50 billion!

The members of the Monroes present at the scene all gasped.

Gus also gasped. He was just proud and arrogant, and if one graduated from university in this era, they would not be fools.

He knew what the concept of 50 billion meant.

And this was just the qualification to say that he wanted to challenge Jasper.

No one would think Jasper was bragging.

The difference in strength between the two sides was too great, so Jasper did not need to brag about that.

Would you brag to an ant that you could knock into sun with one punch?

This would be bragging, but it did not matter to the ants, and you did not need to brag about this because both you and the ants knew that your one punch could crush them into nothing.

Therefore, when it came to Gus, talking about the value, the industry, and the future would not be as impactful as talking about the real quantitative gap.

The 50 billion figure made him understand that he had been too arrogant.

After all, a young man could not hide his emotions. So, Gus blushed on the spot and was rendered speechless immediately.

Even the 300 Somer Dollars pocket money in his pants pocket was given by his sister Ginny, let alone 50 billion..

Of course, Jasper would not quibble with a child like Gus, and he would not care how uneasy he was at this time.

Turning his head, Jasper smiled at Ginny and said, "Just now, I told Julian that he can go to JW Real Estates to choose a house, but Julian said he really doesn't have the ability to appreciate or choose a house, so you should be the one to decide when the time comes."

Ginny glanced at Julian first, and when she saw that her husband had no objections, she said to Jasper in surprise, " Thank you, Mr. Laine!"

There was no need to say anything too polite and thankful. After all, Jasper did not do these for those few words.

Jasper was very satisfied with Ginny's little act of asking Julian's opinion first.

"Okay, we've been standing downstairs for so long. Why don't you invite me to go upstairs?" Jasper laughed.

Ginny snapped back to her senses immediately and quickly said, "That was my negligence, Mr. Laine... No, Jasper, Wendy, please come upstairs..."

When they arrived upstairs, Jasper chatted with Ginny's parents for a while. The two elders were just ordinary people. They had no concept of a rich man like Jasper. They only knew that he was a very powerful VIP, so they were very discreet and polite when they talked to him.

On the other hand, Jasper did not care.

With the rise of status and wealth, he had become accustomed to the courtesy and awe of the people around him.

There were trade-offs in life. Jasper could not pursue perfection and he was not someone who did not know what was good for him. Being treated politely and respectfully was always better than being ignored.

Not long after, Julian's sister also came over. Naturally, they exchanged courtesies again.

Ginny's cooking was good and the dishes on the table were sumptuous, and this made Wendy very melancholic.

Although she had wanted to learn how to cook several times before and had even hired a chef to teach herself how to cook, she was also busy with work and unfortunately, had no talent in this area. Eventually, she just gave up after some time. This had also become a regret in her heart.

Judging from the current situation, this regret would always remain.

After dinner, Jasper and Wendy got up and bade farewell.

He came here on a whim, and also wanted to see the character of Julian's wife Ginny.

Julian was becoming increasingly important to him. Although he had no power or position in the JW system, he was similar to the favored ministers around the emperors in ancient times. Many high-ranking ministers would want to curry favor with the favored ministers.

Julian had a good character. He never got involved in the company's affairs. It did not matter if he was not interested or he just played stupid because of his great intelligence, Jasper only looked at the results and did not ask about the process and reasons.

Therefore, in Jasper's point of view, the character of Julian's wife and family was very important.

Fortunately, from he could tell, everything was satisfactory.

"Okay, there shouldn't be anything for you to do these few days. I'll give you a break so you can rest at home for a while. I'll call you when I need you."

Jasper patted Julian's shoulder at the entrance to Julian's house and said.

When Julian wanted to say something,

Wendy smiled and said, "Don't say no, your senior is still here, isn't she?"

Julian nodded and said gratefully, "Thank you, Jasper, thank you, Wendy."

"We're leaving now."

Jasper waved his hand and left with Wendy.

On the way back, Wendy turned her head to Jasper and said, "What do you think? Are you satisfied, Mr. Laine?"

Jasper smiled and said, "Everything's great, and they're a good match. In fact, who cares whether I'm satisfied or not? It's Julian's life."

“Actually, Julian is an honest person who doesn’t care about anything, so that’s why he’s the most suitable person to be by your side.”

Jasper nodded upon hearing what Wendy said.

“JW’s current system is too old. With the expansion of the industry and the increase in assets, the power in everyone’s hands is expanding.

“If our system management isn’t updated and improved, there will be problems. Right now, these problems are suppressed because of the pressure on the United States’ stock market and the domestic stock market is too great. When these two things blow over, the top priority is to immediately change the system and adjust the structure.

“The human heart, like power, is better kept under control.”

Although Jasper had not managed the internal affairs of the company for a long time, it did not mean that he could not see or hear things. He was well aware of any changes in the company.

After all, he had founded JW. In terms of control and authority, no one in the JW system could bypass him to do anything.

After suppressing his thoughts, Jasper turned his head to look at Wendy and asked, “Are things going well in Harbor City?”

Wendy nodded and said, “It’s all going well, and everyone is very cooperative. I’m going to pick a capable team this time I’m back. I want to bring them to Harbor City and have them live right in Harbor City. We have done so much in Harbor City and the Harbor City branch has also been registered and established. We can’t go on without a management team.”

“Okay, you can choose who you want to bring. If you go, you can save me from doing their work. No one dares to reject you anyway.” Jasper said with a smile.

Wendy rolled her eyes at Jasper and said angrily, “Easy for you to say. A complete team must have all kinds of talents, even if of the middle-level and basic talents can be recruited locally in Harbor City, it’ll still cost me a lot of thought and time to look for the upper-level structure at headquarters.”

“Yes, yes, yes, thank you for the hard work.” Jasper smiled.

“Yes, I told you that you can choose anyone you want. Tell whoever has something to say to come see me directly. The business in Harbor City is also very important. After all, Harbor City has been developed for so many years and no first tier city in the mainland right now can compare with it. Hence, it’s good for JW to take up a spot ahead of time.”

Wendy nodded, indicating to him that she understood.

“By the way, the World Financial Center is about to be completed.”
