

Life at The Top – Chapter 1725

The next day, it was already evening when Anna woke up leisurely.

The golden sunset shone through the wide and transparent French windows and filled the room. Anna lifted the quilt and got up, but when she stepped on the soft carpet, she noticed something strange under her feet. When she looked down, she saw that there was a path made of rose petals. It extended from under her bed to outside the house.

Also, there was a small card on the bedside table.

[Are you awake? Follow the rose petals and come out of the house. There is a surprise waiting for you.]

“This guy... I wonder which woman taught him so many tricks. He didn't know how to do all this before.”

Anna snorted. Even if she was saying that, she still walked along the path of rose petals lovingly and obediently.

The bedroom was just a place to put a bed to sleep in this kind of top luxury villas, while the bathroom would be located outside the room.

Following the path of rose petals, Anna saw all the toiletries placed on the counter, as well as a complete set of delicate and valuable jewelry such as earrings and necklaces.

Anna could tell at a glance that this set of jewelry was made by a top master. It was definitely not the kind of ordinary goods that could be bought anywhere in the store.

After washing up, Anna carefully put all the jewelry one by one on her body.

At this moment, Anna, who was standing in front of the mirror, looked at herself with satisfaction. Then, she turned and left the bathroom.

The rose petal path was still extending, and this time, it led to the cloakroom. After she walked into the cloakroom following the path, Anna saw a set of long dresses placed on the hanger in the center.

This dress surprised Anna.

This dress was the final year project that she had designed by herself. It was also the project that won the gold medal and got her the tickets to compete in Paris Fashion Week.

Anna did not know how Jasper obtained this dress, but this did not stop her from feeling excited as she stood in front of it.

For any designer, it would be a wonderful thing to be able to wear their own designs.

After she put on the dress, the delicate cutting perfectly fit her body, accentuating her curvy figure.

After walking out from the cloakroom, she saw that the rose petal path this time was slightly longer. Anna followed the path and walked into the dining room.

There was a small dining table in it Itwas enough for a man and a woman to keep a delicate distance but still not lose the intimacy. Red wine, food, and candles adorned the table.

At this moment, the electric curtains on the French windows around Anna closed slowly.

The room gradually dimmed.

However, Anna did not panic.

She was enjoying what Jasper had prepared for her. With a snap, the candles on the table seemed to self combust and yellow flames began dancing in the dim room.

Then, Jasper's face appeared on the edge of the yellow ray.

He walked in front of Anna with a grin on his face. Then, he lifted his hand and offered it to Anna gentlemanly.

Anna giggled softly and reached out her hand to place it on the back of Jasper's hand.

Jasper had a smile on his face as he turned his hand around and held Anna's fair and supple fingers. With a soft pull, he enveloped Anna, who did not resist at all, into his arms.

At this moment, the soft sounds of the violin could be heard in the dimly lit room.
