

Little Girl 45

Chapter 45: Choose to Die

There was still half an hour before the first class in the afternoon.

Jiang Lingzhi would usually go to the library to do revision questions or read books after having lunch in the cafeteria. Sometimes, she would also take a nap there for half an hour. She would be much more energetic in class in the afternoon.

Today's situation was a little special. She didn't go anywhere and stayed in the classroom. Worried that she would be sleepy in the afternoon, she lay on the desk and slept for a while.

It was almost time for class, and the classroom was particularly noisy.

Jiang Lingzhi closed her eyes and buried her face in her elbow. Just as she was about to fall asleep, the table suddenly shook violently.

She was so frightened that she suddenly woke up. She sat up straight, and her expression was still confused as if she had just woken up.

It was her new deskmate who was playing with another boy. When the two of them fought, they accidentally bumped into her desk.

The boy apologized very quickly." Sorry, Student Jiang. Did I wake you up?"

"Are you on your lunch break?"

Jiang Lingzhi was speechless.

If you knew that he was on his lunch break, why would you still play here?!

Noisy! Arrived! Me! It was over!

Jiang Lingzhi took a deep breath. After all, they were classmates, and she decided not to lower herself to their level.

"I'm fine."

She was completely woken up from her nap. Jiang Ling knew that she could not sleep well in the classroom, so she took out her language book from the drawer to prepare for her lessons.

The two boys went to the back of the classroom to play around.

Jiang Lingzhi was studying seriously. After a few minutes, her new deskmate came to her desk." "Student Jiang, are you doing your homework?"

Jiang Lingzhi raised her head to take a look. She reacted and stood up to let him in before sitting down to continue her revision.

A few minutes later, after playing with the pen for a while, his deskmate could not sit still anymore." "Student Jiang, I'm going out for a while." Jiang Lingzhi put down her pen and got up to let him out.

Five minutes later, he returned.

After sitting for another five minutes, he went out again.

Jiang Lingzhi held the pen in her hand tightly. She almost could not suppress her emotions. She suspected that her deskmate had some kind of ADHD.

Can't you just sit there obediently?

Look at the school bully behind him. He hasn't moved since he slept there. How considerate of others!

Take a look!

Jiang Lingzhi's previous deskmates were all girls, and she had never encountered such a situation before.

Thinking about this semester, there were still more than three months to go.

If the next three months were to be like this.

Then she chose to die.

Perhaps sensing that her mood was not quite right, her deskmate finally stopped coming in and out of his seat frequently and obediently stayed outside to play.

There were still five minutes before class started.

Wen Yujing held her phone and ran up to her as if she was presenting a treasure. "Ling Ling, look what I found?"

Jiang Lingzhi raised her head to look at her.

Wen Yujing was immersed in the gossip and did not notice that she was in a bad mood. "Look, there's a post about you on our school forum that's going viral."

“Now, your title as the school belle is finally sealed.”

“Look, there’s a PK between the district school belle here...

“And she’s the campus belle of more than ten high schools!”

“You actually won against the top one from more than ten schools. How beautiful do you think you are?” Jiang Lingzhi was speechless.

What the hell?

“Look...” Wen Yujing swiped her phone while showing it to her.””Moreover, you won with a high number of votes. Now, many first-year juniors are asking about you..”