

Life at The Top – Chapter 1463

Jasper was courting disaster! However, this was so exciting!

Still, one had to pay for acting like a poser.

As such, the smile on the Godfather's face disappeared. His eyes darkened as well.

The Godfather was a legend in this life. He had gone through so many things and so many hardships before he got to where he was today. He was born in an affluent family but then his family suffered a reversal of fortune. What the Godfather had right now had all been slowly forged by his hands during that chaotic and turbulent era.

How could he allow a young junior to scold him like that?

Even though Jasper was very polite when he said this, such a statement was basically a scolding to someone with the position and status of the Godfather.

“Young man, how many things have you experienced? How many people have you met? How can you say Auma City is a small place? Yes, Auma City is not big, but getting to where I am right now was not as easy as you think.”

Jasper said calmly, "I didn't mean to offend you, Godfather."

"But you did."

Jasper looked at the Godfather and said calmly, "Since you think I was being offensive, then I guess I've offended you."

After speaking, Jasper threw the ladder to the deck into the sea, as if he was challenging the Godfather.

After doing that, Jasper did not look at the unpleasant expression of the Godfather and pulled Henry away.

After a while, the yacht began moving further and further away.

The Godfather had a gloomy look on his face as he looked at the yacht that was moving away. Then, he smiled.

He took out his phone and, after he called a number, he said pensively, "Mr. Law, that young man is so interesting..."

Zachary's calm voice came from the other end of the phone, "I told you. Don't treat him the way you treat your disappointing offspring. It's useless. What happened? Did you have the door closed on your face?"

"Not really. However, this young man is very hot-tempered indeed. He should experience more hardships and lessons. No matter how good the jade is, if you don't polish the edges and corners, you will hurt others in the future and you will eventually hurt yourself too."

"Edges?" Zachary asked calmly, "Godfather, some people's edges can't be polished off just like that. Besides, you're so old, yet someone who could pass as your grandson has the ability to infuriate you. Don't you have edges to polish off as well?"

"What are you trying to say, Mr. Law?" The Godfather's tone was cold.

"I'm being literal."

Zachary said impatiently, "It doesn't matter if it's him or me. The reason I contacted you is because I feel that at least you'll have the conscience of a Somer descent since you possess the tanned skin and black hair of a Somer descent."

"What's more important is that people my age know that once Western capitalists invade the mainland, then you and I will have no food to eat. The consequence is not as simple as losing a little money and earning a little less, it's a matter of life and death!"

“But you have to understand that no one is begging you to do anything. To put it bluntly, do whatever you want.”

“You’re using this matter to threaten someone, while this person is willingly acting as a shield for everyone to charge forward and break through enemy lines.”

“If it’s successful, he might not reap a lot of benefits, but if it’s unsuccessful, he’ll be the first one to die. Even so, he still went for it. Don’t you have even a shred of conscience in this kind of situation?”

“That being said, you should consider it for yourself. I wonder how many people will patronize your casino in the future when everyone can’t even afford to eat.”

Beep beep beep.

The corners of the Godfather’s mouth twitched as he listened to the dial tone in the phone with a shocked expression.

In just half an hour, he was taught a lesson by two juniors in a row.