

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 317– 318

Chapter 317

The enveloping rich breath suddenly left, and the surrounding temperature seemed to have dropped, and there was some discomfort.

The door rang suddenly, and Lin Shui came in with vegetables after the man answered.

How long did he listen at the door just now?

Miriam hung her head unnaturally.

After Lin Shui arranged all the food, she stood aside. Miriam waited for him to go out, but found that he was motionless.

“President Shao, there is a document that you need to sign...”

Miriam looked up, and the man nodded slightly, and followed out.

At the door, Lin Shui immediately changed his face: “Sophia has determined that it is difficult to wake up again. Now that the Fu family is making trouble, I’m afraid the media will get news soon.”

Bryan’s face turned dark, long eyes were deep, and he couldn’t see his emotions clearly.

“Where is the police station?”

“There is nothing wrong for the time being. Yan Ke has been watching the most closely over the past two days. There are almost no people who know it.”

The man nodded slightly, and for a long while, his thin lips opened slightly: “Get all departments of the company ready.”

Lin Shui frowned: “Don’t you stop them?”

The man squinted at him: “Who is stopping? To prevent them from trading at a higher price?” With a sneer, there is no temperature in his eyes, “You take the initiative to talk to the major media and provide what they want to know.”

Lin Shui opened his eyes wide, and after a while, he blinked and understood.

It is always better to take the initiative to confess than others, so that you can control the trend of public opinion at the beginning, and then other news will be released, and then covered and suppressed, the effect will always be good.

He quickly turned and left.

The man stood quietly for a few minutes, his eyes up and down, but his expression was not really relaxed.

Really caring people wouldn't just let it go. Shang Rui alone would be anxious to let Longteng take a heavy hit.

When he turned to enter the ward, he saw Qi Yun and was approaching.

The man was expressionless, just a scant glance, and didn't mean to speak.

"I heard you were injured? Where did you hurt?" Qi Yun grabbed him.

The man glanced at the pulled sleeve and raised his eyes: "What are you doing here?"

Qi Yun opened her mouth, do we still need to ask her why? The corners of the mouth are a bit bitter.

"Worry about you... and Auntie."

The man's footsteps moved slightly, his sleeves flung away from her hands.

Without any feelings, even refused to say one more word: "No need."

Seeing that he was leaving again, Qi Yun couldn't help feeling suffocated. He sneered twice, and his voice became cold: "Why? Afraid of her seeing me? Or do you blame me for talking again? I'm so unworthy of you to take another look... .."

The last sentence also carries some sadness and helplessness.

Bryan turned his head, his deep eyes seemed to have seen her through.

"I don't need any extra care from you. I have given you two options. You choose to go to Kyoto, but you still have to take this as an argument. Now there is only one option left. Since you don't want to go, please ask someone else. Just, I've already sent your things back to you. As for my personal affairs, I have nothing to do with you, and I will not contact my mother in the future."

Qi Yun's face turned pale, and his bright red nails were about to smash the flesh.

He asked word by word: "You have to do this to me for such a thing? I didn't know that Sophia would come to the hospital. You want to put all the responsibility on me?"

The man's eyes swept over coldly, Qi Yun's heart stunned.

She had never seen such a strange look from him.

“Bryan...I, I never said it, but you know my mind, for so many years...you know how much I have worked hard to stand by your side...”

Tears are in his eyes, and when he speaks, he is vivid and vivid.

Bryan was silent, his throat moved.

“I have said everything clearly. If you still want to cherish the past, just do as I say.”

After that, he handed him the handkerchief and left sideways.

Qi Yun watched him disappear to the other side of the door.

He held his handkerchief and looked at it for a long while, and there was no trace of sadness on his face, even the tears were wiped away without knowing it. The delicate face without expression was light and breezy. After a long time, the sound of high heels gradually disappeared.

Early the next morning, the Fu family staged a big show.

The most famous media interviewed Fu Fu and performed a sad drama with tears.

Immediately afterwards, the media rushed towards Longteng, and not only City Two, but the Jincheng headquarters was also bombed.

“May I ask if Bryan intentionally wounded Sophia on the grounds of justifiable defense? Would a man be so unaware of the importance of doing something to a woman?”

“What kind of grudge did Sophia and Shao mother have? Was Sophia once Shao mother’s candidate daughter-in-law?”

“What caused the matter the day before yesterday? Did Bryan owe Sophia?”

...

The turbulent reporters surrounded the Longteng lobby, and the questions raised one after the other.

Lin Shui stood in sweat and organized public relations.

In just a few hours from morning to noon, Longteng’s stock has plummeted. If this continues, I don’t know what the final tragic situation will be.

Bryan sat in the office, his mobile phone was turned off, and he stood in front of the floor-to-ceiling windows with a faint expression, as if all this was within his expectations.

Miriam didn't learn the news until noon, but Bryan was not there, so there was no way to ask him.

After a while, the phone rang, it was Mu Ming's call.

"Sister Miriam, where are you now?"

The voice is noisy.

"What's the matter?" Miriam frowned.

"Long Teng has been blocking many reporters since the morning. I just heard about the past few days. Are you okay now?"

Miriam looked stern and blinked: "How is the situation over there? Have you seen Bryan?"

"No, I only saw Assistant Lin. Mr. Shao is not suitable to come forward at this time, but... I am afraid this will be a big blow to Long Teng. After all, it is a matter of life..."

Miriam's heart tightened and bit her lip.

If it wasn't for the vase that I threw...

"I see, thank you."

Mu Ming was afraid that she would hang up the phone, and immediately said with relief: "Don't worry too much. Long Teng's public relations are very good, and Mr. Shao is a defensive person again. It will be fine if the limelight passes after a while."

Miriam couldn't hear it anymore, and after a few words indiscriminately, he hung up and called Bryan a few more times, but no one answered.

Just a few minutes after putting down the phone, he called back.

"Where are you now?! Why didn't you answer the phone?" Miriam said eagerly.

The man didn't panic: "I'm at the company, and I can't go back now. I have already ordered dinner. You and your parents have to eat, don't wait for me."

Miriam was about to laugh, his eyebrows were burning, how could he be so calm?

"I want to explain to the police that I smashed the vase."

"Naughty! You can run around now? How do you prove that you are innocent? Everyone present can be justified by me. You are just a bystander! Don't be impulsive, I will deal with these things, and you will take care of your injuries." The man's words are beyond doubt.

Chapter 318

Miriam blinked and looked at the man carefully. Although his handsome face was a bit tired, it was obviously not as if he was not prepared.

Since Rania's incident last time, she knew that she could no longer use her previous thinking to think of the man in front of her as simply.

"Do you have a plan?"

The man closed his eyes, turned his head away, and put down the pillow behind her, pursing his lips.

Miriam grabbed him, her face faded from the tension just now.

"Someone deliberately magnified this matter behind the scenes, right?"

The man breathed out almost unconsciously, and held her backhand: "Long Teng is so big, there will definitely be an opponent, but it's not that serious. After a while, the heat will pass. Long Teng's public relations are still very strong."

Miriam stared at his micro expression, released her hand after a few seconds, and did not mention it again, but it was only on the surface.

Father Lu came to see her after dinner, and the two talked for a long time.

Having spent so many years in the law enforcement community, Lu's father's proficiency in the law may not be surpassed.

After Miriam told him about the matter once and for all, after being reprimanded for a while, Father Lu frowned and thought about it.

"If he can hide it completely, it's okay. Like he said, Long Teng is not affected by some public opinion, but... things often don't go well. Once someone finds out that he has replaced you, it will be out of control. ."

There are two things that Father Lu least believes now. One is the hearts of the people, and the other is that there is no impenetrable wall.

Miriam blinked and said calmly: "That's what happened in the future. It has already happened and there is no room for looking back, but I think Long Teng is not as easy to pass this hurdle as you said now."

Father Lu was thoughtful after hearing what she said. It stands to reason that Bryan did not commit any crimes. Even if some netizens had to find trouble, they would not have made such a big battle.

“Is this...Is there something else behind?” He glanced at his daughter, moved his wise eyes, and said in a low voice, “Bryan is not that simple. It is not easy for some people to try to fix him, unless the situation in front of him It’s what he wants...”

Miriam heard this incredible: “He wants reporters to besiege Longteng himself? How is this possible?”

Father Lu shook his head: “I don’t know about that. Haven’t anything happened yet? Take care of yourself, put your heart in your stomach, don’t put all your thoughts on him, or think about yourself.”

Miriam gave a slap, relieved a lot at the moment, with a smile on her face: “I know, this will be born in more than two months, I will pay attention,” looked up, “It’s getting late, you Go back and rest.”

After Lu’s father pushed the wheelchair away by himself, he fell asleep after a while, and he didn’t even know when Bryan came.

At two or three in the morning, the vibration of the phone rang, and as soon as he reached out to the bedside table, he touched the other hand.

The man should have just gotten up from the companion bed next to him, and his hair was a bit messy under the dim light on the bedside.

The voice was slightly mute: “I’ll pick it up, you continue to sleep.”

After connecting, the man heard a few words, took the phone away, and asked Miriam, “When did Dad come? When did he leave?”

Miriam suddenly reacted a little slow, and after a few seconds he answered, “Last night...” As soon as the voice fell, she became alert, “What’s wrong? He didn’t go back?”

Bryan didn’t answer for the time being. He told the mother Shao on the other end the situation, and said something to reassure: “Don’t worry, I’ll send someone to look for him right away. He has contact information on him, and he may be sent back soon. Turn on your phone to prevent anyone from contacting you.”

After hanging up the phone, Miriam was completely sleepy. She slowly sat up and said anxiously, “Why did you find that you didn’t go back now?! Could it be an illness?”

Bryan squatted down and put on her shoes, while raising her head said: “Mom went to bed early yesterday. I thought he would go back soon. He only woke up after falling asleep and found that the person had never returned.”

Miriam was flustered, and was about to move to a wheelchair with one leg supported, but was stopped by the man and hugged him.

“Will it be useful for you to go out now?” The man frowned, then slowly and softly said, “I’ll let someone adjust the surveillance and make a record at the police station. You should be able to find it soon.”

“It’s too slow. Where will he sleep in the middle of the night? I’m going to look for it where he used to go.”

The man saw that she insisted, and even if he stayed here, he was worried, he agreed and drove her out to find her.

I found the riverside from the park, and searched the neighborhood and home again, but I didn’t see anyone.

When I returned to the hospital, the sky was already dark. After staying up midnight, my face was not very good, and Bryan forced him to go back to the ward to sleep.

“Don’t worry, I’ll wake you up as soon as I get news.” After the man stayed with her for a long time, she fell asleep very restlessly.

Mother Lu didn’t dare to blame herself and cry in front of her, for fear that she would think too much, and sat in silence on the corridor outside.

Bryan went to sit down and comforted: “Although Miriam did not show up, she must be extremely uncomfortable in her heart. You have to cheer up. This situation is quite common. You can almost always find it back. Be patient and so on.”

Mother Lu covered her face, almost on the verge of collapse, choked up and said, “You said, why have our family been uneasy for so long these days! Neither of their father and daughter are good, how can I keep on going!”

Bryan’s heart sank, and his face became much colder. With guilt, he lowered his head slightly: “I did not do well enough. It could have been avoided. I’m sorry.”

Mother Lu shook her head, but did not speak.

At about eleven o’clock, news came from the police station, saying that someone had sent an old man with Alzheimer’s disease, and Miriam and Bryan arrived at the first time.

At the gate of the police station, she unexpectedly saw Mu Ming.

He still had a bright sunny smile on his face, wearing the sportswear he always loved, with his hands in his pockets, and he said as soon as he saw them: “Uncle is inside, go in and take a look.”

Bryan pushed Miriam and quickly passed him. When he staggered, Bryan glanced over the smiling eyes, and he was looking over. The two looked at each other, one deep and cold, the other gentle and calm.

After entering, Miriam saw Father Lu sitting in the middle of a row of iron seats at a glance. Tears couldn't help but slid down: "Dad..."

Father Lu raised his head, blinked blankly, and stayed for a few seconds before he had some clarity.

"Miriam." As if not knowing what happened.

After completing the formalities, he took Lulu's father out of the police station. Mu Ming was still waiting at the door and turned around when he saw them coming out.

"I met my uncle on the way after get off work. He said he was going home to sleep. I asked him a few words and the answer was very strange. I felt wrong. I only found out when I saw the sign on his body that he was sick."

A few words clarify the cause and effect.

Miriam blinked his red eyes and smiled: "Thank you so much. This is the first time he has suffered such a serious illness. I thought I could hold on for a while..."

Mu Ming's expression is soft: "The old man can't avoid this disease and that disease. He just needs someone to look at it. There is no major problem, just pay attention later."

Miriam nodded, pulling Lu's father's hand without letting go.

Bryan said lightly: "Mr. Mu, it's a coincidence. I can still encounter such a thing after get off work. Thank you so much."

Mu Ming closed his eyes, smiled slightly, with a restrained aura, but did not lose his momentum: "With a little effort, my uncle is old acquaintance and Sister Miriam's father. It is my honor to be able to help."

Bryan squinted his eyes, the corners of his mouth were slightly raised, his thin lips were lightly opened, and he smiled playfully: "That's what I said, but...you really have a relationship with the Lu family. You can meet it wherever you go. I remember in Kyoto. Once again, right?"

When Mu Ming heard this, his eyes curled with a smile, a big boy, as if he didn't have any thoughts: "You are really saying this, you can meet it everywhere."
