

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 395– 396

Chapter 395

Miriam stood at the door of the dessert shop, watching that thin back figure gradually melt into the crowd, and finally only sighed silently.

Back at the company, Liao Qiu stood at the door of the office and ran into Miriam head-on. After seeing her little surprise, he quickly beamed with joy and stretched his neck towards Miriam, "Director Lu, Vice President Zhang from Zhiheng Jewelry just came here. Yes, it's in the office of Chief Season."

Miriam understood, and immediately chuckled, "I see."

As soon as she stepped out, she suddenly remembered something. She turned her head and pointed at the place where Liao Qiu was standing. Before she said anything, the other party seemed to have guessed what she was thinking, and responded with a smile: "The previous cooperation with Zhiheng Jewelry The plan and the revised draft are already on your desk."

Miriam pursed her lips, nodded with a faint smile while retracting her fingers, "Very good."

Back at the office, I almost re-studied the information. Mr. Henry's assistant came knocking on the door. The man pushed the frame of his glasses and smiled after seeing the details of the information in Miriam's hands."The credit of Director Lu , Our President Henry asked you to visit his office, and 80% of them have good news."

Miriam was not surprised at all. She got up and followed him out, passing the elevator entrance when heading for the headquarter office, but was stopped by a man in a silver-gray suit.

"Is this Director Lu?" The man just turned his face slightly and smiled at the work card on Miriam's chest.

Miriam raised her eyebrows, and after thinking about it, she roughly judged the person's identity. She immediately responded with a polite smile and asked in an uncertain tone: "Is it Zhiheng's Vice President Zhang?"

To Miriam's surprise, this Vice President Zhang is rare to be young and handsome, even with a greasy face. The shrewdness and calculations under his eyes, combined with this pink and white face, seemed very uncoordinated.

Zhang Quan's footsteps were slightly closed, and he seemed to be a little surprised. He looked at Miriam up and down, but did not respond to her speculation. He only said: "Before leaving the house, Mr. Huang specially asked. If you can see Director Lu, let I can thank him for awakening the man in his dream with your words, or else a time bomb has been planted next to his old man.”

When Miriam heard it, she narrowed her eyes slightly, “Is someone caught?”

I blurted out the words. After thinking about it, I felt that this was not a problem I should be concerned about. I immediately closed my smile and pretended to change the subject carelessly.”Thank you to say hello to Mr. Huang. Recently, the weather in City Two has changed, and Vice President Zhang is careful on the road.”

The man nodded politely when he heard the sound. After the elevator door opened, the two men bid farewell to each other tacitly.

President Henry’s deputy assistant stood by the side and waited very politely. He waited until Miriam continued to raise his foot to the General Office of Henry. He pushed his glasses frame and looked behind him from time to time.

“You don’t need to be curious. The saying that people can’t look good is still quite practical in today’s society.” Miriam’s footsteps were not chaotic, and she reminded lightly after seeing through the assistant’s mind.

It didn’t take long to come to General Henry’s office. He just knocked on the door to enter, and saw him get up and head towards the sofa, and at the same time signaled Miriam to sit there too.

“Prepare two cups of coffee.” He told the assistant again, with a full smile on his face.

Miriam sat down opposite President Henry. The man looked at her with deep eyes, and his eyes showed appreciation, “Vice President Zhang from Zhiheng, come over. He has a high opinion of you. It seems that this time Yingxin and Zhiheng’s The success of the cooperation is all based on your merits.”

“Without Mr. Henry’s trust and without Yingxin’s platform for me, I wouldn’t be able to do what I am today.” Mr. Henry’s compliment without hesitation made Miriam unavoidably reject it, although she also agrees with this statement from the bottom of her heart. .

But she was surprised. It was the first time that she and this Vice President Zhang had just met at the elevator entrance. Why would he have a high opinion of him?

Before he was puzzled, Mr. Henry’s expression turned slightly. At this moment, the assistant just knocked on the door and came in and brought two cups of coffee on the coffee table.

“Taste it, my friend brought it from Italy.” His eyes gradually closed, and Mr. Henry slightly stretched out his hand towards the coffee opposite the coffee table.

Miriam vaguely noticed something, and did not reach out to pick it up. Instead, she raised her eyes to the general gaze of last season. His face was still calm, “Henry, if you have anything to say, just say it, I am yours. Subordinates, just order things directly at work.”

Upon seeing this, President Henry’s expression eased slightly, and he sighed slowly, “Zhiheng agreed to leave the entire company’s related system establishment and maintenance to us, but the premise is that we need to send people from Yingxin. Go there for field inspection for more than half a month and make sure that they can make a set of independent matching with their data management and coordination system. After the plan is finally finalized, they will sign a contract with us.”

Miriam narrowed her eyes, and probably understood the meaning of Mr. Henry’s words.

She thought for a while and nodded to express her understanding. “The turmoil in Zhiheng some time ago was mainly due to system errors that made people take advantage of the loopholes. Otherwise, she would not be so eager to carry out a major exchange in this regard. This requirement is understandable. , I will discuss with the director of the data department and send a few of my best colleagues there. Don’t worry about this, Mr. Henry.”

Miriam knew in her heart that things would not be that simple, but she deliberately threw the topic to Mr. Henry.

I saw him smile a little embarrassedly, and finally said: “But today, Vice President Zhang means that Zhiheng wants you to go there in person. They should know you a little bit and know that you used to be in the data department. I have stayed, and I trust you relatively.”

Miriam was silent for a while, and half a month was indeed hard for her to choose.

When Mr. Henry saw this, he understood very well, “I know you still have two children who have just turned one year old to take care of. This requirement is somewhat difficult for you. If you really think it’s not possible, I will also find a way to reject it at Zhiheng. ...”

“Let me go.” Before Mr. Henry finished speaking, Miriam had already made up his mind.

Lin Quan’s pale cheeks appeared involuntarily in her mind. The woman’s slender hand held the drink in front of her, her eyes gradually becoming damp, “The money that Southeast lent you at the beginning was all his savings. We invested in this year. I have lost, and now I owe a large bank loan. If I don’t pay for it in these two months, I can only sell the house first, but Tian Tian...”

She dispelled the complicated emotions in her mind, her plain knuckles curled up under her body, and finally repeated firmly: “I will go, President Henry, I will guarantee to win the cooperation with Zhiheng in the shortest time. .”

President Henry was taken aback for a moment, and then he smiled with relief, “Very well, I will put your credit on your account. By the way, I heard that your assistant is recuperating recently and going to Zhiheng, you see. Do you need to pick a satisfied one by your side?”

Miriam curled her lips slightly, and a name flashed in her mind uncontrollably, “Liao Qiu, I think she is clever and has a future in her work.”

President Henry has no opinion on this matter. He nodded lightly and counted as agree. Then he frowned for a while and promised: “If Zhiheng’s case can be won, I will give you an extra 5% in commission.”

Five percent, this figure made Miriam couldn’t help but be moved.

“I have one more request.” She has a straight waist, confident and firm, “I hope that after the project funds are in place, my performance can be accounted for as soon as possible.”

President Henry hesitated at first, but after hearing this request, he suddenly agreed, “No problem.”

Chapter 396

Back at the office, it was almost time for get off work, Miriam called Kristy, “I’m afraid I won’t be able to make an appointment this weekend. Why don’t you come out for dinner tonight?”

After listening to the agreement over there, Miriam looked up at the time on the computer, then hung up and continued to be busy.

Passing by the public office of the Marketing Department after get off work, Miriam paused slightly, then turned around and turned in and found Liao Qiu’s position.

She was working overtime. Miriam didn’t seem to notice the movement around her. Miriam waited for a while, and finally clenched her fist and buttoned her seat.

“Director Lu.” A panic flashed across Liao Qiu’s face, then he got up and asked, “Is there anything wrong?”

Only then did Miriam have time to take a closer look at her, and after a while of silence, she smiled and said, “This weekend I will take you to Kyoto on a business trip for half a month. In these two days, you will be handed over the things on hand, and the things at home will be settled. , I’ll talk to you about the details later.”

She clarified the matter in a few sentences, but Liao Qiu stood there in a daze for a while, as if he hadn’t been relieved.

“This is a good opportunity for experience. You should prepare well.” Miriam tried to maintain a calm face. She said that what she should have expected was cold and non-human.

She had said similar words in her impression to someone, but the final outcome was a bit disappointing.

Miriam didn't expect that she would think of Mu Ming suddenly, but once she thought of it, an inexplicable feeling of melancholy swallowed her in an instant.

“Director, are you okay?” Liao Qiu blinked his big eyes twice, and shook his hand in front of Miriam.

“It's okay.” Miriam looked calm and smiled.

Miriam drove to the downstairs of Kristy's house, waited for a while at the gate of the community, and saw a pretty mother pushing a stroller coming out of the gate and walking straight to the car window.

“What are you up to?”

Kristy patted the window of the car with dissatisfaction. Miriam took back the phone when she heard the sound, “Respond to some things about the company.”

She opened the door and took the baby out of the stroller with a smile.

“Oh, I'm fat.” Miriam put the little guy in her hand, opened the car door and locked him in the child seat.

Kristy was dissatisfied. She stuffed the stroller into the trunk and went around to the other side to open the door, “Miriam, do you remember when you first visited my Huo Jue?”

Miriam got in the car, while wearing a seat belt, casually replied, “The day you gave birth to him.”

After thinking about it, I couldn't help laughing, knowing what Kristy's words meant, and before she was about to round it up, I heard the woman behind me responding grimly: “You still know it, it's been more than six months in this world. Is there a goddamn you doing this?”

Miriam pretended to evade the question, and moved the topic away. Not long after, according to Kristy's request, Miriam drove the car to a nearby shopping mall.

Compared to eating, Kristy cares more about the toast clothes and a bunch of wedding supplies that she hasn't selected so far. The main purpose of pulling Miriam out of her is this, so she simply ate at the top-floor restaurant and started to have Purpose of hanging out.

Miriam pushed the stroller behind Kristy, unconsciously feeling that she and Bryan had never held a wedding together, so she couldn't appreciate the busy preparation.

"Does Mr. Huo care about these things?" Miriam thought for a while before asking.

At this time they were in a shoe store. Kristy was wearing a red high heel shoe and turned twice in front of the mirror. After hearing Miriam's question, her movements were obviously stiff, but her expression remained as usual. With a smile.

"He's relatively busy." Kristy frowned slightly, as if she was not very satisfied with the shoes, shook her head to the salesperson, and then suffocated her head in slippers and said, "He said to make room for the wedding holiday, so this half It's a busy month, so I can't come back in Kyoto."

Miriam said in a deep voice, not knowing how to respond.

In her impression, Kristy is not a good understanding wife. She has her own career and communication, and she should not sacrifice it for a man.

But now, she quit her job in order to have a child, and has never returned to work because of the child and preparation for the wedding. Unknowingly, she became the kind of person she thought she would never be.

Kristy got up and noticed Miriam's expression as she walked out, as if she had understood the deep meaning of her eyes in an instant, smiled palely, and immediately took her arm and continued walking.

"Do you think that I have become a bit difficult for you to understand now?" Kristy's voice was neither light nor heavy, nor could I hear the specific emotions.

Miriam smiled lightly and gave a soft "Um", "The happiness of a little woman like you is probably something I have never experienced in my life."

"Actually..." Kristy's smile became paler. Before she could finish her words, she felt a sudden force attacking her behind her, slamming her against the railing next to her.

When Miriam reacted, she was already leaning on the railing with her arms folded, showing a painful expression.

"Bitch!" Then a sharp voice broke into my ears, followed by a woman with a plump body. She passed Miriam in three or two steps and walked in the direction of Kristy.

"Lin..." Miriam couldn't judge what happened for a while, just subconsciously squeezed the armrest of the stroller and looked towards Kristy.

Seeing that she was about to stand up after a while, the fat woman just grabbed her hair again, her complexion flushed instantly, and the blue veins on her forehead burst.

“Seduce someone else’s husband, do you still have the face to go out? Do you know how long we have been squatting on you? Bitch!” The voice fell, a slap in the ears.

The child in the stroller seemed to sense something, and instantly burst into tears. The cry was loud and clear, which made the fat woman even more angry.

She raised her arm again, her face turned hideous and terrifying.

“Stop it!” Miriam’s blood boiled all over, watching Kristy, who was caught off guard and attacked so much that she had no fighting power, for a while, she couldn’t tell whether it was distressed or angry.

The fat woman was attracted by her humiliation, her arms froze in the air, and she stared fiercely, “Call me to stop, are you her friend? Do you know that because of her, my sister is still lying in the hospital? Now, she, a shameless little San, dare to give birth to a child with integrity?”

As he said, he couldn’t help but turn his eyes to the stroller in Miriam’s hand, and smiled coldly, “Is this kid Huo Qiyuan’s?”

Kristy reacted, her consciousness still hugged the fat woman’s thigh with one hand, and shouted at Miriam: “Run!”

Behind Miriam stood two burly men, and they were about to come forward. When she saw this, her thoughts surged in her mind, and finally she gritted her teeth, passed the fat woman in her arms, and ran downstairs. .

“Look at her for me.” The fat woman left Kristy behind and turned to chase Miriam.

There were more and more people crowded around watching the excitement. Someone took out the phone and was about to call the police, but the man who caught it in time snatched it with one hand, smashed the phone to pieces, and cursed bitterly: “What kind of police? This girl asked for herself.”

Miriam headed towards the crowded place. Everyone for unknown reasons saw her doing this, but they evaded. She ran and fumbled for something in her bag. She was suddenly hijacked by a steady force, hit her body, and was steadily hit. Protect.

He raised his head and faced a pair of clear and bright eyes in panic.