

Life at The Top – Chapter 1411

'However, if you were the one who disrespected me first, don't blame me for knocking you down, stepping on you, and spitting on your face.'

These children of wealthy families were originally Henry's good buddies. However, after trying out this touchstone tonight, great, their closeness was exposed immediately.

In Harbor City, Fabian was powerful and everyone was afraid of him. However, these children of wealthy families were the only ones who were afraid of him.

After all, everyone had elders. Therefore, Fabian would always to consider something an elder said. After all, the Atticus family was not invincible.

If their level was as sky-high as Old Master Law, then Fabian would really be rather insignificant. These descendants would also need to read the room before causing any trouble.

If they provoked someone powerful, not only would they get slapped across the face, they might get punished by their parents after they went home. However, if it was something the parents accepted tacitly, then it did not matter what you did, they would shoulder the punishment with you.

These were two drastically different outcomes.

This time, the person who ran away had lost the chance to join Henry. Unfortunately, he would never get such an opportunity ever again. One could imagine that when Henry took over in the future, Alex and Howard would become his closest associates.

“That’s their choice, so I can’t say anything, but I’ll remember all of them,” Henry smirked.

He said he would not split hairs about this, but was that really possible?

Who else in Harbor City did not know that Mr. Law was the pettiest person alive—a person who liked to bicker about the smallest things?

He would have all the time in the world to teach them lessons in the future.

“Alright, it’s about time. Let’s go and get them.”

Henry opened the car door as he said that. The car rumbled for a while before heading straight to the place where Jake was trapped.

The sky was already dark and there was no more traffic on the road.

Inside a dimly lit house, Jake was sitting on a chair as he glanced at the cameras around him. He looked exhausted and numb.

It had been six hours since he was brought here.

During these six hours, a group of people took turns to pressure him. Their goal was to make him admit to doing something illegal.

This way, they would have evidence to report and take action against Jake. This would in turn be a devastating blow to Jasper.

“As I said, all my actions are reasonable and legal. There are records and approvals for everything. There is no irregularity throughout my operations.”

Even though his voice was weak, his tone was very firm.

“Don’t try to use these dirty tricks to make me succumb!”

A man in a suit opposite Jake scoffed coldly. He had a cup of hot coffee in his hand and he lifted his hand to splash the boiling hot coffee on Jake's face.

The hot liquid caused Jake to scream in agony.

The young man grabbed Jake's hair and said sinisterly, "Jake, don't think we won't have a way to make you talk just because you're stubborn. You will only suffer more by keeping up this attitude."

"We're not from the police department, so we don't have to follow the rules regarding interrogation and torture. We have all kinds of ways to make you suffer."

Jake stared coldly at the young man. He opened his mouth and the coffee flowed into his mouth after trickling down his dry lips. Then, he spat some saliva that was mixed with coffee onto the man's face.

"Come at me if you have the balls!"

Life at The Top – Chapter 1412

"F *ck you!"

The young man who was spat on flew into a rage. He lifted his hand and punched Jake in the face. Immediately, Jake fell to the ground whilst still tied to the chair.

Then, Jake struggled to get up from the ground. He touched his swollen and red cheek with his tongue and then spat out some saliva that was mixed with blood before staring coldly at the young man.

“Kill me if you have the guts.”

It felt as if the young man was insulted as he faced Jake’s smirk. Hence, he lifted his leg to kick Jake’s head. If he managed to kick Jake, Jake would be seriously injured.

However, the young man was stopped and pulled away by his colleague.

“Don’t be so impulsive. If we kill him, you and I will be in trouble.”

The colleague’s intervention soothed the young man’s anger.

The young man pointed at Jake and said with a scoff, “Don’t be so f*cking pleased with yourself!”

“There is all the time in the world later. I promise that if you don’t cooperate with us, the remaining time will be the most torturous period of your life. You will never forget this for the rest of your life.”

Jake looked at him frigidly and did not say anything.

The young man pulled the chair back and sat down. Then, he slammed his hand down the table and roared, “Jake Cullen, tell us!”

“Did someone tell you to perform illegal financial transactions abroad? Do you know that such a huge amount is enough to make you spend the rest of your life behind bars?”

Jake chuckled coldly and said, “I told you, everything I did was legal. I have records of all the procedures so the illegal transaction you mentioned doesn’t exist.”

Now, the young man’s colleague came out to act as the good cop. He lifted Jake’s chair and helped him sit properly. He even placed a lit cigarette next to Jake’s lips.

“Jake, you have to know that you’re just working for someone else. Why are you holding on for him?”

“If cooperate with us, everything can be discussed. I promise you won’t need to suffer anymore and you’ll be escorted out of here by us comfortably. Why don’t you consider our offer?”

Jake took a drag of the cigarette with no trace of politeness and exhaled the smoke. Then, he scoffed, “Huh? You’re using a good cop on me after the bad cop tactic failed?”

“I’m still going to tell you the same thing. Everything I did was legal. Not only are you falsely imprisoning me, you even planted false evidence against me to claim that I broke the law.”

“Aren’t you scared that they’ll settle the score with you after this?”

“When you’re not useful anymore, do you think Fabian will protect you?””

Jake’s words caused their faces to fall.

“You were given a choice whether to do it the easy way or the hard way, but it looks like we have to do it the hard way!”

The young man who beat Jake up stood up. His eyes were cold and savage.

Jake was fearless. He replied calmly, "I'll still tell you the same thing. Come at me if you have the balls."

"Damn you to hell!"

The young man was livid. He lifted the chair to throw it at Jake.

At this critical moment, some noises came from outside. Then, there was a loud crash and the door was kicked open from outside. The sudden change caused the three men in the house to become startled.

The young man with the chair turned his head to look at the subconsciously. Unfortunately, he saw Henry striding in alongside Alex and Howard. Of course, he did not know these three top young masters from Harbor City.

"Who are you people? How dare you barge in here?" The young man roared.

Henry grinned and walked leisurely to the young man with his hands in his pockets. Then, he tilted his head and smiled.

"Oh, it's been such a long time since someone talked to me like that. I kind of miss this."

After he finished saying that with a grin, Henry's face instantly darkened. Then, he lifted his hand to slap the young man across the face.

Slap!

The slap was powerful, and it made let out a crisp sound.

The young man stumbled backward after getting slapped.

Henry was not forgiving now that he was the dominant one. He grabbed the chair in the young man's hand and slammed it down on the latter.

"You son of a b*tch, where in Harbor City can I not enter? Who the f*ck do you think you are? How dare you yell at me like this? Do you know who the Laws are?"

As Henry said that, he repeatedly lifted the chair before slamming it down on the young man.

Slam slam slam!

The chair made a muffled sound when it hit the young man. With a final thud, the chair broke into pieces.

The man lied on the ground while struggling to breathe.

“The Laws?”

Everyone was stunned. Henry started hitting him out of the blue and caught everyone off guard. When they heard ‘the Laws’, everyone in the house shuddered. Who else had this grandeur and this hedonistic vigor? One could figure it out with half a brain.

One of them saw that their partner was now unconscious after being beaten up by Henry. The pool of blood on the floor caused his pupils to contract and he started screaming in terror.

Henry threw away the chair that was now only a piece of wood now in his hand. He clapped his hand and stuck out his lips to Howard.

Howard chuckled and lifted the collar of the poor remaining guy. Then, with a roar, he tensed his arms that were as thick as a normal person’s thighs. With that, he lifted the man and threw him out the door while the poor guy screamed in terror.

Immediately, the human canon flew out and accurately hit the group of people who had run over. They were now in a pitiful state, and the scene looked extremely lively and sorry.

On the side, Alex swallowed his saliva as he fidgeted nervously. Even so, he looked more excited than anxious.

He walked to the door and stood in front of the people who were knocked down just when they were about to barge in. Then, he leaned against the doorframe and giggled, "I'm going to stand here and see which of you fools dare to take a step forward. I'll applaud any one of you who dares to get too close for having balls of steel, then I'll kill your whole family as a reward."

At this moment, Henry had walked in front of Jake. They had met before, so Jake knew Henry. However, how would Henry remember a nobody like Jake?

"Are you Jake Cullen?" Henry asked.

Jake said emotionally, "Mr. Law, it's me. Did Mr. Laine ask you to come?"

Henry chuckled and said, "That's right. Your wounds..."

“I’m fine. I was bitten by some dogs,” Jake said to raise his spirits.

“I knew Mr. Laine wouldn’t leave me to die.”

“Nonsense! I came here on his private plane. He’s shown you so much respect.”

Henry grinned and said, “If you’re fine, hold on for a little longer. I’ll settle this before sending you to the hospital.”

“Okay, Mr. Law. I want to watch how you teach these sons of b*tches a lesson.”

“Watch properly.” Henry laughed while feeling pleased with himself.

Life at The Top – Chapter 1413

While they were talking, the leader came over as well.

Matt Carlton was the leader of this gang. His family dabbled in some shady business and Fabian had contacted him this time to rough Jake up.

It was just some minor business, so Matt thought it would be an easy job that would earn him Fabian's respect. This reward would be truly valuable. However, he gradually realized that something was not right.

That guy named Jake Cullen was too tough. They were not able to make him say a word no matter what methods they used.

This was especially true when he learned that Fabian had a billion US Dollars in the account this man controlled. When he heard this, Matt understood that he had become involved in a matter that he could not afford to screw up.

Would a person that was able to fight with Fabian and even force Fabian to use dishonorable tricks because he was at a dead-end be so easy to handle?

While Matt was busy regretting his carelessness, the news his men delivered to him almost caused him to piss his pants.

Henry Law was here?!

Matt quickly hurried over. When he saw Alex and Howard at the door, his heart skipped a beat.

He was very familiar with these two young masters who were infamous in the upper-class circle in Harbor City.

“M-Mr. Law?” Matt looked at Henry, who was standing amongst the crowd, and said.

Henry peered at Matt and asked lazily, “Not bad. You know me?”

Matt quickly plastered a smile on his face and said, “Who doesn’t know you, Mr. Law? Mr. Law, is there a misunderstanding?”

“No!”

Henry pointed at the people who were beaten badly behind Matt and also at the young man who was lying in a puddle of blood. He said, “I beat up your men and that dead dog lying over there.”

“You have cameras here, right? So many people saw me beating them up as well, so how can this be a misunderstanding?”

Henry’s words caused Matt’s face to turn as unpleasant as if he had just eaten dog excrement. He realized this matter was not as simple as it first appeared. Also, Henry definitely came here because he was confident that he had support.

Innocent people would get into trouble on account of rich people's business.

Matt sighed and waved his hand to ask his men to back off. Then, he smiled bitterly at Henry. "Mr. Law, we are jus nobodies do not have the balls to interfere in the business of a person like you."

"I can only say that I have my own hardships as well."

Henry replied lazily, "What do I have to do with your hardship?"

As he said that, Henry's finger almost touched Matt's nose as he pointed at him. He scolded, "If you know that you're a nobody, then why the f*ck do you have the balls to interfere in this?! Now that you're in this, you have to be prepared to pay the price. If not, do you think I won't split hairs with you just because you're a nobody after you've gone around acting like a poser?"

"Are you f*cking stupid? Recently, I've been busy on the mainland and I didn't have the time to handle business in Harbor City. Did all of you forget that I am petty, vengeful, and love to splits hair? Huh?"

The corners of Matt's lips twitched after he was scolded by Henry while Henry pointed at his nose. He suppressed the anger in his heart and said, "Mr. Law, I don't dare to lie to you. Mr. Atticus asked us to do this, so what choice did I have?"

“What does your limited choices have to do with me?”

Henry tilted his head and scolded.

“Since you’ve done this and I am also here, let’s just go all the way. Do you want to cuff me too?”

Matt quickly replied in embarrassment, “I would never dare to do such a thing.”

“Do you not dare to, or do you not want to?” Henry asked with a smirk.

Matt said through gritted teeth, “Mr. Law, please don’t split hairs with a nobody like me. What could I do after Mr. Atticus requested for me to do this?”

“Alright, since you want to kiss that Atticus guy’s *ss so much, I don’t want to bother with you anymore. Now that I’m here, can I take my man away?”

Life at The Top – Chapter 1414

Matt thought about it. Now that he had completely offended Henry, if he still allowed Henry to leave with Jake, his respect from his subordinates would vanish. Most importantly, he would also offend Fabian.

He would offend both sides, which would be the stupidest thing in the world. So, Matt made up his mind quickly.

“Mr. Law, do you think you can talk to Mr. Atticus? Ask for his permission and if he nods, I’ll definitely be okay with letting him go immediately.”

Henry stared at Matt coldly and did not say anything. However, this cold gaze caused Matt to become extremely anxious.

Suddenly, Henry laughed. Even though he was laughing, his eyes were growing colder and colder.

“Oh, I get it. If Atticus doesn’t nod his head, I won’t be able to take Jake away, huh?”

Henry seemed to be throwing a tantrum, but he was satisfied.

Jasper asked him to come to cause a commotion, and even his grandpa approved of this. One of the reasons he came today was to save Jake, but that was not his only objective.

Most importantly, he had to cause a huge commotion. If Matt admitted defeat and let him take Jake away, then he would not be able to carry out his performance. However, this was good. This idiot was very cooperative. In order to reward this idiot, Henry slapped him across the face.

Slap!

This slap caused Matt to spin two and a half times on the spot. Finally, he fell to the ground on his bottom.

“Who do you f*cking think you are, you son of a b*tch? How dare you request that I ask Atticus for permission? Even if someone were to call him, it’d be you asking Atticus to talk to me!”

Matt’s ears were buzzing and his vision went black. Suddenly, he felt warmth in his nose as blood started flowing out. Matt decided to go all out after he was slapped silly.

“Henry Law, don’t go overboard! Do you think you’re ballsy for slapping me? Go and be arrogant in front of Mr. Atticus if you really have the balls!”

Henry squatted in front of Matt, who was sitting on the ground. He looked at Matt and grinned evilly, "Are you treating Atticus as your daddy now? Time's changed and Atticus can't even save himself. Do you think you can scare me with him?"

After Henry said that, he stood up and asked Jake, "Can you walk?"

Jake stood up and said, "Yes."

Henry nodded in satisfaction and glared at Matt, who looked fearful as he sat on the ground. Then, he said to Alex and Howard, "Bring this idiot too. We had the appetizer and now, it's time for the main course."

Howard walked up and grabbed Matt like he was grabbing a chick. Then, with Alex lifting Matt's other side, they carried Matt out of the house.

Matt struggled in terror, but Howard's hands were like pliers such that he could not move an inch.

"Where are you guys taking me?" Matt screamed in terror.

"To Empire Meet, to find your master," Henry said with a cold chuckle.

Henry had already thought this through. They were just a bunch of thugs who carried out shady business. Therefore, they were not worth his effort coming all the way here. The main purpose of this trip was to rescue Jake.

Even if they killed Matt right here, Fabian would not even frown. Instead, he would be delighted.

Thus, if he wanted to cause a commotion, he had to go directly to Fabian to stir up trouble.

The children of wealthy families in Harbor City were terrified of Fabian, as though he were a tiger. Back then, Fabian was scared of him, while he would also be reluctant to provoke Fabian.

However, right now, Henry wanted to see if he could skin Fabian alive and make him into a throw cushion.

Life at The Top – Chapter 1415

On the outskirts of Harbor City. There was no such thing as a cheap real estate in a place like Harbor City where land was extremely expensive.

This area with beautiful scenery that was next to the mountains and the sea was a good place for the rich to hide their mistresses.

This particular hidden villa was the residence of Empire Meet.

Although the outside world found the location mysterious, it was nothing in the eyes of Henry.

At this moment, it was already dark. Alex asked excitedly when they were at the entrance of Empire Meet, "Are we really going to barge in just like this?"

Henry ridiculed him, "Do you have an alternative? Do you think we need to send a greeting card and wait for Fabian to open the door for you?"

"Haha!" Alex laughed and took the initiative to say, "Let me call for someone to open the door then."

"Okay, go." Henry agreed without thinking.

Alex was also someone who was not afraid of causing trouble, but although his family background was strong, it was not really among the absolute elite. This severely limited him in his attempts to cause trouble.

Now, he finally had the chance to show his worth, so how would Alex let this chance to win success and recognition go to waste?

If he broke down the doors of Empire Meet and rumors of this spread throughout the circle of the descendants of wealthy families in Harbor City, Alex would be shot to fame overnight.

When he thought about this, Alex was so excited he did not even hesitate. He immediately slammed down on the accelerator.

Boom!

The sports car that cost over one million dollars crashed directly into the iron gates.

A villa with this level of extravagance only had a gate as decoration. After all, where was one going to find blind burglars who would try to dig their own graves at this place?

Since the start, they never considered the actual security of the front gate. They just wanted it to look pleasant to the eyes.

Now that a sports car had crashed into it, it immediately collapsed with a loud bang. Soon, the sports car drove straight into the premise of the villa with a low rumble.

Immediately, the lights of the villa were turned on as a huge group of bodyguards rushed out.

“Damn it, who dares to knock the gate down? Do you know where you are?”

One of the bodyguards roared at the sports car that had stopped at the entrance of the villa while feeling flustered and exasperated.

When he looked at the unrecognizable gate on the floor that had been crashed into and run over, the bodyguard’s heart began bleeding.

Mr. Atticus was in a bad mood over these past few days and now this had happened. The bodyguard figured that he would be in trouble once his boss got news of this.

The door of the sports car opened. After that, a brightly polished leather shoe stepped out onto the ground, before a black sock and black pants appeared.

Immediately after, Henry’s figure emerged in front of the bodyguards as he got out of the car.

“It’s me. What’s wrong? Am I not allowed to run over the gate of Empire Meet?”

Henry's statement immediately put pressure on everyone at the scene.

The security guards who looked so overbearing as if they were going to crush the car and the people in it a second ago immediately felt conflicted when they saw Henry.

Henry was well-known for being fierce in Harbor City. Hence, as Fabian's bodyguards, it would be impossible for them to not know who Henry was.

Soon, Alex and Howard appeared, causing the faces of the bodyguards to turn even more unpleasant.

Henry came prepared.

After the bodyguards realized that they could not handle this themselves, one of them quickly ran inside to inform Fabian.

At this moment, Fabian had just fallen asleep. The sound of the crash woke him up, and moments later, he heard the report from the bodyguard.

Fabian immediately put on his pajamas and walked out with a dark face.

The door of the villa opened and Fabian spotted Henry and the gang who were smoking by the car. They were completely ignoring the dozens of bodyguards.

“Henry Law, do you want to die?”

Fabian had not slept for a few days, and he had been tense this whole time. Hence, Fabian, who had already been quite off-color, looked even worse right now. His face was dark as he asked in a hoarse voice.

When Alex saw Fabian, he was a little scared. Thus, he turned his head to look at Henry.

However, he saw Henry chuckling coldly before saying, “Atticus, is this your dog?”

After he said that, he eyed Howard.

Howard turned around and pulled Matt out of the car. He was disheveled and his face was swollen and bruised. It was clear that he had been taught a painful lesson.

Then, Howard threw Matt on the ground as if he was a dead dog before walking back toward Henry.

Fabian's pupils contracted when he saw Matt gasping for air on the ground. Matt was also calling out to Fabian for help while tears and snot ran down his face.

"What is the meaning of this?" Fabian asked coldly.

Henry guffawed and said, "What is the meaning of this? Aren't you a bad*ss? You're the number one figure among the second generations of Harbor City. What an impressive title. I'm so envious and I want to have it too."

With a scoff, Fabian replied, "I never claimed to be number one. You can have it if you're interested. Is that all?"

"Are you stupid?" Henry tilted his head to look at Fabian as if he was looking at a buffoon.

"Do you think it's fun pretending to be ignorant? I'm not Jasper, so don't try to talk sh*t with me. I don't like it and I won't play along with your act."

"Your beef with Jasper has come to this point, and I'm obviously siding with Jasper. I came here tonight looking for trouble, so why are you being so eccentric?"

Fabian said calmly, "Henry, think things through. You will suffer the consequences if you provoke me."

"Oh, you really think you're the king just because you caused Kayden to suffer a bit, huh?" Henry laughed coyly.

Then, he strutted forward.

His action caused the bodyguards around them to become extremely nervous.

They were scared that this fiend in human form would impulsively do something to Fabian.

Fabian's eyes were calm and he called out, "Stay where you are. Do you think he has the balls to touch me?"

Henry giggled and said, "Yeah, everyone knows who Mr. Atticus is, so how would I have the courage to do so?"

While Henry said that, he had already walked beside Matt.

He lifted his leg to step on Matt's body. The latter yelled and laid on the ground. Right now, he could only cry and scream.

“Your dog is so lamentable. He's beaten up so badly and you didn't even speak up for him. Mr. Atticus, aren't you very f*cking powerful? What's wrong? I'm stepping on your dog in front of you and you don't even dare to breathe too loudly. Is this really the number one figure among the second generation of Harbor City?”

Even if Fabian was very sophisticated and wise, he was infuriated after hearing these taunts.

Henry was extremely arrogant and right now. He looked even more evil than any of the villains typically shown in movies.

Fabian looked frigidly at Henry and threatened, “Henry, you better use your brain before you speak. Don't think that no one will be able to touch you just because you're a Law. The Laws are not without equal in this world.”