

Extended Summary

Auralie Shadow and her twin brother Lucian were always considered odd. Luca and Ali weren't like the other kids, they were too quiet, too serious, too clever. Nevertheless, their parents loved and cared for them, and they were happy for a time. Their twin bond was strong, and no one cared about Ali more than Luca, and vice versa. ^a¹⁶³

Then, when they turned seven, they discovered strange powers. Luca could shake worlds, Ali could manipulate light. They didn't know how to control these powers, and there was an accident. It left their parents dead, and each twin thinking that the other was gone forever. Ali spent the next 6 years in an orphanage, until she was 13, when a shield agent named Maria Hill came and told her her brother was alive, and she needed to find him. ^a³⁸

But Luca was different now. He had been saved and raised by a dark being from another dimension called Elory, and she had taught him the ways of evil. Lucian was no longer the brother Auralie remembered, he was cruel and when his sister got in the way of his plans, he didn't care about his love for her, he aimed to kill just the same. ^a⁸

After his betrayal, Auralie was broken. She vowed never again to trust or love anyone, save Maria Hill, who had saved her life and adopted her into Shield as the badass's little sister. ^a⁴

So what happens when Auralie is recruited for the Avengers at age 16, and finds a group of people like her, broken and weird, that make her want to trust, to build a new family? What happens when she meets more and more people that she can't help but like?

She pushes those feelings down, because love breaks everyone in the end, and she can't take it.

But when a certain witch comes into the picture, that may just become impossible for Auralie Shadow.

A/N: Here is another Wanda fanfic because I love her so much. This does not connect into any of my other Marvel stories, except for when it reaches IW, then it will connect into my GOTG fanfic. Nothing major, except my GOTG OC, Phyla Vell, will show up. I do not own anything in this except Auralie, Lucian, Elory, and any other OC's, and parts of the plot. ^a²
