

He stops "ouch" he puts his hands to his chest.

"I will tell nana Gloria that you just hurt my feelings" I let out a groan, and that made him smile.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Are you two just going to stand there all day, or you're coming."

We both turned to find my grandma and Alpha Reid on the porch. They are sitting there with a table already been set with food.

Matteo winks back at me and rushed towards the house. I watch as he pulls my grandma into a tight hug kissing her on the cheek. He then handed her something from his pocket.

"That's odd, why didn't I see that."

'Obviously, you were ogling at him, that's why you didn't see anything,' Alera retorted.

It was so weird watching him with my grandma. It's funny my mate is my enemy in his book, but clearly, he seems to know my grandma well.

"Honey, are you okay?" I snap back to reality

"Yeah, I am grandma," and I walk towards the house then sat on the chair nearby.

"Isn't this lovely Adaah."

"it is grandma" she pulls me to her chest, combing my hair with her fingers.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 24

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3

"So Alpha, are you ready for tomorrow's ceremony?"

Aaron nodded his way, "a bit nervous."

Matteo suddenly whistles, "oh, boy, are you sure you want your luna to be seen naked by everybody?"

I heard him and Aaron frown a little rubbing his chin thoughtfully.

I look at my grandma with interest on why the luna would be naked in front of everyone.

"Not everyone, just nana Gloria, two omegas, and another elderly woman," he nervously says

"Not forgetting you two as our witness."

That caught my attention, "why am I being included as a witness?" I ask my grandma straight away instead of Aaron.

"Oh, dear! our tradition here, in every mating ceremony of the Alpha and his Luna, the pack should be present along with witnesses from other Packs high ranking people.

In fact, due to Alpha's requests, therefore, we only let a few attend, and since you two are here, we don't need other witnesses," I exchange look with Matteo

"Grandma, are you saying I'm going to see him?" I pointed to Aaron, "and his luna intimately involved," she nodded her head.

Alera didn't sit still in hearing this, 'Oh, wow, you're going to see some po b*' she wags her tail.

'In case you still wonder pography is the word baby,' she added.

"pography," I mutter pulling away from my grandma's hold and seeing his eyes and Aaron staring back at me.

"Dear, did you just say," my grandma started.

"pography," Matteo intercepted.

ADVERTISEMENT

My grandmother looked at me, and I swear I want to kill Alera for saying out that word to me. I mean I never bother or came across the word not until this wolf of mine told me.

Now I am more embarraed as the words seem to be bad given these three's reactions.

Alera then quickly explain to me the meaning of the word makes my eyes go wide, clamping my hands to my mouth.

'Damn it, Alera,' I curse her through our links, and she just snickers at my dismay.

I quickly changed the subject, "grandma do you realize I am eighteen," again she nodded her head.

"Oh dear, first off it's not pography, it's called mating, and eventually, you will do it with your mate one day. It may not be in front of everyone but behind closed doors," she explained

'Oh no, kill me now, as my mate is standing right next to you,' I scream inside my head.

My grandma smile and gave me a wink.

This is so awkward, I thought to myself, avoiding eye contact with Matteo and Aaron.

I just can't believe I'm having this conversation in front of my mate and his cousin.

After lunch, I told my grandma straight away that I do not want to go, but she insisted I should be there.

So I hope for it not to happen on the next day unfortunately when morning comes and the day went so quickly and the night came.

Here I am right in front of the audience on the other side near the bed made for the Alpha and his luna.

It was beautifully decorated, and everything looks amazing with that candlelight lit around the bed.

I was dreadfully nervous like seriously, my grandma explained to me yesterday that this was normal in our world. Somehow I would get to that stage someday.

ADVERTISEMENT

The Alpha enters with his Luna who was in lingerie. He leads her towards the bed both smiling at one another.

I look around, looking for Matteo, but he wasn't there, so I continued to look somewhere else instead of the two.

I heard a growl by Aaron with his hands possessively secure around his Mate. I try not to look at the two while shifting around my chair uncomfortably, hoping it would finish soon, but no, it wasn't.

Moaning and whispering echo throughout the room. Then a scream escapes from Luna's lips before it turns into grunts and more moaning.

I turn up and what I saw is something I have never seen before my eyes.

The luna arches her back, her hands on his shoulder while the Alpha is burying his head between her breast going back and forth.

I quickly divert my gaze to the other side, and that's when I see him.

He was relaxed back to his chair with his eyes fixed on my face. This moment between us felt so different like I felt the pull between us.

It's like I wanted so badly to be there with him instead of this distance between us.

When the mating was finally over, I walk back home by myself.

"Now I couldn't get the last image out of my poor innocent head,"

I keep on slapping my cheeks lightly with both hands on my way home.

Since my grandma is one of the elders in the pack so she stays behind for the final blessings of the Alpha and the luna.

"Hey, let me walk you home," I turn to find a guy whom I knew nothing of running up to me.

"Thanks for the offer, but I am fine," I quicken my steps, and the a seems to be faster than me.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Hey," he held back my arms but was being manhandled by Matteo. "You don't fing get to touch her," the guy nodded his head, and he ran away.

"So do you won't go straight back home all by yourself or take an adventure with me around the pack."

"It's not your pack," he scratches his head "yeah it's my cousin's and besides here is like a second home. So what do you say?"

I stood there, thinking if this is right or not, but I ended up saying yes.

Matteo took me around the pack like it was our own. He seems to know more about this pack. It was fun hanging out with him. He was completely different from when we were back in our territory.

He ended up taking me to a cliff that oversees a beautiful waterfall and the forest. We talk for a while, not about pack stuff or us being mates but about my high school stuff and his college experiences.

When it began to get chill, he stood up from beside me. "Come on, it's time to get you home now," I heard him, but I just want to take in the beautiful view one last time.

"You're still thinking," he says again.

"Huh?"

"You still couldn't get past the Por-" he didn't quite finish as I took him by surprise and kick his jewel.

He groans in pain, "what was that for?"

I bit my lip saying, "for a lot of things Matteo, especially you," I pointed at him, "ruining my moment with the view. Oh one more thing, it's mating not that P-word."

I say and ran while laughing with him chasing me back home.

Oh, what a night! I smile to myself.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 25

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3
"Bye, grandma."

I hug her tightly, "I am so gonna miss you," we both whisper to each other before getting into the car and making our way home.

This weekend was one of the best as I enjoy every moment of it with my grandma and Matteo.

I know but we did have fun together without being Mate but just neighbor.

My grandma told me he left early for our pack. Ever since that night, I kick his balls Matteo never made a snide comment, but he always teases me about the P... word, and mating.

The music was in high volume, making me groove to it. The rain suddenly starts to pour, and I kind of speed up the car.

Everything was okay not until I take a look at my phone as its notification showed that it is shutting down soon.

I turn up to find a figure standing in the middle of the road with a hooded cloak. It was like what those monks back in the days wore, making my car stop all of the sudden.

The loud screeching of the flats was heard and my head almost hit the steering wheel. I took a deep breath and turn up to find nothing at all.

I felt goosebumps on my skin, and my back hair stood up. My car shook as if something or someone is making its moves, then I look through the rear-view mirror to check and find nothing.

My heart kept hammering in a quick beat while my wolf Alera keeps on growling through our links.

It stops all of a sudden, even the rain that was heavily poured. Shaking away my fear, I try to start the ignition, but it won't start.

I start it again and again, yet it still doesn't work. I can't believe my car broke down in the middle of the main road and there was no sign of any other cars around.

ADVERTISEMENT

My phone battery died, and I have no other way of communication. Just a silent prayer not to encounter with the rogues or any other hunters or even the person I thought I've seen minutes ago.

I sat there in the car, waiting for a miracle to happen. Closing my eyes with my fingers tapping on the steering wheel, Alera keeps telling me to run back home, but I can't risk being in danger. I'm far from home now and what just happened earlier still gives me bad vibes.

'Tad tad'

A knock on my window made me almost jump. I look outside worried and found my crazy mate standing there.

He waves at me, and I roll down the window "need help?"

I want to refuse but now is not a good time. Matteo is my only option, and I wonder what he was doing here, I thought he left earlier for our territory.

"My car broke down," I told him and opened up the door to get out.

He opens the hood checking the engine "can you start it again" he calls me and went to start it, but it won't.

He bends down, then back up, closing the hood "you need to cool the engine?"

"for how long?"

"Let's just say 2 hours."

Sighing I went and sat on the car hood, he scoots me over and sat next to me.

"So why are you here?" I ask

ADVERTISEMENT

"I was on my way back home."

"I thought you left earlier," he sighs.

"There was an attack on Aaron's pack near their border, and when I came back, your grandma says you just left. I have to find you cause the vamps we're heading this way," that made me shiver.

Matteo saw, and suddenly, he was close to me as I fold my arms.

"I think they did pa me. I saw a person in a cloak in the middle of the road. At first, I thought it was just my imagination, but now I know it wasn't."

I try to wipe the sweat off my hands, and seeing this, he took my hands into his warm ones.

"Glad I did arrive on time then," I nodded my head in agreement.

We sat there for another minute, then we both turn at the same time, facing each other.

It was supposed to be weird, but his eyes, his body, and his soul is drawing me more like luring me towards him.

He moves into my way, I am surprised that he wasn't the only one making a move.

Our lips met, and what I felt made both of us pull each other closer, wanting for more.

It was like we're both magnets that when they pull together, it was hard to separate.

ADVERTISEMENT

He hovers above me, settling between my legs while his right-hand hoist up my waist close to his hard body.

His left hand holding my head while he continuously devours me with his kisses or should I say, his mouth is the death of me now.

We pull away for air, both heavily breathing. His nose nuzzled against my nose while he smiles.

"So would you please give us a chance to be mates?"

I didn't expect for us to kiss in the middle of the road on my dad's car hood and for him to push his luck. I felt Alera growing nervously through our links as she waited for my answer to him.

We never really talk about it back at the Moonbridge, he brought it up once, but I quickly dismissed the idea, and now he's asking me again. I look into his eyes just to see if what he says is a lie, but all I could see is his sincerity.

I caressed his cheek, "Yes, I would love that, Matteo," Alera howled with joy.

As for the big bad future Alpha, he kisses me one more time before pulling me into a hug.

"As much I wanted to take you here right now, but I haven't asked you on a proper date yet, or even officially take you on one yet," I laugh and playfully push him away.

"Come on, I'll take you home."

He pulls me again towards him and kisses me one more time before he took me home.

We have used tow straps to tow my dad's car back home by using his car.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 26

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3

I dropped Adaah back home, then kissed her and went back to the packhouse.

My father has linked me that he needed me in his office.

When I arrive there, one of our omegala greeted me. She is an elderly woman who has always been handling our families' affairs. Like looking after the other omegas and ensuring that the packhouse remains good.

"Your father is in the dungeon," I look at her skeptically, "urgent matter," she smiles.

I walk away from the packhouse and made my way to our prison, then down the dungeons where only the rogues and other wolves with high criminal profiles are kept.

The guards let me through "father", he turns to me with a bloody fist. I look behind him and found a bloody man on the ground, tied towards the wall with a silver chain.

He motions to our top warrior, none other than Adaah's father.

"Lyndon."

I greeted him, and he moves to hand the white towel to my father who uses it to wipe the blood on his hands.

The man's head slowly snaps up his head looking towards Lyndon.

Then he smirks deviously, "never thought I could see you again, old friend." He spits out blood while Lyndon stood there, not even moving or having any reaction towards the man.

"I met your daughter today," he laughs, "such a beauty, right, Matt boy,"

I stood shocked, 'how could he know my name.' I wanted to kill him, but I remained my composure besides, I was too shocked.

The man continues to talk while I just stood there in shock, hoping, then he wouldn't mention me and her.

"And a waste," he continues, "not you get-" he didn't quite finish as Lyndons fists collided with his jaw, "mother f," he curses at Lyndon.

ADVERTISEMENT

"You can approach everyone else, but not my daughter or my wife," Lyndon threatens, and then he walks out of there.

My father turns aside to other guards, "make sure he doesn't leave this place."

"Yes, Alpha."

I follow behind my father without saying anything until we reach his office.

"About the guard, who kills, molests, and rs girls. It seems like everyone has come forward now and tell the truth. He was threatening every victims' family as most of them are omegas," my father explains.

"Great job son, the man deserves to die for his crimes. Yet I'm impressed you got him before he rs the girl."

Yes, I have explained to him why I did, what I did with the hope he won't ask about the girl I saved that night, but he did.

"Who was she?" He put his hands on the table.

"Not quite familiar with her," was my only answer.

"Okay, in case I forgot the reason why I call you here, was I wanted you to act as an Alpha on my behalf while I and your mother will be away for two months," he has been planning for the both of them to have a vacation.

"So are you ready to be one before your official ceremony?"

"I am a father," he then dismisses me.

"Ahhh, Matteo," I stopped midway, turning to him.

"Is there something between you and Adaah?"

ADVERTISEMENT

"Nope," I lie, didn't want them to meddle in my life.

"Why?" I ask with curiosity.

"Nothing, just don't get too close to her."

I stood there in confusion, I wanted to ask further, but his phone rang, and he went to answer it. I went out of the office only to pump into Jay

"Hey, how was your weekend?"

Remember how much I enjoyed being there, those moments with nana Gloria and Adaah, and not forgetting those lips on mine.

"Great."

I widely grin like an idiot and move to walk on ahead. 'Wow today was amazing,' Thunder chuckles how we both enjoy our day with Adaah despite the rogue's attack on Aaron's Pack and the man in the dungeon.

"Hey, you're home?" Mom Shina calls me from the kitchen.

"Yeah, I am."

The smile never left my face, and before she could say anything else, I rush upstairs to my room.

I open the door then close behind me with a smile never left my face.

It was strange to feel this way. I move to the closet only to find the person I never expected to be in my room.

"Quinn."

ADVERTISEMENT

She stood there at the window, watching outside, but hid behind the curtains, as if she didn't want anyone to see her.

Since our breakup, this is the first time I saw her again. We have been avoiding each other until now.

Guess she's the first one to make the first move. Forgot to have explained things to her.

Hearing me cough and the door closed, she turned around and what I saw made me feel even more guilty.

The love of my life is crying, and it's my entire fault. I was having a good time with Adaah forgetting about her and how would she feel.

"Matteo," she whimpers, "I don't think I can pretend anymore that everything is fine. Matteo I love you so much and... And I can't take this distance between us anymore," she broke down in her knees right in front of me.

"I can't move on. I don't want to break up with you," she shook her head, crying, and crawls to grab onto my leg, begging me down there.

"Please, Matteo, I can't live without you," she sobs out loudly.

Suddenly I felt this pang inside my chest, that's making me hard to breathe.

'I love Quinn, not Adaah, no definitely not her,' I kept on muttering in my head probably, I am also trying to convince myself.

I look at her, and my heart broke there. Slowly I got down on my knees right before her pulling her into my arms.

For the past few days, the only person who occupies my mind was Adaah, and I didn't think of anyone else when I was with her not until now.

Seeing Quinn like this makes me rethink everything.

Right now, my heart remains with Quinn only and Adaah to be taken advantage of.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 27

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3

"So how did your weekend go?" Cora came inside the living room

"It was refreshing," I call after her while she settles down on the couch, dropping her bag on the floor.

"Any hotties?" She types something on her phone then wiggles her brow at me.

"No, there were no hotties at all," I kept myself busy around so that I won't look at her.

"I only get to spend time with my grandma with no boys," I lie, walking behind the counter, putting both of my hands on it.

I am so happy that Cora or my parents weren't around when Matteo dropped me off. I never wanted any of them to find out about us, not right now.

Changing the subject, as I was afraid she would find out if we continue to talk about my weekend I ask her.

"How did the cheer thing go?" She sighs.

"Well, f, Janice and Maria, we came third, those stupid aes made us lose," she threw her hands up in frustration.

"How so?" I ask with interest while she shook her head in disappointed

"They changed our routine last minute," she said with a sigh.

At that moment, I felt bad for my friend as I wasn't surprised to hear this about those two.

I remember when they went for the spelling bee our school lose before the competion and this all because the school never chose the top English students but the two b*es.

ADVERTISEMENT

The door opens, trying to find a corner or anywhere to hide, thinking it was my mom, yet it wasn't her.

"Dad."

I excitedly skip over to him and gave him a big hug. I know my dad wouldn't lecture me for taking his car, and I never care to ask why he was home early because I am beyond excited that he is here as I hardly spend time with my parents, especially with my dad.

He pulls away then looks me over, "hmmm, my daughter seems so happy" he looked over to Cora who snickered.

"To think again, you are right, Mr. Rumanoff, your daughter seems to be glowing today," she said teasingly.

"I bet something happens over the weekend. We might as well call Grandma Gloria," she again wiggles her brows.

Feeling embarraed, I hit my dad lightly on the shoulder, "aww, come on, stop it, you two. Can't I be happy to be back with my parents and best friend?"

The door slams open then closed, and Cora glances at the doorway than at me mouthing "Trouble" before she announced loudly, "glad to be whipped."

I look at my dad "Mom", he murmurs, and I move behind him.

We heard footsteps, 'one, two,' I counted her footsteps in my head, 'three.'

"ADaAH," she screams, almost shaking the whole house.

She moved into the living room. Her eyes searched for me once she saw me behind my dad "come here" and she walks to me.

ADVERTISEMENT

My dad shielded me, "Get here, hurry up." I can say that my mom can be dramatic sometimes.

"Look, honey, can we not do this now, I'm home, and she's here now and besides her friend is here. Can you calm down and let us all have a nice day without drama."

Yet my mom wouldn't have that, she chases me around my dad until I was on my knees with my hands in the air.

"Say you are very sorry, and you won't be doing it again 100 times."

I kept on repeating, and my knees started to hurt when I reach 60.

“Stopped,” she took a breather, and my dad moves to hug her, “fix dinner with Cora and set up the table.”

Without her repeating twice, I quickly got on my legs. “I love you ma,” I kiss her on the cheek then rush towards the kitchen.

Sometime afterward, we were all around the table laughing over our dinner. Cora was reminding us of how I was scolded by mom.

We were all enjoying the dinner, and my parents were telling us about their day, then Cora talks about their cheer while I told her half of the truth of my weekend over my grandma.

I was so sure not to tell them about Matteo being there and the mating of Aaron and his luna that I have seen.

Maybe not the whole thing, but I did saw something that my eyes shouldn't.

After our blissful dinner, everyone went to bed except for me.

ADVERTISEMENT

Cora wanted to help, but I told her that I could do it on my own and that I am okay with it.

When all of the dishes have been washed, and the kitchen has been clean, I made my way to my room.

I plop on it, pulling out my phone from my pocket. I haven't touched it since I came home.

I did hear and feel the vibration from it in my pocket, but I was scared for my parents to find out.

My eyes met with his 100 texts, making me smile. I kept on reading each text then I thought of how to reply to him.

My hands kept on typing then deleting my drafted text. Finally, I made up my mind and just text sorry to him for the late reply as my parents were around, and right now, I'm kind of tired.

I didn't want the last six words to be included, but too late as I accidentally click sent and the message has been successfully sent to the recipient.

I lay there on the bed watching the ceiling while I waited if he was going to text me back.

My phone peep, I quickly unlock it, and the words they're made me foolishly smile.

He types, "sleep well, then my baby girl. Tonight I'll kiss you and hold you there in my arms in my dreams."

I turn to the other side clutching my phone. I am flattered with every word he texts me.

"Is this love," I whisper with a smile before I close my eyes.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 28

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3

Matteo and I always fail to meet secretly. It has been three days paed, and we still haven't met up.

We never have those alone moments with each other. There are times after school we want to meet, but miserably, we never get the chance.

Cora and Gia were always beside me, and even if I go home, my parents would always be there.

Constantly they have both come home early, and I never question it because I am taking advantage of it to enjoy every moment with them.

So Matteo and I are texting nonstop and talk sometimes on the phone either face time or Skype. Indeed, that if only I am in my room alone, away from the ears of everybody.

I am trying my best not to be caught by my parents.

Today would mark the fourth day of not being able to see each other.

I woke up early to find his text on my phone, 'I can't do this anymore than I read the other one, "this distance between us. So please spare a moment tonight with me," I grin at this, then ready myself for school.

My dad says he'll be late tonight when he dropped Cora and me at school. I did a little happy dance in my head, now I only have my mom to look out for.

The school was still the same; Janice and Maria were busy with our prom preparations with everyone else while I busy myself with doing nothing but spend some quality time with my friends.

Sometime later after school, I was walking down the hallway by myself when I felt hands pull me to a corner.

Sparks suddenly ignite my body, and I knew who it was. I am surprised to see him here, "hey, what are you doing here?" He put his hand over my mouth.

"Please tonight Adaah, I want you to go on a date with me."

ADVERTISEMENT

"I can't, Matteo," yet he keeps pleading to take me on a date.

"Okay, I'll see what I can do, as my mom will be home tonight. Why are you here?" I ask him at last.

"We came to pick up Jay's sister."

"Jay has a sister here," I repeated, 'that's new,' I thought to myself.

"Emarez Colby, that's his sister," I don't know her, but still I just nod my head.

We heard voices coming nearer, he then quickly kissed me on the cheek. "please text me."

"Wait casual or formal."

"Be yourself, my beauty," he kisses me again.

I went home by myself as Cora is going to their cheer squad party. She wants me to go with her, but I refuse to because Cora is the only person I like from the whole cheer b*es.

When I arrive home, I saw my mom's note which made me feel like I won a lottery. She won't be home until the next day.

So I texted Matteo he could pick me up around 8 pm.

Turn and twist in front of the mirror, I tried all my dresses until I settled with a floral romper and paired them with my floral wedges. I pull up my hair in a messy bun then waited for Matteo.

My phone peeps and I read to find that he is outside of the house. I quickly run downstairs but careful enough not to fall. I turn off the lights except for the hallway and the kitchen, and then I went out and locked the door.

ADVERTISEMENT

When he sees me, he runs up to me, backing me against the front door of our house with his hands possessively going around my waist.

Then he took me by surprise kissing me urgently, and I responded to him with my hands going around his neck.

My legs are now around his waist, as he pushed me against the door. He moves his lips down to my neck, giving me time to breathe while whispering, "you look breathtaking tonight."

He then trails his kisses down to my breast, earning a moan from me. He repeats the process by coming back up kissing me once more before resting his forehead on mine breathlessly.

"I miss you," he smiles, "and I to you."

He puts me back on the ground, and my legs go jelly from our heavy kissing session.

He held on to my hand tightly, pulling me towards the car.

"Oh, I almost forgot, did I smudge your lipstick," he turns me around, and I gave him a peck on the lips "nope, this one is smudge-proof" I gave him a wink

"Say and sy," he chuckles, opening up the door for me.

I don't know where all this confidence comes from. This whole thing is so new, yet the way I react was like I am a pro in this field.

"You, wanna tell me where are you taking me Mr.?" I patted my lashes, and he just chuckles, "nahh uhh, no spoiler babe," he winks, and I found myself blushing.

He took me to a secluded restaurant outside of our territory. It is one of my favorites, and they are also the best.

"Do you like it?" He asks when we were outside of the restaurant.

ADVERTISEMENT

"I love it," I squeeze his hands, reauring him of what I like.

Matteo has chosen a VIP table which is outside of the balcony, and we're the only ones there. We order our food and make small talks.

There are things I wanted to ask him, but I'll just ask one at a time.

"Ummm, if you don't mind why suddenly do you want to try with me?"

Matteo looks aside before he then focuses his attention on me. His hands reached out to hold mine.

"I made a mistake when I told you all those things before of not wanting to be with you, my mate," he gulps before continuing.

"My wolf is crazy without you, he kind of helps me see the truth of our bond. I wanted to feel what everyone else is feeling, I don't want to miss on this, and besides, you're too hard to resist," he snorted at me.

"Really?" He nodded his head in pride.

Our food was served, and we just talk randomly while eating. When we were done, I thought he was going to drop me off home, but Matteo wouldn't.

"You think just by having dinner then our date is finished," he then moves closer, holding my hands.

"Mate, we haven't gone through our 20 questions."

I began to giggle, "isn't that too clichéd for us," I say, and he replies, "Nope, now come on, we got one more place to visit."

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 29

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3

"Full name?"

"Matteo Evan Reed."

"You?"

"Adaah Natasha Rumanoff." I replied.

"Wait, we're your name after-"

"Black widow, the bada chick in Avengers, yeah I wish, but no, it's just a coincidence that my grandmother's name is Natasha, and it's Rumanoff, not Romanv," I laugh lightly.

"So yeah, a lot of my teachers thought so too, but Nah, it's different," he smiles, nodding his head.

"And Adaah?"

"Well, let's just say Adaah is a protagonist of a book called a voice in the wind. It's my mom's favorite book. She told me that book leads her to my dad," Matteo chuckles.

My mother met my dad when she went to our neighboring pack to buy the limited edition of the book. She was to take the last book from the shelf when my father's hand reaches for it.

My father was only there to buy the book for my grandmother since she dares him for it. It wasn't his kind of thing, as he was a pretty bad boy at the time.

She always told me those moments were magical in her life, once their eyes met and their scents caught up to each other, and she couldn't forget that day.

ADVERTISEMENT

Where the bad boy gave her the book and went back to his grandmother with nothing because in his heart he already has something far more important.

"You?" I ask him, and he stays silent for a moment before he opens up to me about his relationship with his parents.

He told me Luna Shina isn't his mother. His biological mother left him when he was young for another Alpha.

He said luna Shina even though he wasn't her biological child but treated him like the rest of her half-siblings like her own.

"I'm sorry," was the only thing I could tell him, and I hope it would make him feel better.

"The first kiss?" He asks out of the blue, and I found myself blushing with embarrassment.

"Now I believe 20 Questions is over Mr. Future Alpha," I got up from the couch in their private house near the beach.

After he took me to the restaurant, he then took me to their beach house away from the eyes of our pack and everyone.

I also learn so many interesting things about him, his likes and dislikes to his high and low moments in life.

Also, we have both agreed that we do not want our pack to know our relationship yet.

"Nope, you aren't getting away that easily," he trapped me in his arms and began to tickle me.

I fell on the floor, pulling him with me, and he fell on top of me. His hands both land beside me, holding up his weight.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Now, your first kiss," he asks, "you first," he smirks, "my girlfriend in fifth grade, now it's your turn."

I stare into his eyes, thinking oblivious, but then that's him and his life not poor inexperienced me.

Slowly I say in a whisper, "you."

I was so embarrassed to know that my mate might be more experienced than me. I am someone who has zero experience in the department of love, dating, and hooking up.

He leans forward, pressing his lips on mine, and naturally, I began to respond to it feeling blissful at that moment.

He pulls me up from the ground sometimes after, "come on, I have to take you home."

Matteo pulls the car over in front of our house when we got there.

I saw the lights off, and I knew none of my family is back, even Cora, she must be still at the party, or Jem might have picked her up.

"Thanks for tonight. I did enjoy it," he leans forward and gives me kisses on the cheek, lips then finally to my forehead.

I blush to smile to myself then I peck him on the lips.

"I'll see you tomorrow," I got out of the car, waving him goodbye.

I smile as I made my way back inside the house. I kept on humming, turning on the lights, I took off my shoes and turn to find my mom sitting on the couch with a serious look on her face with her folded arms.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Take a seat, Adaah, I want to ask a few things you," her voice was so soft which was unusual to me.

"Mom, can we...", she cut me off, "take a seat," this time she raises her voice.

I knew she was mad, and I don't want to be on her bad side. I wipe my sweaty hands on my dress, taking a seat on the couch opposite her.

I gulp my saliva nervously, waiting for her to ask her questions. The suspense and the atmosphere here in the house were tense.

My mother kept looking at me as if she was ayzing me with her folded arms. Then suddenly, her lips move, and I knew I was deadly in trouble.

"This is the last time I would be asking this to you, and don't you dare lie to me. Your grandma calls," I was surprised to hear that my grandmother calls. Got me wondering what does she know.

"And we have talked," my mom never smiles while she talks.

"So you better not lie to me, young lady. This time I want the truth," this side of my mom was really scary, and it's kind of freaking me out with her warnings.

"Now who is Matteo to you?" She stretches out every word, like a threat, and I knew I can't hide the truth anymore from her.

So I took a breath, wipe the sweat on my hands then raised my head, looking right into her eyes.

"He's my mate."

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 30

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3
Matteo's Pov

"She's my mate."

I gulped my whisky while Quinn stood there speechless. Jay looks back and forth between the two of us.

"No, she isn't your mate," she shook her head as if what I'm saying is not true.

"Well, suit yourself, but Adaah is my mate whether you like it or not."

I push myself away from the bar and stood up to go home.

After my date with Adaah, I made my way home only to be stopped by Quinn and Jay. They have caught me leaving her driveway and even took photos of me and her kissing each other, in case I denied anything.

We should have been more careful, but I guess there is no use. I would be lying if I say I didn't enjoy my date tonight with Adaah, because seriously, I was drawn to her.

I know I sounded confused but the way she responded to my kisses. The way she talks and the way I open up to her tonight while she listened was mind-blowing. I have never felt so connected to someone in my whole life.

I may have connected with Quinn in a love relationship, but Adaah was quite different. Now I don't know what I want anymore. Is it possible to love two people at the same time?

"No," Thunder growl through our links, "we should have loved our mate only," he spat, but I close him off.

ADVERTISEMENT

Everything is ruined now, I mean my night is ruined now that Quinn and Jay caught me. I think it's time for me to choose what my heart truly desires.

"She's not your mate," she held back my arm, "look Quinn, we can talk this tomorrow" I walk away from the two of them.

"I am the one you love, not her," she shouted at me, wiping away her tears.

"Matteo, look me in the eyes and say that you love her," she turns me to her, her hands gripping mine.

Looking straight into her eyes made me realize again that she is right. I fing love her even though a part of me did like Adaah, but it will never compete with my feelings for Quinn.

I look behind her and remember Jay was here with her. I felt something burning within me that I couldn't contain myself but harshly sneer at her and him.

"What about Jay? Who is he to you, and why the f are you two together tonight?" I spat out at her changing the subject

Jay threw a punch at me which I gladly dodge.

"Since when did you ask about me, and your girl together? You know I never had a thing for her" he punches again, but it missed.

"Not all boyfriends are okay with their woman seen with another man."

ADVERTISEMENT

"Oh yeah, what about her man," he pointed to Quinn and then to me, "and another woman," Jay furiously jab at my chest.

I laugh lightly, "right, I guess we're both doing the same thing," Quinn nodded her head, not moving towards me quickly.

"No, don't leave me for her," she grabs onto my hand while sobbing.

"I told you I love you, Matteo, and nobody, not even my mate" she put my hands to her heart.

"Please, Matt, you only want her because of the bond. Matteo, I love you, please not her" then she flung her hands around my neck, clinging to it.

She stubbornly won't let go of me, "Quinn," I kiss her forehead and say to her, "will talk tomorrow, I promise."

She nodded her head and pecks me on the lips. Jay went back home alone while I went to drop Quinn off home.

Afterward, I went back to the packhouse to find my father, his beta, gamma, and Adaah's father in the living room.

Later on, mother Shina joins us and was surprised to see her pulling a suitcase behind her. She smiles when she sees me then hugged me.

My father looks at me sternly, "Matteo, I know I have already informed you on this matter that your mother and I are going on a vacation, and you will act in my place as Alpha. So if you need anything ask any of the gentlemen in here."

ADVERTISEMENT

He motions to everyone around who all nodded in agreement. He then dismissed everyone else, leaving him, luna Shina and me.

"Matteo, your Final homecoming game?" He asks.

"Next week Friday," I reply shortly.

"Are you going to mate Quinn then?" Again I just nodded my head yes.

"Good, now please take care, and if anything happens, call us immediately, and we'll be here."

I hug him then to luna Shina before we move outside to bid farewell to others.

When they left, I turn around to find Lyndon, Adaah's dad looking at me sternly. He then smiles, "see you tomorrow Alpha," and he walks back to his car.

I felt my phone vibrate; I took it out to only see Adaah's text "Mom knows."

I shut my phone close, not wanting to reply to her that Jay and Quinn now know.