

Little Girl 35

Chapter 35: Looks So Soft

Jiang Lingzhi stopped in her tracks suddenly and glanced to her back.

The person was about five meters away from her, leaning lazily on the edge of the fence, holding an empty Coke can in his hand.

One of his hands was in his trouser pocket, and his half-opened eyes were looking straight in her direction. His light brown pupils seemed sluggish as always, as if he had not been getting enough sleep.

He was so tall, and when he looked tired, he seemed a little frivolous and dispirited.

Since when was this person here?

Jiang Lingzhi glanced behind him. Not far away behind him was the head teacher's office.

She suddenly remembered that Brother Mighty had called him to the office just now.

The distance between them was neither too close nor too far. Jiang Lingzhi raised her eyes to look at him, hesitating whether she should say hello.

At this time, Hao Weiwu came out of the office with some documents in his arm. When he saw her, he hurriedly called out to her. "Hey, Jiang Lingzhi, it's just nice that you're here. Can you take the new classmate to the Academic Affairs Office to get the teaching materials? I still have something to do and can't leave now."

Jiang Lingzhi glanced at the head teacher, then at the slender figure not far away. She nodded and replied with an "Oh".

Hao Weiwu trusted her, so he turned back around into the office with the documents.

Only the two of them were left in the corridor.

Jiang Lingzhi stared at him for a while and pursed her lips. She then turned around and headed downstairs. "Come with me." Her voice was soft, no different from before.

From this, there was no way anyone could tell that she had just "fought" against a green tea bitch just now.o

Li Shunan laughed softly. He threw the can he held into the trash bin, then started moving his long legs and followed behind slowly.

He had been standing in front of the office door for a long time.

When he heard some sounds within the office, he only felt that the voice was a bit familiar.

After glancing inside, he realized that the person there was his classmate sitting in front of him.

Naturally, he had heard the entire conversation that happened within the office.

When he heard her "Maybe next time, I will score a lower mark, would that make you happy?", he couldn't hold back anymore and laughed out loud.

This girl was good at angering others, absolutely not someone who could be easily dealt with.

The girl walked in front of him. Her thin and slender figure, wearing the summer uniform consisting of a white short-sleeved shirt and blue pleated skirt, her straight and slender legs, were all very beautiful.

Between the white stockings and the pleated skirt, a section of white legs were exposed, pearly white like jade and porcelain.

Li Shunan raised his eyebrows and looked away casually.

What's with this school, the uniform was way too informal. On the way to the Academic Affairs Office, they met many people along the way, and they inevitably attracted the attention of others.

One after another, the people stopped in their paths and started talking and pointing at them.

"Look, is that the new transfer student?"

"My God! He's so handsome! I hadn't believed when others told me, but now that I see him, he's really handsome!"

"He must be at least 1.85 meters tall." "By my visual estimation, he should be 1.87 or more..." "But why is he walking with Jiang Lingzhi?"

Jiang Lingzhi was also a well-known person in the school.

Her grades had always stayed at the top five of the section and had received top grades several times. They would hear her name every time the teachers made commendations through the announcements. It would be hard to not recognize her.

"The transfer student seems to be in Class 7. They are in the same class."

"Wow, what a class, can I transfer over?"

"Yeah, you can, maybe when you go to bed tonight..."

Jiang Lingzhi was walking at the front. She had been used to this kind of discussion, so her expression remained calm.

As they approached the office building, there were significantly fewer students that they encountered.

Diagonally behind her, Li Shunan followed in his usual lazy manner.

From this direction, he could clearly see the girl's thin ear, which appeared a little translucent under the sunlight, and he could even decipher the layer of fine hair on her ear.

It looks so soft, which made him want to... touch it....
